CANNON CONTINUE TO ROAR AT VERDUN WHILE INFANTRY ARE QUIET

French Positions Near Malancourt Hill Heavily Bombarded.

Intermittent Firing Carried on East of the Meuse River.

Encounters Between Patrols Reported in the Vosges Region.

Paris, April 15, 11:50 a. m.—There was no infantry fighting in the Verdun region last night. French positions between Malancourt wood and Hill 304, west of the Meuse, were subjected to heavy bombardment and there were lively artillery exchanges near the western edge of Corbeaux wood. East of the river an intermittent bombardment was carried on.

These operations are described in the following statement from the war office this afternoon:

"To the north of Roye a reconnaissance on the part of the enemy, who were endeavoring to occupy our trenches in the region of Parvillers, was dispersed by our fire.

"There was no infantry fighting last night anywhere in the Verdun region.

"To the west of the river Meuse there has been a fairly spirited bombardment of our positions between the wood of Malancourt and Hill 304. Our batteries evidenced great activity along that part of the front, particularly to the west of Corbeaux wood and at various points along the Forges brook.

"To the east of the river Meuse and in the Woevre district there have been intermittent bombardments.

"In the Vosges there have been encounters between patrols. A reconnaissance on the part of the enemy was checked by our fire at a point south of Sainte Marie-Aux-Mines."

BRITISH REPORT IS DENIED BY GERMANS

Declare English Prisoners in Wittenberg Camp Well Cared for.

Berlin, April 15, wireless to Sayville.—The semi-official North German Gazette made a reply to the report of the government committee on the treatment in Germany of British prisoners of war, issued in London on April 9. In this report it is charged that British prisoners in the Wittenberg camp were in a pitiable plight during the typhus epidemic of last year, lacking proper clothing, medical care and food and being treated brutally by the German guards.

"The British charges evidently were inventions," says the Gazette as quoted by the Overseas agency. "The specific charges made will be investigated, but it may be said in advance that they are repetitions of former charges which were repudiated, not only by Germans, but by an important part of the neutral press. A committee of American physicians, which visited the Wittenberg camp came to the conclusion that hygenic conditions in general were completely satisfactory."

SURVIVORS OF SHIP ENGLISHMAN ARRIVE

Americans Reach Philadelphia and Scatter to Their Homes.

Philadelphia, April 15.—The thirty-three survivors of the British steamer Englishman, torpedoed by a German submarine on March 24, who arrived here yesterday on the steamer Cornishman, left today for their homes in various parts of the country. All of the survivors, except one, Dr. J. D. Helle, of Montreal were American cattlemen.

According to Dr. Helle, the Englishman was shelled by the submarine before the crew took to the boats and was torpedoed after all of the lifeboats had gotten safely away. Two of the lifeboats, with twenty men in each boat, capsized and ten of the men either drowned or died from exposure.

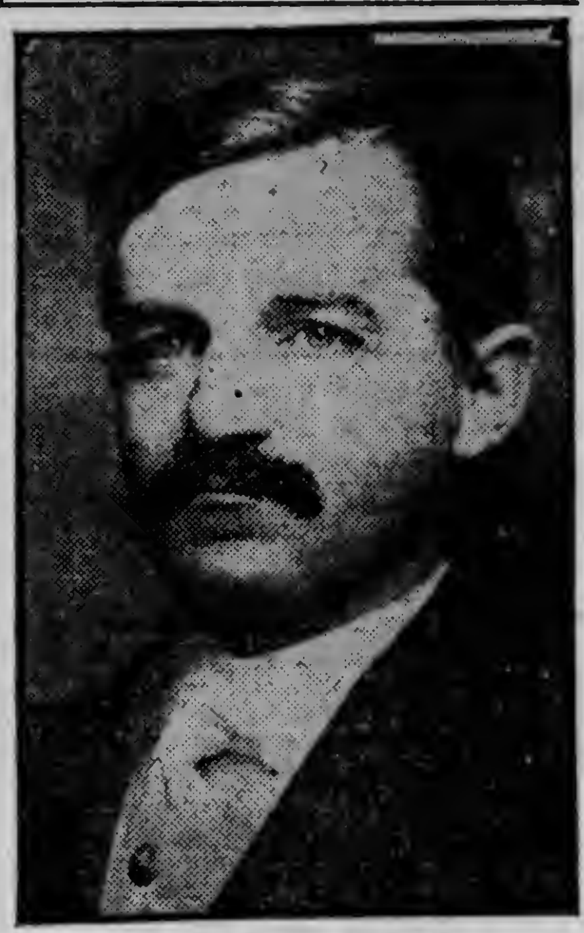
Flood Stage at Clinton.

Clinton, Iowa, April 15.—The flood stage of sixteen feet at this point was passed early today when 16.1 feet, a rise of four-tenths of an inch in twenty-four hours, was recorded. A stage of 16.3 was predicted.

SOCIALIST ELECTED MAYOR OF THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE



DANIEL W. HOAN.

After a spell of resting from Socialism the city of Milwaukee has again elected a Socialist mayor. He is Daniel W. Hoan, now city attorney. He was once a chef in Chicago and at Madison he worked his way through the University of Wisconsin and afterward went through a Chicago law school, paying his way by cooking.

RUSS SHELL AUSTRIANS

Increased Activity Indicated on the Galician War Front.

Berlin, April 15, wireless to Sayville.—The official Austrian statement of Friday follows:

"Russian front: Russian artillery actively shelled our positions on the Lower Stripa, along the Dniester and northeast of Czernowitz. Near the mouth of the Lower Stripa and southeast of Bugzaz there were lively engagements for advanced positions, some of which are still in progress. The occupants of one trench which formed a salient were forced back to the main positions.

"Northeast of Jaslovice the enemy entered an advanced position but was ejected immediately by a counter-attack. One Russian officer, three ensigns and 100 men were captured. An Austro-Hungarian detachment, by a surprise attack, occupied an advanced Russian position on the road between Bugzaz and Czortkow. On the front held by Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, the enemy's artillery was active.

"Italian front: The artillery duels continued, insofar as the weather permitted. The Austro-Hungarians captured an Italian position at Mrzlivrh and repulsed several counter-attacks. The Italians suffered heavy losses.

"Our artillery vigorously shelled the Italian positions at Flitch and Hontebra. Attempts by Italian troops in the Sugana sector to occupy our positions on the heights of Movaledo failed. On the Ponale road our troops evacuated a defensive position south of Sperone. In the Adamello sector, Alpini occupied the Dosson-Digenova ridge. An Italian attack against Monte Boorluzzo, south of Stilfser, failed."

ABERDEEN BARK SUNK BY GUNFIRE

Washington, April 15.—The American consul at Queenstown reporting the destruction of the Aberdeen bark Inverlyon, cabled today that the ship was sunk by gunfire of a submarine after fifteen minutes had been given to abandon the vessel. Two Americans, he said, were in the one boatload which was saved and that none was in the boatload which is unaccounted for. The Inverlyon, he reported, was unarmed and made no resistance. She carried a cargo from Portland, Or.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Heavy artillery exchanges continue along the front before Verdun, but the German infantry has not returned to the assault. The chief point of attack of the German guns last night was the area between Malancourt wood and hill 304, to the west of the sector bombarded most vigorously in the preceding twenty-four hours. Although severe artillery fighting continued in the vicinity of Corbeaux wood, near the west bank of the river. East of the Meuse there were intermittent artillery engagements.

Increased activity on the Galician front is indicated by a statement from the Austrian war office. Along the lower Stripa there were several brisk engagements for possession of advanced points. Russian artillery is bombarding portions of this front heavily.

In the Austro-Italian campaign repeated attacks were made on each side. Austrian troops captured an Italian position at Mrzlivrh, beating back several counter-attacks with heavy losses for the Italians. Near Sperone the Italians gained the advantage. The Austrians abandoned a defensive position and fell back to the next line.

The British steamship Shenandoah, 3,886 tons, has been sunk by a mine. The captain and part of the crew were landed. Two men are missing.

A news agency dispatch from The Hague says the German foreign office is perturbed on account of the dissatisfaction expressed in the United States at the German note in regard to the Sussex. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is reported to have had several conferences with Ambassador Gerard and Count von Burian, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, and to have sent lengthy instructions to Ambassador von Bernstorff at Washington. According to these advices, German officials now seem willing to do everything possible to avoid a rupture with the United States.

STATE DEPARTMENT IS PREPARING FINAL NOTE TO BERLIN GOVERNMENT

Expected Submarine Controversy Will Be Brought to Prompt Climax.

Evidence Brought on St. Paul Compared With the German Note.

Washington, April 15.—The United States government today was ready for its next step in the crisis with Germany over submarine warfare. This was the preparation of a communication to be sent to Berlin designed to bring the situation to an issue.

Secretary Lansing continued work today on the statement of the American case which will be forwarded to Berlin and thus dispelled intimations that it might already have been started on its way. Mr. Lansing compared the affidavits on the attack on the Sussex, which arrived here last night, with information already before the department.

Not in Nature of Ultimatum.

There were repeated indications that the note would be a statement of the American case up to date, without anything in the nature of an ultimatum, and still would leave the way open for Germany to avoid the long-feared break in diplomatic relations. It was plain, however, that it would be intended as the American government's last word.

Senators of the foreign relations committee who have been told by the president that they would be consulted before any final or drastic steps were taken, declared that they had not yet been advised of the details of the next step.

Consider Case Complete.

At the state department there was renewed evidence that the United States considers its case complete even without the affidavits which arrived on the steamer St. Paul. Secretary Lansing acknowledged that evidence gathered by the French government from a captured German submarine crew, to prove the identity of the submarine involved in the Sussex attack had been placed in possession of the American government.

Such evidence, properly substantiated, was regarded as the capstone of the American case, if one seemed necessary. Mr. Lansing's only comment on the evidence was that it would be examined.

SHIP FROM ST. JOHN SENT DOWN BY MINE

London, April 15.—The steamship Shenandoah has been sunk by a mine, a Lloyds report says. The captain and part of the crew have been landed. Two men are missing.

The British steamship Shenandoah of 3,886 gross tons was built at Glasgow in 1893 and owned by the Furness, Withy company of West Hartlepool. She sailed from St. John, N. B., March 28 for London.

Ordered Home From Berlin.

Washington, April 16.—Lieut. V. D. Herbster, assistant naval attache at the American embassy at Berlin, was today ordered home for duty in the intelligence bureau.

INSPECTOR OF CAVALRY FOR THE ARMY OF GREAT BRITAIN

GEN. E. H. H. ALLENBY.

Maj.-Gen. E. H. H. Allenby, inspector of cavalry for the British army, entered the Inniskilling dragoons with which he served in Bechualand in 1884 and 1885. He later commanded the Fifth Royal Irish Lancers and was appointed to the Fourth Cavalry brigade in 1910. He has been decorated and mentioned several times in dispatches.

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY

Americans Fear Mining Plants Have Been Molested By Mobs.

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Official advices concerning Maj. Frank Tompkins and his little cavalry column of 140 men who were attacked in Parral last Wednesday were still anxiously awaited today. The story of the Parral affair is yet to be told, while uncertainty envelops the further march southward of Maj. Tompkins' forces who are now believed to have passed over the Durango-Chihuahua line.

The Mexican censorship over the land lines leading into Parral is strict and the military authorities are sending all their information in code. Representatives of mining companies with large plants in and about Parral are making frantic efforts to obtain information regarding their plants for there are persistent reports that following

SECOND FIGHT REPORTED AT PARRAL, MEX.

Unconfirmed Rumor of Further Trouble Comes From El Paso.

No Report of Trouble Has Been Received From Pershing.

Washington, April 15.—State department dispatches from El Paso today refer to unconfirmed reports of a second fight with American troops at Parral.

Gen. Funston today telegraphed the war department that he had not heard from Gen. Pershing for three days. Secretary Baker said that Gen. Funston was urging Gen. Pershing to rush a report on the Parral incident.

Gen. Funston's message was taken to indicate that the silence of Gen. Pershing probably was due to inability to get information rather than to interruption of communication. Gen. Funston has been in communication with other authorities in close touch with the advance expedition, but had asked Gen. Pershing to report oftener if possible to keep the war department advised.

Secretary Baker said he still was waiting for a report on the confer-

SOLDIERS IN MEXICO IN GOOD CONDITION

Appleton Man Writes He Is Growing Heavier in Open Air.

Appleton, Wis., April 15.—C. W. Chamberlain of Kaukauna, who is with the United States army at Casas Grandes, 150 miles south of the border, says there is but little sickness. He writes:

"There are newspaper accounts of how the poor soldiers are suffering down here, but I do not actually believe there are twenty-five sick ones in the whole outfit after all the hard marching we have been through. As for myself, I am growing heavier over the grilling experience—living off the plain government ration and in the open every moment, and all the rest of the boys seem to be of the same mind."

AMERICAN LIEUTENANT WHO HAS GAINED DISTINCTION IN MEX

LIEUT. LEVI BROWN.

A young officer who has gained distinction with the army in Mexico is Lieut. Levi Brown, who commands E troop of the Thirteenth cavalry. He was with the Thirteenth at Fort Hancock in Texas when it captured a number of Mexican filibusters in August last and later was stationed with his troops at Columbus. He was part of the first expedition into Mexico from Columbus.

AMENDMENT TO ARMY BILL

Senate Measure Would Place National Guard in Federal Service.

Would Enable Manning More Guns at Coast Defenses.

Washington, April 15.—To further strengthen Federalization of the National Guard the senate today, 33 to 23, amended the army reorganization bill to require guardsmen to take an oath to obey the orders of the president as well as the governor of their state. The amendment was presented by Senator Wadsworth, who said it originated in the National Guard itself.

The chief purpose of the amendment is to place National Guard soldiers primarily in the service of the United States service and secondarily in the service of the state, said Senator Wadsworth.

Senator Sutherland, Republican, urged adoption of his amendment increasing the coast artillery corps at once to maximum strength.

"Our coast defenses have cost $41,000,000 and are among the best in the world," said he. "But we now have enough men to man only one-fourth of the guns. My amendment would give us enough men to man one-half. I think more men should be trained in the use of the guns and hence I would not leave it to the president to make the increase but would have congress do it now."

The proposal to establish a government nitrate plant for the manufacture of explosives and fertilizers was disposed of yesterday by the adoption, 43 to 22, of an amendment incorporating provision for such a plant into the army reorganization bill.

THINKS REBELLION WILL BE OVERCOME

Chinese President Confident Peace Will Soon Be Restored.

Pekin, China, April 15.—President Yuan Shi Kai expressed confidence today that the difficulties presented by the revolutionary movement in the south would be overcome and harmony would be restored. He said that the declarations of independence by Che-Kiang, Kwang-Tung and Kiang-Si provinces were made for the purpose of avoiding rioting and that these provinces had not joined the revolutionary movement inaugurated in Yunnan.

He asserted disagreements had sprung up among the rebel leaders at Canton and that he was confident the result would be restoration of the allegiance to the Pekin government of Kwang-Tung province, of which Canton is capital.

The government announced today that Tsai-Ao, leader of the rebels, had insisted in his negotiations with the central government for peace that Yuan Shi Kai shall continue as president, with a responsible cabinet and a properly elected parliament.

Much Mail But No Passengers.

New York, April 15.—An unusually large amount of mail from Europe arrived here today on the White Star liner Cedric from Liverpool, which brought no passengers. The postal consignment consisted of 4,869 bags of first-class and 517 packages of parcel post mail.

ANY CHANGE IN ARMY PLAN UNNECESSARY

Believed That Early Mexican Reports of Fight Were Exaggerated.

Washington, April 15.—Secretary Lansing today pronounced the Mexican situation unchanged in any aspect.

Unless official reports to Gen. Funston disclose a more grave situation at Parral, where American troops were fired on, than is now believed to exist, there was nothing to indicate that a change might be reached in the near future.

Secretary Baker said Gen. Funston had not heard from Gen. Pershing directly for three days. That caused no uneasiness at the war department, however, as Gen. Pershing has reported only when he had definite and important information to communicate. Reports from other commanders in the field gave no new status to the pursuit of Villa and his bandits.

Doubt Clash Was Serious.

As time passes without official information of the Parral fighting from American source, officials are inclined to doubt that the clash was as serious as described in early Mexican advices.

Publication in Mexico City of the terms the Carranza government seeks to impose limiting any reciprocal troop movements across the international boundary shed much light on the diplomatic tangle which preceded Gen. Carranza's suggestion that the American troops be recalled from Mexico.

At the time the de facto government suggested that no expeditionary force should exceed 1,000 cavalrymen and not cross a deadline, there were several thousand American troops of all arms in Mexico and they were 200 miles or more south of the border.

Mexican Peace Commission.

Torreon, Mex., April 14, via El Paso Junction, April 15.—The peace commission directed by Gen. Maycotte, which is seeking to bring about the surrender of Gen. Canuto Reyes and his command under a general amnesty proposition, is reported today to be at Nazas, but news of any definite results of its deliberations is not expected for several days. Torreon is quiet.

TO CONTINUE AFTER VILLA

Pursuit Will Be Pushed While Negotiating With Carranza.

State Officials Prepared to Set Diplomatic Machinery Going.

Washington, April 15.—State department officials were today prepared to set in motion diplomatic machinery for a discussion with Gen. Carranza of his proposal for the withdrawal of the American troops in Mexico. While the negotiations are under way, the hunt for Francisco Villa will continue.

Secretary Lansing said he was prepared to take up the matter with the de facto government, but would not indicate when a reply might be sent. Secretary Baker said no new orders had been sent to Gen. Funston and that none were under contemplation.

Both secretaries said there had been no change in the policy of the administration which prompted the pursuit of Villa.

From other sources it was learned that the sincerity of the Carranza government in demonstrating its intention and ability to continue the pursuit and extermination of the bandits, should American forces be recalled, would weigh heavily with President Wilson in reaching a final decision. In that connection, an official report from the commander of the American forces attacked at Parral last Tuesday by civilians, is anxiously awaited. Gen. Carranza's information, was that his soldiers had done everything in their power to stop the firing at the American troops.

Unofficial versions of the incident, however, have asserted that Carranza soldiers were among the attackers.

WILL EXTEND LOGGING ROAD

Alger-Smith Line Will Be Built to Temperance River.

Construction of an extension to the Alger-Smith railroad, known as the Duluth & Northern Minnesota, that will take the line to Temperance river is planned for this summer, according to statements made today by a representative of the company.

This work will take the line through township 61 north, range 4 west, in section 15 in Cook county, and will make the total trackage almost ninety miles.

Although the plans for construction from Temperance river on, are not absolutely certain, they at present contemplate the building of the line northeasterly from the point of contact with the Temperance river to a point about twenty-five miles north of Grand Marais. Some surveying work has already been done along this route, but the route is subject to change.

According to plans only tentative at this time, the end of the Gunflint lake road will be about twenty-five to thirty miles north of the terminals at present definitely determined on. When finally completed, it is planned that the Alger-Smith road will be about 130 miles long.

FIRE STALLS CARS; JITNEYS RUSHED

Trolley cars on Superior street lines were tied up for nearly an hour about midnight last night, when a small fire severed one of the power lines leading from the Great Northern Power company's transformer house at Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street.

It is believed that two wires in the terminal just outside the sub-station on the Michigan street side became crossed, starting the blaze. Apparatus from headquarters responded to a "still" and made short work of the blaze. The damage was done, however, when the main feed line parted.

Jitneys did a rushing business during the time cars were stalled, charging 10 cents, the usual after-midnight toll. Downtown streets were deserted by the buses until after 1 o'clock, when the cars resumed their trips.

ENDS FOURTEEN YEARS' SERVICE WITH CITY TO ENTER BUSINESS

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department and of the civil service commission, and who has been a city employe for more than fourteen years, has tendered his resignation to take effect on May 1.

Mr. Johnson plans to enter the butter, egg and dairy products business. He has been largely instrumental in organizing the Sterling Dairy Products company, of which he is one of the incorporators, and of which he will be general manager. The other incorporators are Harry Merritt and S. H. Nelson. The company will have its offices and warerooms at 1729-31 West Superior street. It is incorporated for $50,000, and will install a pasteurizing plant.

Mr. Johnson has been a resident of Duluth since he was an infant, and was educated in Duluth schools. He has been employed for twelve years as secretary of the city health department and civil service board, and for two years previous to that was in the city clerk's office under Harry Cheadle.

the attack on the American cavalry last Wednesday mobs vented their vengeance on American property. Admission was made today by an official of the Alvarado Mining company that the mob had made a destructive attack on its mill.

Apprehension is felt for the safety of Americans and other foreigners in Parral. Some of those known to be in that section of Mexico are G. C. Smith and W. C. Palmer of the Parral and Durango railway; Leslie Webb and R. C. Robinson of the El Rayo Mining company and a Miss Dunning, a Methodist missionary. Another woman missionary, understood to be associated with Miss Dunning, is also reported to be in Parral. There are several French and German subjects in that vicinity.

Economic Conditions Menacing.

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Economic conditions in Mexico are more menacing to the hopes of a restoration of order and the avoidance of serious friction between that country and the United States than any political conditions, according to an American who returned here today from a tour which embraced most of the territory north of Mexico City.

This man, who is identified with large American interests in Mexico, brought reports of the destruction by mobs of the American plants and warehouses in several places.

No Further Information.

Eliseo Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's ambassador here, said today he had no further information of the fighting at Parral, nor of reports of a later clash and had been advised of no developments in Gen. Carranza's proposal for the withdrawal of American troops.

Dispatches to the Carranza embassy said the arrival of the general and his party in Mexico City was accompanied by a popular demonstration.

A battle at Cuernavaca, the Zapata stronghold, was reported imminent. The advance guard of the Carranza forces was said to be in plain sight of the fortress.

Grave Concern Over Line.

Columbus, N. Mex., April 15.—Gravest concern for the safety of the American line of communication was manifested in military quarters here today. Every preparation has been made at the base here to keep the line intact.

Motor trucks lined up and filled with rations stood in front of military headquarters awaiting orders to go forward and the telegraph station here was ordered to be kept open throughout the night.

American Dissatisfaction With German Note Causes Perturbation in Berlin.

"Considerable perturbation has been caused at the Berlin foreign office by news received by wireless of American dissatisfaction with the recent German note. The chancellor had several conferences with the American ambassador and also discussed possibilities with Count von Purian, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, who is now in Berlin. Lengthy instructions were sent to Ambassador von Bernstorff at Washington.

"German officialdom now seems willing to strain ever nerve in order to avoid a rupture with the United States while the press continues in a most flamboyant way to give advice to President Wilson, publishing vicious articles and cartoons of the president."

CANTON RESIDENT TALKS ON CHINA

Y. M. C. A. Members Hear Interesting Address By L. E. Leiser.

L. E. Leiser, for ten years secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Canton, China, and who is home on furlough until the latter part of the year, when he will return to his work in China, was guest of the dormitory men of the local Y. M. C. A. last night.

Mr. Leiser gave a clear-cut outline of present conditions in China and spoke of the great changes that have come about in the last few years, such as the complete overthrow of the old educational system, the abolition of the opium traffic which was introduced by English merchantmen, and, last, the overthrow of the old Manchu dynasty, which reigned in China for centuries.

The speaker also dwelt on the importance of the missionary in China and his influence in the new China. The Y. M. C. A. branches in the various cities, he said, have brought about a great change favorable toward Christian enterprise throughout the country.

A stag lunch was served at the close of the evening program and many questions were asked which indicated the interest in China.

Sunday evening at 5 o'clock there will be another meeting of unusual interest at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. J. E. Porter will give a special address to men on the importance of great movement toward church membership. Mr. Porter has recently come from Boston university and is a very convincing speaker. All men are invited to attend.

S. S. WORKERS PLAN CONVENTION PARADE

About 2,000 Men Expected to Be in March at Austin.

Among the interesting features of the fifty-eighth annual state Sunday school convention, to be held at Austin, April 26 to 30, will be the first Minnesota men's Bible class parade. This event is scheduled for Saturday evening, April 29.

It is expected that 2,000 men will march. Apportionments have been made for the different parts of Southern Minnesota, to the number of 1,500, and it is expected that there will be 500 men from among the delegates, and Twin City Bible class men, so as to make the full quota. Major A. W. Wright, head of the state military organization, will be the chief marshal. He will have a number of aides.

Preceding the parade there will be a number of automobile meetings, at street corners, all along the line of march. The speakers in automobiles will tell what the convention and parade stand for, and will also tell the gospel message. This will be taking the convention on the streets to the people. There will be invitations given to come to the men's and women's mass meetings to follow immediately after the parade.

EASTER SHOPPERS FLOCK TO DULUTH

Range Trains Crowded—Superior Street Looks Like Circus Day.

Easter shoppers from the range cities flocked to Duluth this morning.

The morning trains on both range roads were crowded, and the passengers made Superior street appear as if a parade were in progress.

The hotels had long lists of range guests and the merchants reported a very brisk Saturday morning's trade.

EARLY RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Alfred Gillon Summoned After a Year's Illness.

Alfred Gillon, aged 60 years, one of the early residents of Duluth, died at his home at 19 Forty-fourth avenue east, at 6 a. m. today, after an illness of about a year. His illness has baffled physicians. He began to weaken gradually about a year ago, but kept up his work as special officer at the Missabe docks until last November.

Mr. Gillon was born at Pakenham, Ont., Can., Jan. 1, 1856, and he moved to Muskoka, Ont., Sept. 28, 1868. He followed the lumber business in the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts until 1884 as cruiser and camp foreman. He married Mary McLennan Sept. 29, 1884. The next year he joined the Duluth police force, where he served until 1896. During the summer of 1896 he was engaged in the grocery business. The following year he went to work for the Duluth & Iron Range railway and remained in its employ until 1900. Then he went to Spokane, Wash. There he engaged in the mining and timber business several years. Mr. Gillon was the first city detective here. About two years ago he went to work for the Missabe as special officer at the ore docks, where he remained at work until last November.

Mr. Gillon is survived by a widow, four sisters and two brothers. His brothers are Robert Gillon, Eighteenth avenue east, Duluth, and H. K. Gillon, Two Harbors. His sisters are all living out of this city.

Mr. Gillon was a Mason, and his funeral will be held from the Masonic temple at 2 o'clock Monday. The Good Templars will be in charge. The body will lie in state from noon until 2 p. m.

Appropriate exercises will be held in many of the schools of the rural districts.

TRAIN WRECK AVERTED.

Pedestrian Notes Break in Rail and Flags G. N. Train.

A possible train wreck was averted yesterday afternoon on the Great Northern line between Grand Forks and Duluth when a man named Jackson, noting a defect in a rail near Two Rivers, flagged the train, and the engineer halted the engine, and repairs were made so that the train passed over safely.

Mr. Jackson was walking the ties at the time, and, noting the break in the rail, pulled off his coat and used it as a signal banner. Railway officials here say that the break in the rail was not serious, but Mr. Jackson was given a ride to Duluth and a reward is said to have been given him for his thoughtfulness.

WILL LECTURE ON ORE IN NORTHERN WISCONSIN

Prof. W. O. Hotchkiss, Wisconsin state highway commissioner and also state geologist of that commonwealth, will give a lecture next Wednesday evening at the Superior Commercial club on "Undiscovered Iron Ore in Northern Wisconsin." Prof. Hotchkiss recently completed a resurvey of Northern Wisconsin and, it is said, has many interesting things to tell of what he found.

This lecture was to have been given several weeks ago, but Mr. Hotchkiss was unable to come at that time. Much interest is being taken in the lecture by Duluth people, and in behalf of the Superior Commercial club, Herbert Cross, secretary of the club, this morning extended an invitation to Duluthians to attend.

Chippewas Get Favorable Decision Through Activity of John Morrison.

Walker, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chippewa Indians got a favorable high court decision this week, and as a result the $160,000 which has been appropriated annually for salaries of clerks, office men, etc., will no longer come out of the Indian fund. John Morrison, president of the Chippewa tribe, is credited with getting this important matter through the courts.

ANOTHER ASHLAND HOSPITAL AGITATED

Ashland, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attempts are being made to form a company to build another hospital here. There has been more or less talk on the subject since the consolidation of Rinehart's hospital, now St. Thomas, with St. Joseph's hospital two years ago, but a serious attempt is now being made to form a company for the erection of a third independent hospital.

Do You Buy Tested Lamps?

By "tested" we mean—examined by some reputable independent research laboratory which tests them for length of life, candle power, efficiency and current consumption. Such a test is a check on the manufacturer and is the purchaser's only protection against getting an inferior or faulty lamp.

Our lamps are made by the Edison Lamp Co. They are drawn from a private stock in the lamp warehouses, which have been tested by the Electrical Testing Laboratories Co. of New York.

We are the only firm in Duluth with this service—our lamps don't cost you any more than the others. Remember this when you buy lamps.

Candidate for Governorship Nomination Claims Satisfactory Prospects.

Samuel G. Iverson, former state auditor, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was visiting friends in Duluth today, and left this afternoon for the Mesaba range.

"I find my campaign going ahead with excellent prospects," said Mr. Iverson. "My old friends are lining up for me in a very satisfying way, and new friends are rapidly coming to my support. I find that the platform upon which I am making the contest appeals to the people generally. This platform is: A business administration, law enforcement, protection of public health, lake bed iron ore road fund, development of land and water resources, and equalized reduced taxation. No feature of my platform meets with so much interest as that relation to taxation.

"Have you stopped to consider that the total taxation of the state in 1915 was about $60,000,000, whereas in 1900, fifteen years previous, it was only $15,000,000? This is an increase of approximately 350 per cent, while the increase in the population was but 30 per cent. What does it mean? Simply that money is being expended without regard to the burdens that are being placed upon the people.

Southern Minnesota Worse Off.

"You know how heavy the burden of taxation is in northern Minnesota, but no doubt you will be surprised to learn that in southern Minnesota the taxation is so heavy that many of the people are in danger of losing their lands and their homes.

"There must be a halt in the reckless manner in which the people's money is being expended. Taxes can be equalized to better distribute the burden, and taxes can be greatly reduced. I know this from my long experience as state auditor, and if nominated and elected I will make it my business to have the taxes reduced by cutting down the state's expenditures.

"Another important matter is law enforcement, and I stand firmly in favor of enforcing the laws."

NAKED MAN IN SILK HAT

Former Duluthian So Describes the Argentine Republic.

"Argentina is a naked man wearing a silk hat," said Allen P. Allensworth, Winnipeg manager for the American Linseed company, and former market editor of The Herald.

Mr. Allensworth arrived in Duluth this morning after a five months' trip to South America. He is returning to Winnipeg this afternoon, with an English walking stick, a Spanish accent, a Buenos Aires soft hat and a Fifth avenue suit of clothes.

"Buenos Aires is a wonderful city, but it is the silk hat on the naked man," he continued. "It is a country of great natural resources, but has not had capital to develop it. It is just beginning to come into its own, and is far more prosperous than any of the countries on the West coast. Living expenses are terrifically high there. Coal was $32 a ton, so manufacturing is handicapped. The men who have made fortunes from grain and beef live in Buenos Aires and it is one of the most beautiful cities in the world."

After spending two weeks in Winnipeg, Mr. Allensworth will return to New York and will sail for Central America in the interests of the new cocoanut oil business which the American Linseed company is developing.

"I had a great trip," he said this morning. "I got marooned by a railroad strike in Chili, rode with the President of Chili on a special train with government guards, crossed the isthmus of Panama on another special, and met Mary Pickford at a ball in New York. I lived on ham and eggs most of the time, because those were the only Spanish words I could say."

Mr. Allensworth regaled his old friends on the Duluth board with many interesting sidelights on his trip, but had no information to give out on the linseed market.

AFTER THE "MAKINS."

Schoolboys, Learning to Smoke, Burglarize Confectionery Store.

School boys who were learning to smoke are believed to be responsible for the burglary of a confectionery store at 430 North Thirty-ninth avenue west, owned and operated by N. J. Smith, last night.

After breaking the glass in the front door with a brick, they reached through and opened the door. A small quantity of cigars and tobacco, together with some fruit, was all that was missed by the proprietor when he checked over his stock today.

Police are working on the case.

CASHED NAMESAKE'S CHECK.

Tobias Reinertson Will Serve Thirty Days at Work Farm.

Tobias Reinertson of Winnesheit county, Iowa, and Tobias Reinertson of Duluth are two different men.

Reinertson No. 2 cashed a check for $5.86 which was issued to Reinertson No. 1 and will serve thirty days at the work farm on a petit larceny charge. A charge of forgery was dropped by police when they learned that both men had the same name.

No. 1 purchased a railroad ticket from Hazard, Neb., to Decorah, Iowa, via the C. B. & Q. railway on Jan. 4, and when he changed his plans for the trip, he made application for a refund on the unused portion of his ticket.

In due time the railroad company forwarded to him a check for $5.86. It did not reach him at his home, and instead was forwarded to the Tobias Reinertson living at Duluth.

Reinertson No. 2 was arrested last night by Detective Roberg and arraigned in municipal court today.

ALL IN POINT OF VIEW.

Jake Britz Was Lucky to Go to Work Farm.

"I'm a lucky guy," said Jake Britz, 26, alleged forger. "All I gotta do is serve three months at the work farm, and then I'm through."

Britz was right. He was lucky, for authorities had consented to charge him with petit larceny instead of forgery, and if the latter count had been pressed he probably would have gone to Stillwater.

Early in March Britz was arrested in Superior and brought back here to "face the music." He was alleged to have cashed a $12 check with a West end hotel keeper. The check was signed "M. Rachlin." Rachlin, a saloon keeper at 1920 West Superior street, denied that he had issued the check.

Britz has been held in jail since that time. He was bound over to await grand jury action when arraigned in municipal court about March 15. His desire to be sentenced at once caused Assistant County Attorney M. M. Forbes to change the charge.

NEVER DISAPPOINTED HIM.

"Little Ol' Seben" Always Came When Jay Bird Called.

"The Jay Bird has come back to roost," police said today when William M. Rogers, 43, and Anna Rogers, 36, both colored, were lodged in jail by Detectives Roberg and Barber.

Although not migratory, the Jay Bird, as Rogers is known, has heard the call of spring and was thinking seriously of taking flight for parts unknown when the officers interfered.

Mrs. Rogers objected to the flight and the argument that followed attracted the attention of a large crowd of loiterers who were warming the fence rails near the union station.

The Jay Bird's principal stock in trade was two pair of dice, guaranteed to break up any "crap" game. One dice had a five on each side, while the other carried four deuces and two sixes. It was impossible to throw any point but a seven or 'leven with one set of dice, while the other was "straight."

"When Ah calls for the little ol' seben," explained the Jay Bird with a broad grin, "she don't never refuse me."

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Bird were held in $50 bail for a hearing Monday.

AMERICAN ON BOARD SHIP MARGAM ABBEY

Washington, April 15.—An American, John D. Harrison, of Chicago, was aboard the steamer Margam Abbey, sunk without warning April 8, American Consul General Skinner today cabled the state department. Harrison was rescued.

Consul General Skinner's report was the first advice to the state department that the sinking of the Margam Abbey involved Americans. Mr. Skinner's information came from the American consul at Cardiff, Wales, where Harrison was evidently landed. Harrison was a steward on the sunken vessel.

The consul at Cardiff said the Margam Abbey was sunk sixty-five miles south of Lizard Head, England, by a submarine without warning and that the ship made no resistance.

CAPTAIN DISMISSED FOR VIOLATING PLEDGE

Washington, April 15.—Capt. James M. Fulton of the coast artillery at Fort Grant, Panama, was dismissed from the army today for violating an abstinence pledge. President Wilson approved the court-martial sentence. Capt. Fulton is a native of Virginia and was appointed to the army in 1902.

WOULD PROHIBIT SHIPMENT OF ARMS

Washington, April 15.—Representative Rodenberg, Republican, of Illinois, today introduced a resolution prohibiting shipment of arms and munitions of war into Mexico. It was not discussed, and Mr. Rodenberg later issued a statement criticizing the Wilson administration and saying that Gen. Carranza has given abundant evidence "of his treacherous character."

SPRING MEDICINE

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Great Blood Purifier, Is the Best.

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate.

It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, devitalized blood.

It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

The best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old reliable family medicine purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-the-year-round alterative and tonic, and is absolutely the best Spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist on having it, for nothing else can take its place.

DULUTH JEWS TO OBSERVE PASSOVER

Flight of Israelites From Egypt Will Be Commemorated.

Beginning at sundown next Monday evening and continuing for seven days, Duluth Jews will observe Passover or Pesach, which commemorates the flight of the Jews from Egypt under the leadership of Moses and the subsequent wanderings in the desert for forty years.

Special services will be held at the Adas Israel synagogue on Monday and Tuesday evenings and on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, while a special seder service will be conducted at Temple Emanuel on Monday evening for the members of the congregation. The seder supper will be served by the Temple Aid society, following a short service to be conducted by Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits.

During Passover week the Jew eats unleavened bread, or matzos, commemorative of the bread baked by the women of Israel on the night of their hurried departure from Egypt, when the dough was not given time in which to rise. In many orthodox homes separate sets of dishes will be used because of the difference in food eaten.

RECRUITING ADDS 3,927 MEN TO THE ARMY

Washington, April 15.—Results of thirty days' recruiting, accounted today by the war department, for the additional 20,000 men recently authorized by congress showed 16,817 applications and acceptance of 3,927 recruits. During the last nine days San Francisco led with 531 applications and 101 acceptances; Chicago was second with 447 applications and eighty men accepted, and New York third with 400 applications and 59 acceptances.

FORMER AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA ARRIVES

New York, April 15.—George T. Marye, Jr., who resigned recently as ambassador to Russia, arrived here today, accompanied by Mrs. Marye, on the Norwegian-American liner Kristianiafjord from Scandinavian ports. He said he would go to Washington probably within a few days.

The Kristianiafjord brought 838 passengers. Officers said that no warships of any kind were sighted throughout the voyage and that they regarded this as an unusual experience for a Scandinavian vessel.

SHIPPERS DO NOT WANT ERICKSON TO RESIGN

Madison, Wis., April 15.—That the shippers of the state who are back of the Tittemore complaints for a readjustment of the freight rates in the state will ask that Chairman Halford Erickson remain with the commission until the case is decided was indicated by the statement of J. N. Tittemore of Omro today.

It is known that Mr. Erickson has recently had a conference with Governor Philipp and has definitely notified the executive that he will resign. It is said that at the request of the executive the formal filing of Erickson's resignation has been withheld to give Governor Philipp an opportunity to look the state over for an available man to take Mr. Erickson's place.

The chief alleges that he also found half a pint of alcohol in the kitchen.

Lincoln Keepers Discussed.

New York, April 15.—Two keepers guarding Ignatius T. T. Lincoln, the self-confessed German spy, in the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, have been dismissed for alleged complicity in plans made by Lincoln to make another escape, it was announced today by Commissioner Lewis of the department of corrections. The two keepers dismissed are Thomas W. Danbeck and Michael G. Keating.

TRAMP SHOOTS DEPUTY THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Charles City, Iowa, April 15.—Deputy Sheriff Frank Herzog was shot and probably fatally wounded yesterday by a tramp. Pursued for miles, and finally brought to bay, the tramp exchanged a number of shots with his pursuers, and then turned his weapon on himself, sending a bullet through his head.

Herzog was in search of suspects in connection with the blowing of a lumber yard safe at New Hampton, near here, last night. In the railroad yards, he came across the tramp and began to question him, when the stranger drew a revolver and shot Herzog through the abdomen.

GOOD DEMAND FOR FAMOUS CACTUS JUICE

The demand in Duluth for Cactus Juice, the celebrated new preparation, that is accomplishing such astonishing results, in so many instances of stomach, kidney, liver and catarrhal troubles, is already great. All morning people visited the Lyceum Pharmacy, 431 West Superior street, to inquire about the medicine, to see how it is distributed and to learn just what Cactus Juice looked like. Many had their minds all made up and simply said: "I want Cactus Juice." The beginning of the introductory sale therefore was one of the most remarkable thing of its kind seen here. The proprietor of the store at 431 West Superior street, where the premier preparation is introduced to the public by the Cactus Juice Man, said:

"We have been agreeably surprised by the demand for Cactus Juice. While we were familiar with the great success the medicine had achieved in other cities, we had no idea its popularity would become so universal with us in so short space of time, nor did we expect such gratifying results."

Cactus Juice apparently appeals to the best element of the people who are able to judge impartially and to render a fair decision of its merits. The demand is already surprising among some of our older men.

Mr. Green, who is directing the sale of Cactus Juice in Duluth, said in this connection: "It is just as we expected. I don't want you to be surprised by the tremendous demand for Cactus Juice, after taking into consideration the fact that the ingredients are medicinal elements which make people come from many remote sections of the earth, such as Europe, China, South America, Africa, Mountain States, the Rocky Mountains.

In the principal of the Cactus Juice company, under the efficient direction of our Prof. E. Seiler, a noted German chemist, these medicinal herbs, barks, roots and fruit juices, are assembled in the rough and painstakingly developed so as to obtain a high standard of efficiency, known by the uniformity of this preparation.

Come and see the CACTUS JUICE MAN at the LYCEUM PHARMACY and let him tell you of its merits.

EARLY RESIDENT OF DULUTH DIES.

Ole Carlson, for thirty years a Duluth resident, died this morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. John A. Swanson, 2814 West Third street. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death. He had been ill a long time and was 51 years of age.

Mr. Carlson was unmarried. He leaves a mother and brother in Sweden, two brothers and one sister living in Minneapolis, and two sisters and one brother in Duluth. He had made his home with Mrs. Swanson for some time.

Funeral services will be held from the Swanson home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be at Park Hill cemetery.

Death Due to Pneumonia.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 15.—Lottie Welson, a woman who attempted to commit suicide by cutting herself with an old hatchet and a piece of broken glass last night, died today at the Northern Hospital for the Insane, where she was taken. The end was not due to the wounds, the superintendent stated, but due to pneumonia.

Traffic Tied Up.

Sheboygan, Wis., April 15.—Traffic on the Lake Shore division of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad has been tied up since 9 o'clock this morning by a wreck of a southbound freight train one mile south of Oostburg. No one was injured.

SPECIAL ELECTION BY PROCTOR SCHOOLS

Ballots Are Being Cast for Six New Directors.

A special school election for the purpose of electing six school directors, which will take place this evening between 7 and 9 o'clock, is occupying the attention of residents of the village of Proctor. The election will be held at the West side school building, and from the amount of interest every man and woman in the village entitled to a vote will turn out.

Two tickets have been selected on which the candidates will be elected to run for a term of one, two and three years respectively. Sample ballots of both sides have been distributed to virtually all of the homes. Although there are two tickets in the field, it will not prevent anyone from splitting the ticket and voting for any friend on the opposition.

One slate contains the names of H. J. Paulu and H. J. Barncard, three-year candidates; Le Grand Pace and F. E. Howell, two-year term, and C. A. Ellefson and P. M. Quick, one-year term.

The other ticket included the name of one woman, Mrs. C. Connors. This ticket includes J. E. Code and William McMurtrie, three-year term; Mrs. Connors and A. Swanson, two-year term, and Andrew Nelson and F. Spearman for a one-year term.

The village recently voted to have its schools classified as an independent district, instead of a common school district.

GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK.

Burnquist and Other Prominent Men Will Address Club.

At a meeting this evening of the committee in charge of the annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club to be held on April 27, the program will probably be announced.

Mason M. Forbes will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, Congressman Clarence B. Miller, Mayor W. I. Prince, Warren E. Greene, county attorney; J. M. Davidson, manager of the Morgan Park property for the Minnesota Steel company, and John Owens, pioneer lumberman and farmer.

The banquet will be served at 7 o'clock at the Moose hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. The Ladies' Aid Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church will serve the supper.

FIRST CATCH OF TROUT.

Two Duluthians Take Forty-Eight Fish Near City.

Dr. E. W. F. Boerner, 404 North Central avenue, and Charles Mattson are the first fishermen to return with a good catch of brook trout. The two returned at noon today after spending seven hours at the streams north of the city. A catch of forty-eight trout, twenty-five of which were angled by Dr. Boerner, were brought home by the two men.

"The fishing was fine, but we had some time getting to the stream," said Dr. Boerner.

Gudrun Vedo,

Mothers' Club Program.

An interesting program was given yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Mothers' Club of the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street. A feature of the program was a demonstration of work of pupils of the third grade under the direction of Miss Gertrude Wellington, teacher.

Mrs. O. A. Oredson gave a short talk on "Federation of Woman's Clubs." The program also included an address by George M. Paulus, principal of the school, a vocal duet by Misses Ethel and Nina Gibson, piano solo by Ray Nicols and vocal solo by Miss Hulda Olson.

Box for Late Mail.

Letters for out of the city mailed before 11:23 p. m. at the mail box which was installed yesterday at the Northern Pacific passenger station in West Duluth, will get on the late mail train. This new service was recently promised by the mail department officials of Duluth and has just been installed.

During the day this box will be regularly visited by mail carriers.

SCHOOL LOSES ANOTHER TEACHER

M. H. Walker Resigns to Take Position in Arizona.

M. H. Walker, instructor of commercial work at the Robert E. Denfeld high school, tendered his resignation to Supt. Denfeld yesterday and will take a position with the Ray Consolidated Copper company. Mr. Walker is leaving this afternoon for Ray, Ariz., to assume his duties with the company.

Mr. Walker is the second instructor at the school to sever his connection with the institution this spring. Leon C. High, instructor in English, tendered his resignation to the superintendent late last month to take effect yesterday. Mr. High has taken a position with the Scott-Graff Lumber company.

The Denfeld school will also lose its principal at the close of this school year. S. A. Foster has been at the head of the high school work in West Duluth since its beginning more than a decade ago. He will go into business for himself.

Mr. Walker and Mr. High have both been with the West Duluth high school since the Denfeld school building was opened a year ago last fall. Supt. Denfeld announced this morning that Mr. Walker had been released from his contract to fill out the year in order that he might take advantage of his new position at once.

West Duluth Briefs.

W. S. Perkins of St. Paul arrived this morning to spend the week-end visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, 512 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

The West Duluth Commercial club entertained last evening at another of its series of "ladies nights." A musical program, dancing and cards featured the affair. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. A. Barnes, E. G. Kriedler and Mr. and Mrs. Max Oreckovsky. Jackson's orchestra furnished the music.

Mrs. W. H. Farrell, 6009 Raleigh street, entertained yesterday afternoon for the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Asbury M. E. church. A musical and literary program featured the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dunleavy, 513 North Fifty-seventh avenue, will leave tomorrow for a month's visit to Eastern cities.

The degree team of Tent No. 2, K. O. T. M., will take part in an exhibition drill this evening at Two Harbors. About fifteen members of the society will accompany the team.

Victrolas and records at Spencer's. Easy payments if desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Law, 3911 West Eighth street, were pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of their friends. Cards and music featured the entertainment. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cloutier, Mr. and Mrs. R. Eny, Mrs. Rosse, Misses Margaret Rutland, Vield Stoddard, Rose Walker, Veronica Walker and Donald Ross.

He will appear at a matinee and evening performance at the Orpheum theater on that day. Chief D. A. Cameron of the clan says that plans may be made for a banquet to be given in his honor.

Choose Concrete for Paving.

Nineteenth avenue east property owners, at a meeting in the city hall last evening, selected one-course concrete, with a trap-rock surface, as the material for the proposed pavement from Fourth to Eighth street. About thirty owners were present. As a result of this selection D. H. Clough will be awarded the contract.

Files for State Legislature.

Henry E. Voigt, 19 West Fifth street, filed yesterday for the nomination for the state legislature from the Fifty-eighth district. This district takes in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards, and the towns of Rice Lake, Canosia, Fredenberg, Gnesen and Colvin. The district is now represented by Anton Borgen and E. R. Ribenack.

Emancipation Anthem Given.

An emancipation anthem, written by Henry Williams of Duluth, was sung at the ante-Easter musical festival held last night in St. Mark's A. M. E. church. T. W. Hugo, honor guest of the church members, explained the significance of the anthem and praised the composer for his work. Celia Williams was the accompanist. A pretentious vocal and instrumental program was given.

Discusses Observatory.

The Jackson Welfare club held its regular monthly business meeting last evening at the Jackson school. J. H. Darling addressed the members on the observatory, which he has proposed to erect in the public park at Ninth avenue west and Third street. Park Manager Cleveland also spoke to the club. John Roos, president of the organization, presided.

Miss McGaughey Will Speak.

Miss Hester McGaughey, who has spent five years in the missionary field in India, a sister of Rev. John Allen McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will speak tomorrow evening at the church. Miss McGaughey will talk about her experiences as a missionary in the Far East.

Confer on Condemnation Suits.

City commissioners held a conference in City Attorney Samuelson's office this morning for the purpose of discussing several of the condemnation suits and damage cases brought against the city. City Assessor Scott was also present at the meeting.

TURNDOWN FOR TWENTY HOTELS

Twenty out of fifty-one applications for hotel licenses will be rejected at the council meeting next Monday afternoon, according to Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division.

A majority of these applications are for licenses to operate hotels without baths, and the safety head declared that he would recommend their rejection. Unless a hotel has proper bathing facilities, it will be denied a license, he said, following the action taken in connection with two applications last Monday. In addition, the reports made by the police department show that several of the applicants have been arrested on previous occasions and that they have long police records. These applications will be held over for further investigation, the safety head announced.

As soon as an applicant complies with the police and health regulations of the new hotel ordinance, the application, which will be kept on file, will be submitted to the council a second time for consideration. This is the plan that Commissioner Silberstein proposes to follow in granting licenses.

Last Monday twenty licenses were granted, while in addition to the fifty-one coming up next Monday, there are still twenty applications under investigation.

Applications by R. W. Armstrong, 205 West Michigan street, and Forrest Maloney, 5413 Ramsey street, for saloon license renewals, will come up Monday.

SWEARS STOCK HAS NO VALUE

Ernest Le Duc, president and promoter of the Big Ledge Development company, has made a sworn statement that the 35,714 shares which he holds are of no present value.

Mr. Le Duc objects to paying any tax on Big Ledge stock and has filed an answer to proceedings instituted to collect $544.22, which has been levied against him. He admits that he is the owner of 35,714 shares of the capital stock, but declares that the stock has no actual value.

On May 1, 1915, City Assessor Scott assessed Mr. Le Duc's Big Ledge stock at $11,000, upon a statement furnished by Mr. Le Duc at that time, setting forth that the 35,714 shares were worth $1 a share or $35,714. Mr. Le Duc now alleges that he was mistaken and that the statement was erroneous. He states that as a matter of fact the stock is of no value at present and asks that his taxes be accordingly reduced.

On the assessment rolls, Mr. Le Duc was listed as having property worth $14,020. Of this amount $20 was for office furniture. The $14,000 was for the Big Ledge stock.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS.

Mrs. Annie Andrianne Dies—Lived Here Since Early Days.

Mrs. Annie Andrianne, 58, wife of Leon Andrianne of 429 Sixth avenue west, died last night at her home after a six months' illness with Bright's disease. Mrs. Andrianne has lived in Duluth for twenty-seven years and was very well known, especially among the old residents of the city.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Andrianne is survived by four daughters, all of whom reside in Duluth. They are: Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Celia Schuler, Miss Ruth Andrianne and Miss Theresa Andrianne.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church, West Third street.

TRAMP ATTACKS STOCKMAN IN CAR

Hibbing, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Kuusela, Finish stockman, was attacked last evening by a tramp while he lay sleeping in a stock car near Brookings.

Suffering from a severe gash in his head and many other bruises inflicted by a hammer, Kuusela was found early this morning by train men and rushed to Hibbing for treatment.

The assault is supposed to have happened en route to Biwabik where Kuusela was bringing stock. Kuusela in the police station this morning stated that he remembered nothing of the attempt at robbery until he awoke this morning and found himself covered with blood. The car door was opened and a hammer nearby indicated the weapon used. Kuusela's pockets were rifled but no money was taken as the stockman had none on his person. The police are certain that it was the work of a tramp, who, finding Kuusela asleep, made the attempt at robbery but was later frightened away.

ANOTHER ANIMAL FOR DULUTH ZOO

Duluth's municipal zoo at Lester park has another addition.

Commissioner Farrell, works head, has received a muskrat from a friend in the north woods and this animal will be placed in the zoo as soon as it is completed. Several small animals are now at the old armory, where they are being fed by employes of the works division.

Construction of the fence around the zoo will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground, Commissioner Farrell said this morning.

Liquor Toters Jailed.

Bemidji, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five men, who were found guilty of introducing liquor into Indian territory at the recent term of Federal court at Minneapolis, were brought to Bemidji Friday by Deputy United States Marshal Frank Tufts to serve their terms of sixty days in the Beltrami county jail. They also received fines of $100 each.

Deer-Killer Jailed.

Bemidji, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—On a charge of killing deer out of season, Walter Easter, who lives in Blackduck, was arraigned in municipal court Friday and was fined $50 or thirty days in the Beltrami county jail. He chose the jail sentence and began his sentence the same day.

DULUTH ELKS PLANNING TO ENTERTAIN 5,000 VISITORS ON THE OCCASION OF THEIR TWELFTH ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE IN JUNE

Duluth lodge, No. 133, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, is expected to bring the biggest crowd of visitors that ever assembled in this city at any one time when the twelfth annual convention of the Minnesota State Elks' association is held here on June 14 and 15.

Present indications point to a crowd of 5,000 Elks and members of their families, who will come here from all parts of the state to attend this year's meeting. Word has already been received by officers of the local convention committee to the effect that special trains have been chartered by the lodges at Minneapolis, St. Paul, Fergus Falls, Faribault, St. Cloud and Virginia, while other delegations are now arranging for special cars. In addition, it is expected that 1,000 persons will make the trip to Duluth by automobile should the weather be favorable at the time.

For the first time in the history of the state association a big delegation of grand lodge officers will attend the meeting, the following having already accepted the invitation of the local lodge: James R. Nicholson of Springfield, Mass., grand exalted ruler; W. F. Schad of Milwaukee, Wis., grand esteemed leading knight; Fred C. Robinson of Dubuque, Ia., grand secretary; Charles A. White of Chicago, grand treasurer, and John H. Mitchell of St. Paul, grand forum.

JOSEPH J. HILBE,
St. Cloud, Vice President, State Association.

The convention will open on the morning of June 14, the distinctive feature of the day's program being the Flag day exercises at the new armory, the convention headquarters. Every Elks' lodge in the state will participate in these exercises, which will serve as the official observance of the day by the Elks of Minnesota. The grand lodge officers will also take part.

State Officers.

The officers of the state association follow:

HOME OF DULUTH LODGE, NO. 133.

There will be a parade of several thousand school children of the city on Flag day, the line of march extending from the Elks' club building down to Superior street and then east to the new armory. Each child will carry an American flag. On June 15 the grand parade of the convention will be held, with fifteen marching clubs, twelve bands and five drum corps in the line. The local lodge has organized a marching club for this year and the members are now being trained by Capt. W. O. Flodin of the national guard. A special uniform and cap will be worn by the members of the club, while attractive caps have been secured for the Third Regiment band, which will lead the parade.

Entertainment Program.

On the afternoon of the first day the visitors will be taken on an automobile ride over the boulevard, the drive ending at the steel plant and Morgan Park. An excursion up St. Louis river is planned for the second day, with an official convention ball on that evening as the closing feature of the convention.

Duluth's entire business district will be decorated for the convention, every merchant in the downtown section having already sent in an order for purple and white bunting and flags. Large Elk streamers will span the streets, while attractive decorations will cover the lights. A huge "welcome" sign will stretch across Fifth avenue west, and all the electric light bulbs will be painted purple by the Duluth-Edison company.

A feature of the Elks' convention is that all the financing is being done by the local lodge members, each of whom donates whatever he is able to give. In this way the lodge expects to raise approximately $3,000, which will cover the cost of decorations, entertainments for the visitors and general expenses of making the preliminary preparations.

Last January a special convention committee was appointed, with A. E. McCulloch, the newly elected ruler of the lodge, as general chairman. Thomas H. Sexton is the secretary. This committee has been divided into fourteen subcommittees, the members of which meet at the Elks' club every Wednesday evening.

The sub-committees follow:

Committee on Letter—F. E. Randall, chairman; Walter Dacey, Walter Gonska, John E. Samuelson, T. H. Sexton.

Budget committee—H. J. Gibbs, chairman; T. H. Sexton, H. N. Westaway, E. W. Stevens, E. F. Spink.

MARINE

BRITON OUT; BOATS SHIFT

The first boat to leave the harbor, the Briton, sailed out through the Duluth canal, bound for Fort William, at 5:25 o'clock this morning. There she will load screenings and return to Duluth; and Capt. "Chet" Massey, her master and part owner, expects to make several such trips before interlake navigation is open.

No difficulty is looked for in the Briton's getting through, for Thunder bay has been opened up by the icebreakers there and the ice in the lake has been driven pretty well over to the south shore.

The ice is drifted pretty far out today and is badly broken up. While a shift in the wind will easily bring it back again, the field is said to be so badly broken and so soft that there will be no difficulty in steamers making their way through it.

The ice in the harbor is in a mushy condition and affords no impediment to steamers or tugs. All channels in the bay, up as far as the Zenith Furnace company, at the entrance to St. Louis river, are open and boats can move about under their own steam. About the only places where the guidance of tugs is necessary is in some of the slips, where the ice remains unbroken. Even there, however, the tugs have little difficulty in breaking a way up to the dock faces.

Boats Are Shifted.

Two boats are being moved today. The steamer City of Bangor moved this morning under her own steam from elevator K to elevator E of the Consolidated group, to take on wheat; and this afternoon sometime, the steamer J. J. H. Brown will move from the Soo freight shed on the Superior side of the bay, to elevator K, where she will take on wheat.

No further plans for vessel shifting are yet announced, but it is expected that by Monday shifting will become general until all of the vessels in the harbor and chartered for grain are loaded. The steamer and four barges of the Pittsburgh fleet will likely be loaded early next week.

Tugs Working at Ashland.

WILL NOT SUBMIT AN ALTERNATIVE

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, this morning denied the report that he will introduce an amendment to the Hicken code for the consideration of the voters at the same time that the "dry" ordinance is submitted.

"I have no such intention," he said, "nor was anyone authorized to make such a statement. I can't understand how the report ever got out, because it is not my purpose to oppose the leaders in the dry campaign. I am perfectly willing to stand by the vote of the people in this matter and will comply with whatever legislation they enact."

The safety head declared, however, that he has been considering a change in the Hicken code, providing for an increase in the saloon license from $1,000 to $1,250 or $1,500, but that he will not submit it to the commissioners at this time.

"I have thought of such a program," he said, "with a view of reducing the number of saloons. It first occurred to me about three months ago and at that time I talked it over with the other commissioners. They all agreed with me that a move of that kind would be a commendable one.

"I do not plan, however, to submit an amendment of that kind in opposition to the 'dry' ordinance."

DRAMA VAUDEVILLE MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS—WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

DULUTH'S amusement program for the next five months is now quite definitely outlined. At the Lyceum next week there will be two traveling productions, "It Pays to Advertise" and "The Only Girl." The following week will be filled with "Nobody Home" and "Omar, the Tentmaker." The week after that will be filled with Howe's pictures, and the next week the Baldwin stock company will open its summer run. This run will be broken but once or twice for one or two nights at a time. Mr. Baldwin is expected in Duluth within a few days to make arrangements for the opening, and to assemble and rehearse his company.

There is now little chance for the Orpheum to reopen with vaudeville before September, if it does then. Some photoplays will probably be booked during the summer months, and possibly the Lyceum management will continue its Lauder experiment and book traveling productions there.

Meanwhile the Grand continues its highly popular vaudeville, and the Rex, Lyric and Zelda theaters with Triangle, Paramount and Metro photoplays are apparently prospering.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

Famous Cohan and Harris Production Coming to Lyceum.

One of the most popular comedy dramas produced in recent seasons bears the title "It Pays to Advertise," and Cohan and Harris count it as one of their best successes.

The play proves its title, and every rusty old business house in the country that has "something the matter with it" might send its representative to see it and find out the reason, for there are thousands of rich old conservatives like Cyrus Martin, the head of the soap trust in the play, who might profit from a few practical illustrations of the fact that "It Pays to Advertise."

The play is a funny combination of circumstances, but as a practical lesson to those who do not believe it teaches a great truth. Cyrus Martin quarrels with his son, and the latter goes into business in the new way, determined to succeed through advertising. He scores a big success, as any energetic young man is bound to do if he advertises judiciously, and his skeptical father is in the end glad to buy into the new firm. Every newspaper publisher and every town knows the man who does not believe in advertising. The players glibly tell of the success of certain nationally advertised products and mention them freely by name.

"It Pays to Advertise" is to be the attraction at the Lyceum theater for four nights and Sunday and Wednesday matinees, commencing Sunday, April 16.

EDNA MUNSEY IN "THE ONLY GIRL"

Popular Duluth Actress Is Featured in Musical Play.

"The Only Girl," which has a record of a season's run in New York, will be offered at the Lyceum theater April 20, 21 and 22, by Joe Weber, one of the most successful theatrical producers for the modern stage. Miss Edna Munsey of Duluth is featured.

This up-to-date musical play was written by Henry Blossom, who provided book and lyrics, with a musical setting by Victor Herbert, and was staged under the supervision of Fred G. Latham. When it was first placed on view in New York it met with instant favor from the critics, who pronounced it one of the best written musical plays to have been seen in a long time.

The story principally concerns a young author who has won renown as a writer of comic operas and who is at a loss for a composer to collaborate with him on the work he has in hand. One evening he hears strains of a violin which come from the apartment over his own and he hastily dispatches his servant to bring the player to him as he believes the theme of the air which he has heard will fit admirably with the libretto which he is writing.

He is not only astonised, but discomfited to find that the composer of the air which he has heard is a young girl, for he is a confirmed woman-hater. In sheer desperation, however, he makes a contract with her to supply the music for his new opera, first stipulating that their dealings shall be wholly of a business nature and that she will be treated just as if she were a man.

Of course this arrangement does not work out quite as satisfactorily as the author had imagined it would, and he soon falls desperately in love with his fair partner, at the end discovering that she is indeed "the Only Girl." In offering this new musical comedy, Manager Weber has provided an excellent cast, among the members of which are Edna Munsey, Franklyn Farnum, Cecilia Novasio, Tom Burton, Frank Coombs, Elsie Baird, Russell Lennon, Ann Walker, Alfred Fisher and Nellie De Grasse. There will be a chorus of pretty girls and an augmented orchestra.

CAPACITY HOUSES AT NEW GRAND

Varied Vaudeville Show Pleases Patrons During Week-End.

"Capacity" is the word that describes an apparent permanent condition at the popular New Grand, and to the bills offered there credit for this state of affairs is given. Variety is the keynote in this week's bill, which is a most pleasing and well-balanced one throughout.

Creighton, Belmont and Creighton, in their familiar vaudeville offering, "The Mudtown Minstrels," topline the bill in a most enjoyable manner. They impersonate three rural Yankees as they would appear in a minstrel show. The types are those one may see any day in the villages and small towns of New England, and bring to mind the inherent and natural wit of the Yankee. A conglomeration of singing, talking and dancing that is at all times in full keeping with the characters they represent, makes up this funny exhibition.

In a class by itself, the banjo act of the Bolger brothers is one of the particularly bright spots on the program. They are both accomplished musicians, and offer a series of selections gathered from the classics as well as from the popular numbers of the day.

Le Clair and Sampson are burlesque athletes featuring "nearly the strongest man on earth." Their offering is brimfull of wholesome comedy.

Swan and Swan are dancing jugglers. Skill and talent are combined in the offering.

Jack Mulhall and Grotchen Hartman head the cast in "Alias Jimmie Barton," a two-reel drama telling the story of a case of stolen identity.

"Anvils and Actors," a comedy, the Selig Tribune News showing many interesting pictures from the Mexican and European war zones, and a cartoon comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

On Monday the new bill promises to be a gala one, and is headed by Seven White Black Birds in a comedy singing and talking diversion, "Night Time Down in Dixie." Lowey and Lacy sisters, terpsichorean experts; Claudia Tracy, the Irish comedienne, and La Vine and Inman in a rural comedy novelty, "Sally's Visit," are prominent among the other vaudeville offerings. "I Will Repay," a three-reel subject, heads the photoplays. Two comedies make the rest of the program.

HARRY LAUDER AT ORPHEUM-STRAND

Famous Comedian Will Be Here for One Day Only.

Not only the highest salaried, but the most popular and talented artist in his line in the world, Harry Lauder will be seen in this city at the Orpheum-Strand theater matinee and night, April 20, under the management of the Duluth Lyceum theater.

This is Mr. Lauder's eighth tour of America and is to be one of his longest tours, which gives him the opportunity of visiting some cities in which he has never before appeared. He remains under the direction of William Morris, who has searched the Old World, as well as this country, for a company of suitable artists to make up with Mr. Lauder an unusual vaudeville program.

Mr. Lauder has written and composed a number of new songs for this tour and for those who feel that a Lauder program is incomplete without the old favorites he will sing some of his former successes. The new repertoire will include "She Comes Frae Bonnie Scotland," "Jean, My Jean," "Come Back Nanny," "Doughie, the Baker," "I'll Stick to Rosie" and "Bonnie Maggie Tamson."

In the company which Mr. Morris has provided are included the Al Golem troupe of sixteen dancers, acrobats and comedians who give glimpses of the Far East and its customs and who have never before been seen in America; Dave Genaro and Isabelle Jason in a series of dance specialties; Selwyn Driver, who performs his piano specialty in a humorous and novel manner; Mlle. Lucille and her marvelous talking cockatoo, and Albert Donnelly, the silent humorist in shadowgraphy.

Mr. Lauder's engagement is limited to one day, matinee and night. Seats will be on sale at the box office of the Orpheum Monday.

AT THE ZELDA.

Mabel Taliaferro Will Make Her Debut in Metro Photoplay.

Mabel Taliaferro, the gifted and charming young stage star, will make her bow to Metro audiences here in "Her Great Price," a five-part Metro photoplay, at the Zelda theater, three days commencing tomorrow.

In this production Miss Taliaferro has a role peculiarly suited to her talents. While the part is a decided departure from the ones she essayed in "Polly of the Circus," "Springtime" and other notable stage productions, still it has the same charm and sweetness that characterized her performances on the speaking stage.

The story of "Her Great Price" concerns a homeless girl who is practically adopted by three typical Bohemians—an artist, a writer and a sculptor, in the Latin quarter of New York city. There is considerable local color in these opening scenes, which were photographed in the artists' quarter in and around famous Washington square. The story begins with a New Year's eve celebration, which is always an event of importance in New York.

There are many other attractive glimpses of New York life as the story is unfolded. Among them are the tenement sections, the homes of many famous and wealthy folks, the studios of several distinguished artists, a spectacular lawn fete at an immense country estate, and others of beauty and interest. The story of "Her Great Price" is by Florence Auer and June Mathis, and it was produced under the direction of Edwin Carewe. Mr. Carewe, although one of the youngest of the successful directors, ranks high in the field of his artistic endeavors. He is responsible for "Destiny" or "The Soul of a Woman," and "The House of Tears," in which Emily Stevens starred; "The Final Judgment," with Ethel Barrymore in the stellar role; "The Upstart," with Marquerite Snow and George Le Guere, and other Metro classics.

William Desmond in the drama, "The Waifs," and "Fatty" (Roscoe) Arbuckle, in the Keystone comedy, "His Wife's Mistake," will be shown Sunday and Monday. Jane Grey is associated with William Desmond in "The Waifs," which has to do with the unfrocking of a clergyman because of the plot of some underclass men at college, who think their prank a real joke. As Rayburn, the young minister, Desmond shows how rapidly a man may go down hill to ruin, until he is rescued by "Rags" (Jane Grey), a young girl who plays the piano in a cheap saloon.

The story and picture have much to commend them, fresh from the Triangle studios, well put on and splendidly acted. As a bit of refreshing change from the dramatic story, Roscoe Arbuckle goes through a Keystone comedy called "His Wife's Mistake," in the manner known only to this corpulent, but active comedian. It is a combination, making up a two-day program, well worth seeing.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Douglas Fairbanks returns in his late picture, "The Habit of Happiness." Rex patrons remember Mr. Fairbanks in that great success, "His Picture in the Papers" while he was in the East last week, that the picture is fine and he recommends it without hesitation. Douglas Fairbanks has proved to be such a clever young player that Triangle people have engaged him for another year.

Friday and Saturday of the coming week Lenmore Ulrich comes to the Rex in "The Heart of Paula." She is remembered in "The Bird of Paradise," in which she achieved fame. Her new picture is pronounced a good one.

HELEN YOST,
Who Will Be Seen in "Nobody Home."

LYRIC FEATURES.

Hazel Dawn, Mary Pickford and Other Stars Booked.

In all probability Mary Pickford's "The Foundling" will never be shown in Duluth again after tonight, when it will be shown at the Lyric. It is one of her greatest successes. This return engagement is secured at the urgent request of numerous admirers of "Little Mary."

The new week's bill will open tomorrow, with a Fox offering, "Blue Blood and Red," in which George Walsh and Doris Pawn with a strong company, enact this Western story. Algy Dupont, son of a millionaire, is cast out and disowned and starts to see the country in his racing car. He sees it. The play and the racing car fairly jump to the wilds of Montana and there unfold a series of incidents, almost tragic in their reality, that give the story and picture a spicy, enjoyable swing from beginning to end. The picture will be on until Wednesday night.

For Wednesday and Thursday the Lyric will offer Hazel Dawn in "The Saleslady," which is about a country girl forced to try her fortunes in New York. A band of villains, attracted to her, subject her to a series of experiences that are strange, stirring and dramatic.

Friday and Saturday next, Marguerite Clark will play Pepita in "The Pretty Sister of Jose." She is a tiny, exquisite Spanish girl, and the play is laid in old Spain. Miss Clark does the piece well. The Burton Holmes travel pictures will be shown Wednesday and Thursday, and other added features each day.

GUY BATES POST IN "OMAR, THE TENTMAKER"

Richard Walton Tully's popular Persian love play, "Omar, the Tentmaker," is scheduled to return to the Lyceum theater for three days, commencing Thursday, April 27, with Guy Bates Post still acting in the title role. The exciting story of the play, united to splendid acting and massive scenic settings, proves to be a combination of potent appeal to all theatergoers. In the three leading parts of Mr. Tully's drama, Mr. Post as Omar, Louise Grassler as Shireen, and Mabel Emerson as Little Shireen, all three display rare histrionic talent. The enduring love of Omar for his sweetheart, Shireen, who is brutally torn from him, and her faithfulness to him while the months roll up into years constitute one of the most engaging of love stories.

"Nobody Home."

"Nobody Home," with its wealth of music, comedy and dancing novelty that so completely captivated New York all last season, will be the attraction at the Lyceum theater, for an engagement of four nights and two matinees, beginning a week from Sunday.

The company is owned and directed by John P. Slocum, who has made both a study and success of musical plays, principally because he stops at no expense for beauty and quality both as to his productions and his cast. "Nobody Home" is unique and original as far as musical plays go, inasmuch as it really has something of a story to start with which is told without resort to vulgarity and is actually funny. Then again the music is of the kind that lingers and is whistled. The dancing is both fascinating and unique and there are girls all distinct types of American and foreign beauty who sing and dance more than ordinarily well.

The cast of "Nobody Home" includes such players as Percival Knight, Mildred Elaine, Mabel Withee, Della Niven, Roydon Keith, Harry MacDonough, Vincent Cassidy, Lew Christie, Edwin Argus, Helen Jost, John Paulton, Marguerite von Keese, Seibel Layman and Sylvia Chaulsae.

At the Sunbeam.

For the coming week at the New Sunbeam theater Manager Ralph Parker has booked four complete programs, each of which features big attractions and noted film stars.

The Sunday show, which is always a good one, will be featured by an excellent five-reel masterpiece adapted from a great novel and entitled "The End of the Road." Harold Lockwood and May Allison, two popular screen artists, will play lead parts. This picture is said to be most realistic; and the genuine electrical storm reproduced, is declared something unusual in film land. "The Little Cupids" is a charming picture played by an all-juvenile cast. Ham and Bud will furnish comedy of knockout kind.

On Monday and Tuesday Joseph Kilgour, Harry Morey and Naomi Childers will be featured in "The Ruse" a Vitagraph Broadway star picture in which a husband adopts a unique method of testing his wife's devotion. The inimitable comedian Harry Watson will furnish rollicking comedy in "The Mishaps of Musty Suffer," this number being an unusually clever one.

On Wednesday and Thursday Henry B. Walthall and Edna Mayo will appear again in "The Strange Case of Mary Page." This chapter is entitled "The Perjury," and Mary Page's drunken father declares that he murdered James Pollock. Each of these chapters attains greater interest, and the Sunbeam is crowded to the doors every day that "Mary Page" appears. In this chapter Miss Mayo will appear in several "Lucille" gowns of the latest spring style. Another excellent feature will be "The Danger of Being Lonesome," produced by the Essanay players.

For Friday and Saturday that popular actress Gertrude Robinson will be starred in "As a Woman Sows," which is a social drama of great power, touching in a realistic way some of the most vital problems of life in the great cities. This is an engrossing story of love and retribution.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

John Mason is out of the cast of "Common Clay," on account of illness. His role is being played by Orme Caldara. Under the advice of physicians, Mason decided to rest until the Chicago opening of "Common Clay" next fall. It is stated that "Common Clay" will remain at the Republic indefinitely.

* * *

Elsie Ferguson is to have a new play under Klaw & Erlanger management, by the author of "The Sealed Valley" and other novels. The new play will be a comedy with an up-to-date modish young woman as the leading character. The play will be ready for rehearsal by July 1.

* * *

Edward H. Robins, leading man with the "Erstwhile Susan" company, has been given the editorship of the Toronto World. He will begin his new duties May 1.

* * *

Charity is the only inducement that brings Edna May back to the stage. She will appear in one performance only, at the Century theater tomorrow, in a benefit to be given for the actors' fund. A sketch has been especially prepared for Miss May for this occasion. A few days later she will return to her home in England. She has not previously been seen on the American stage since 1905, when she appeared at Daly's theater in "The Catch of the Season."

* * *

A. H. Woods will produce several American plays in London. He has acquired for this purpose the English rights to "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which he intends to present in London within a few months.

* * *

John Cort will produce a new piece entitled "Molly-O," by Mary B. and Robert Smith, with music by Carl Woess. The opening is set for Easter Monday.

* * *

A new theatrical firm has been established in New York which will be known as Golden & Smith. Winchell Smith, author of "The Fortune Hunter" and other good plays, and John L. Golden, who has done considerable work along the same lines, are the members of the firm. The first production to be launched by them will bear a resemblance in its atmosphere to "The Fortune Hunter." It is from the pen of Jack Hazzard and is entitled "Like Mother Made." A company is now being assembled, with the opening date set for April 24 at Atlantic City.

* * *

The Dolly Sisters will be starred by A. H. Woods in a production called "His Bridal Night." Margaret Mayo and Lawrence Rising are the authors of the piece. Joseph Westley, Frank Thomas, Margaret St. John and Harry Lilford have already been engaged for the cast.

* * *

Four companies of "The Cinderella Man" are in preparation for next season by the Oliver Morosco offices.

* * *

* * *

Arnold Daly is rehearsing his revival of "Beau Brummell" for an out-of-New York opening on April 20. The premiere will be given at Albany. In the company are Marguerite Leslie, Katherine La Salle, Herbert Percy, E. J. Radcliffe, Charles Harbury, Lillian Keller, Alice Putnam, Eva Dennison, Rowland Buckstone, Gladys Morris, Stanley Dark and Reginald Barlow.

* * *

The Hackett-Allen production of "Merry Wives of Windsor" closed its run at the Criterion recently, owing to the fact that Thomas A. Wise, who had been playing Falstaff, had to leave the cast in order to begin an engagement in a new play. Alf Hayman had secured the services of Wise before he undertook the substitution of Hackett the "Merry Wives" production on account of the latter's illness. Mr. Hackett expects to reopen the Criterion with "Merry Wives of Windsor" early next fall, himself in the Falstaff role.

* * *

* * *

A musical comedy called "Salmagundi" is to be produced by Morosco next season. The work is by the late Elbert Hubbard, and the lyrics are by Earl Carroll. It is also stated that Enrico Caruso, the noted tenor, has written the music. These scenes are laid in East Aurora, N. Y.

* * *

P. T. Barnum, famous showman, is to be dramatized. The Charles Frohman company is to produce a new play in which the famous king is the central character. He is to be played by Tom Wise.

* * *

It is stated that Ziegfeld will engage practically an entirely new cast for his 1916 Follies, to be produced in June. Urban is again going to prepare the statge settings.

* * *

Florence Roberts, star of the Pacific Coast company of the "Eternal Magdalene," has been obliged to bring her Western tour to a close, to begin rehearsals on a new play, for which she had made contracts before the McLaughlin play started West. Miss Roberts will end her tour in Los Angeles on April 25.

* * *

Princess Troubetzkoy will shortly retire to her Virginia homestead to fulfill her contract with the Shuberts for another play, which will treat of some startling phases of New York society life.

* * *

New York is this week witnessing a second revival of George Bernard Shaw's "Capt. Brassbound's Conversion." Grace George is making it at the Playhouse, and earlier in the season Gertrude Kingston made one at the Neighborhood playhouse, with John P. Campbell as the tyrannical Capt. Brassbound.

* * *

Jumping all the way from Peoria, Ill., to New York city for the purpose of giving a performance before one judge and three lawyers is an experience that was indulged in by "The Bird of Paradise" company, at the Hudson theater, on Thursday at 2 p. m. The judge is Justice Mayer of the United States district court, and the lawyers represent a well-known moving picture concern, who Richard Walton Tully, author of "The Bird of Paradise," and Oliver Morosco, producer, claim have stolen the story of "The Bird of Paradise" bodily, both in scenes, action, characters, etc. The judge has already seen the motion picture, and he is now to be given an opportunity, in witnessing the performance of the play, to determine whether the author and producer are right. The eyes of the theatrical managers, producers and authors throughout the United States are eagerly watching the results of this performance.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Titanic sank, 1912.

About 10:30 on the night of Sunday, April 14, 1912, while the White Star liner Titanic was on her maiden trip from Liverpool to New York, she struck an iceberg, and sank four hours later. The Cunarder Carpathia, arriving at daybreak, picked up twenty boatloads carrying 703 people, but 1,503 persons perished. The money loss was $15,000,000.

HARMONY WITH A MEAT AXE.

A great spectacle is being staged in this ountry, and nobody should miss a single etail of it. It is good.

The spectacle is that of the Republican arty reorganizing under the banner of Anything to Beat Wilson," with "Harmony" as its watchword.

Four years ago at Chicago the Republicn party split two ways, the fulfilment of long tendency.

On the one side were the Old Guard, the egulars, the men for whom tariffs could ot be too high, for whom corporations ould not be too well treated, to whom the ublic was a great milch cow destined for erpetual milking by Special Privilege. On e other hand were the "progressive Reublicans," men who really believed that e people have rights which corporations re bound to respect, who really conceived f government as the master of Big Business and not its servant, who clung frantically to some fragment of the spirit of Linoln's great thought—"government of the eople, by the people, for the people."

The division between the Republican and emocratic parties never had been so wide s the gulf that yawned between the two ings of the Republican party in 1912. It as the real difference between schools of ought that separated these wings, and it far more substantial than any fictitious difrences between formal party organizaons.

Now the job is to make these two wings ne—to cause this oil and water to coalesce -to join this fire and tow in innocuous asociation.

Watch it. It's good.

Already Roosevelt, who led the progresve wing off into a new party after Root's eam roller had crushed his hopes at Chigo, has had luncheon with Root, and ey talked "preparedness." "Recollecons of the Burglary at Chicago in 1912" as a subject not on the program. Already hancellor Day, self-chosen defender of alefactors of great wealth, has thrown up is hat for "the new Roosevelt"—for a oosevelt "whose ideas on these subjects ave been materially modified." Already e understanding is plain that Roosevelt ill stand for any good Republican for resident providing the initials of his name e Theodore Roosevelt. Already the unerstanding has been sent abroad from oosevelt to his Christian soldiers of 1912 at they can follow him again providing ey become "regular," forget Armageddon, d put the soft pedal on "social justice." lready Hughes has been tempted to purit activity in behalf of his nomination, ly to find that he will not do because his rst name is not Theodore.

And still, despite all this, bashful Harony hides coyly in the bushes and will not me out.

The other day the New York Republican ate central committee met and had the rdihood to suggest that the Republican ndidate for president ought to be a Reblican, and not a man who used the party prosper his political fortunes so long as was usable, and then murdered it when refused to serve him longer.

Whereupon our local exemplar of haronious Republicanism and anything-toat-Wilson, which has vehemently deared itself for Root-Hughes-Cumminsoosevelt for president, under the caption leading for the Ditch" shouts a protest ith what vehemence it has left, and deares that "if New York proposes to lead the old methods, it will lead to a second struction and the election will be a usess formality."

Furthermore, the Republican national mmittee having picked Senator Harding be temporary chairman of the national nvention and keynoter thereof, Senator arding tries out his keynote in Chicago. nator Harding thinks "tariff" is a fine ynote, and says "tariff-tariff-tariff" at eat length. Whereupon the Minneapolis urnal, another eminent Minnesota Old uard voice, says that Harding "resembles a keynote about as much as a tin whistle resembles a symphony orchestra."

Moreover, Senator Harding dared to make "preparedness" a minor note, and to say that "we are against hysterical preparedness." To which the Journal angrily responds: "Did the senator from Ohio pick his words advisedly and with sinister meaning? Had he in mind any candidate for the great office of president who believes in 'hysterical preparedness'? If he had, let him name the man." Harding won't, but we'll give six guesses as to whom the Journal thought Keynoter Harding was alluding to. Teddy? Right—but not good harmony to say so.

Harmony? There is that harmony you would expect between oil and water, between fire and tow, between La Follette and Penrose, between Smoot and William Allen White. There is what harmony you would expect when harmony is to be had only at the price of one side or the other or both swallowing convictions held so stoutly but four years ago that they led to a death-grapple.

The big Republican Harmony Show of the campaign of 1916 is on. Watch it. Miss none of it. It's good.

One comforting thought is that no matter whether you are "pro" or "anti," you have a lot of company.

WAR.

Some men, these days, over a good cigar and in the comfort of cushioned club seats after a good dinner, blithely demand policies leading straight to war.

It isn't that they personally wouldn't have to go to war if war happened; it isn't quite fair to put it that way. It's just that they lack imagination, and do not see the gulf their way leads to. It is lack of thinking that lets some men, in discussion, carelessly throw huge phalanxes of fine American young men into the maw of war like so much wood fed to the fire. They just don't think.

Those who have seen war as it is fought are not unthinking like that. Indeed, though, they do not think any more than they must—thinking brings back such awful things!

Here, from the Atlantic Monthly, is just a paragraph from one man's war recollection:

> The worst of it was that we could not get away from the sight of the mangled bodies of our comrades. Arms and legs stuck out of the wreckage, and on every side we saw ghastly distorted human faces—the faces of the men whom we had known, with whom we had laughed and joked and shared rations for months past. THOSE WHO HAVE NEVER HAD TO UNDERGO EXPERIENCES OF THIS SORT CANNOT POSSIBLY KNOW THE HORROR OF THEM. It is not in the heat of battle that men lose their reason. Battle-frenzy is, perhaps, a temporary madness; but when the fighting is ended there comes the real danger. The strain is relaxed. Men look about them and see the bodies of their comrades torn to pieces as though they had been hacked and butchered by fiends. One thinks of the human body as inviolate, as a beautiful and sacred thing. The sight of it dismembered or disemboweled, lying in the bottom of a trench, tramped into the mud, smeared with blood and filth, is so revolting as to be almost unendurable.

No, it is just that they do not think—these men who in comfortably padded after-dinner chairs, over a cheerful cigar, blithely and lightly propose policies that would toss fine American young men into the insatiable maw of the machine that turns out such finished products.

War is an enterprise to be entered upon bravely and sadly, not lightly and as a game; with a full, solemn sense of its horrors and wastes, not with shallow thought of tinseled glories that soon fade.

One wonders, since the health office says almost no dairies would be affected by the proposed milk ordinance, why such an ordinance is so urgently advocated.

"GOVERNMENT BY THE WISE."

Carlyle did not believe—most violently disbelieved in—democracy: government by and for the people.

Yet he was a radical. He could flay the injustices of the modern industrial system as few men can. He could declare—and prove—that the serf of the Middle Ages was intrinsically better off than the free workingman of these days, because it was simply good business for the serf's owner to keep his slave fed, clothed and housed, while all this is up to the workingman nowadays, with the uncertainties of pay and employment and cost of living to make his problem often exceedingly painful.

Yet Carlyle did not believe in government by majorities. He believed in "government by the wise." He hated privilege and oppression and injustice fiercely; yet his only answer was "government by the wise."

Carlyle's attitude illustrates an odd twist of the mind, not any more uncommon now than it was in Carlyle's day, when he differed from the Tories only in that he condemned privilege and injustice and they upheld both.

Very fine, this "government by the wise," of course. Unfortunately Carlyle never disclosed who the wise are, how they are to be defined or selected, and if they are selected who is to select them.

If it were to be done by self-election, all of us would be members of the government; for all of us, nearly, imagine that we are wise. If somebody were given the job of selecting them, who would select the selectors and stand good for THEIR good faith?

Except that he never explained how we are to get his system of government going—and, much more important, keep it going—nobody can possibly quarrel with Carlyle's plan. If it were possible to select from the community its wisest men—not its most learned men, necessarily, but its men of widest vision, truest perception and most intense loyalty to the common good—and turn over to them the responsibilities of government, we should get good government. Possibly we should get better government that way than in any other way imaginable.

But how would we set about it to find these men? Who would judge of their wisdom? Who so all-wise and patriotic and unselfish as to be fit for the responsibility of choosing them? And even assuming the selection to have been made and the plan in operation, who is to guarantee the perpetuity of this government by the wise? How could the ranks be kept filled without deterioration? How assure against self-interest creeping in?

There never in all history yet has been government by a minority that self-interest did not spoil it. Never in all history has a class or an organization gained too exclusive power that greed and arrogance did not destroy it sooner or later. It is safe to assume that there never will come a time when there will be any class or type of supermen fitted to rule other men.

The best government in the world, probably, would be a benevolent despotism, with an all-wise superman in charge. Upon him the people could put all responsibility, and in him all power; and all would be well—except for the peope, who, divested of responsibility, would undergo mental and spiritual atrophy and decay, however well off they might be economically. And when your all-wise despot died, his son, a fool or a knave, would succeed him. The all-wise often have fool sons; and one day's rule by a fool or a knave could undo all the wise despot's achievements of a lifetime.

There is no thoroughfare this way. Carlyle gave us a blind lead. The only answer—the only possible answer—is democracy: government of, by and for the people. That will fall so far short of perfection as the people lack in full capacity for self-government. Fair wages, equal opportunity, free and wise education, fair play to young and old, would level the people up toward the ideal of full capacity for self-government. The chief thing in the way of that is the conception of industry for billionaire-making instead of industry for public service.

This is the goal—a democracy of equal opportunity for education, for industrial success, for development of native talents, for service to the state and the people who are the state. All other roads are blind roads with no end and no outcome.

And yet, study Carlyle a little deeper, and we are not so far apart after all. The great obstacles to progress he declared to be Shams, Quacks and Pretenses. Let us, each of us, divest ourselves of credulity about Pretense and Quackery; let us, each of us, refuse longer to be misguided by Shams; let us, each of us, determine that hereafter we shall reject if not denounce all that is false. If you detect and denounce one Quackery, then the world has one less man deceived, one less Quackery deceiving one man less; and that is so much gained for wisdom. If we all do that, one Quackery rejected will help us to see more, and presently, all of us seeing more clearly and acting more vigorously by our truer perceptions, the ideals of government by the wise and of self-government by those fitted for self-government will merge and coincide.

That Illinois man who gave each of thirteen people a check for twenty thousand dollars ought to get the prize for doing the most of anybody during this century to discredit superstition.

A STORY OF TWO BILLS.

There was a hundred-dollar bill, and a ten-dollar bill. Their stories, so different and so illuminating, are told in the American Magazine. They carry a lesson so useful that it is worth while passing them on, which we do herewith:

A young woman came into possession of a hundred-dollar bill. Because it was the first she had ever earned, because it was a handy thing to have around in case of emergency, and because the time would come even if postponed to old age when she would need it, she kept it—that identical hundred-dollar bill. Only a short time before she died did her relatives find out that she had had it all the years and still had it.

Well, there it was—a hundred-dollar bill when she was young, a hundred-dollar bill when she was old; a hundred dollars then, no more and no less, a hundred dollars now, no more and no less.

But when this same woman was a little girl nine years old, she was given a ten-dollar bill which she put in a savings bank. The bank gave her a passbook, and this passbook she carried all her life long—for seventy-five years.

Three weeks before she died she told her grandson about it, and said she was curious to know if the bank was still doing business, and what had become of her ten-dollar bill. So the grandson wrote it to find out, and did find out. Of course the ten-dollar bill—the precise ten-dollar bill—wasn't there any more. No knowing where that is now—gone where good ten-dollar bills go when they are old and worn out, no doubt, long since.

But the bank was still there and the bank balance was still there; and lo! a miracle: the ten dollars had grown to $325.65 by the accumulation of time and compound interest.

The hundred-dollar bill, being hoarded, was still a hundred dollars, no more, no less. Which is better, of course, than if it had been spent, in which case it would have been precisely nothing, no more, no less.

But the ten-dollar bill, being banked and put to work at interest, night and day, day in and day out, without holidays or recesses of any kind, had swelled to thirty-two and a half times its original size, and sixty-five cents over for good measure.

Had the hundred-dollar bill also been put at interest in a savings bank, at four per cent interest it, in its shorter time, would have grown into $601.89. The hundred-dollar bill, in the time she kept it by her idle, would have earned for her five other hundred-dollar bills and some small change over.

If she had been as wise with her hundred-dollar bill at thirty-nine as she was with her ten-dollar bill at nine, many comforts for her old age would have grown out of it.

A hundred dollars spent is nothing, and years later will still be nothing.

A hundred dollars hoarded will be a hundred dollars still, no matter how many years later.

A hundred dollars or ten dollars banked and put at interest will grow, as the story shows.

Strike up a relationship with a savings bank, and put a little money at work for you.

THE LA FOLLETTE FUNERAL POSTPONED.

On the face of the early returns from the Wisconsin presidential primary, it looked as though Senator La Follette in his contest with Governor Philipp had met up with a bad beating, so a good many anti-La Follette newspapers printed gleeful political obituaries.

The Madison State Journal, which is not anti-La Follette, postponed its obituary until more returns came in, and so it is able to congratulate Senator La Follette "on one of the greatest victories that he has won in his eventful career." "In the face of the greatest obstacles placed in the way of a man fighting practically alone," says the State Journal, "Bob La Follette again emerges, somewhat belated, perhaps, with a victory and a delegation to the Chicago convention."

Not a full delegation, of course; Governor Philipp is one of the delegates, and he is not La Follette's by any means. But neither is it that short end of it which early reports indicated. La Follette has three out of the four delegates at large and a majority of the Wisconsin delegation.

It was the same old fight, the State Journal reflects. "The crowd that has been trying to down La Follette for fifteen years was again in this fight. The same old gang was out bolder than ever." And there are references to a "subsidized press"; to Wall street, which "had its hand in the fight"; to the insurance companies; to the railroads, "chesty over the smash-up of a railroad commission they did not like"; the big corporations, "itching to have the same thing happen to the tax commission that happened to the railroad commission."

La Follette isn't dead yet, by a long shot; and though he does things occasionally, and says things, that don't set just right, he is still gloriously honored by his enemies and by the viciousness of the fight they make on him.

"Teddy has cried 'Fore,' but we don't see the ball," says the St. Louis Republic. Of course you don't—Teddy's got his I on it.

The Fellow Who Pegs Away.

Kansas City Star: A man who began business life as a bundle boy in a department store will retire from the presidency of the oldest commercial bank in Chicago the last of this month, and into his place as president will step a man who began as a messenger boy. The retiring president has been with the bank thirty-two years and is 74 years old. The incoming president has been with the bank twenty years and is 57 years old.

How did those two boys, beginning life so humbly, become bank presidents?

"I never have found any road to success except by plodding," says the elder one. "The man who succeeds is the fellow who pegs away. There are no short cuts. Success means hard work. The only short way to a fortune is to have it left to you, and that is a curse."

The Real Mexico.

San Francisco Bulletin: Ninety per cent of the Mexican people are as peaceable as any corresponding group in the United States. Less than 10 per cent have taken an active part in the recent revolutions. As far as the Mexicans can be spoken of collectively they are a gentle-hearted race, content with simple ways of living, and responsive to kindly treatment. It was the minority who created a legal hell in Mexico under Diaz and an illegal one under Villa and the rest. The real Mexico, its minorities subdued, will some time be a good neighbor.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Be Cheerful.

Don't talk of griefs and things like those, don't be a chronic fretter; for if you don't describe your woes, all men will like you better. Perhaps you have the largest corn that ever hurt a trilby; but if you treat the same with scorn, you more attractive will be. Perhaps you have an aching tooth that's given you the willies; why, then, conceal the hateful truth, and talk of Easter lilies. Time was when I would lose my chums as fast as I could gain them; they'd leave me, gnashing teeth and gums—I never could retain them. My conversation gave a shock, and made the victims shiver, because I always wished to talk about my lights and liver. At last it dawned upon my mind that if I'd not be lonely, I must some cheerful subject find — and cheerful subjects only. So I began to dance and sing, and talk of matters cheery, and people murmured, "You, by jing, no longer make us weary." I do not talk of how I feel, of anguish grim and gripping; if I have ear-ache in my heel, I talk of lambkins skipping.

Two Famous Speeches

By Savoyard.

Washington, April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of English statesmen, more than half a century ago, were discussing the question, "Did any speech ever change a vote in the house of commons?" All of them answered in the negative except Lord John Russell, who claimed that one of his speeches changed sixteen votes. Eminent and capable judges have held that the greatest speech ever delivered in the British parliament was that of Richard Brinsley Sheridan in support of the proposal to impeach Warren Hastings. So great was the excitement that the sitting was adjourned without a formal motion, or the putting of the question of adjournment; but the speech did not change a single vote on the measure when the division was had, and powerful as was the speech of Edmund Burke on the trial of the charges against Hastings in the impeachment proceedings, it did not influence the result in the slightest degree.

In our own country, since the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, it is possibly not too much to say that two speeches of Daniel Webster, in the United States senate, had more influence on the destiny of the republic than any others. One was the famous reply to Hayne, and the other was the "Seventh of March Speech" in support of the compromise of 1850, delivered the day Champ Clark was born.

As to the first of these, the reply to Hayne, only the skeleton was delivered in the senate, and it did not create any very powerful impression. Subsequently Webster revised the effort, elaborated it abundantly, and that mighty peroration, never heard by the senate, became a stock oration in the schools and colleges at the North, and in lesser measure at the South, and it worked powerfully to make the cause of the Union holy in tens of thousands of patriotic American hearts.

So eminent authority as the late George F. Hoar may be cited to sustain the proposition that the Seventh of March speech saved the Union, but it may be held that it would have failed in that particular had not God summoned the then president of the United States, Zachary Taylor, to heaven. Southerner and slave-holder that he was, Taylor put more trust in William H. Seward, the abolitionist, than in any other statesman of the day. Seward was opposed to the compromise, and he brought the president to his view. There was one powerful reason, however, for that more or less paradoxical condition. Thurlow Weed made Taylor president, and Thurlow Weed owned William H. Seward, body and breeches. Taylor would have vetoed the compromise; but he died four months after Webster delivered his famous speech, and Fillmore, a Northerner and anti-slavery man, succeeded to the presidency and approved the compromise after it was enacted by congress.

There is little doubt that the compromise prevented secession in 1850, when, relatively, the North was greatly weaker in men and money than that section had become ten years later. The secession idea was of New England birth. Josiah Quincy in a speech in the national house of representatives on the enabling act providing for the admission of Louisiana as a state of the Union, the first decade of the nineteenth century, said: "If this bill passes it will become the duty of some of the states, as it is the right of all, to reclaim their delegated powers and withdraw from the Union."

That declaration shocked nobody. It was a doctrine not then questioned by anybody. At that time Daniel Webster was a young lawyer at the small town of Salisbury, N. H.

When one contemplates the history of the American people, it is an easy matter to believe that the American Union is in the especial keeping of Divine Providence. The admittedly unconstitutional Louisiana purchase saved that vast region from the clutch of the British lion and made it a part of the Republic. The treaty of peace with England in 1814 prevented the secession of New England, the seed of which was planted by the Hartford convention, and had it come then not a hand would have been raised to obstruct. Another crisis came when Missouri was admitted as a state with slavery and again secession was narrowly averted. The compromise tariff of 1833, not the threatenings of "Old Hickory," preserved the Union. Webster's speech and the death of Gen. Taylor made way for the compromise of 1850 which prevented secession at that time.

And when secession actually came in 1861 the first shot fired at Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor saved the Union. That was fruit of the consummate statecraft of Abraham Lincoln. He adopted Buchanan's policy of "watchful waiting," for he knew that the only way to recruit an army to fight for the Union was to make the South the aggressor. Lincoln was the one man of destiny then on the carpet.

* * *

Webster's seventh of March speech occasioned a storm at his home. Whittier wrote a brutal poem in denunciation of him, and drawing for inspiration from the episode of Noah's debauch, he besought somebody to walk backward and throw a bed quilt over the mighty fallen to hide his leprosy. It was contended that he had basely surrendered to "the slave power," and the "Cradle of Liberty," builded of money old Peter Faneuil had made in the African slave trade, was closed to him. Politically the speech cost Webster the nomination of his party for president in 1852, a circumstance that was immediately followed by the death of that party. The late Senator Hoar was then a "Conscience Whig," as were his father and his brother, and he was as severe in his invectives as any fanatic of the lot, but in his old age he confessed that Webster was wiser than all of them together, and declared that the seventh of March speech was possibly a determining factor in the preservation of the Union, postponing secession as it did for more than a full decade.

In that sense that Burke was the greatest orator of England, Daniel Webster, most assuredly, was America's greatest orator. Both spoke political philosophy and Burke was not even a good declaimer, though his orations when read must be pronounced the greatest in the English tongue.

Through Peace to Light.

I do not ask, O Lord, that life may be
A pleasant road;
I do not ask that thou shouldst take from me
Aught of its load.

I do not ask that flowers should always spring
Beneath my feet;
I know too well the poison and the sting
Of things too sweet.

For one thing only, Lord, dear Lord, I plead,
Lead me aright—
Though strength should falter and though heart should bleed—
Through peace to light.

I do not ask, O Lord, that thou shouldst shed
Full radiance here;
Give but a ray of peace, that I may tread
Without a fear.

I do not ask my cross to understand,
My way to see—
Better in darkness just to feel thy hand,
And follow thee.

Joy is like restless day, but peace divine
Like quiet night;
Lead me, O Lord, till perfect day shall shine,
Through peace to light.

The High Places.

The name of Benedict Arnold is a hissing and a reproach in American ears. Yet, if that execrated man had died on the evening of Oct. 7, 1777, he would have ranked for all time as one of our national heroes. It was Arnold who by his matchless energy and military skill turned the tide of battle on the red field of Saratoga; a victory that paved the way for Britain's final capitulation, and so for American freedom.

With his horse shot under him, grievously wounded, he magnanimously saved the life of the soldier who, in honest fight, had laid him low. When his men rushed up to bayonet the Hessian whose bullet had so nearly done fatal work the prostrate general cried out, "Don't hurt him! He's a fine fellow."

It has been well said that this was the hour when Benedict Arnold should have died. In addition to proved military genius he now had disclosed a chivalrous nature that made him the idol of every soldier in his command. Had the thread of his life been cut short in this glorious hour, monuments of Arnold may well have vied with those to Washington and Lafayette in our land today. He had touched his high place.

From how many lives which fail of ultimate greatness, stray gleams of grandeur flash! There are inspired passages in the works of many a minor and unknown poet worthy of the immortal dwellers on Olympus. Hundreds of garret musicians have left us fugitive strains which Beethoven or Wagner might have claimed with pride. No day passes that deeds of splendid heroism and sacrifice do not proceed from prosaic, unknown men and women. Even if most of life must be passed in the valley, there are hours when any of us are liable to touch the high places.

Why should we hold these exhibitions of moral splendor to be merely the result of chance? That is to take an ungenerous and an unchristian view of human nature. Why can we not see the real Arnold in that hour of magnanimous victory rather than in the traitorous machinations of later years?

Let us judge our fellows by their best and not by their worst hours. If they can stand but for a moment only on some sun-kissed hilltop, let us view them in that clear light, and there draw their portraits. We are sure to get a truer likeness than in the fog of the valley.

In any mood of cynicism, let the carper at human nature remember this: Man at his normal and best estate is noble and not base. There is something abnormal about his cowardice or his sin. It was when the prodigal "came to himself" that he returned from the far country and re-entered his father's house. The better impulses and actions that punctuate the career of even some chronic "down and outer" are more than prophetic. They are of the substance of his real personality.

The thing we long for, that we are
For one transcendent moment;
Before the present, rude and bare,
Can make its sneering comment.

Man is not the child of the devil, but the child of God, and the implications of the mighty fact should never be lost sight of. His supplies of spiritual energy are as great as he is willing to appropriate. He is made to breathe the upper air. The great task of life is to make our best moods our habitual ones and to take up a permanent residence on the high places.

A Rebuke to False Prophets.

Gustavus Ohlinger in the Atlantic: In estimating the activities of the Germans during the last eighteen months, allowance must be made for the high tension of feeling produced by the war. Nor must it be imagined that the majority of Germans in this country subscribe to the opinions put forth by the noisy propagandists. This group, though compact and well organized, forms but a small fraction of the thirty millions of citizens of German birth or descent in this country. But it is for this majority, for the descendants of those who fought at Oriskany; of those who over the trenches of Yorktown heard the opposing commands given in their native tongue, and finally saw the garrison march out to the tune of German airs; of those who fought under Schurz and Sigel in the Civil war, to rebuke these false prophets, and to turn the aspirations of their countrymen in the direction of true American nationalism.

You look like an also-ran:
Who would back you in a race
While defeat is in your face?
We can see you aren't fit,
We can tell you've lost your grit.
Why waste time to lend a hand
To a coward—where's your sand?
You've lost nothing but your nerve;
Till you find it, you deserve
All the kicks and cuffs you get—
All the turn-downs that you've met.
Other men have had the same
Run of luck and beat the game.
You're the only one to blame
For the hell you're passing through;
Hardship is a quitter's due.

Pandora

ONCE upon a time she was Pandora, the little girl who had everything and didn't know it.

Now, she is Magdalen, the woman who knows everything and has nothing.

Her father didn't believe that it could ever happen; fathers are that way.

They're addicted to a special form of conceit: it pleases them to think that their particular children have inherited a superior quality of character which renders surveillance and frankness unnecessary.

They never tell what they know of the world and how they came to learn it—of their knowledge of men and the pitiless code for women.

They don't talk about such things—the subject's "too delicate." And so they give other men the opportunity to explain in the wrong way.

That's how Pandora came to lose her treasure.

Why You Are Not Promoted

A GOOD sprinter always exceeds the mark. He drives himself at top speed and maintains his stride to the finish. The boss knows that—he's watching to see who gives him the best run for his money. Of course it's your right to leave exactly on the hour, but it's also his right to promote a more earnest worker to the job ahead.

None of us get more for ourselves than we give of ourselves.

Business is wise to all the ways of dodgers.

A man has to slow down quite a while in advance to stop precisely at the tape and an employe who has the habit of quitting at the gong, can only manage to do it by postponing, until the following day, some of the work that bobs up around closing time.

Puppy Love.

Oh, insufferable youth of 17, afflicted with the first consuming flame that is mistaken for love! What a rich laugh is provoked by your antics as viewed by your elders! And yet what a rich subject you are for sympathy among those who really understand! While we laugh at you, in some of us perhaps are aroused memories of days long ago when on our young shoulders rested the cares of the world; when we were men and women in our own estimation while we really should have been laughing, romping children. As our period of early strutting is unfolded before us, and as the subject of our first love is called to mind, we know in our hearts that you will get over it and are merely exhibiting the manifestations of youth in all time and in all places.

Which apostrophe is called forth by this glorious tale of vainglorious youth from the pen of the brilliant Hoosier who gave us "The Turmoil," "Penrod" and other stories with which to lighten the dull moments in this busy American life. Tarkington's shrewd power of observation is again exhibited in this book. We can see Willie Baxters all around us, who at 17 are hateful of menial home tasks that seem to detract from the dignity they should display; who are watching anxiously for the first signs of the badge of manhood on the upper lip; who are enamored of foolish and yet lovely young beings of the other sex; who pester their fathers for evening dress when they should be in knickerbockers. Some of us may never have known one who stole his father's dress clothes to call upon the fair lady of his choice, but undoubtedly there have been such.

Analysts of literature may ascribe a different purpose to fiction, but some of us, including Booth Tarkington, believe that its purpose is to make men forget today and remember the best of the past, to make us laugh and not to weep, to make us appreciate better the virtues and the frailties of those about us. The reader of "Seventeen" is very likely frequently to close the book during his perusal and laugh aloud. He may scandalize those about him, but it will do him good.

In the flood of present day fiction, very few books stand out as worthy fiction. "Seventeen" is one of them, for even "seventeen" itself will appreciate the story—and forty-seven and seventy.

The Mother of Liberty.

The Revolution was in a very large degree a matter of Massachusetts and Virginia. They were the leaders among the colonies, and the leaders of the revolt were largely in these two colonies. Samuel Adams and John Hancock, whom the British were striving to arrest when at Lexington and Concord the shot was fired that was heard 'round the world, were of Massachusetts; but these were of Virginia: George Washington, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Richard Henry Lee, James Madison, Edmund Randolph, Edmund Pendleton, George Mason, George Rogers Clark, James Monroe and Richard Bland.

Virginia led in resistance to the Stamp Act, though the Tea Party was held in Boston. "Virginia," said Gen. Gage, "gave the signal to the continent." During the first thirty-six years of the republic a Virginian was in the White House for thirty-two years—hence, "Mother of Presidents." Virginia was not only "Mother of Presidents," but in a large measure she was the mother of the Democratic party.

"No adequate account," says the author of this book, "has been given of the spiritual change which came over Massachusetts and Virginia in the Revolutionary epoch, and which has such great influence on the development of a nation. * * * (We) lack an account of the origin of the Democratic party. Historians give us the impression that it sprang full grown from the head of Jefferson. But the Democratic party had come into existence in an undefined way before Jefferson laid hold of it and molded it to his purposes. Jefferson was a Virginian, and the Democratic party was likewise a Virginia product; the story of its rise is one of the most interesting chapters of Revolutionary history."

It is to this important angle of Revolutionary history that Mr. Eckenrode has addressed himself. He has made diligent research, he has used his materials admirably, and he has achieved a work from an angle so new that it gives freshness and newness to the whole story. He shows that far back of the Revolution stretches the long line of controversies between the royal governors of Virginia and its popular house of burgesses. A decidedly independent legislature is noted as early as 1619. Oddly enough, the strong liberal tendency of the Eighteenth century in Virginia grew in part from its leisure class—its aristocracy whose members had time to read, to think and to take up politics as an honorable career, and whose minds were open to the liberal trend of the time. Still, it was the far less aristocratic element from the piedmont and mountain districts that gave to the democratic movement its vim and vigor under the leadership of Patrick Henry.

The work is adequate, accurate and readable—an important contribution to American history.

A Stirring Tale of the West.

THE HEART OF THUNDER MOUNTAIN: By Edfrid A. Bingham. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.35 net.

This is a stirring western tale, laid in the mountains of Colorado, and centering about the romantic attachment that Marion Graylord, a girl from the East, has for Phillip Haig, former Parisian artist who is temporarily living the life of a ranchman near the ranch of Seth Huntington, husband of Claire, Miss Graylord's cousin, whom the latter is visiting. There is an old feud between Huntington and Haig growing out of differences over division of the cattle range around Thunder mountain, and when Miss Graylord arrives upon the scene and becomes enamored of Haig after a chance meeting, the difference between the two stockmen is at its height. She sees them fight a pistol duel, during which Huntington is wounded, and her love for Haig becomes all the warmer, to the disgust of her cousin, and the latter's husband. A wild horse, called Sunnyside because of his golden color, figures in the story, as he is bought by Haig from some cowboys who captured the outlaw, which nearly kills its new owner when he attempts to ride it. When Haig's life is despaired of, the girl goes to his bachelor home and nurses him, still further adding to her attachment, although Haig, when recovered, mindful of a Parisian experience with a woman, seeks to evade her advances. Later Sunnyside escapes from Haig into the fastness of Thunder mountain. Haig follows the outlaw on horseback, vowing to retake the beast or never return, and knowing the great danger to which the object of her adoration is subjected, the girl rides also up the mountain side, and after some harrowing experiences finds Haig fallen from a cliff, helpless from a broken leg. She again nurses him, meanwhile providing their food by killing deer, and they live sort of a Robinson Crusoe existence, nearly dying from the heavy snow, cold and hunger, till an Indian, whose life Haig once saved, comes to them on snowshoes, bringing food and medicine when the girl is dying of pneumonia. All get out of the mountain safely; Huntington and his wife welcome the girl back, make up with Haig, who in the meantime has reciprocated Miss Graylord's love, and the usual wedding results.

TIPPECANOE. By Samuel McCoy. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25 net.

This romance has its climax at Tippecanoe, where William Henry Harrison prevailed over Tecumseh's brother, the prophet, and where the hero rescues his maiden fair from the hands of Simon Girty, renegade. Many prominent figures of the period—1811—figure in it: Colonel Posey, later to be governor of Indiana territory; Harrison, Capt. Zachary Taylor. The hero, David Larrance, is a young Englishman in pursuit of a traitor to the cause of striking weavers in Nottingham and unduly agitated about it in his conscience. The heroine is Antoinette O'Bannon, daughter of a fine old Irishman. Treachery, the work of British agents stirring up redskins to deviltry, figure in it. The story is entertaining and not badly done, though the author shows a youthful tendency to the offense of "fine writing"—not ill done, but an impulse to be kept well in restraint, since too often "fine writing" grows too much like the conversation of men who talk through love of hearing their own voices.

An Amusing Satire.

ONLY RELATIVES INVITED. By Charles Sherman, author of "He Comes Up Smiling," "The Upper Crust," etc. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25 net.

Rich, old and eccentric Mrs. Appleby, mindful of the uncertainty of life, particularly at her age, called in all her relatives to look them over, with a view to picking an heir to her forty millions. The gathering is a curious collection of divorce complexities and the combinations of children by the third wife of one's fourth husband are bewildering. There is a fourth assistant gardener, Reuben Rubenstein, Jew and Socialist, and a love-at-first-sight episode, rather incredible, between him and one of the young married relations of Mrs. Appleby. The Jew Socialist, when he comes into property, acts just like the employers he had raved against. That's where Socialism gets its satirical dressing-down, and the rest is mainly a satire on society in these days of easy divorce. It is clever and amusing, though sometimes a trifle flippant. The one really serious touch is that upon the effect of divorce upon the children.

By the Pollyanna Lady.

JUST DAVID. By Eleanor H. Porter, author of "Pollyanna," "Miss Billy," etc. Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.25 net.

David is a 10-year-old lad, the son of a world-famous violinist who has taken his boy to a lonely mountain cabin, to rear him in a world of beauty unmarred by unpleasant things. The lad is a wonderful violinist, and his soul is full of beauty, which he can play on his violin; but he knows nothing of sin and death and suffering and sorrow. When the story opens the father, sick unto death, is starting to take his boy back to the world. On the way he dies, and David falls to the care of a stern, inelastic, unyielding old Yankee couple who have as much difficulty in understanding him as he has in understanding them. David is a joyous little pagan with much to learn before he can live comfortably with conventional folk. His father had told him this: "You are one little instrument in the great orchestra of life, and you must see to it that you are always in tune, and don't drag or hit false notes." And this is the philosophy of David's life. Dying, his father left him this legacy: "It is a beautiful world. And if sometimes you are tempted to think it is not a beautiful world, just remember that you yourself can make it beautiful if you will." So David proceeds to make life beautiful for those around him. He saves his foster-parents' home. He works out a happy ending for a romance. His radiant spirit animates the lives of those about him, and makes the story beautiful. True, it is almost an incredible character; but to appreciate it you must think of David much as you would of the fairy hero of a fairy tale. It is a sweetly moving tale.

Greed and Honor.

THE SHEPHERD OF THE NORTH. By Richard Aumerle Maher. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.35.

The scene is the Adirondack wilds. The hero-in-chief is Joseph Winthrop, a Yankee Catholic bishop—bighearted, strong, loving and wise. The hero-in-ordinary is a young man suspicious of Catholic influences. The heroine is a fine girl who, at 17, was left to Bishop Winthrop by her father, whom the bishop had saved when he was stricken down in a Civil war battlefield, where the bishop was a chaplain. There is a struggle between the people of the valley, led by the bishop and young Whiting, and powerful interests seeking to get the land thereabouts by crooked means. There is a struggle, too, in which Whiting's life—he is charged with murder—and the honor and religious duties of the bishop and the girl are involved. Altogether it makes a well-woven story not without power. The author should learn, though, that memory is a risky thing to lean on. For instance, he makes his bishop, who is 60 at the period of the story, which is twenty-five years after his war experience, a leader among those who made the Brook Farm "experiment." As near as we can reckon the good bishop would have been about 13 years old in 1841, when Brook Farm began, so that, to say the least, lends an entirely unnecessary touch of improbability to the book. Nevertheless, it isn't a bad story at all, and it will interest many.

With the Mennonites.

HER HUSBAND'S PURSE. By Helen R. Martin, author of "Tillie, a Mennonite Maid," "Martha of the Mennonite Country," etc. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.35 net.

Here is, first, a quaint and convincing picture of the little Pennsylvania German community of "New Munich," and of its people; a picture of Mennonite thrift, congesting in several notable instances into about as hard, narrow, grasping and incredible meanness as ever got between the covers of a book. For instance, one family, prominent in the book, were depriving an ignorant old stepmother of her lawful share of their wealth, leaving her to live in poverty, and even talking of shipping her off to the poorhouse so they could get the rent of the house she occupied. Hardest and meanest and richest of the lot was Daniel Leitzel; yet Margaret Berkeley, fresh from the largehanded freedom and generous scheme of life that characterizes a Southern home, married him and entered his home to share it with his miserly, officious, and altogether despicable sisters. What happens is a story, and a good one, which is admirably told with gentle humor which yet lacks no power in its delineation of the hardness of these creatures whose only standard of values is expressed in dollars and cents.

TAKING A FINAL SLANT AT THE OLD SPORT DOPE GAME

Jess Willard Conclusively Proves That Strength of Mind and Body Are Different—Duluth Sure to Witness Some Great Boat Races—Paragraphic Comment of Passing Notice.

BY BRUCE.

(Note)—Doctors and book reviewers and students of Ibsen, as well as first class crooks and painters whose pictures have never been accepted by the general public, agree in declaring that the human mind possesses a degree of vitality, just as the human body, and that it tires, or becomes exhausted, just as the physical strength becomes exhausted after great and sustained effort. This belief is not taken seriously by plumbers, designers of women's hats or bartenders.

Wishing to test out this theory of mental vitality, we sought and obtained an interview with Jess Willard, who, as many of you know, is the world's heavyweight champion pugilist.

We found the champion in his flat in Rogers Park, Chicago. He wore carpet slippers and a broad and beaming smile. He good naturedly thrust forth his left hand, declaring that his manager, Mr. Jones, had admonished him to keep his right hand in splints for reasons that were beyond the ken of Mr. Willard.

"Do you think Goethe intended that Faust should be interpretated as being thoroughly wicked, beyond all redemption?" we asked of the champion, hoping thus to rush him in the first round and secure a momentary advantage.

Mr. Willard reeled and fell against the sofa. His eyes took on a glassy appearance and he seemed all at sea.

Men, we had read somewhere, are revived in ring combats by the application of stimulants. Quickly we reached in the pocket of our $14.78 new spring coat (advertising rights reserved) and took out a copy of the Police Gazette. We quickly thrust the paper under the glassy eyes of the champion.

He took a deep breath, the color mounted to his cheeks and his brain cleared as he shook his head.

Quickly Mr. Willard took the paper from our hand and eagerly gazed at it. He stood erect and seemed to have recovered his strength.

Firmly taking the brilliant red paper from the ponderous hands of the champion, we deftly inserted in the opening of the left paw a neat green volume of Ibsen's dope. We had the page marked and large red lines drawn around the passage we wished the champion to read. It was that place where the wife in "The Doll's House" runs amuck, if you remember, and spills that talk about what life means to a woman.

"Read that and give us your understanding of it," we said to the champion.

Bravely he read. Again the ashy whiteness came to the face of the world's champion. He spread his feet, as I once saw Bat Nelson brace himself under a rain of blows from the fists of Ad Wolgast.

Willard reeled. He backed to the corner of the room and crouched low. His lips were ashen white and his eyes took on that glassy and dazed expression. He was breathing heavily and his great shoulders were heaving. Suddenly his arms dropped to his sides and he stood, there against the low wainscoting, swaying helplessly, defenseless, a beaten man.

The student of psychology hastily banged the bell on the dining room table. Quickly I rushed to the aid of the champion. This time I took from my new spring coat pocket a copy of "The Old Sleuth," with a picture of a Western holdup, vividly done, on the front page. This I held before the glassy eyes of the big man. He braced himself, wavered, then quickly gathered strength and gazed more steadily on the picture. He brushed that huge left paw across his face and gazed more steadily on the picture. The light of understanding came back to his eyes and he read with interest the brief descriptive matter.

Our tests had been most complete. We chatted a few minutes on the recent battle, from which Mr. Willard had escaped with hardly a scratch and during which he had not taken a long breath, and then took our departure.

"A marvelous study in mental power and the influence of mind over matter; a splendid demonstration," said the young student of psyschology.

"As for me," we replied, "I am more than ever firmly convinced that those who read Ibsen and that other guy are gluttons for punishment."

Duluth and the National.

It is a rather peculiar state of rowing affairs, but true nevertheless, that in the lean and woebegone days of rowing here the good people of Duluth never witnessed a boat race in which their crews possessed hardly the ghost of a chance to win, while in these latter days, those who have witnessed races here and in St. Paul, have never beheld a rowing contest in which the rival crews could even make it close for the Duluth crews.

That's one great reason why it is going to prove a most enjoyable spectacle, this national here at home. We have what we believe—and what we have forced others to reluctantly believe—are the fastest crews in the world. Well, the very cream of the rowing talent of the country is coming up here with the avowed and determined object of defeating the Duluth crews. That is going to give the people of little old Duluth some great boat races—something they have not seen in years.

Philadelphia is out after the scalp of Duluth. The same is true of Washington. The winning streak of Duluth has been altogether too long and too amazingly consistent to suit the feverish fancy of these sport followers. And, thinking the thing over, can you blame them for being rather sore and sensitive?

The races promise to be very close and extremely exciting. The competition will be greater than last year, which was decidedly an off season, in so far as most of the crews of the country were concerned.

Here is the thing in a nutshell: The followers of rowing are going to see the fastest crews in the world, crews representing their own city, pitted against the best the country can produce. The result should be a great spectacle, one thoroughly calculated to inspire municipal pride and red-bloodism.

One of the many unpleasant details connected with giving up work on The Herald, is the fact that our going may in some slight way impair the efficiency of the crack Herald rink. This grand organization has played together for years. It has hung up a remarkably consistent record. What will become of the great Herald rink?

The True Test to Come.

When the Cleveland baseball team lines up against the aggregation sailing under the banners of Connie Mack, the great test of consistency will come.

If Cleveland, with Tris Speaker in its lineup, can still lose to a team of the like of the Athletics, then it must be given the palm for being the most consistent baseball club ever welded together.

APPEAL TO BUSINESS MEN

Central Would Be Represented at State Track Meet This Year.

Business men of the city will be appealed to in an endeavor to have Duluth Central high school represented by a team at the state track meet in Minneapolis in June. This is the decision which was reached by the members of the Central athletic board of control at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

Last year Duluth Central was represented by but one man, Skuli Hrutfiord, star track athlete and captain of the local high school cinder team. Hrutfiord went down to the meet unheralded, and because of the exceptional competition last year, it was thought that he would do well to even place in any of the events.

Hrutfiord entered in three events—the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the running broad jump. His first event was the century dash. Somewhat nervous from inexperience in facing the tried veterans from all over the state, Hrutfiord was twice set back for jumping the starting gun. He had a bad handicap to make up, but he was only inches behind the winner of the event at the finish. The local man went into the 220 and raced away from the other contestants, winning in great fashion. Not content then, he went into the broad jump. Here he succeeded in clearing more ground than any of the other men and carried off another silver cup.

This year it is the hope of the Central enthusiasts to send not only Hrutfiord, but a number of other men as well. The "D" track men left from last year are Hrutfiord, Karon, Anderson, McKay, Jentoft and Lewis. All of these men should be able to make good showings in their favorite events at the state meet this year, and it is hoped that they can be sent.

Last year a prominent local attorney declared that the Duluth business men would undoubtedly back the Central team if it decided to go to the state meet. This year it is intended to take advantage of this decision if the men care to repeat it, for the athletic association at Central is unable financially to send the team. A big appeal will be made to the business men and it is expected that they will gladly respond.

SPRING AT CAMBRIDGE.

Harvard Teams Leave in Snow Storm for Training Trips.

Cambridge, Mass., April 15.—The baseball and lacrosse teams of Harvard university with their substitutes, left during a snowstorm yesterday on their annual spring Southern trips. Twenty-five men made up the baseball squad, for which games with West Point, University of Virginia, Annapolis, Catholic university, Johns Hopkins and Columbia are scheduled.

The lacrosse team carried fifteen men for its four games, with Swarthmore, University of Pennsylvania, Mount Washington Club of Baltimore and Annapolis.

JENNINGS HAS A FIND IN YOUNG SOUTHPAW

McTIGUE.

The most promising of the recruit pitchers of the Detroit team is McTigue, a left-hander from Toronto. The club will carry at least two southpaws and in the preliminary practice McTigue has made a better showing than either Smithson or Oldham.

POOR SHOW FOR BASEBALL

Athletic Board Does Not Favor School Nine at Central.

Plans for a school baseball team at Central look rather dark as a result of the meeting of the school athletic board of control yesterday afternoon. The members of the board decided that they would encourage the interclass series, but that they could hardly advise a school nine.

The shortness of the season is one of the reasons for not being able to handle baseball successfully at Central. The main reason, however, is that the boosting of a school team would undoubtedly interfere a great deal with the school track work, and that both would probably result in failure as a result. It would cause considerable trouble to arrange a schedule and the expense of bringing teams here would be too great. Track work, therefore, will be the main form of athletics at Central during the remaining weeks of school.

Interclass baseball, however, will undoubtedly be very popular and should bring out some interesting contests. These games cost nothing and are very little trouble, so that they will be played off in the near future. "Issy" Karon and "Mandy" Rosenberg have already been selected to captain the senior and sophomore class team respectively, and the diamond enthusiasts of the other two classes are expected to get together immediately after vacation and select their leaders.

WALTER HOOVER HAS SUDDEN ATTACK OF APPENDICITIS

Crack Sculler of the Duluth Boat Club May Not Be Able to Row This Season—Max Rheinberger to Be Out Next Week—Rowing Squad Is Reduced.

An examination at his home last evening revealed the fact that Walter Hoover, quarter mile national champion sculler and the reliance of the Duluth Boat club in the single scull events, is a victim of appendicitis. Just how serious the case is, has not been determined as yet. Whether Hoover will be able to row during the coming season, is another question that canot be definitely answered at this time.

Should the unfortunate illness prevent Hoover from competing in the sculling events in the National, the Duluth Boat club will be deprived of the services of an athlete who was looked upon to win all three of the single scull events.

This was expected to prove Hoover's greatest year. He was, before his illness, the logical candidate for Dibble's title of national scull champion. If the attack of appendicitis puts Walter out of the rowing game for the season, it is hardly possible that his place can be filled from the ranks of the club.

Senior Four Men Will Be Out.

"Dug" Moore, Phil Moore and Dave Horak were out yesterday. Max Rheinberger will be out for the first time on Monday. The members of one of the greatest and most famous crews in all the world, held a conference the day before yesterday and arrived at a definite decision. Starting with Monday, the famous quartet will be on the job every day.

A second cut has been made in the rowing squad. The men retained on the squad by Coach Ned Ten Eyck are those who have shown excellent promise. The following men have been retained:

Bantams.

E. Bevis, C. Berniche, L. C. Brown, W. Doig, E. Emerson, G. Hokanson, E. Henneberry, F. J. Klein, J. Lynam, J. G. McPhail, C. W. Olsen, J. A. Shepardson, J. C. Shields, R. J. Jenson.

Seniors.

L. Arons, I. Emmons, M. J. Forestal, A. G. Grant, D. S. Horak, William Hoover, F. Hall, J. Harney, A. R. Kent, P. Moore, E. Morrison, D. Moore, M. Rheinberger.

Juniors.

G. Atchley, A. E. Arneson, R. Beatty, P. J. Barry, A. Budnik, O. Carlson, V. Eva, C. Erickson, W. A. Flink, F. Gogins, H. E. Haley, J. V. Hagberg, W. A. Hammerbach, C. Johnston, R. Johnson, G. W. Johnson, H. Kiley, C. J. Larson, T. Little, W. R. Matthews, S. S. Miller, M. J. Olson, W. Olson, Art Olson, S. O'Brien, I. F. Peterson, B. Porter, A. Peterson, I. A. Rosberg, J. Rowland, O. W. Stierna, A. Toben, V. J. Vincent, W. Wall, H. Burnett, W. Grant, S. Walker.

DOOKS LOSE SCHROEDER

Big German Decides to Quit Baseball; Watkins Hurt and Lyle May Not Report.

Glenn Schroeder, the big German who played first base for the White Sox, is not going to report here this year. This information was given out today by Manager Darby O'Brien. Business reasons are behind the refusal of the big fellow to become a candidate for a place on the team.

The decision of Schroeder to remain out of baseball puts the first basing job up to young Jack Faull. If the Hurley, Wis., recruit is all that has been claimed for him, he will be a most welcome acquisition.

Doc Watkins has sprained his back and will not report to the team until the first of May. Watkins is the youngster who joined the Sox at the tail end of last season and made a great showing.

Dewey Lyle, the Minneapolis pitcher, may not report. His farm needs attention, and this may take the big fellow out of baseball.

Darby is hot on the trail of Joe Weiss, the former Federal leaguer, who is playing the initial sack for Minneapolis. Weiss is a real ball player, and if he does come here will prove a tower of strength.

Some of the local players are expected here today. Quaders, who pitched in the Northern last year, may be in town today or tomorrow. He wants to have a tryout with the Sox, claiming his arm has regained the strength lost when he received a bad strain.

It is expected that nearly all of the candidates will report Monday. Practice will begin Monday afternoon at Athletic park. The first real game of the season will come with the Superior contest, which is scheduled to take place one week from today. By that time it is expected that the candidates for the two teams will have worked some of the stiffness out of their systems and will be in pretty fair shape to put up a real exhibition of the great national pastime.

DILLON EASILY DEFEATS MISKE

Two Lightweights Stage Another Loafing Contest.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 15.—Jack Dillon, Indianapolis light heavyweight, easily outpointed Billy Miske of St. Paul in a 10-round no-decision fight here last night, in the opinion of a majority of the newspaper representatives at the ringside.

The bout was tame throughout and was characterized by much clinching. Dillon showed aggressiveness all the way and landed the cleaner and heavier blows.

Wins From McVey.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—Jack Thompson of Joplin won on points in an 8-round boxing match with Sam McVey here last night.

RACING AT SAN DIEGO.

Meet Will Continue for Hundred Days; Many Horses Entered.

San Diego, Cal., April 15.—Racing will be resumed today at Tijuana track of the Lower California Jockey club. More than 400 horses are stabled there for the meet, which will continue for 100 days.

The feature event today will be the A. B. Spreckles resumption handicap, a mile race for a purse of $1,000.

The Tijuana track was badly damaged by the overflow of the Tijuana river in January, but has been repaired.

FINALS ON FOR COURT TENNIS DOUBLES TITLE

New York, April 15.—In the semifinal round for the national court tennis doubles championship yesterday, the winning pairs were Jay Gould and W. H. T. Huhn, Philadelphia, and Charles E. Sands and Payne Whitney of this city. The victors will meet today in the final match for the title at the New York Racquet and Tennis club. The Philadelphia men won three straight from C. C. Cutting and Lawrence Waterbury of the same club, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. The second match, however, went the full five sets.

The Boston players, Joshua Crane and G. R. Fearing won the first two sets but they were outplayed in the next three, the last of which was a splendid exhibition of skill on both sides. The scores of the winners in this match were 1-6, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5.

Concerning the Players.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—William McKechnie, third baseman, and former manager for the Newark Federals, left here yesterday for New York, where he will report for a tryout with the New York Nationals. McKechnie belongs to Harry Sinclair, former owner of the Newark Federals, but he was loaned to the St. Louis Americans for the spring training season.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 15.—The deal in which "Jack" Dalton, the outfielder of the Buffalo Federals was to come to Cincinnati, will be called off, President August Herrmann said

"Dalton tried to get us to pay him more than we had arranged to," said Herrmann.

Toledo, Ohio, April 15.—Pitcher Miles Main, who had been selected to open the American association game with Milwaukee here next Tuesday, will be

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds Win From Cubs.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 15.—Cincinnati, playing an uphill game until the sixth, won out from the Chicago Cubs in the third game of the series yesterday 4 to 3. The visitors took kindly to Schneider's curves and forced his withdrawal after three innings, but they could do nothing with McKenery, who relieved him, getting only one hit in the remaining six innings. Hendrix was steady for four innings, but the locals bunched hits with his two bases on balls in their last four innings, and gathered in just enough runs to win. Groh carried off both the fielding and batting honors. Score: R. H. E.

Cincinnati .....00001210x—4 7 1

Cardinals Defeat Pirates.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—Costly errors by Pittsburgh's infielders were responsible for Pittsburgh's defeat at the hands of St. Louis here yesterday, 5 to 3. With the visitors leading by one run in the seventh, Snyder reached second on Schulte's throw over first. Butler, batting for Jasper, singled, putting Snyder on third. Beck singled to right, scoring Snyder, and when Hinchman threw to third to head off Beck no one was there to back up Vlox and Butler raced in with what proved to be the winning run. Score: R. H. E.

St. Louis ......11000030x—5 7 2

Batteries—Harmon, F. Miller and Schmidt; Jasper, Griner and Snyder.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

White Sox Whip Tigers.

Chicago, April 15.—Faber's good pitching and hard and timely hitting by Chicago gave the locals another win over Detroit yesterday, 7 to 2. Cunningham's spitball possessed no terrors for the White Sox and he paved the way for some of the runs by passes. Felsch's triple in the sixth and doubles by Jackson and Schalk in the second, were factors in Chicago's victory. Eddie Collins' wild throw, following Veach's single and steal accounted for the first Detroit run, and Vitt's single and Cobb's triple netted the other scores. Score: R. H. E.

Chicago ......02010400x—7 7 2

Batteries—Cunningham, Loudermilk, Dubuc and Stanage; Faber and Schalk.

STAR TACKLE OPTIMISTIC

Wisconsin Football Player Believes Badgers Will Have Great Team.

Howard Buck, all-American tackle during one year of his collegiate course, and the unanimous choice of all critics for all-Western tackle during all three years he played on the University of Wisconsin team, yesterday declared that under the coaching of Dr. Withington of Harvard, Wisconsin should next year be represented by one of the best football teams in the history of the school.

"Our material last year was great," said the big tackle, while here. "We al thought that it was to be our year. But it turned out different. Something went wrong. Next season we are to have Withington, Daugherty, De Souci and myself as members of the coaching system. It will be virtually the Harvard system. As there is some good material, we look forward to a great team. The candidates for the team are already hard at work on spring practice."

Howard Buck is one of the great players of all time. The big fellow made a name at Wisconsin that will stand for years. His playing at tackle during his three years as a member of the Badger team has been really phenomenal. His work last year was one of the few redeeming features of Wisconsin football. Buck was captain of Wisconsin last year.

ELCORAS AND OAK HALLS FIGHTING FOR PIN TITLE

These Teams Are Running Neck and Neck for Major League Bowling Pennant, With the Elcoras Leading By Two Games—Stiegler Holds Individual Lead Over Berini.

One of the greatest bowling races ever fought out on the local alleys will be brought to an end Tuesday, when the Elcora and Oak Hall teams of the Major league will fight it out for first place. The games of Tuesday will be the final ones of the present season.

The Oak Halls must win three straight games to cop the bunting. While the feat is possible, it seems hardly probable, in view of the fact that the Elcora team is playing the fastest game of any of the league teams.

The Elcoras lead the Oaks by two full games. The odds are decidedly in favor of the cigarmakers being the 1916 champions.

During the week the Elcoras hung up a new record for Duluth—a team score of 3,098. Kampmann turned in an individual score of 683. If he had secured two strikes in the first game and one in the final he would have hung up a new one-game mark as well as a three-game score.

The Big Duluths and Sharkcrafts will meet Tuesday. The clothiers must win three straight games from the Sharks in order to beat the tailors out of third place. The Big Duluths won the Major league pennant last year with a percentage of .627.

During the week the Elcoras gained four points in their pin average. The present average of the team is .932, which has never been equaled in the Major league. This same team won the average last year with a mark of .915.

Figures compiled by Secretary Fred Teske show that more than 9,216 more pins have been knocked over this year than were spilled during all of last season.

Fritz Stiegler of the Big Duluths leads in the individual averages. He has an average of a fraction over .195. Carl Berini of the Oak Halls is right at his heels with an average of a trifle over .194.

BUSY SEASON FOR AMATEURS

Commercial and Intermediate Baseball Leagues to Get Early Start.

There will be a meeting of Commercial baseball league team representatives in the Fenton-Duby store next Tuesday evening. The meeting was originally scheduled for last evening, but was postponed in order to permit managers to secure more definite data concerning their teams. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Several new applications have been received. It is believed that the Rust-Parker company will be represented by a team. The Northern Drug company is also likely to have a team entered. The Edison, Wolvin, Patricks, Duluth Street Railway company and Board of Trade will also be represented.

The Intermediate League.

Real pep is being displayed by the team representatives of the Federal league. The members of the teams are starting practice in earnest. There will be a meeting of team captains and managers Monday evening in the Fenton-Duby store, when definite steps will be taken toward the organization of the league. Lawrence K. Duby, who has charge of the league, will present the constitution and by-laws for approval by the team representatives.

It is expected that the first week of May will see the league inaugurate its season. The outlook is bright for a great year. During the absence of the White Sox Athletic park will be used by the Intermediate league teams.

BIG INCREASE IN WAGES IS GRANTED TO MINERS

Philadelphia, Pa., April 15.—Granting increases in wages which, it is estimated will total $3,500,000 a year, the check-off clause for both miners and laborers and other concessions the bituminous coal operators of the Central Pennsylvania district here late last night signed a new agreement for two years with the officials of District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers of America. The new scale takes the place of the agreement which expired March 31, and under which the men have since been working. It was reported after conferences lasting nearly a month of committees representing both sides. Fifty thousand miners are affected by the new scale which is said to call for the highest wages ever paid in this district.

CITY ILLUMINATED IN HONOR OF CARRANZA

Mexico City, Mex., April 15.—The city was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the arrival in the Mexican capital earlier in the day of Gen. Carranza. All public buildings were outlined with electric lights and large crowds paraded through the streets. Gen. Carranza met his ministers in a conference at the national palace at 8 o'clock last evening and two hours later he appeared on the balcony of the palace under the Liberty bell, and addressed the throng, which waited in the square below. Gen. Obregon, minister of war stood at Gen. Carranza's side while he spoke.

Gen. Carranza assured his hearers that the sovereignty, honor and dignity of Mexico would be guarded inviolate, and exhorted them to work patriotically for reconstruction, the first important steps of which they were about to witness. His remarks were frequently applauded.

ALBERT AMES HAS RETURNED

Duluth Boat Club Manager Declares He Is in the "Pink."

Albert Ames, looking in the very pink of condition, arrived in Duluth last evening from Medford, Or., where he has been doing early spring training by handling boxes of fruit and working close with nature.

Mr. Ames will manage the boat club and declared today that right in his present shape he felt more like getting out and trying for a place on one of the crews.

"I am in the pink," he declared. "Feel that arm, man. If I can't find time to try for one of Ten Eyck's crews, then I will have to punch the bag or lick the Nevill boys every day. I have to keep on exercising. But I rather imagine that the job of helping run the regatta this year is going to keep one very busy."

ALBERT AMES.

Albert Ames was secretary of the Duluth Boat club for years. He left here to engage in business in the West and has returned at the behest of Julius H. Barnes to help make the national regatta one of the greatest in the history of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Mr. Ames will have charge of the boat club and the amusement program during the summer. He will also be in charge of the membership campaign, which will be put on under the auspices of the Duluth Boat club.

One of the hardest workers and most popular men who have ever been connected with the boat club, Albert Ames is expected to make things hum around the club.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Central School Closes for Easter Vacation of One Week—Co-operative Creamery Is Lauded in Dairy Journal—Senior Class Play Now in Limelight—Cast Selected—Students Organize to Protect Birds—Mandolin Club Appears at Chapel.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the doors of Central high school, so far as the students are concerned, were closed and will remain so throughout all of next week, for the pupils of the local institution have entered on their annual Easter vacation, the last important rest of the school year.

The students, dreaming of the big week to come, became somewhat restless yesterday, especially so towards the closing hours of the last day, and several interesting "stunts" took place. Eyes wandered to the windows, where the sight of a perfect day greeted them, and minds took no notice of the fact that the equally restless pedagogues were bestowing generous assignments of work upon them to keep them busy during the week.

Due to the lateness of Easter, the vacation this year comes somewhat later than usual. The students will, therefore, miss the unpleasant days of early spring which generally mark the week of rest, and they were earnestly hoping that the week would be marked by as good days as yesterday.

There are eight more weeks of school and but one more monthly report will be made. Most of the classes experienced their monthly examinations during the last week, and the marks will be sent in and announced during the week following vacation. From then on until the close of school the "grind" for the final examinations will take place.

The school was somewhat quiet during the last week, the preparations for the vacation leaving other activities temporarily in the background. The big athletic event was the annual dual indoor track meet with the Y. M. C. A. held Wednesday night. The most important event in the eyes of the students at present is the annual senior class play, to be presented on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 28 and 29, preparations for which have been going on for some time.

The fame of Central high school's big Co-operative Creamery association has spread all over the country and agricultural classes in high schools far and near have taken up with enthusiasm the idea originated at the local institution by Prof. E. P. Gibson, head of the department.

In the last issue of the Holstein-Friesian World, a magazine devoted to the interests of dairymen, there appeared a generous article on the "novel but wholly practical" idea originated at Duluth Central. The article described the method of student management, which has worked out so successfully, how the boys all worked together and co-operated to sell their butter at the regular market price, and the unusual experience and excellent results which were gained by the young dairymen and business men.

In commenting on the idea the writer said: "This is a real, practical education, and it gives the students a training that they can get in no other way, for it is actually a profit-making venture. So far as the writer knows at this time, this is the first effort of its kind, but it is really no more unusual than any other form of manual training in the public schools."

All of the boys are especially enthusiastic over their work in the creamery. They have been working hard all winter, and are paid for the amount of work that they do. They have turned out about 1,500 pounds of butter thus far this year, and they expect to add considerably to that total before the year closes. The work, of course, has somewhat slackened with the arrival of warm weather, it being considerably harder to do the work then. The advance in the market price of butter has also served to slacken work.

Work in the greenhouse is rapidly coming to a close, although there is considerable activity there at all times of the year. The muskmelons have ripened and the students have been shown the results also of much more of their winter work in this line. Outdoor work will come into prominence after vacation and will keep the "aggies" hustling until the close of school. Transplanting from the greenhouse to the outdoor plot will take place in the near future also.

* * *

During the last week, and during all of the week following vacation, the annual senior class play has and will occupy the limelight as far as activities at Central are concerned.

The "Cricket on the Hearth," a dramatization from Charles Dickens' novel of the same name, is the play that has been selected by the fourth-year students for their production this spring, and it will be presented by the selected cast on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 28 and 29.

During all of the Easter vacation and the week following, the cast will be put through a strenuous series of daily rehearsals by Coach Rasey in an endeavor to get the final production as near to perfection as possible. The ability of Mr. Rasey as a dramatic coach has been well established, as those who saw last year's play will admit. It is known, therefore, that the play this year will contain none of the taints of amateurism so common to high school productions.

Willard Thorp and Allace Cowan will most creditably fill the main roles of John Perrybingle and Dot, respectively. The remaining roles, also, call for considerably more ability than is generally found among high school students, but there is no doubt that the young actors will be able to perform most creditably. The following persons take up the remaining parts in the cast: Irving Auld, Caleb Plummer; Betty Kyle, Bertha; Philip Bergquist, Mr. Tackleton; Katherine Birch, Tilly; Dora Mitchell, Mrs. Fielding; Pearl Deatherage, May Fielding; Daisy Macaskill, the cricket; Donald Alexander, the old man.

It was necessary to order special scenery for the tableaux scene in the third act, this having been obtained from the artist who painted the curtain for the first performance of the play in London. Harry Haines, who has had considerable experience in stagecraft, will have complete charge of the stage management. Some unusually good music will be obtained for the play, the high school orchestra and the Boys' Glee club having been obtained. Norman Tufty is the business manager of the performance, and he already has a large corps of ticket sellers at work. This rounds out a complete program of good acting, good coaching, good staging, good music and good management, and the 1916 senior class play is therefore expected to surpass anything that has ever been attempted at Central.

More than fifty boys, interested in the conservation of wild game, responded to a call from F. B. Carey, head of the school Commercial department and vice president of the Duluth branch of the Minnesota State Game Protective association, Wednesday afternoon of this week and organized a high school branch of the organization, to be affiliated with the state league and directly connected with the Duluth branch.

Several men prominent in the conservation movement in the Northwest were present at the meeting, and addressed the boys on the need of an organization among the young sportsmen of the country. James A. Lawrie, George S. Stevens and Ethan A. Cleasby, in addition to T. F. Phillips and F. B. Carey of the school faculty were the speakers at the affair, and they impressed on the young men the desirability of a high school branch and of the good results that could be accomplished by it.

Following the addresses the students selected officers for the newly formed organization as follows: Ned McNulty, president; Harvey Owens, vice president; Albert Gross, treasurer, and Lawrence Moore, secretary. The officers, together with Mr. Phillips and Mr. Carey, will meet in the near future to draw up a constitution for the league. This will be prepared and presented at the next meeting, to be held on the Wednesday following the Easter vacation. A big movement for an increased membership will be made and it is hoped to enlarge it to over 200 persons. The young sportsmen will certainly have a big influence on the new movement on foot in Minnesota to save the rapidly vanishing wild life.

Several students in civics classes at Central received practical work in the development of the commission form of government during the past week when they were sent down to the city hall to aid in counting the signatures of petitions that had been received there.

G. A. Glyer, instructor in history and civics at Central, received word from authorities at the city hall that they could use about twenty-five of the students to count the names. They were selected from the civics classes, worked a whole day and were well paid.

Members of the senior class, who are contemplating going away to school next year, were urged by Principal Young yesterday to come to a definite conclusion as soon as possible on the school which they intended to attend.

It is necessary for the student to have application blanks filled out by the authorities of the high school from which he comes showing how well qualified he is to take up the advanced work in colleges. The student must have his applications filled out, also, before he can take the entrance examinations. Principal Young and Miss Taylor will be busy on the blanks during the next several weeks, and they want the student to be absolutely sure, if possible, as to where he is going, so that it will not be necessary to waste so much time filling out several blanks.

The college entrance board examinations will be given in Duluth this year so that it will not be necessary for these wishing to take them to go East or to the Twin Cities. They were given in this city last year for the first time as an experiment, and the number of students taking them was so large that the board decided to hold them permanently in Duluth.

The Mandolin club made its second appearance in public yesterday morning during the chapel period when it took the place of the choir in furnishing the music for the morning exercises. Several selections were given, all of them being well received by the student body.

The club has been trained and was led yesterday by Miss Dixon, head of the school music department. The members of the club are as follows: Edward Emerson, Herbert McKay, Lyman Barrows, William Hermanson, John Pedrizetti, Hickman Powell, Neil Upham, Galen Pearsons, Milton Mead and Willard Thorp.

It is quite probable that Spanish will be introduced into Central next fall as a new subject, according to plans of the board of education at present, and a definite decision is expected to be made by the board some time within the near future.

Many high schools and practically all larger schools throughout the country are carrying on the study of the language. One reason for the surprisingly low amount of commerce which the United States carries on with the Latin-American countries of Central and South America is said to be the fact that the citizens of this country for the most part are not versed in this language, while the merchants of the foreign countries realize and appreciate this fact. Many American engineers in Panama would be greatly handicapped did they not know the Spanish language. The introduction of the language into Central will undoubtedly meet with great favor among the students.

Members of the freshman class have appointed the committee that will have charge of the arrangements for their class party on the evening of May 20. Gertrude Taylor, Elizabeth Lyman, Harold McCormack, Milton Mead and Hickman Powell are the members of the committee and they will start work immediately after vacation in an endeavor to make the 1919 party one of the liveliest and best that has ever been held at Central.

HERALD'S WEEKLY ROADS BUREAU AND BULLETIN

Under this heading The Duluth Herald is conducting a weekly column of information for automobile owners and drivers. If you are planning on taking a trip, write to the automobile department. All the information at our disposal is yours for the asking. Motorists outside of Minnesota are especially invited to make use of this department.

The Jefferson highway is an international highway planned to run from Winnipeg, Can., almost directly south, through the great central farming section of United States, to New Orleans. It is about 2,500 miles long and passes through the state of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota, thence passing into Canada. A section through Arkansas has been proposed, but has not yet been officially adopted.

The Jefferson Highway association, which is urging the construction of this road, was organized at a meeting held last November at New Orleans. At this time a tentative route was laid out and work begun in earnest. E. T. Meredith of Des Moines was elected president.

In Minnesota, the state highway commission took official action to designate a state highway from the Iowa line to Canada and this was adopted by the association as the main route of the highway through Minnesota. There was more or less competition for the main route in Iowa, but the present interstate trail from St. Paul to Kansas City was favored, as it is already in good shape and marked. For instance, there are 205 miles of gravel road between St. Paul and Des Moines on this route.

"GOOD ROADS."
By George A. Kissel,
President Kissel Motor Car Company.

If automobiles had never been built, there would be comparatively few good roads.

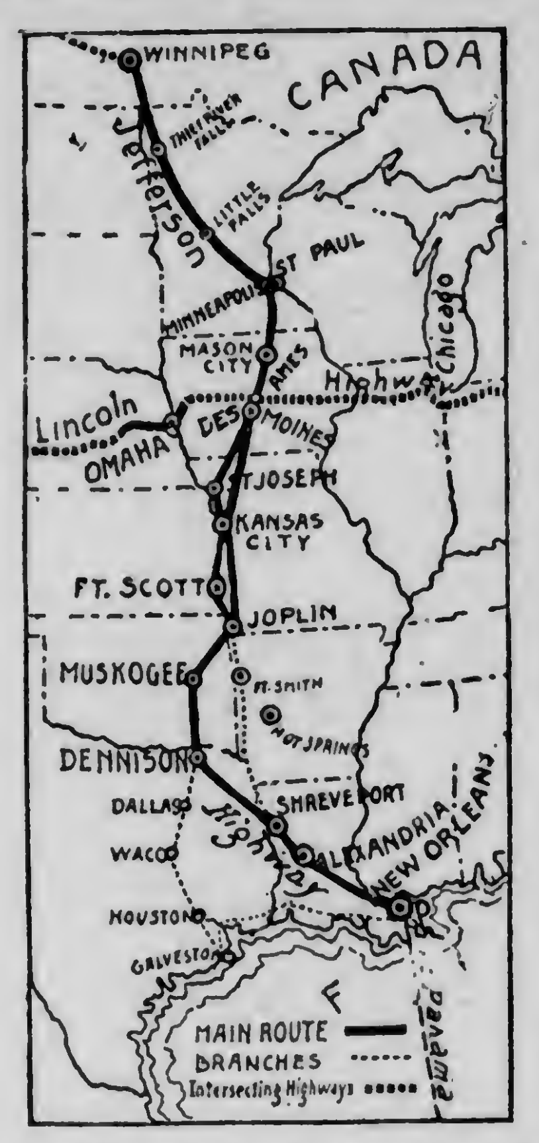
And the good roads laid because of the automobile have created a demand for more automobiles.

Good roads have put new life into trade by annihilating time and distance. They have brought great dividends in pleasure. They are an economic success.

Everyone has benefited, the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, all in a business way—and socially as well.

* * *

Minneapolis, Minn.—Minnesota's expenditures in the cause of better roads this year will approximate $7,453,451, which will go for more than 2,000 miles of grading and more than 1,000 miles of graveling highways, according to accurate figures prepared in the office of George W. Cooley, state engineer and secretary of the Minnesota highway commission. This total, the best in the state's history, adds together the state aid, the amount of the county road and bridge tax levies and the amount spent last year by the townships, which, he believes, is a gauge of what the townships will expend this season. The amount of the state apportionment is $1,500,000, made up of the state roads levy and the amount received in the motor vehicle taxation. The county tax for the road and bridge funds brings in $2,753,451, and the township figures are $3,200,000. Of the total about $4,000,000 will be used under the supervision of the highway commission.



ROUTE OF THE JEFFERSON HIGHWAY.

Little Rock, Ark.—Highway construction in Arkansas in 1915, according to statistics of the state highway department, totaled 144 miles, costing $771,100, in roads either completed or now under construction, and preliminary surveys and estimates for 860 miles, estimated to cost approximately $4,860,000, have been made so far as a start for 1916 road work in the state. These figures are only for roads for which the highway department has made preliminary surveys ond estimates and helped in organizing the districts.

* * *

Des Moines, Iowa.—Iowa property owners will pay $9,617,915 in direct taxes is 1916 for road and bridge work, according to the financial report prepared by W. H. Williams, in the auditor of state's office. To this will be added between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, which will be received from motor registration, making more than $11,000,000 available for bridge and road work during the year. In 1915 the taxpayers turned in $8,870,121 for such construction.

* * *

From 1911 to 1915 the graduate engineering students who have specialized in highway engineering have been candidates for the degree of master of arts.

At a meeting held at Moorhead, Minn., the Park Region and Red River Valley association was organized in an effort to have the Jefferson highway from New Orleans to Winnipeg routed through that section.

WORK PROGRESSES ON ARMORED CARS

Vehicles for New York Guard Will Be Completed Next Fall.

New York, April 15.—Although the first armored motor battery in service in this country was mustered into the service of the national guard of New York recently at the armory of the Twenty-second engineers, here, the vehicles will not be completed until next fall, probably next September. Two of the vehicles have already been completed, these being the Jeffery four-wheel-driven service truck and one of the armored Locomobile chassis.

The equipment for the battery will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, and is in charge of A. F. Masury, chief engineer of the International Motor company, at whose Metropolitan service station the work is being carried on. The funds have been donated by Elbert H. Gary, Henry C. Frick, James N. Wallace, Dudley Olcott II., Col. William F. Thompson and Lieut. Harry G. Montgomery who will command the outfit.

The company will be mustered into service by Lieut.-Col. N. B. Thurston, chief ordnance officer of the National Guard of New York, and will consist of college men of the type who attended the Plattsburgh encampment last summer. There will be 162 men in the company, commanded by Lieut. Montgomery, who will be commissioned as captain, two first lieutenants, three second lieutenants, twenty sergeants, thirty-six corporals and 100 privates.

V-TYPE MULTIPLE CYLINDER LEADER

Its Efficiency Is Big Help With Gasoline at High Figure.

"For the owners of a V-type multiple cylinder car, the recent rumors of an increase in the price of gasoline should hold no fear. Assured of maximum mileage on any given quantity of fuel, he is able to operate his car with utmost economy," says C. H. Johnson, local Cole agent.

"On one thing all automobile engineers are agreed—that is that the V-type multiple cylinder motor outstrips all competition in the field of performance. It raises the standard of operation. It is more flexible, more easily controlled, more salient. Its speed range in high gear is wider by many miles. It is not handicapped by destructive vibrations and intermittent impulses.

"But in other ways the multiple cylinder car of the V-type excels motors of fewer cylinders. It is more economical."

GASOLINE PRICE ADVANCE OPPOSED

Minneapolis Charges That Crude Oil Has Been Manipulated.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 15.—Following an agitation instituted by the Minneapolis Automobile Trade association anent the gasoline price question, the city of Minneapolis has been enlisted in the fight against high-priced gasoline. The city has, in effect, said to the Standard Oil company of Indiana:

"You don't open any more filling stations in Minneapolis until you clear yourself of all insinuations and charges as to monopoly and price manipulation." The fire committee, which conducted the investigation, flatly charges in its report:

"This committee feels morally certain that the prico of crude oil has been manipulated. The committee feels equally certain that there is some sort of understanding between the thirty-seven Standard Oil companies by which they control the prices of petroleum products unduly and for their own advantage."

The Standard Oil company of Indiana failed to make satisfactory answers to all of the committee's questions, whereupon the committee recommended the refusal of filling station permits and made a remedial recommendation to congress. Meantime the Minneapolis Automobile Trade association is continuing its propaganda.

Attorney G. A. Will of the association has gone to Washington, stopping in Detroit and Chicago; Assistant Secretary Roy B. Simning is enlisting public sentiment through a publicity campaign.

NEW RECORDS SET BY AUTO SHOWS

One Million and Half Persons Paid Admission This Year.

When the curtain is finally rung down on the automobile show season that is reapidly drawing to a conclusion, new records will have been established for the success that has attended the promotion of the local exhibitons promoted annually throughout the country. It can be conservatively estimated that in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 persons paid for admission to scores of displays conducted by the automobile dealers' associations and the special show companies during the past four or five months. This estimate does not consider the two national shows, held in New York and Chicago, the combined attendance of which reached the half million mark, according to the Horseless Age, a national motor publication.

This attendance is a far cry from the few thousands that were interested enough in the then new mode of transportation to visit the Madison Square Garden in New York city in the fall of 1900 for the purpose of inspecting the first collected display of motor cars made in this country. But the growth of interest in the shows has been proportional to the development of the industry itself. From its humble beginning in New York sixtee nyears ago the automobile show has developed until now it is recognized as an annual fixturo in practically every county seat in the country.

Since their advent, and especially since local or dealers' shows have been held, the annual exhibitions have been considered in the light of business barometers, the interest displayed in the shows being indicative of the general business possibilities in the automobile field. This holds true with the season now ending. With the automobile industry setting a new high water mark for production in the 1914-1915 fiscal year and indications pointing to this mark being greatly surpassed during the present year, it was only natural that the shows should reflect this prosperity.

MOTOR TRUCKS TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Eastern Cities Find Cars Efficient in Relieving Freight Blockade.

New York, April 8.—While the interstate commerce commission is conferring with railroad experts as to means of ending the present freight blockade, merchants in Philadelphia, New York and Connecticut cities have been freighting their shipments overland between these cities by motor trucks.

Deliveries of trucks all over the country have been held up by the freight congestion and a number of factories have been shipping their vehicles overland to points in a radius of 150 miles of their plants. Others consigning trucks for New York city from distant points have been shipping them to small way stations in New Jersey and up-state New York, from which final delivery has been made over the roads.

OAKLAND SITE FOR ASSEMBLING PLANT

Hugh Chalmers Announces Enterprise for Western City.

Oakland, Cal., April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hugh Chalmers, at a luncheon given in his honor by the Oakland chamber of commerce, announced that the Chalmers Automobile company of Detroit had definitely decided upon Oakland as the location of a big assembling plant and factory for light manufacturing. Mr. Chalmers said:

"The plant will be a modern, up-to-the-minute assembling headquarters. At the beginning from 300 to 400 men will be employed and the capacity will be twenty-five to thirty cars a day. We will take care of all the Chalmers business on the Pacific coast, which we now estimate at from 7,000 to 8,000 cars a year. Provision will be made for a little light manufacturing, which will be increased materially in time.

"It is only after investigating closely practically every city on the Pacific coast that I have decided on Oakland as the home of our Western factory. Oakland has everything that can be desired as a site for big factories. Its shipping facilities are best on the coast."

This is the second big Eastern automobile concern that has located in Oakland within a month, foundations for a $1,000,000 plant for the Chevrolet company now being under construction. The Pacific Tread Tire company also has broken ground for a $250,000 building, which it will build near the Chevrolet plant.

TRADE MARK REG.
SIX

An exceptional car —built to meet an exacting demand

The six cylinder motor— in its perfected state—is the engineer's answer to the demand of the automobile enthusiast —the extremist if you will.

The perfected six cylinder motor is capable of a faster pick-up and a smoother flow of power than is possible in a four.

But not all sixes are superior to all fours.

We build fours that are superior to many sixes.

And our only purpose in building a six is to satisfy with Overland finality that extremist demand for well nigh miraculous motor performance.

The Overland Six is a big, roomy, luxurious, seven passenger car with a motor of unusual power, smoothness and flexibility.

But the price is only $1145—much lower than any other car of its size and class.

In fact Overland production is easily double that of any other builder of cars of like class.

So in buying the Overland Six you not only secure a car of very unusual performance—

But you get the advantage of the economies possible only in the production of cars on so vast a scale.

While the prices of established sixes are advancing, and those recently announced are on a higher price level, the Overland price remains at $1145.

It is so clearly dominant value among sixes of its size and class, that the demand is taxing even our large capacity.

Today is an Overland Six opportunity which can hardly last.

See us now and book your order.

eleven which have done so; three have made reductions.

The Chalmers Motor Car company has advanced the prices of the three models built on the new 6-30 chassis, effective today. The touring car and cabriolet will each be increased $40, making the former $1,090 and the latter $1,440; the price of the roadster will be raised $20 to $1,070. The increased cost of materials is responsible for the higher prices.

The Pathfinder company, Indianapolis, has raised the price of its twelve touring car $275, effective today. The cloverleaf roadster is $425 higher.

The Anderson Electric Car company, Detroit, is the first among the electric vehicle makers to announce an increase in the price of its cars. This increase will be $100 for each of the five models made by the company.

WEEK-END FORECAST FOR MOTORISTS

Beginning May 1 a week-end weather forecast will be offered local and range motorists by The Herald automobile department through the courtesy of H. W. Richardson, government weather forecaster. In this way Duluthians will be able to plan their trips for Saturday and Sunday with knowledge of the weather and road conditions.

FAST NATIONAL IN BILLIE BURKE FILM

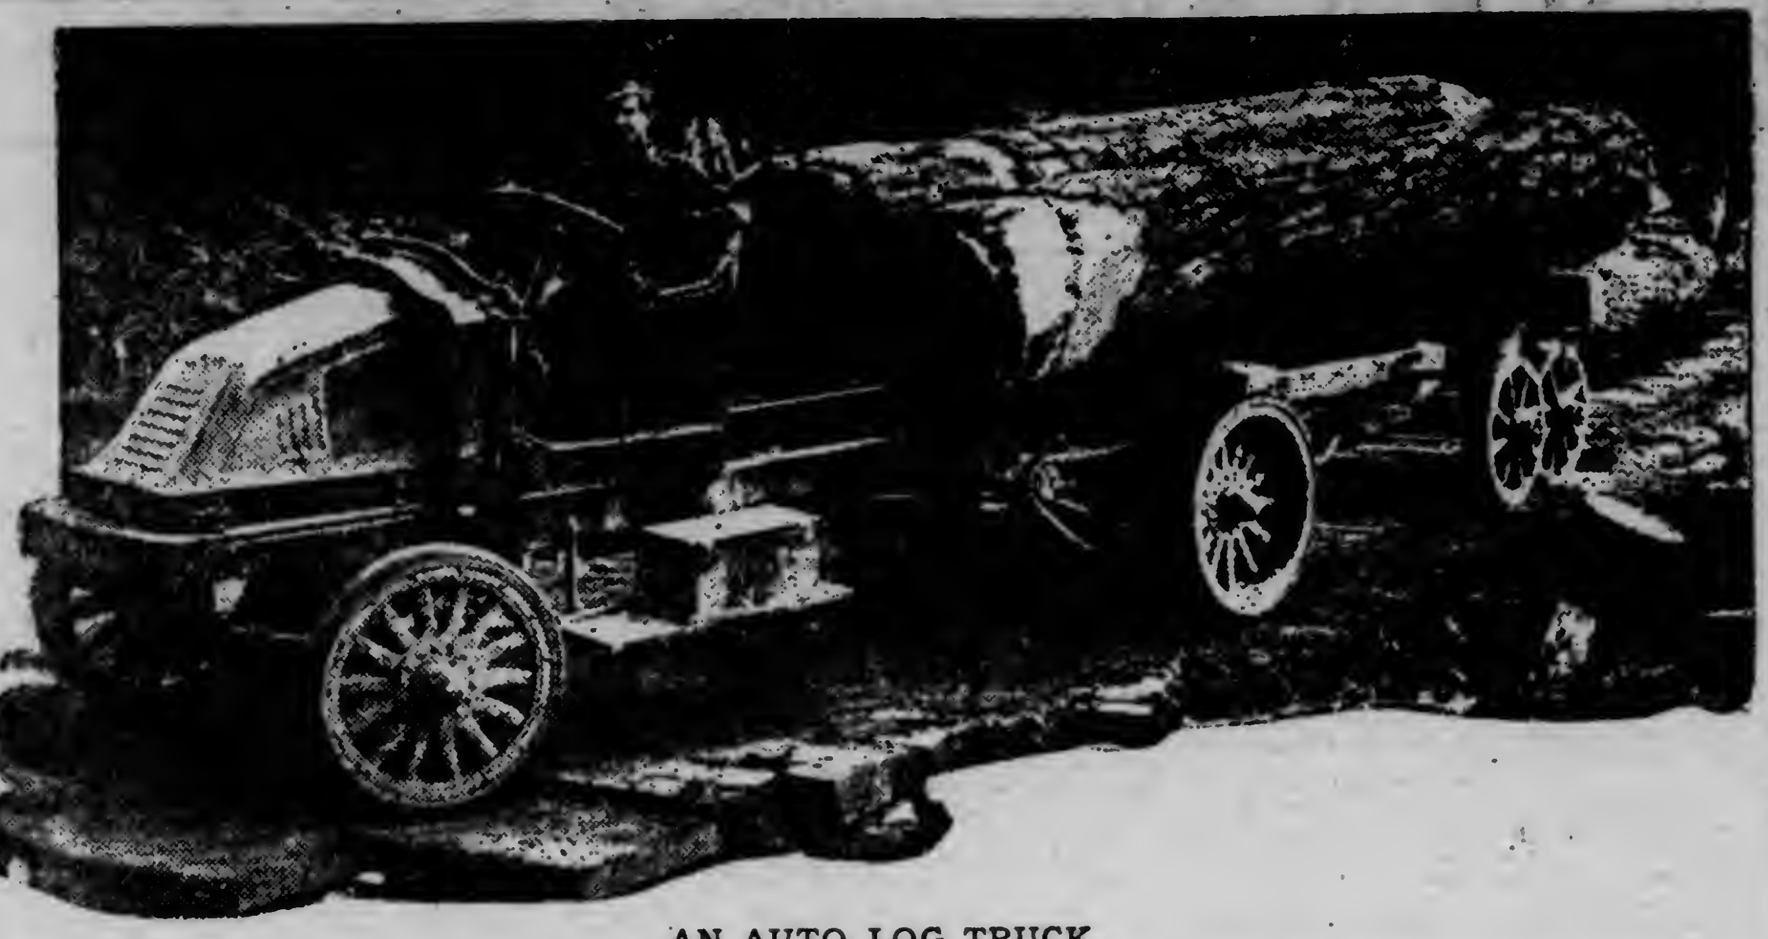
"Peggy," with Billy Burke, is a film of more than usual interest to autoist movie patrons, due to the spectacular appearance of a National speedster constructed specially for Miss Burke.

The manner in which Billy Burke drives her big, powerful National roadster is very fascinating. Billy Burke drives her roadster at better than a mile-a-minute clip and looks like a miniature princess in the big, powerful National and even more doll-like when she dons pajama-like jumpers to make repairs, which developed to be only the lack of gasoline.

King Men Entertained.

Detroit, Mich., April 15.—Motor parts manufacturers and their representatives, to the number of 350, were guests of the King Motor Car company last week, at the Hotel Statler, in attendance at the King's third annual "speedfest." Artemas Ward, Jr., president of the King company, made the only address of the evening.

LOGGING BY MOTOR TRUCK WHERE HORSE IS USELESS



AN AUTO LOG TRUCK.

Seattle, Wash., April 15.—Motor trucks in the forests of Washington are entering a field that heretofore has been immune from the imprint of even horses' hoofs. They are blazing a trail of their own, and incidentally starting one grand trek back to the soil. The results have been startling.

These mechanical horses of the logging camps transport huge logs from the forests to the railroad and to the mills direct. The powerful motor trucks are performing a duty that, in this section of the United States, at least, the horse has been unable to perform. And not only that—they are speeding the giants of the forest to the mills so quickly that hundreds of thousands of feet of timber ordinarily consigned to the bonfire of stumps are being sold, and at good profit.

NOTES FROM THE FACTORIES

Charles Denby, vice president of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, sailed March 25 from San Francisco on the Tenyo Maru for a six months' visit to China. Mr. Denby, who was formerly United States consul-general at Shanghai, has numerous interests in the Orient. He is considered one of the best American authorities on China as he lived in that country for twenty-two years. He served in many official capacities, including that of secretary-general during the Boxer revolution and was for several years American adviser to President Yuan Shi Kai, when he was viceroy of the province of Tientsin.

FORD FACTORY FOR RITTMAN PROCESS

Noted Inventor Will Take Charge of Special Investigations.

Washington, April 8.—Dr. W. F. Rittman, inventor of the Rittman process for cracking the heavier oils contained in petroleum to increase the gasoline yield, has gone to Detroit, Mich., accompanied by Director Joseph A. Holmes of the bureau of mines, to assist Henry Ford in carrying out his experiments with the Rittman process. They are making the trip at the request of the motor car manufacturer.

It is reported in Washington that Ford is building a special refinery for the introduction of the process. If the experiment proves successful, it is announced that Ford will go into the manufacture of gasoline on a large scale.

Several motor car manufacturers are expected to appear before the subcommittee of the house committee on

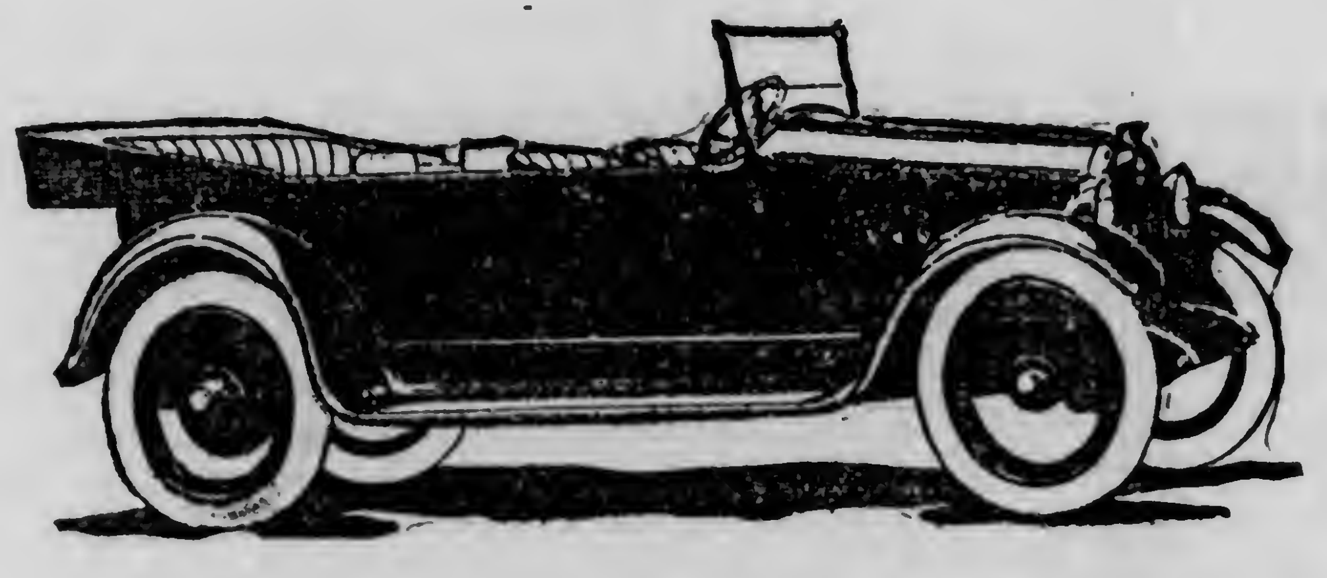
The New Case 40—$1090



A Faithful Car

Men and women nowadays who buy automobiles, rightly demand dependability. They want a car which they know will serve them faithfully.

The new Case 40, the latest of a line of successes, meets this demand. It is deliberately built as a 100,000 mile car.

As you study the new Case 40, you must be impressed with its simplicity. A close examination will convince you conclusively that this new Case 40 will add to our world-wide reputation for building only the very best products in each of our extensive lines. We are living up to the principles established by the founder of this company in 1842.

The comfort of this car is unusual. Remember its wheelbase is 120 inches, and its cantilever springs are attached to the rear axle in a way that is exclusive in Case cars. By it the springs do only spring duty. For lines, comfort, power, endurance—this car at $1090 is an opportunity.

We will be glad to point out its superiorities, or to send you by mail an illustrated description.

TEST IT ON ANY HILL YOU KNOW

In giving a demonstration of the Model 860 Cole 8 we let you pick the course.

We want you to test the car as thoroughly as you know how—for the harder the test the surer the sale.

The Model 860 Cole 8 is the example of refinements which have been made possible only by a great organization and a permanent policy of standardization.

In this V-type multiple cylinder car exists the rare combination of counterbalanced crankshaft with aluminum pistons and light reciprocating parts—the most advanced type of multiple cylinder construction.

If you have ever ridden up Third avenue west to Fourth street in any other motor car you should experience the new sensation that a ride over it in a Cole 8 will give you.

FORDS WIN DECISION.

The cadets of the Kemper military academy, Booneville, Mo., recently argued a question which has already been settled to the satisfaction of more than 1,250,000 Ford owners. The occasion was a public debate of the literary society of the school, and the topic, "Resolved, That the Ford Car Is the Best Car Manufactured, Everything Considered." The judges unanimously awarded the decision to the affirmative side.

SERVICE TO HERALD READERS.

Anyone interested in the purchase of a 1916 automobile can get information about the various machines and the local dealers by writing to the automobile department of The Herald. If you are interested in any machine The Herald will tell you where to buy. The Herald is the recognized medium between buyer and dealer in the Northwest.

Roads to the range towns and Ashland were broken this week by local automobile dealers and their agents, who drove the new cars right to the buyers. In several instances the buyer came to Duluth and drove his car back himself. C. R. McCann of Eveleth drove down Tuesday in his Cole.

During the week a Chalmers and two Overlands were driven over the Miller Trunk road to Virginia and Hibbing, while two others cars made the trip to Ashland and Bayfield.

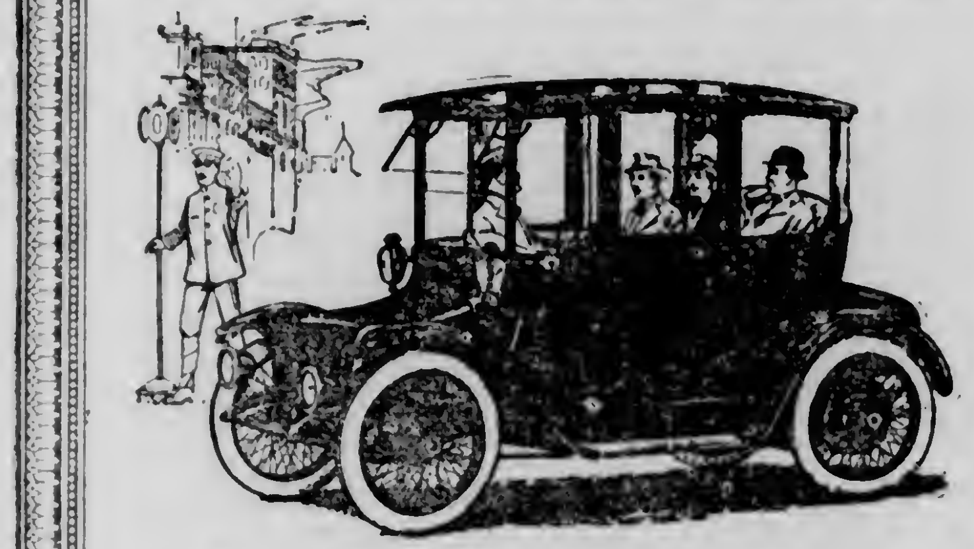
Detroit Electric



The Detroit Electric has plenty of power

A few years ago many men felt the electric car did not have enough speed and power for their needs. They believed it designed primarily for ladies motoring about town, but not powerful enough for rough roads, muddy stretches or steep hills—and they were right.

But now that feeling has changed. Motorists who have kept abreast of the advances made by the Detroit Electric know that its big batteries provide plenty of power for any and every emergency.

Hundreds of men in every part of the country have proved that their Detroit Electrics will pull through as heavy going and climb as steep hills as any car on the market—either gasoline or electric.

So each year more and more men are being won over to the Detroit Electric as the best car for "all-year" use. Especially men with families who demand a car with plenty of power and speed and at the same time one which can be driven with safety by their wives and children.

SHIPMENTS FOR MARCH SET RECORD

New York, April 15.—Shipments of automobiles during March, 1916, were the biggest for that month that the automobile industry has ever known, amounting to 28,600, as compared with 17,192 in March, 1915 and 23,809 in February, 1916, the best previous record. Six thousand of these carloads were made in box cars, by taking off the fenders and covering with tarpaulin.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Seven Hundred Seniors March in the Cap and Gown Day Parade—Mock Convention for Nomination of President Arousing Much Interest—Annual Parade in Celebration of the Advent of Spring.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday was Cap and Gown day at the University of Minnesota. The seniors donned their dignified costumes and paraded for the edification of the lower classes, from the library to the Armory building, where announcement of scholastic honors was made and election to the honorary fraternities made public. As usual, the women outstripped the men in the list of choices for Phi Beta Kappa, which is the symbol of highest scholarship in the academic college. Approximately 700 seniors marched in the parade and applauded the success of their classmates when the honors were announced.

On Friday evening the men of the university congregated in an annual pep fest at the armory. It is the one stag event of the year that has held its own against the attractions of mixed affairs, but this party sufficed for the lack of others of a similar nature. Each of the three candidates for managing editor of the Minnesota Daily spoke glowingly of his ability, and laid down his platform in all its attractiveness. The faculty quartet supplied the music, there were relay races, wrestling matches, boxing matches, comic monologues and athletic displays. The evening was the consummation of weeks of work by the committee in charge, and proved to be well worth the effort expended.

* * *

The mock convention for the nomination of our next national president, conducted by the Forensic league, is rapidly approaching. There will be 500 delegates properly apportioned among the various schools and colleges of the university. Each school and college will have its floor leader and will vote solidly for its candidate. The students are entering into the plans with the utmost seriousness. Already a peace party is forming which is making a fight for 100 delegates to back Henry Ford. Other parties are just as active in behalf of their candidates. The academic college and the agricultural college are still doubtful, with the Democrats and Republicans running neck and neck. The national committee has already met and set the date for the convention at May 9 and the place as the university armory. A committee on credentials is in readiness to hear complaints and deal out justice, according to the way of all credential committees. Candidates for a place on the platform committee are already brushing up on the national issues and sounding the public opinion on such matters as preparedness, intervention, tariff and trust regulation.

* * *

Bert Baston, captain of next year's football team and Walter Camp's choice for all-American end, has left for Syracuse university, where the entire mythical eleven is to gather. This will be the first time that all members of the all-American team will have been together.

The appointment committee of the college of education has had a busy week. One hundred and fifty students have asked for teaching positions in high schools throughout the state. There are over 100 vacancies already reported, but many can not be filled because the demands of the schools and the qualifications of the applicants do not match. Many students, however, are finding work through the appointment committee, which tries to place every successful student when he has finished his course at the university. The college of education is one of the younger divisions of the university, but is rising rapidly to a very important place in the scope of the state's educational system.

In response to a demand from the college of agriculture that a real farmer be appointed to the board of regents to fill the position left vacant by the expiration of the term of B. F. Nelson, C. W. Glotfelter has been appointed. He is a full-fledged blue-overall farmer, who has made a success of his work and stands in a position to state the case of the farmer in the councils of the university governors.

Prof. Elmer E. Stoll of the English department has been granted a year's leave of absence during which time he will complete a book on Shakespeare upon which he has been working for several years. The volume is the result of Prof. Stoll's revolt against many interpretations of Shakespeare which have been accepted without question in college circles. The writer has spent a great deal of time at the British museum and among the French and German authorities. He hopes that his book will establish many points now in dispute and will overthrow many prevalent theories about Shakespeare as a man.

Prof. Francis Jager of the university farm is a puzzled man. His specialty is bee culture and he pretends to know everything about bees that the bees care to divulge, but they have stumped him at last. He is proud of his bees, thinks they are the best behaved bees in Minnesota and does not believe that they would keep anything from him. He knows, as all bee culturists know, that the first honey of the season comes from the maple flower, and he knows that the maple flowers are several weeks from the honey stage still; nevertheless these bees of his brought in forty pounds of honey in one day during the week. The answer is still unknown, but Prof. Jager is proud of his bees.

Dean Alfred Owre of the college of dentistry is a fanatic on the subject of walking. He has walked over a good part of Europe, China, Japan and United States and, in his wanderings, has collected nearly 100 cains of great value. His latest accomplishment was to walk from Boston to Albany in one week through heavy and exceedingly wet snow. His destination was a convention of the Association of American Dental School Faculties, and he arrived in time to take luncheon at the Hotel Ten Eyck at 1 o'clock on March 31, which was according to schedule to the minute.

Further developments in the discovery of the identity of David Grayson in the person of Ray Stannard Baker occurred at the University of Minnesota when it was discovered that Mr. Baker's sister was recently married to a senior medical student, J. Arthur Riegel. Mrs. Riegel is a student at the university and would never have been known as the sister of David Grayson had not one of her friends from St. Croix Falls betrayed her.

Spring was officially inaugurated on Wednesday evening of this week. The annual parade in celebration of the advent of spring occurred at that time amid jubilation and great rejoicing. It started innocently at a meeting of the Tillikum club when the fresh spring air swept in through the windows and filled the blood of the mystic order with mischief. Several dishpans were procured, and a siren, some bells and fifes completed the orchestra which sallied forth at 11 o'clock at night to inform the sleeping citizens of Southeast Minneapolis that spring was in the air. As the procession advanced it gained fresh recruits until the fraternity houses were practically empty, but not quite and therein lay the difficulty. The unreasonable marchers could not get the point of view of those who preferred peaceful sleep to late hour boisterousness. The 250 marchers visited one fraternity house at a time. A committee was selected to see that a receptacle sufficiently large to contain a human body was filled with the coldest water obtainable and then the charge was made. If any one was found in bed he was straightway baptized in the icy waters and impressed into the service. Thus some twenty fraternity houses were visited and enlightened on the glory of spring's arrival. Some presented locked doors to the marchers, whereupon the locks immediately became disabled. Others barricaded their doors with results still worse, for much kindling wood was made of obstinate doors. Nothing could arrest the advent of spring.

TAX OF MOTOR CARS A PROBLEM

Great Increase in Business Changes Conditions, Says Franklin.

The question of whether motor cars are justly and properly taxed is going to receive more intelligent consideration in the future, in the opinion of the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company. He points out that the automobile has become a giant economic factor in the life of the nation and is in an entirely different position than when the policy of taxing it was first adopted.

"It is my belief that an automobile tax law as imposed at this time is class legislation," Mr. Franklin declares. "If it is right to tax a motor car, it is right to tax a horse-drawn vehicle, a steam roller—anything which travels over the highways.

"Taxation of motor cars today is excessive. In practically every state in the Union it takes the form of a heavy levy on one of the greatest developers this country has ever known."

PAIGE
The Standard of Value and Quality

Do These Facts Mean Anything To You?

1. During the month of March—which was distinctly a winter month in most sections of the country—the American people bought 1200 Paige "Fairfields" and paid for them one million, five hundred and fifty-four thousand dollars.

2. At the time this advertisement is written, every single dealer in the Paige sales organization has attempted to increase his regular allotment of cars.

3. Many Paige distributors have already sold their entire April allotments of the Fairfield "Six-46"—and are now taking special allotments as fast as we can supply them.

Just read these three paragraphs over again—and discover for yourself the real significance of such overwhelming demand for one motor car.

We don't suggest that you merely "follow the crowd." We don't suggest that you be influenced by any other consideration than your own personal preference.

But we do maintain that there must be an intelligent reason for such nation-wide indorsement of the Paige Fairfield "Six-46." We want you to discover that reason.

A visit to the Paige dealer will, undoubtedly, put you on the right track. But don't delay too long, please. See this car while "immediate deliveries" are still possible.

The sacred cantata, "Light Out of Darkness," which is being rehearsed by the joint chorus of 100 voices from choirs of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran, Elim Swedish Lutheran, Trinity English Lutheran and First Swedish Lutheran churches, will be presented at the Bethany church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, on April 28. The first production will be given at the Elim Swedish church of West Duluth on April 25. The cantata will also be sung at the First church on May 2.

Rehearsals have been held under the direction of Prof. A. F. Lundholm, organist of the Elim church. The soloists will be Miss Olga Johnson, soprano; Mrs. E. W. Lund, alto; Daniel Olson, tenor, and Alfred Anderson, bass.

The accompanist will be Prof. Albert Palmer, pipe organist, director of the Bethany Lutheran choir.

LABORER FALLS DEAD.

Walter Berg, 40, a laborer employed on construction work of a building at Twenty-third avenue and Third street, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while at his work. He had not been feeling well for a day or two. Heart trouble is believed to have caused death.

An autopsy will be held today under the direction of the cornor to determine the exact cause of death. The body was taken to Olson & Hoppenyan undertaking rooms.

Hears Lecture on India.

A lecture on South India, by Mrs. Milton Fish, featured an entertainment given last evening by the Young People's Society of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon slides. The program also included victrola selections, a violin solo by Miss Ruby Lowe, a tenor solo by Walter Paulson, and a violin duet by Misses Lowe and Inez Huey, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Bartow.

ARRANGING ENTERTAINMENT.

Vasa Members Making Ready for District Convention in May.

Plans for the entertainment of delegates to the district convention of the Order of Vasa, which will be held in Duluth on May 22 and 23, will be made Tuesday evening at the meeting of Sons of Sweden lodge, No. 170. The invitation to the district lodge to meet here came through this organization and it will take a leading part in the entertainment.

Invitations will be extended by the West end lodge to the other four Vasa lodges of the city to participate in the entertainment. A committee will be appointed at the Tuesday evening meeting, which will work with the other lodges of the city in preparing programs for the two convention days.

REPORT OMAHA IS TO DOUBLE TRACK

Additional Rails May Be Laid Between Solon Springs and Sauntry.

Solon Springs, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to reports, the Omaha railroad is planning on building a new bridge over a small stream just south of town and double tracking the right-of-way from this point to Sauntry. The large amount of business handled by the road this winter and the largely increasing business make this work almost imperative. There is also considerable talk about the railroad company tearing down the unsightly section house this coming spring and summer.

Mrs. W. A. Wright of Duluth spent a few days here, superintending repairs to the Wright cottage down on the lake shore.

J. P. Cosgrove of the First State bank spent last week-end visiting at the home of his parents in Eau Claire.

Miss Myrtin A. Burke spent two days this week at Gordon.

S. M. Addington and Charles J. Brown, the local lumber men, finished the year's cut and have landed at the track, many thousand ties, posts, poles and pulpwood for shipment.

W. E. Susens of the First State bank sold forty-two and one-half acres on Wednesday to E. R. Copeland of Des Moines, Iowa.

L. B. Elliott, who has been associated with C. H. Edwards for the past two years here, has removed to Patzau, where he will represent the interests of the Farmers' Land & Cattle company.

"Farm Folks," played by the young people of Minong, was put on here last Saturday night, under the auspices of the First Congregational church. There was a large attendance and everyone was well pleased.

There is a movement for the local home talent play, "Arabian Nights" to be played at Minong some time within the next three weeks.

Some Duluth Visitors.

Several new cottages have been built by Duluth and Superior people, until, at the present time, there is but little room left where cottages may be built on this side of the lake.

Chief among the visitors of the past week were: Mrs. F. C. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Scott, Miss Dolly Harris, Mrs. W. A. Wright, all of Duluth; Fred Tomlinson, Louis Schmidt, A. P. Le Sage, E. J. Favell and Wilbur Ross of Superior, and D. F. Riordan, Charles Townsend of Minneapolis and C. A. Shervey of St. Paul. From now on there will be an increasing amount of visitors each week until the summer season starts and the population reaches the 3,000-mark.

Andrew Smith will move into the Merchants' hotel the latter part of this month. The hotel is being remodeled, and fixed over to make it a first class summer hotel.

James H. Smith of Gordon; Ray A. Peabody, M. O'Rourke of Duluth; John Dunlop of Hawthorne; Robert Sullivan of Bennett, and Otto Burzlaff, Frank Naud, Elmer Terry and Andrew J. Carlson of Gordon, were business callers here during the week.

W. H. Riley has had surveyors at work on the new subdivision known as Lakeview Heights, along the lake shore, during the past week.

Voluntary Increase in Wages.

New York, April 15.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey announced here yesterday that beginning April 17 wages to employes in all its refineries will be increased 5 to 10 per cent. It was explained the increase is voluntary.

CLOQUET NEWS NOTES.

Happenings of Interest in Nearby Sawmill City.

Cloquet, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Advices from Aitkin are that Mrs. Helena M. Smith, formerly in the news writing business here, who has been connected with the Aitkin Independent-Age, has been given the position of news editor on an Ottawa, Ill., daily, and will leave soon for her new field.

The local Odd Fellows will observe the anniversary of the order Friday night, April 28. The Rebecca lodge has been invited to participate in the services. There will be several speakers and refreshments will be served. On the committee in charge of the services are John McLeod, W. F. Erickson and F. W. Shampine.

The presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" Thursday evening was voted a great success in every way.

Frank Willette returned Wednesday evening from a visit to his home in Chippewa Falls, Wis., and will be employed this summer as scaler at the water power mill, which opened Thursday.

James Doris, who for many years was engineer on the N. P. passenger train between here and Duluth, but who retired about a year ago, was greeting friends in the city Tuesday.

Rev. T. T. Roan left today for Minneapolis, where he will hold services Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the Norwegian Lutheran church, of which Rev. O. Sletten is pastor.

Mrs. William Kelly, Miss Margaret Johnson, Mrs. Frank Frye and children, Mrs. F. P. Heasley, O. W. Erickson, J. R. Cochrane and Paul Leonard were among those who spent Saturday in Duluth.

W. L. Case has returned from a trip of several weeks spent in southern California and other Pacific coast points. While in California he saw Dr. A. E. Johnson, who is spending the winter there, and several former Cloquet residents, among them being Ed H. Hanson, A. E. Quinn and F. E. Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher, who left here a couple of years ago for his health and has resided in a sanatorium there since, was recently married to one of the nurses at that institution.

Axel Berg, a laborer at the Northern mill, had his hand crushed in the rollers Thursday afternoon, and was brought to Dr. Raiter's office, where his injuries were dressed.

Rev. F. Edward Olson held services at Warba Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Richie removed to Proctor Friday, where Mr. Richie is employed on the D., M. & N. railway.

Mrs. H. Miller left Friday for Minneapolis, where she will pass the Easter vacation.

Evelen Hall has returned from the woods, where he passed the winter.

This 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers Will Last Any Man 5 Years or More.

Now there has been a lot of talk about 3400. I find some of my prospects come in here a little bit doubtful about 3400.

They have been told by my contemporaries that an engine turning up 3400 r. p. m. is doomed to short existence.

That's absurd. Why, there are at least three cars in America that do 3100 r. p. m. or better. Ten years ago in Europe there were cars that did 4000 r. p. m.

Now, the argument set forth against 3400 is the "wear and tear on bearings."

How ridiculous!

Of course, if we had an old-fashioned engine with heavy iron pistons and arm-and-hammer type of connecting rods—then, to be sure, I'd have little to say.

But, to the contrary, this is a very modern engine. The pistons are aluminum, which cost a whole lot more, but weigh a whole lot less.

Then the connecting rods are much lighter.

That takes a lot of weight off the bearings, and permits about 500 r. p. m. more engine speed.

That isn't a very big increase, I know, but it's just enough to make a very foxy, silken affair in action.

And then, too, in traveling 10 miles an hour her engine speed is only 500 r. p. m. At 20 she turns up 1000. At 30, 1500.

How often do you travel faster than 30?

So unless you want to sink the little button to the floor board and hold her there all day, you're not using 3400 r. p. m. all the time.

I hope none of my friends will swallow whole any story deriding 3400.

You know you will always find the largest number of clubs under the best apple tree in the orchard.

This car has doubled my sales.

As Mr. Post says, "There's a reason."

One little ride and you will want to pass up your old gondola.

Ask me about our service inspection coupons. They are negotiable with all Chalmers dealers everywhere. This system is an important consideration in buying your car.

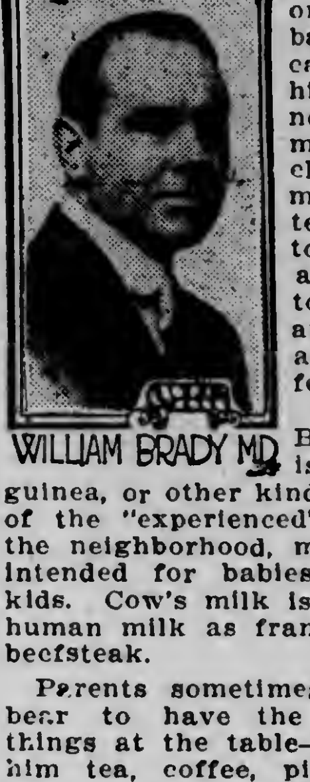
Westminster—Charles Towner, Ralph Nichols, Mabel Rakowsky. Hazelwood—Norman McIver, Stewart Sharr, Leslie Goodhand.

The service will be held in the Sunday school room of the church and will begin at 8 o'clock.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Babies, Calves, and Neighbors



WILLIAM BRADY MD

A mother who has borne nine children and raised only four of them is a mighty poor authority on infant feeding. A woman can forget more in twenty years about what she really did or did not do to her babies than a man can forget about his past. When the neighbors size up a mother and conclude that she is mentally incompetent, they presume to offer gratuitous advice about how to kill the baby, and generally the advice is very effective.

As Ellis Parker Butler proved, pigs is pigs, be they guinea, or other kinds. And with most of the "experienced" baby experts of the neighborhood, milk is milk, be it intended for babies, calves, colts or kids. Cow's milk is as different from human milk as frankfurters are from beefsteak.

Parents sometimes say they can't bear to have the baby crying for things at the table—and so they feed him tea, coffee, pickles, pudding or beer. If they would feed the baby his proper meal first, they could sit down and eat in peace and security.

"Old Woman" nurse harps eternally about "green stools" in the case of the newborn baby. Mothers have been persuaded to wean babies, and untold quantities of those harmful drugs, calomel and castor oil, have been poured down the throats of normal babies because of ignorance on this point. The baby's stools may be normally green in the first two weeks of life.

Then "curds" bring down upon the poor baby a lot of alleged "digestive" medicines. Many a perfectly healthy baby, breast-fed, will have many fine soft curds in the stool, as well as "slime" or mucus. Hence the mere appearance of these does not warrant changing the diet or dosing the baby.

Somehow the neighbors and the neighborhood nurse cannot be contented to let a normal baby alone. They must detect signs of "colic"—heaven only knows how many millions of babies have been wrongfully accused of colic when in fact they were merely stretching their cramped limbs and trying out their lungs.

The greatest calamity that befalls the average new baby is castor oil. The first dose of castor oil, generally introduced by some busybody, paves the way for endless trouble. Castor oil constipates. It is good for diarrhea and summer complaint, because it binds the bowel. But it is the worst remedy ever invented for mere laxative purposes. Moreover, when frequently given, it commonly causes blood corpuscles to be given off in the stools—and certainly no medicine which does that can be called "non-irritating." There are few cathartics, excepting perhaps croton oil, more irritating or more injurious than castor oil.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Characteristic Case of Gallstones.

I am 32, married, have two children, rather stout, too stout, my husband says. Our doctor declares I have gallstones and should be operated upon at once. I have dull pain in back—for about four years now. Two months ago I was lemon yellow in color, and am still somewhat yellow. I have considerable stomach trouble, especially when I eat certain things, also much gas. Do you believe in operations?

Answer—If iron has any remedial value it is in cases like yours—iron-tempered and keen-edged. By all means do as your doctor orders. Your description alone would almost clinch the diagnosis.

Loose Kidney May Not Trouble.

Answer—Yes, often. But many women, more than men, have a loose or floating kidney and suffer no trouble from it.

For Better Crops Sow These Reliable Brands

BIG yields of clover, timothy or other crops, depend largely on sowing—

First—Seed of high germination which will give a full, even stand.

Second—Plump seed of strong vitality, producing large, sturdy plants and heavy cuttings. Being selected for both these characteristics, seeds of these three brands will aid you in securing bumper crops.

SOME confusion seems to exist as to the literal meaning of the Black and White party which will be given at the Kitchi Gammi club Tuesday night, April 25. Those who have visions of sitting up nights and making costumes or else staying home because they would have to sit up nights and make a costume, may be reassured.

News from the front says "Anything Goes," which means that as long as one "keeps in the picture" and let's no suggestion of color creep into their general tout ensemble they may consider themselves completely disguised for such an affair as this is to be.

Any evening clothes either all black, all white, or a combination of both, will be a most happy solution of the burning question, "What shall we wear?" The men have lots to be thankful for! White trousers and "tuck" coats will be considered very snappy while on the other hand—other hand seems misused in this instance but is eminently refined—"tuck" trousers and a lily white coat would be quite irresistible. At any rate the men are supposed to discard the conventional evening dress and wear their "other clothes." Women with black hair are especially blessed for such an occasion—blondes will be under quite a handicap (as usual) but it will be much easier to change a detail of this sort than to have to rack the brain about getting up a costume of some sort, so really now that the problem is to be solved in such a simple manner there is every reason to believe that the "color scheme" of Duluth's first Black and White ball should be an innovation of interest and not the task that a regular costume party might be.

If one hasn't a black or white gown no suggestions can be made. That is up to the husbands.

What Is Today's Price for Sugar?

IN THE good old days before the war sugar had an unpleasant habit of rising in price along in June, July and August. This being the preserving time, women protested, but, knowing "the other half must live," their protests were weak and amounted to little more than grumbling. But this is only April and sugar is 3 cents a pound more than we have ever had to pay at this season before.

Whether there are wars or only rumors of war there is ever an unchanging demand for sugar and our first thought, when we note its increased price, is that dealers are taking advantage of conditions to increase their profits. Nothing is further from the truth. There is no commodity sold upon which so little is made. Indeed, grocers frequently sell sugar at a loss. You know if you cut a little off your nose each morning you will soon reach your face and that has happened to many a small dealer. Great capital is needed to handle sugar—half the sales made in a store are sugar and any grocer will tell you that the increasing prices demanded for it are as great a hardship to him as to you.

The cause of the present price advance is the enormous demand abroad for raw sugar and the condition of the sugar market. We have never raised enough for our own use. England imports her sugar. France uses all she can raise, and the shipments we have formerly had from Germany have ceased entirely.

Our Louisiana cane sugar is the finest in the world, but there is not enough of it refined to supply one-tenth of our families. Until the next crop of beets is harvested, sugar must remain scarce and high-priced.

The beet-sugar industry here is developing by leaps and bounds, and there is practically no difference in cane and beet-sugar so far as sweetening and other qualities are concerned. But beet-sugar must be refined as soon as the crop is gathered. After refining the sugar must be sold and used within a few months. Cane sugar may be kept years without deterioration, and this explains slightly the situation in the sugar market. Doubtless by fall, when preserving is done in earnest, the beet crop will have been harvested and prices will be normal.

Questions and Answers.

Please tell me why my cakes split open across the top when baking. I mix them as soft as possible.—Your Pupil.

Reply—You have the oven too hot when you first put them in. Some bakers start cakes in an almost cool oven and increase the heat gradually and decrease it when they know the cakes are almost baked. This is not difficult when gas fuels are used. With wood and coal, however, you can plan for a brisk fire that will spend itself as the baking finishes. Sometimes too much baking powder causes cakes to crack.

What are considered the best colors for porch awnings?—Mrs. Smyth.

Reply—Unless you wish to match the trimmings of your house, you had better select dark green and white broad striped awning. This looks well against any color of paint, flowers and vines harmonize with it, and the green shadows it casts are restful to the eyes.

SUNDAY NIGHT AT 8.
A Cordial Welcome.

Two Duluthians Have Paintings By Blakelock, Mad Genius of Brush

At least two Duluthians—John F. Killorin and Oscar C. Weinman—have paintings by Ralph Albert Blakelock the artist who has been known for years as one of America's greatest landscape painters and whose most characteristic picture the celebrated "Moonlight" was recently bought by the Toledo gallery. Mr. Blakelock has just been taken from the insane asylum at Middleton, N. Y., where he has been for the last seventeen years, to see if perhaps different surroundings may not bring back again a glimmer of the genius which for so many years has been under a cloud. With a visionary mind which did not know how to deal with a possible picture-buyer, Blakelock left his wife and children with insufficient support and when discovered recently she and her youngest son were found living in a wretched one-room shack at the bottom of a ravine several miles from Catskill on the Hudson. Painters who have seen Blakelock's work feel that with proper materials and without anxiety, he may again produce something as good as in the past, considering the fact that many of his best works were painted when his mind was already clouded.

A benefit exhibition of his paintings has just been opened at the Reinhardt galleries, 565 Fifth avenue, New York, containing forty-three of the artist's finest works, only one of which is for sale, however, the others being jealously guarded loans. The proceeds of this exhibition will constitute a fund the income of which is intended to provide for the artist and those dependent upon him.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Female Friendships

Firm, lasting friendships between women are about as hard to find as the proverbial needle in the haystack, History, fiction and legend record many instances where men have bled and died for one of their own sex who they held precious in the bonds of friendship. Women have bravely, even happily and contentedly made a sacrifice of body and soul for lover, husband and child, but the page is almost blank wherein is recorded the sacrifices women have made for other women not of their flesh and blood.

Solid, unstinted, unquestioning friendship, such as exists frequently between two men and between the man and woman who unselfishly love each other is a rare quality between woman and woman, though I cannot say that it has never existed. I presume it has and does today but it is so thoroughly buried under the mock friendships that the genuine seldom if ever raises its head above the false and foolish parodies upon true friendships.

It does not seem to me that the changeableness of woman's nature is at the bottom of her varied and numerous friendships with women. That has been the accepted explanation in some quarters, but I do not think it fully and satisfactorily settles the matter. The two distinct moral codes, one for man and the other for the woman, have, from my viewpoint, an influence upon the friendships of the two sexes. Then, again, the difference in the nature of man and woman plays an equally prominent part.

A man may not approve of some act of one whom he respects and admires but his outlook is so broad that he can well afford to overlook the one fault for the sake of the many virtues. This is impossible from two of women's standpoints. She may not condone a real fault in a woman without real danger to herself and then Nature interferes with her friendship on a man's plane. Curiosity prevents millions of them from enjoying the friendships that men enjoy because men are more capable of minding their own affairs.

The confiding creature, woman, (there are exceptions to the rule) is never so happy as when she is receiving the confidences of another, either man or woman, privately, I think she has a leaning to a manly confidence. Her second keenest joy is bounded by the confidences she makes, and perhaps the retailing of confidences reposed in her gives her almost the same pleasure.

Tommy Changes His Plans

SUCH FUN as Tommy Tittlemouse did have! He raced over to the old log the minute Mrs. Tommy told him of her plan to stock up the log with corn from the barn. And he nosed his way through the damp, frost-rotted leaves that he and Mrs. Tommy had so carefully banked up before the entry way when the cold winter drove them to seek the warmer shelter of the barn.

"Now," said he to himself gaily, "in no time at all this old log is going to be so stocked up with good corn that we will never again be hungry!"

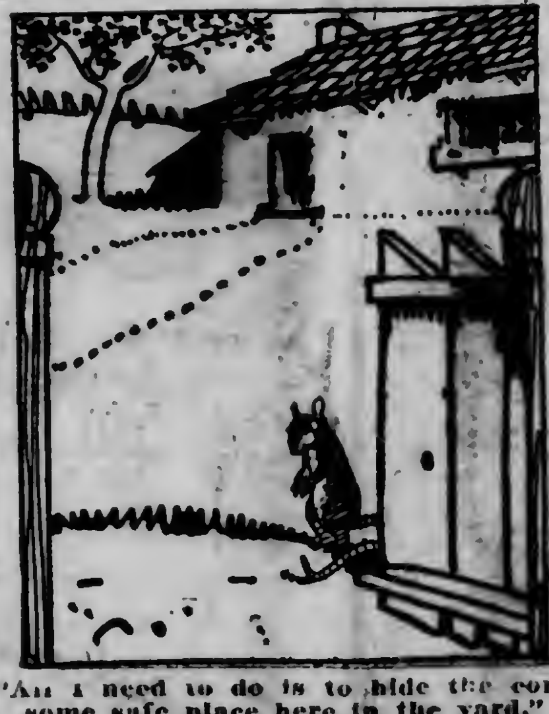
Which, of course, was a very good resolution to make.

Unfortunately, this good resolution, like most all good resolutions, was harder to work out than to make. It's easy enough to say, "I will do this or do that!" but the doing—clear through to the end—is quite another matter! And that is exactly what Tommy Tittle-mouse discovered.

Poking away the leaves and nosing into the last year's house was a lot of fun; bringing the first load of corn from the corn bin in the barn, out through the chicken room (being very careful never to be seen, of course), across the yard and into the far corner of the log was quite as jolly. But the second load was less interesting than the first and by the time the fourth load was safely tucked under some bits of shavings, Tommy was really bored with his job.

"There's no sense at all in my carrying that corn so far," he decided, as he sat down for a rest and a quiet think. "All I need to do is to hide the corn some safe place here in the yard. Once I get it out of the barn, that should be enough."

He looked around the yard for a good hiding place. "The lily bed!" he exclaimed suddenly. "Why didn't I think of that before? The boards and leaves are still on that. Couldn't find a better hiding place for my corn if I tried. I'll get a load right away." Tommy started for the barn; then he stopped and thought a minute. "No, I'll not tell Mrs. Tommy where I'm going to hide it. She's always so particular about her plans being carried out just so. I'll show her once that I can make a plan that is even better than hers! Won't she be glad when she sees all the corn that will be under these boards?"



"All I need to do is to hide the corn some safe place here in the yard."

Tommy chuckled to himself as he hurried off to the barn for corn. "For once in my life I've made a plan about the house and housekeeping that is better than Mrs. Tommy's! Why I can carry twice as much corn to the lily bed as I could clear over to the log. And when we once get moved, it will be no trick at all to carry the corn on over to the log and let Mrs. Tommy store it away anywhere she pleases!"

Tommy was so satisfied with his scheme that he worked away happily, and never thought of time, till the darkness of evening sent him hurrying home.

Haydn's "Creation" Will Be Easter Offering of Duluth Choral Society

ROLLIN M. PEASE.

Duluth music lovers are looking forward to the presentation of Haydn's greatest and best known oratorio, "The Creation," which will be given Wednesday night, April 26, at the First Methodist church by the Duluth Choral society. The organization was formed for the express purpose of studying the more familiar choruses and oratorios, and the success with which its efforts are crowned will mean much to the musical future of Duluth.

Last Christmas this society presented Handel's "Messiah" before a large audience at the First Methodist church, and so much favorable comment on the work was heard that it is undertaking this Easter concert. Some of the most prominent artists in the Northwest have been secured to appear with the chorus of 100 voices.

The soprano soloist will be Lucile Brown Duxbury, a newcomer to Duluth, but a singer who has already endeared herself to the hearts of this city's concert-goers. Joseph J. Granbeck of Minneapolis will sing the tenor solos. Mr. Granbeck ranks very high in the Twin Cities and has made a special study of oratorio solo work.

The baritone soloist will be Rollin M. Pease of St. Paul, a graduate of Northwestern university and Denver university, where he won the Castle musical scholarship from 240 candidates. He has appeared at many spring festivals and recital programs every year. His repertoire includes everything from lyrics to the most difficult grand opera music.

The organist will be Mr. Waghorne, a local man, and member of the American Guild of Organists. The pianist is to be Miss Frances Berg of Duluth, who won many honors in Cincinnati while studying music there.

R. Buchanan Morton, organist at the Glen Avon church, and late of Aberdeen, Scotland, is directing the chorus, and is securing excellent results, as he is a thorough student of choral singing and a very efficient leader.

D. G. Gearhart and Choir.
Introit, recitative and prayer from Massenet's "Le Cid"..............
Scottish Rite Quartet.
Mezzo-soprano solo—"Hosanna"..... ....Granier
Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw, who will also sing Elgar's "Ave Verum."
Anthem—"Who Shall Roll Away the Stone?" ....Torrance

VESPER SERVICE.

Full choral evensong. Mrs. Homer Anderson will sing "But Thou Didst Not Leave," from Handel's "Messiah;" A. Rudolph Burquist will sing the Easter song, "The Gate of Life," by Custance; the full choir will sing the anthems "The Risen Christ" (T. T. Noble) and "Christ Is Eternal" (Prothevoc); the Scottish Rite quartet will sing a requiem.

At both services the full choir will be in attendance, consisting of fourteen boys, ten men and twelve women.

A. F. M. Custance, organist and choirmaster.

Pilgrim Congregational Church.

MORNING.

Quartet—"I Will Mention Thy Loving Kindness" ....Sullivan
Offertory—Melody in E........Shelley
Postlude—Improvisation ....

Trinity Cathedral.

The Field communion service and the anthems "Awake Up My Glory" by Barnby; "Christ Our Passover" by Chappel and "As It Began to Dawn" by Martin, will be given. The soloist will be announced later. The service will be preceded by several organ numbers, two of which will be "An Easter Meditation" by John E. West, and "Easter Morning" by Malling. Leona Grieser is organist and choir director.

Sacred Heart Cathedral.

Miss Theresa Lynn is organist. The choir of the Sacred Heart Cathedral, assisted by Helmer's orchestra, will give Edward Marz's Second Mass in F. The children of St. James Orphanage will sing Regina Colli.

First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Ruth Rogers, director, will have special Easter music and for Good Friday night will give "Crucifixion," by Stearns with a quartet and chorus.

Glen Avon Church.

R. Buchanan Morton, organist and director.

Painless Giving

EVERY now and then a letter friend writes me a letter so much more interesting than anything I have to say that my column belongs to him or her. Today it belongs to the letter friend who has the story of a good habit to tell.

"I wonder if you'd like to tell your readers," she writes, "about a habit which I formed some years ago and which has meant a great deal to me?

"I call it the habit of painless giving. Six years ago, I think it was, I decided to put aside a tenth of my salary for charity.

The Advantages of Tithing From a Selfish Viewpoint.

"There is nothing new in the habit of giving a tithe to charity. I believe it dates back to Moses, if not farther. And the merit from the ethical point of view has been sufficiently dwelt upon. But I want to say something about the satisfaction the habit gives to the person acquiring it, its advantage from a personal, I might almost say from a selfish, point of view.

"Before I laid aside any definite sum for charity, every charitable demand was a pull upon my pocketbook. It meant a painful struggle between my sympathies and my selfishness. I had usually planned how I was going to use all my income, and if I gave, some plan for spending or saving had to be given up. And I hate to give up a plan.

No Sense of Effort in Giving This Way.

"But the moment I set aside a definite portion of my income, I ceased to think of the money set aside as belonging to me. When anyone asked me for funds for some charitable organization, or when I came into personal contact with a case of need, I could give without the slightest sense of effort. The money was there to be given; my only problem was how to give most wisely.

"There may be people who might give more if they gave by sympathy instead of by system. I don't think that is true of the average person, and I know it is not true of myself. I am a working woman, with a comfortable but not large salary. I am not absolutely sure when it was I started to give a tithe, but if it was six years ago, as I believe, and if my circumstances permit me to give as much for another year, I shall have given away about $1,000.

She Would Never Have Given That Thousand Otherwise.

"I feel sure I should never have persuaded myself to give as much if I had not acquired the habit of painless giving, and I wish more people could know the happiness which such a habit brings."

I can certainly say Amen to that last wish. I want to add one word. Too many people, feeling that they cannot afford to give a tenth, give up the idea of putting aside any definite proportion. That should not be a bar. Have a seance with your conscience and your account book as to what proportion you can give, and then definitely decide to give that, no matter how small it is.

Will Be Director of Easter Cantata at Trinity Cathedral

LEONA GRIESER.

The Lenten cantata, "The Crucifixion," by Sir John Stainer, will be given at Trinity cathedral at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, under the direction of Miss Leona Grieser, organist and choir director. The soloists will be John Koneczny, tenor, and Robert Drummond, baritone. A choir of forty-five voices will sing.

The organ prelude, which will begin promptly at 4:45 o'clock, will be "A Fantasia for Lent," and the chorale "St. Mary" or "Hackney," by Charles E. Stephens. It is a very interesting number, the several parts of which are called "Meditation," "Yearning," "Mourning" and "Faith." It closes with an impressive fugue called "Hope." The chorale upon which it is built is usually, but erroneously, attributed to Dr. Blow, and, by some, to one Rathiel, who appears to have been an organist at Hackney church. It was published, however, as early as 1621, several years before the birth of either of these musicians, in a Welsh psalter by Edmund Prys, archdeacon of Merionethshire. The program for tomorrow afternoon follows:

Organ prelude—"Fantasia for Lent"	Charles Stephens
Processional—"I Heard a Sound of Voices"	Storer
"The Crucifixion"	Stainer
Offertory—"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God"	Ein Feste Burg
"Sevenfold Amen"	Stainer
Recessional—"Jerusalem, the Golden"	Le Jeune
Organ postlude—"Dead March," from "Saul"	Handel

"House Decoration" Will Be Discussed Before Women

FRANCES HARRINGTON.

Miss Frances Harrington will speak on "Inexpensive and Artistic House Decorations" at the last meeting of the Housewives' league, which will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in the library clubroom.

"Hiawatha" Presented Before Big Audience At First M. E. Church—Will Be Repeated

GROUP OF PARTICIPANTS IN "HIAWATHA" PAGEANT.

The pageant, "Hiawatha," was presented before 1,000 or more persons last night at the First Methodist church, under the auspices of the missionary societies of the church, assisted by the Queen Esther circle. At the request of Rev. M. P. Burns, district superintendent, the pageant will be repeated Monday night for the benefit of the Duluth Free dispensary, at 405 East Third street, which was opened Feb. 14 by the Methodist churches of this district. The dispensary is a great benefit to the city and the surrounding country as it receives patients, regardless of creed and nationality. It gave treatment to ninety cases in the first six weeks.

The pageant, which was worthy of repetition, consisted of scenes and pantomimes, which were woven together by Miss Mary Shesgreen's enjoyable reading of the story of "Hiawatha." Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker played Chippewa music, which she transcribed, and the Queen Esther girls sang Indian melodies.

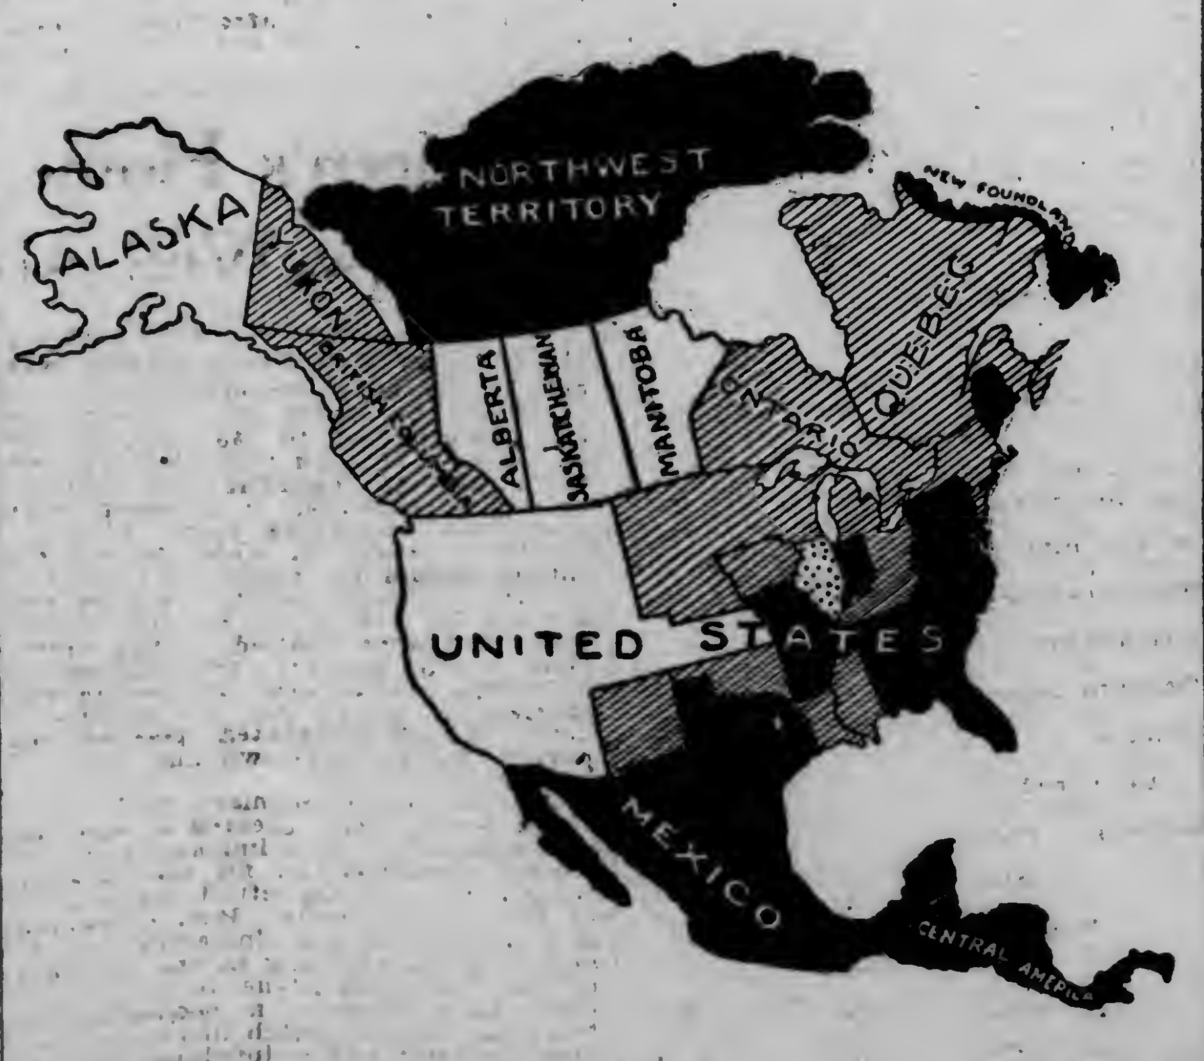
The principal members of the cast were:

Hiawatha	Earl Thompson
Minnehaha	Miss Lucile Shook
Nokomis	Miss Alta Merritt
Mondamin	Jack Thompson
Ancient Arrow Maker	George Charnly
Paw-puk-keewis	Milton Smith
Chibiabos	Robert Miller
Iagoo	Clinton Oblinger
Child Hiawatha	Master William Jacobs
Bukawawin	Miss Elsie Mapp
Ihkosewin	Miss Olga Youngdahl

Progress of Women's Suffrage Shown By Map



SUFFRAGE MAP.

The black states of this country now find their only parallel in Mexico, Central America, Newfoundland, and the uninhabited Northwest territory, where there is no form of suffrage even for men.

Northome Mothers' Club Is Useful Organization

The Mothers' club of Northome, Minn., is one of the most active members of the federation of the Eighth district, as is shown by the following report of Mrs. C. V. Corson, the vice president and delegate to the district convention that will be held at International Falls, May 2 and 3.

"The Mothers' club of Northome, Minn., is one of the institutions of which that village is justly proud. It is alive to the needs and welfare of the community and has performed many acts that are of lasting benefit, and that help to make for civic improvement and better living conditions.

"In the last year the club was instrumental in having the cemetery cleared of all underbrush and weeds, further improvements being planned for the coming summer, also in ridding the town of a number of dissolute characters. This winter it cared for a poor family, providing food and clothing, and supplied a complete layette for a poor mother. The club has also followed in the footsteps of the stork in order to leave flowers and fruit to bring pleasure to the mothers. Hospitals have been supplied with magazines and other comforts.

"Most important of all, the club raised funds and superintended the clearing of a small island in the lake adjoining the village. A rank growth of underbrush and fallen trees was disposed of, picnic tables and benches were provided, toilet, bath houses and a dock were built, and the end is not yet, for the club will sow grass seed and do further work to make a beautiful playground where young and old may enjoy themselves.

"These are a few of the things that have been accomplished by this club of about twenty-five members. The officers are: President, Mrs. L. D. Beach; vice president, Mrs. C. V. Corson; secretary, Mrs. M. C. Paul; treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Hanchett; and delegate to the Eighth district convention, Mrs. C. V. Corson. About twelve other members plan to attend the convention as visitors."

Former President Will Lecture Here

Duluth does not often have the opportunity to hear so distinguished a thinker on so timely a subject, as will be afforded by Former President William Howard Taft, whose lecture on "The Monroe Doctrine" will be given Monday night, April 24, at the First Methodist church, under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

Mr. Taft is an unusual and impressive figure on the lecture platform. His eminence as a lawyer and a judge, his former high position as chief executive, and his admitted prominence as a thinker on national subjects make his lectures everywhere, events of interest and importance.

At Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., he gave last year a course of four lectures, two dealing with the "Anti-Trust Law," one with "The Presidency," and the other with the "Signs of the Times." The largest auditorium on the campus was filled to its capacity, and as President Schurman says in his report, the lectures made a profound impression on the university community. This year Mr. Taft has given one course at Cornell in February and will give another in May.

Activities of the Last Week in Women's Clubs and Musical Circles

Interest Not Flagging as Season Draws to Close---Collegiate Alumnae Incorporate---Final Meetings For Two Clubs.

THE interest of club women is not flagging with the close of the season. One instance of the sustained interest shown this week was the reorganization of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae that took place at the Monday meeting, when the articles of incorporation were read and officers for the following year were elected. Another instance was the affair held at the Rex theater this morning by the federated clubs of the city for the benefit of the endowment fund of the state federation.

The Housewives' league and the Lester Park Literary club will hold their last meetings of the season this week. Regular meetings will be held by the evening class of the Bishop's club, Greysolon du Lhut and Daughters of Liberty chapters, D. A. R.; Woman's auxiliary to the St. Louis County Medical association and the West Duluth W. C. T. U.

The first art and handicraft exhibit ever held in Duluth will open Thursday at the Hartley building, 740 East Superior street. The work will include oils, miniatures, china, jewelry, baskets, tapestries and book binding by Duluth men and women.

"Introduction" Party At Glen Avon Church

"Get acquainted" was the keynote of the "soiree and coffee-doughnut" in the Glen Avon Presbyterian church parlors last night, and the keynote was admirably lived up to.

Distribution of "mystery numbers" both odd and even was followed by the calling up of an odd number and an even number. When the holders of these arose, it was found that the odd-numbered man was an old resident of the community and the even-numbered one a comparative new comer. Simon Clark, master of ceremonies, then called on the odd-numbered man to introduce the even-numbered one to the assemblage, giving his full name, place of residence and line of business. This plan was followed until all the numbers had been called. Any odd-number who was unable to give the details demanded concerning his even-numbered vis-a-vis was fined 5 cents, and was escorted by the sergeant-at-arms to the side of the "unknown," from whom he ascertained the required data and then announced the facts.

Previous to this feature a program was rendered by the members of the Glen-Hunt-Wood male chorus, assisted by R. J. McLeod, who gave some dialect versions of popular readings, and was recalled for more. The chorus numbers were warmly applauded, and won much praise for R. Buchanan Morton, who trained and directed the singers. The chorus numbers were varied with songs by a quartet consisting of Messrs. Anderson, Edes, Tupper and Thomson; a recital of an Irish version of the "championship go" between David and Goliath, by Lewis Macleod, and an account of an evening in camp, by D. E. Giffin, during which several of those present involuntarily scratched imaginary mosquito bites. B. W. Forbes led one of the most effective chorus numbers by singing "Tenting Tonight," the other men humming an accompaniment and joining in the refrain. The evening closed with a "community sing" in which everybody joined.

Daughters of Liberty, D. A. R.

Mrs. R. E. Denfeld of 18 Oxford street will be the hostess for the meeting of Daughters of Liberty Chapter D. A. R., that will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. There will be no program but the work on Red Cross surgical pads will be continued. Mrs. A. E. Walker, the regent, makes a personal plea to the members to finish the pads so the chapter may send off its second box.

The election of officers will take place at the annual meeting which has been postponed until May.

Philathea Concert Pleases Big Audience

The annual concert given by the Duluth Philathea union at the First Presbyterian church last night, brought out a large and most enthusiastic audience. Wally Heymar George, formerly of this city and who has always been a favorite with Duluth music lovers, gave several violin numbers which only proved again the rare and appealing power of her art. She was forced to respond to most enthusiastic applause.

Other numbers which were also greatly enjoyed were given by Lucille Brown Duxbury, Agnes May Johnson Specht and Louis Gomberg. The program was as follows:

Piano solo, (a) Allegro (from Sonata Op. B) (Beethoven); (b) "Spinning Song" (Burgmuller), Louis Roos Gomberg; reading group of dialect readings, (a) Swedish, (b) Scotch, (c) Italian, (d) child impersonations, Agnes May Johnson Specht; vocal solo, "Der Wanderer" (Shubert), "Vergebliches Stauchen" (Brahms), Lucille Brown Duxbury; violin solo, (a) "Romance" (Rehfeld), (b) "To My Homeland" (Hungarian), (Hauser), Wally Heymar George; reading, "The Man With One Talent" (Richard Harding Davis), Agnes Mae Johnson Specht; piano solo, (a) Prelude No. 6 (Chopin), (b) "The Chase" (Rheinberger), Louis Roos Gomberg; vocal solo, "What the Chimney Sang" (Griswold), "Snowflakes" (Cowen), "Wind Song" (Rogers), "That's the World in June" (Spross), Lucille Brown Duxbury; violin solo, three dances, (a) minuet (Ranzato), (b) Rondino (Beethoven-Kreisler), (c) Polish dances (Obertass) (Wieniawski), Wally Heymar George.

Begin Rehearsals For Swedish Play

The first rehearsal for "Nerkinggarne," the play which the Linnaea club will present May 11 and 12 at the Orpheum theater for its tuberculosis relief fund, will be held at 8 o'clock Monday night at the Temple building.

Final arrangements were made Thursday night at a meeting that was held at the residence of Mrs. A. Lofgren, 2305 West Second street. Mrs. Charles Eliasson is chairman of the play committee, Mrs. Israel Bergstrom of the ticket committee and Mrs. D. A. Cone of the publicity committee. Richard Kipling will coach the players.

The scene of the romantic three-act play is set in the mountains of Nerka, a province of Central Sweden. The time is about 1870.

Mrs. William H. Smith entertained yesterday afternoon in her home, 3007 Oakland avenue, Minneapolis, for Mrs. McDougall.

Story Hours Attract Two Big Audiences to Theater

Adele McClaran Liggett spoke to packed houses at both of the story hours which she gave this morning at the Rex theater.

The audiences were composed of children and grown persons in about equal numbers, many mothers and teachers being among the interested listeners. The children who listened with the intensity of which children are capable, followed Mrs. Liggett so closely that when she paused in a story to ask what was to come next, there was no hesitancy on the part of her youthful auditors who joined the children of Hamelin town as they followed the pied piper, lived in the days of King Arthur and took part in the exciting events in the lives of Robin Hood and his followers.

Mr. Waghorn, organist at the Rex, played several numbers. As the readings were given under the auspices of the Duluth clubs belonging to the state federation, to raise money for the $10,000 endowment fund of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, members of the interested organizations served as ushers.

Mrs. Liggett's program was as follows:

"The Great Stone Face"....Hawthorne
"Ricky Ticky Tavvy"............Kipling
"Raggylug"...Ernest Seton Thompson
"Why the Morning Glory Climbs"...
"The Rat Princess" (a Japanese story).
"The Fire Bringer" (an Indian legend). ....
"Why the Rose Bush Has Thorns"...
"The Pied Piper of Hamelin"........
King Arthur stories..................
Robin Hood stories..................
"Hobyahs" ....
"Sleepy Town Express" ....
"Tale of Golden River" ....Ruskin

Mrs. Liggett and Miss Mary Dillon of St. Paul, who accompanied her, will be the honor guests at an informal affair that will be given tonight by Mrs. Liggett's mother, Dr. Sarah McClaran of 601 Woodland avenue. They will visit Melville McClaran at Ironton, Minn., over Sunday.

ROBBERS' LOOT IS FOUND AT WINTER

Hayward, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The destruction by fire of the home of Del Tollard at Winter, during which his son was cremated, furnished the authorities with evidence of the robbery of the Rindt hardware store at that place, when they unearthed some of the stolen plunder in the debris.

Children's Home Family Is Now Well Above the 100 Mark

The regular monthly board meeting of the Children's Home society was held at the home yesterday.

During the month the home family has numbered up to 108 children and 16 adults. The high cost of living and extra nursing brought the month's bill up to $1,108.34. It is hoped that Eastertide will bring some voluntary checks to assist in this work. All checks should be made out to "The Children's Home Society" and in the absence of Mrs. L. C. Barnett, chairman of finance, mailed to the president, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, 219 North Fifteenth avenue east. No one is authorized to solicit for the Children's home, though interested persons reported that an unknown man was soliciting this week.

Mrs. W. B. Brinkman, 2116 East Third street, was elected a director and member of the admission and dismissal committee, to fill the vacancy caused by the regretted resignation of Mrs. G. C. Steele. Mrs. Brinkman is a member of the Unitarian church, and it was gratifying to the directors of the Children's home to be able to elect as a director a representative from this church which has shown unusual interest and helpfulness. An effort is made to elect directors from as many different religious organizations as possible, as the home is strictly non-denominational.

Appreciation and sincere thanks were extended by the directors for the following donations, the cash donations of last month's report not having been published, being included in this report: A friend, $5; G. G. Hartley, $30; Col. F. E. Resche, $4.60; G. G. Barnum, $72; Mrs. A. M. Miller in honor of her little granddaughter, Athlene Morton Miller's birthday, April 10, $100, and associate membership annual dues at $1 each paid by Mrs. H. D. Kirby, Mrs. S. R. Kirby, Mrs. Francis C. Colman, Mrs. Alfred Jaques, Mrs. James Mishler, Mrs. Roger S. Powell, Mrs. George H. Crosby, Miss Margaret Crosby, Mrs. Powell Grady, Miss Francis E. Earhart, Mrs. C. G. Traphagen, Mrs. C. F. Haley, Mrs. A. L. Agatin, Mrs. W. P. Abbott, Mrs F. W. Buck, Mrs. R. L. Griggs, Mrs. Orland W. Johnstone, Miss Geneva Johnstone, Mrs. Lauren A. Kennedy, Mrs. W. A. Clark, Mrs. H. J. Atwood, Miss Eva May Atwood and Mrs. C. E. Mace. Any one interested in becoming an associate member is requested to send name and address with $1 to the president.

Mrs. Sarah Hubbard, 7 outing flannel night gowns; Mrs. M. Freimuth, box of children's clothing; Mrs. H. J. Atwood, 1 case of oranges; Thomas Jones Davis, 2 98-pound sacks rye flour and 2 98-pound sacks corn meal; Byers pharmacy, 6 medical droppers, 1 pad and clinical charts; Martha Mills Davis, 100 pounds brown sugar, and 100 pounds white sugar; Mrs. George Levine, 1 sweater, 4 shirts, 1 apron and toys; Scott-Graff Lumber company, 20 feet maple flooring, 43 feet lumber 1 by 6; Mrs. D. Staples

Staples, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.) — The new council met this week and made the following appointments: Vice president, Edward Odell; city clerk, F. W. Findsen; city attorney, Richard Gardner; street commissioner, Joseph De Mars; assessor, John Brooks; chief of police, Dan Wheaton; night patrolman, Edward Kuhns; members of water and light commission for three years, Pete Dewar, Joe Palmer; member park board, E. E. Daniels, C. E. Miller; city engineer, W. H. Poore.

A meeting of the Civic Improvement association was held at the K. P. lodge rooms last Tuesday afternoon, with a good attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. E. Daniels.

A dozen male friends of George W. Beckett gathered at his home on North Sixth street Tuesday evening to commemorate the ending of his first ten years' of business life in Staples.

A meeting of the School and Street Fair association was held at the residence of T. C. Fernald, president, on Tuesday evening. There being no agricultural department in the city schools it was determined to adopt the home garden plan, as opposed to the school garden idea.

Ground will be furnished to all children who will undertake to cultivate it, where the parents are unable to do so.

The ladies of the Congregational church will hold their spring sale and supper in the vacant store room in the Sharkey block opposite the depot, on Tuesday, April 18.

Mrs. John Richels of Wahpeton, N. D., better known to old timers here as Mrs. Martha Klemm, died at her home on Monday and was buried here Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Richels was one of the very early settlers of Staples.

SMALLER WHEAT ACREAGE.

But More Flax Will Be Planted in North Dakota This Year.

Devils Lake, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A marked decrease in the wheat acreage for North Dakota in 1916 is the prediction of well informed land-owners, after a careful canvass of the situation. Compared with the exceptional yield and abnormal acreage of 1915 some predict this year's production, if normal, will range from 60 to 80 per cent.

A cold, late spring, with excessive moisture in many sections, combined with the fact that only a very small percentage of fall plowing was done last year is blamed.

Western North Dakota still has an over-abundance of water. The Mouse river crest has not passed, while the Red and Sheyenne rivers are still far above normal, the low lands being flooded.

As a consequence of the conditions it is predicted that the largest acreage of flax and barley in years will be planted in order that late spring plowing can be utilized.

FARGO SEWER PROBLEM.

City Commissioners Are Facing Very Serious Matter.

Fargo, N. D., April 15. — (Special to The Herald.)—The city commissioners of Fargo are face to face with a sewage proposition that they may be called on to solve within the next year or so and which is proving to be one of the greatest problems that the administrations of the city have had to face since the great fire of 1893.

This proposition is the construction of a large trunk sewer that must be provided if the present system of laterals is to be extended to any great extent and extensions to which are being demanded daily almost.

The conditions on the south side of the city are especially troublesome.

GOOD IDEAS SET FORTH

Cass County Development Meeting Is Very Successful in Every Way.

All Phases of Development Work Are Discussed at Walker Gathering.

Walker, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cass County Development association closed its booster session last evening with one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in the county.

Frank Eddy of the immigration department was the principal speaker at the evening session, while others contributed to the program, which made the county organization equal to the parent one, the Northern Minnesota Development association, in point of numbers present and general enthusiasm.

Fully 500 people from various parts of the county heard the speakers from various parts of the state who were on the program.

Development Discussed.

All phases of state and county development were handled by well-known speakers. Fred Sherman, state immigration agent, gave the principal address of yesterday morning's session. He was followed by George D. McCarthy of Duluth, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and presidents of various county farmers' clubs.

In the afternoon Carlos Avery of the state game and fish commission spoke on "Game and Fish Conservation." A. R. Dowell of the Northwestern Telephone company spoke on "Rural Phone Lines;" Mr. Williard of the Northern Pacific immigration department on "Development and Land Clearing;" F. A. Dare of Walker on "Needed Legislation," and Senator McGarry, father of the revolving fund amendment, gave an instructive address relative to this amendment. The latter advocated the clearing of five-acre tracts on every forty-acre tract of state land and explained the many benefits of this amendment in bringing new settlers into Northern Minnesota. Other speakers were Charles Kelley, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and J. J. Opsahl of Bemidji.

MANY FILINGS ARE MADE AT CASS LAKE

Cass Lake, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Settlers who entered lands opened in January and September last year have been having their filings entered at the land office this week, ninety-five having already recorded their filings and of this number only three prospective contests are noted.

The real contest for possession of the valuable claims in "Busti-Town" has already commenced and it is expected that among the applications that will be received for lands in this town, there will be conflict on nearly every claim, word having reached here that for each claim at the present time there are thirty to forty landseekers on each tract, simultaneous settlement being made at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Filings at the land office for these tracts began Friday. Many of those who squatted on land north of Mission bay and west of Long lake have now been able to make their filings and improvements will now be made much more rapidly, as the uncertainty has been removed as to their rights.

WORD "OR" IMPORTANT.

Whether It Figures in Charge Against Woman May Reverse Case.

Minnewaukan, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of whether Mrs. Han Sogge, defendant in the famous Benson county child murder case, who was convicted and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary "aided and abetted" or "aided or abetted" in the crime, is rated as a strong factor in the appeal of the case to the supreme court where it will be argued April 20. The attorneys for the defense assert the use of the word "or" in the charge to the jury is ground for reversal.

DISCUSS TAX MATTERS.

Cass County Farmers' Club Has Meeting at Jenkins.

Walker, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A well attended meeting of the Consolidated Farmers' club of Cass county was held at Jenkins Tuesday. A greater part of the session was taken up with tax matters and township assessments. A committee of three, Blackburn of Pine River, Peterson of Jenkins and Rice of Shingobee, was named to make a thorough investigation of county tax matters by going over records at the courthouse. To defray the expense of such an examination an assessment of 50 cents each will be levied against county citizens who can be reached through the Farmers' club and other sources.

WALKER HAS CLUB TO BOOM ROGERS

Walker, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walker has formed a Rogers club, which is to promote the candidacy of Ed. Rogers for congress. The club has elected Dan De Lury, president; Si Scribner, vice president; Walter Olson, secretary, and Gustave Kulander, treasurer. There are over 200 members enrolled.

BANKERS WILL SHOOT.

North Dakota Financiers to Try Skill Hitting Yegg Targets.

Fargo, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the features of the annual convention of the North Dakota Bankers' association, which will be held in Minot on June 15 and 16, will be a "yegg-shooting" contest, according to Secretary W. M. Macfadden of the bankers' association. Prizes will be offered for the banker that can kill the greatest number of target bank robbers.

A number of the officers of the American Bankers' association will be speakers, including N. T. Hawley, president of the savings bank section of that organization, and George E. Allin, educational director. Dr. Stanley L. Krebs of Philadelphia, will also be a speaker.

100 MEN MAROONED ON ONE OF APOSTLE ISLANDS.

Ashland, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—All communication between the mainland and Stockton island has been cut off since Thursday. The John Schroeder Lumber company has about 100 men on the island, and there will be no way of communicating with them until the ice leaves the Apostle islands, which may be in a week or more. The fact that all communication has ceased shows that the ice is on the verge of breaking up in Lake Superior.

SMITH TO PENITENTIARY.

Sickness of Daughter Prevented Wife Bidding Former Treasurer Good-by.

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—Walter J. Smith, former state treasurer, had to start for the Stillwater penitentiary Friday without bidding good-by to his wife. The illness of his daughter, Marcella, 17 years of age, since Thursday, made it impossible for Mrs. Smith to visit him for two days, it was explained at the Ramsey county jail.

R. C. Pickit, former clerk of the state investment board, drove to the penitentiary with his wife. Both Smith and Pickit were taken in automobiles furnished by their friends.

CASS LAKE BUILDING.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is every indication that there will be a building boom here this season. It is expected there will be at least a 50 per cent increase in the number of cottages built as well as a considerable amount of improvements.

John L. Grady, owner of the Star Island inn, is building a 15-room addition to his hotel and doubling the capacity of the dining room. A clubhouse for city girls will be erected at White Pines and be ready for occupancy at the close of school in June.

INDORSES COMMISSION.

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In resolutions adopted by the Brainerd Booster club the state highway commission is strongly indorsed and the club scores the so-called Minnesota Highway Home Rule association which is said to be exerting its influence to the end that the next legislature shall abolish the state highway commission.

The Booster club criticizes and condemns the actions of the Minnesota Highway Home Rule association in its endeavors to create sentiment in favor of the abolishment of the state highway commission. Appreciation is expressed for the good work done by R. C. Dunn of Princeton, father of the so-called Dunn good roads law, in his efforts to further the cause of good roads.

CLOQUET SCHOOL HEAD TO LEAD CONFERENCE

Minneapolis, Minn., April 15.—Peter Oleson, superintendent of schools in Cloquet, will lead a conference on the Gary plan at the meeting of school superintendents and principals at the university next week. W. P. Dyer, superintendent in Bemidji, will lead another on "After a Reasonable Time Should a Superintendent Be Elected for Three Years?" Mr. Dyer is reported to have been re-elected for a three-year term.

GARDEN CONTEST FOR CHILDREN IS POPULAR

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 225 school children have signified their intention of entering the home garden contest. Twenty-five prizes totaling $30 will be offered by the Chamber of Commerce. At least five kinds of vegetables must be grown. The basis for awards will be care of garden, 50 per cent; number of vegetables, 15 per cent; arrangement, 10 per cent; quality of exhibit, 25 per cent. The contest will be supervised by Prof. H. A. Pflughoeft of the agricultural department, Brainerd high school, and assistants who are pupils of his class. The gardens will be inspected three times in the summer.

WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store and eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time—they act thoroughly and are harmless. —Advertisement.

ADDED FEATURES TO TOURNAMENT

Fargo, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ninth annual interstate high school athletic and declamatory contest will be held at the North Dakota agricultural college on May 26 and 27. In addition to the track and field meet and the declamatory contests, there will be a baseball tournament, a tennis tournament and band and vocal musical contest, all new features that have never been undertaken before.

SUICIDE WANTED TO FIGHT FOR GERMANY

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herbert Hoffman, farm foreman who committed suicide on the farm of F. H. Gruenhagen, was buried in Evergreen cemetery. Rev. G. P. Sheridan conducted services. It is said Hoffman vainly attempted to return to Germany to fight at the front, and wrote the commander of the steamer Appam begging to be permitted to go with him should he make a dash for the open seas. The young man received a good education in Germany, studied in agricultural schools and had been employed at the experimental farm at Grand Rapids before coming to Brainerd. Brooding over a love affair after a visit to Minneapolis, he took strychnine at the Brainerd farm and died miserably.

MORE RECRUITING FOR THE WISCONSIN GUARD

Appleton, Wis., April 15.—The recent fight in Mexico has revived the recruiting interest in the Wisconsin National Guard and a preparedness communication sent to all company commanders from the adjutant general's office last night will act as an additional stimulant, as it appears to be a warning to be ready for a sudden call. It reads:

"Arrangements should be made and preferably with a retired officer of the Wisconsin National guard at the home station of the company, who will in the case of a call for active service, receipt and become accountable for such military property, including the balance of state funds in your custody, as may not be taken for field service.

"He should also act as custodian of the armory during the absence of the company officers.

"Report to this office the name and grade of this officer and the fact of his consent to act as early as possible."

Arrested On His Return.

Rolla, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—When John Azure returned from Canada after an eleven months' absence, following his indictment at the hands of the United States grand jury at Fargo on the charge of selling liquor to Indians, he found an official waiting at the Indian agency for him, and now he's in jail.

New Fargo Auto Ordinance.

Fargo, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Soon it will be possible for automobilists to drive their cars any place in the city with their headlights on full blast without fear of being arrested on charges of violating the "glaring headlight" ordinance.

This is made possible by the passage of a new headlight ordinance by the city commission and which will take effect in the next ten days. The brightest headlights can be used on cars on any street in the city after that time.

Hastings Saloons Close.

Hastings, Minn., April 15.—Hastings went dry Thursday evening, the licenses of fifteen saloons being revoked by action of the city council, as a result of the vote on license at the recent election and portions of the unexpired license, amounting to a total of $2,326.26, were refunded the saloonkeepers.

J. Adam Bede to Speak.

Sandstone, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pine County Citizens' association will hold a public meeting here Saturday evening. The county seat removal question will be discussed. J. Adam Bede will be the principal speaker, and the Finlayson band will furnish music.

Seek Missing Beloiter.

Beloit, Wis., April 15.—The local Masonic lodge has begun a systematic search for Rudolph Walvig, 35 years old, who mysteriously disappeared five days ago. He left his automobile in the street in the evening and has not been heard from since. He is known to have had $350 in his pocket at the time.

FLUSH KIDNEYS WITH SALTS IF BACK IS ACHING

Noted Authority Says We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys.

Take Glass of Salts When Kidneys Hurt or Bladder Bothers You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

Local Forecaster.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 15.—Improved weather conditions, especially in the Northwest, had a bearish effect today on wheat. Reports indicated that contrary to recent predictions seeding was making good progress in Canada. Besides, Liverpool sent word of larger offers from Argentina and of increased clearances from Australia. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜@½c decline to ¼c advance, with May at $1.16@1.16⅛ and July at $1.14⅞@1.15¼, were followed by a slight general upturn and then a decided setback all around.

Rains in Kansas and Nebraska led to further downturns. In this connection it was said 800,000 bushels had been purchased at Kansas City to come to Chicago. The close was unsettled ¼c to ¾@⅞c net lower with May at $1.15⅝ and July at $1.14@1.14⅝.

Corn turned down grade with wheat. Eastern shipping demand was said to be of insignificant proportions. After opening ⅛c off to ⅛c up, the market underwent a moderate sag.

Later the East was said to be bidding strongly for cash corn in store. Future deliveries rose as a result. The close was firm at ⅜c to ⅝@¾c net advance.

Oats had no independent action. Buying was scattered.

Weakness developed in provisions after a little firmness at the start. Orders to purchase were chiefly for lard, but they were quickly satisfied.

FRENCH EXCHANGE RECOVERS SHARPLY

New York, April 15.—French exchange recovered sharply today from its recent weakness, the Paris check rate falling to 6 francs to the dollar as against yesterday's minimum quotation of 6.09. The improvement was attributed to the announcement of the French fiscal agent in this country that negotiations for a loan by American bankers were well under way.

The amount of this loan is yet to be determined, but according to report it will not be less than $100,000,000 and may be double that amount. Delay in the completion of arrangements are said to be due to a difference of opinion between the contracting parties regarding the character of the collateral back of the proposed loan.

The French government, through private investors, has control of many millions of dollars of American railway bonds and preferred shares and it is expected that these securities, together with some South American issues, will form the basis of the new loan.

Duluth brokers are of the opinion that the reaction in Marsh stock has gone far enough. They consider that the stock has intrinsic value behind it, as reports from the mine are encouraging. Shipments of 150 tons of ore are being made daily. It is rumored that the stock is about to be placed on a dividend basis, and the cheap floating stock is thought to have been about absorbed. The mine is considered one of the best equipped in the Coeur d'Alene district.

TRADING IS VERY LIGHT

New York, April 15.—Today's short session alternated between periods of steadiness and heaviness. Caution seemed to be the underlying characteristic, traders apparently preferring to await a more definite turn in the country's external relations. Dealings were extremely light and narrow even for a week-end and comprised the usual favorites, such as Mexicans, Crucible Steel, Mercantile Marine preferred and equipment issues. United States Steel was under moderate but steady restraint. Marked recovery in French exchange was among the few events of the day. The closing was firm. Bonds were irregular, heaviness on Anglo-French 5s, of which one block of $750,000 changed hands at 95, contributing to that tone.

Bonus Recommended.

New York, April 15.—A regular dividend of 10 per cent and an extra bonus of 10 per cent on outstanding common stock has been recommended by the directors of the Cunard steamship line, it was announced at the local office of the line today. The directors also have declared the regular 5 per cent dividend on the $1,135,000 of cumulative preferred stock.

New York Banks.

New York, April 15.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the wek shows that they hold $102,744,690 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $3,696,760 over last weke.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, April 15. — Notwithstanding that the hog market today was a little slow at the start, demand from speculators and butchers proved sufficient to harden prices somewhat. Cattle trade was hardly more than nominal. Nearly all the sheep and lambs that arrived were in the hands of one seller.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000; strong; unchanged to a shade above yesterday's average; bulk, 9.85@9.85@9.95; light, $9.50@10.00; mixed, $9.60@10.00; heavy, $9.40@10.00; rough, $9.40@9.60; pigs, $7.40@9.20.

Sheep—Receipts, 2,000; steady; wethers, $7.00@9.25; lambs, $7.75@11.80.

London Money.

London, April 15.—Money supplies are shrinking owing to purchases of treasury bills. Discount rates were steady. The stock market was decidedly dull. The recovery in Wall Street yesterday helped the tone in the American section, though business was very slack. Bar silver improved further on a continuance of buying orders on a market bare of stock.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, April 15.—Dun's Review says: "All legitimate enterprise continues to prosper, the absence of speculative excesses affording the best assurance of sustained progress. Fundamental conditions strengthen as strictly domestic influences become increasingly potent, and wholesome optimism characterizes reports from every leading center and section. There is still complaint, however, of the annoyances and delays incidental to the rapid development of trade and industry. Business in various lines has already outgrown productive facilities and in many cases it is difficult, if not impracticable, to obtain urgently needed supplies with which to fill consumers' requirements. The transportation problem also continues a hindrance, though deliveries are now effected somewhat more promptly, and

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
MUTUAL IRON MINING CO. STOCKHOLDERS

Your Company has closed its books for the sale of Treasury stock with sufficient finances to carry the work along to place the McComber mine on the shipping list. This was accomplished by a number of the larger stockholders who had visited the property recently taking the remainder of the stock which was offered for sale. A shrewd investigation of this company and its property will convince any careful investor that the present price of the stock is far below its real value. There is certain to be a rapid and big advance in the market price of Mutual from now on, for there is only a very small amount in the hands of traders, the big bulk being held closely for a permanent investment by parties who would not sell at any price.

We wish to express our deep appreciation to the splendid list of Mutual stockholders who have so ably assisted in bringing about the above result.

the re-establishment of a surplus in idle freight cars indicates that progress is being made in bettering traffic conditions. It is still remarkable in view of the extensive rise in prices that consumptive demands are sustained in unprecedented volume. Weekly bank clearings $4,034,430,053."

FOLLOWS BROTHER TO GRAVE.

Just eight days after the death of her brother, B. F. Armstrong, of Morgan Park, Mrs. Anna Logan, wife of Joseph Logan, 705 West Second street, died last night. She was ill about a week, and pneumonia was the cause of her death, as it was of Mr. Armstrong's. She was 55 years old.

Mrs. Logan was born in Lucknow, Ont. The Logan family came to Duluth about three years ago. Previous to that time they had made their home in Superior, Wis., for twenty-three years.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Logan leaves six daughters, two sons, two brothers and one sister. The daughters are: Mrs. F. E. Miller, Mrs. E. F. Miller, Jenny, Ethel, Vera and Vern. The sons are Walter and Samuel. All of the children live in Duluth.

Funeral ararngements have not been completed.

CLOSE DEAL FOR CUYUNA PROPERTY

One of the most important mining deals in the history of the Cuyuna range was finally consummated today, when the Iron Mountain Mining company sold its lease to W. A. McClaran, Reiner Hoch and Otto Wendlandt of this city, and Carl Misske of Marquette. The new company will be a close corporation, capitalized at $100,000.

The Iron Mountain, or Hoch mine, as it will be known in the future, is a valuable manganiferous iron property, and is a producing mine. The lease of the mine calls for an annual minimum production of 50,000 tons. It is understood that a cash bonus of $75,000 was paid. A large crew of men will immediately be put to work and preparations made for early shipping.

It is said that the company owning and operating the Hoch mine and the Onahman Iron company, owning the Ferro mine, will enjoy a close business relationship. The personnel of the two companies will be much the same. W. A. McClaran, general manager of the Ferro mine, was instrumental in closing the deal for the acquirement of the Hoch mine.

GETS A BIG TROUT

IN LESTER RIVER

Early today Rhoades went out on the Lester river and caught a thirteen-inch brook trout. He supplemented this catch with two more trout, each about seven inches in length. As far as the early returns indicate, Rhoades is elected the first successful angler of the season

Many fishermen were out early today, despite the fact that it is generally believed that good fishing will not be enjoyed for sometime.

REWARD FOR ARREST OF INHUMAN "JOKERS"

A reward of $10 is offered by the Duluth Humane society for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who tied two cats together and threw them over the limb of a tree Tuesday evening near the Munger terrace.

Agent Ross of the society declared that he is co-operating with the police in an endeavor to discover who was responsible for the affair.

RETURNED DULUTHIAN TELLS OF CONDITIONS AT INTERSTATE-CALLAHAN, MARSH, BUTTE & ZENITH

Wm. T. Smith of Duluth has returned from a trip of inspection of mines in Montana and Idaho, in which he is interested, and says that mining in those states is at a high pitch of activity. Among the properties which he visited were the Interstate-Callahan, Marsh and Butte & Zenith City. He says:

"Interstate-Callahan mine made a new high record for March, and Supt. Newton said when I was there that he was confident of making a further increase of production for the month of April. The property is in fine shape, and mining and milling of ore is progressing smoothly. The aerial tram for conveying concentrates and crude ore to the railroad is working fine and effecting a substantial economy as compared with the old system of teaming the mine and mill product.

"I was in Wallace when I heard the report that the Marsh mine was flooded. Investigation disclosed that the report was unfounded. The mine not only was not flooded, but nothing else had happened. There is no danger of flood in the mine, for the property is equipped with ample pumping facilities to meet any water emergency that would be likely to arise. Eighty-five to ninety men are employed at the Marsh. Production was not as heavy during the winter months as usual, but that was due to cold weather. It was a hard winter in the Couer d'Alene district. The Marsh mine has a first class equipment, and the new mill is being worked up to a higher degree of efficiency right along. The recovery of all those mills is increased with experience. Recovery at the Interstate-Callahan, for example, has been advanced to 92%. A raise in the ore from the 900 to the 700 level in the Marsh has been effected, and as far as I could see, and learn, the Marsh mine is fully up to representations. While I am interested in Marsh, it was the first time I had ever seen the mine. I am convinced that the mine will give a good account of itself in the next two or three months.

"I visited the Butte & Zenith property, and spent half a day there, I am well acquainted with it, having visited it a number of times since development work was originally started. Butte authorities are satisfied that Butte & Zenith City will make a mine, and if it does it should be a whale. The numerous large veins carry that conviction, and the character of the vein filling carries great promise of the existence of the commercial ore."

BUTTE AND SUPERIOR BREAKS ANOTHER RECORD IN OUTPUT

Mining Pushed By All the Companies Owning Zinc Properties.

Dupont Company to Erect Big Powder Plant at Butte.

Butte, Mont., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Butte & Superior Copper company broke another record in March in the tonnage of ore mined and milled, amounting to 56,020 tons, or more than 500 tons in excess of any previous month in the history of the company. The average mined for the month was 1,800 tons per day. The mill also broke all former records, doubling its original planned capacity. The zinc in the concentrates was more than 16,500,000 pounds, the largest recovery of any month, and more than 250,000 pounds in excess of any previous month. The percentage of recoveries was 92.5 per cent against 95 per cent in February. The February tonnage was 54,380 tons, the March increase being 1,640 tons over February. However, there was no real gain in March over February in the tonnage of ore, as there were two more days in the month. In February the zinc contents recovered amounted to 15,600,000 pounds, March showing an increase over this of 900,000 pounds. Work on the new shafts has gone steadily forward with every possible man at work night and day that could be used in sinking operations.

Other Zinc Mines Active.

Zinc ore mining is being pushed by all the companies owning zinc properties. The Anaconda Copper Mining company is mining ore from some of its old copper properties, which have an enormous deposit of zinc on the upper levels, and is pushing development work and mining in the Lexington and Alice properties, and in the Pilot mine, recently purchased from the Pilot-Butte company. The new equipment on the Emma mine, under option from the Butte Copper & Zinc company, is nearly completed, and mining will begin within a few weeks. The Anaconda company is also rushing work on the Douglas mine in the Coeur d'Alene country of Idaho, which it purchased for a song from the Douglas company a short time ago, and the mine will be in condition for production in a very short time. The state mining inspector of Idaho says the Douglas contains the greatest zinc deposit in the Coeur d'Alene country. The Anaconda company's attorneys have formally approved the title and the deed and option have been put on record.

Other Projects Abandoned.

The enormous demand for copper and zinc has caused the Anaconda company to abandon other projects it had under consideration, including the treatment of phosphate rock, the capacity of its plants and recources being taxed to meet the demand for materials and metals in other lines. The company also had under consideration and experiment the manufacture of glacial phosphoric acid, but this has also been temporarily postponed. The sulphuric acid plant at the Washoe smelter is being operated to capacity. The plant was built with a capacity of 100 tons of acid per day, but the big demand for the product, occasioned by the European war, caused the company to increase the capacity to 150 tons, and is now being operated at full capacity, while the demand for the product exceeds the output. When the company first planned this department the intention was to use the entire output for the company's own requirements. These plans were changed, however, with the change in the market conditions. The new refinery in Great Falls, which is now in commission, secures its acid from the Washoe plant, and when the zinc refinery is put in commission in August the Washoe plant will also furnish the acid needed there.

"Waste" Now Profitable.

A few years ago the material from which the acid is made was a waste at the Washoe smelter and occasioned no end of complaint, damage and litigation. In some of the suits brought by ranchers it was represented, in defense by the company, that it was impossible to save or confine the deleterious substance thrown off by the smelter. A visionary witness suggested as a solution of the trouble that a pipe line be built to the ocean and the poisonous acid disposed of that way, but other "experts" declared that the acid would kill all the fish in the ocean. That was only a few years ago, and today that waste product is one of the Anaconda company's biggest sources of profit. In fact, everything that was "waste" a few years ago is now being turned into big profits for the stockholders of the company. The arsenic and sulphur, which formerly made waste of large tracts of agricultural land and forests, is now saved and marketed, and even the immense residue from which all metal and mineral contents have been extracted is now converted into the fine quality of building bricks.

Big Powder Plant.

The Dupont Powder company has purchased 1,200 acres of land a few miles west of Butte and will, within a few weeks, begin the construction of a powder plant here at a cost, estimated, of $500,000. W. J. Laird of Wilmington, Del., constructing engineer for the company, and T. L. Loughborough of Washington, D. C., his assistant, are in Butte arranging for the beginning of the work. It is expected to have the plant completed before the end of the present year. The plant will be devoted wholly, it is understood, to the making of gelatine powders and dynamite. The Butte district uses about 6,000,000 pounds of dynamite yearly, and this fact alone influenced the Dupont company to locate a plant in Butte. The Montana plant will also supply other districts in the Northwest and Utah. The Dupont company has plants in various parts of the country and many contribute to the supplies used in Butte. The freight rates on explosives are high and it is found to be a matter of economy to build a powder manufacturing plant at Butte. The materials used in the manufacture of powder will, of course, come from a distance. The sodium nitrate used is shipped from Chile, and will be brought to Butte from the west coast. The plant will include a nitric acid plant and also a small sulphuric acid plant. The freight rates on the raw materials are not excessive, while on the finished product the rate is very high. It is stated that the powder plant will employ about 200 men constantly, and it is expected that the manufacture of explosives will begin early next year. The first thing to be done in construction work will be the erection of cottages for the 200 workmen.

Butte-Duluth.

The Butte-Duluth Mining company, of which so much was expected a year ago, seems to be a hopeless financial wreck. The company has been in the hands of a receiver for some time, and pressing creditors have been induced to hold off from time to time on the promise that new financial aid was forthcoming and that the company would be put on an operating basis again. The receiver showed to the court and to creditors that the property could be operated by him at a profit and all claims paid off, but the receiver has not made good, and many months have gone by without an apparent effort being made to resume operations, while the cash resources have been frittered away and the receivership has proved, as usual, a very expensive and wasteful proposition.

Some of the creditors, mostly miners, have petitioned the court to order the receiver to sell the property and apply the proceeds to the payment of the company's debts. This action brought out a financial statement from the receiver, in which he asks the allowance of claims and credits against the company, amounting to $775,430.87. The debts consist principally of $500,000 in bonds, $42,368.51 due for wages, and the remainder in miscellaneous accounts. The receiver wants permission to pay the claims in the order of their legal priority, but he does not show that there is any cash in sight. Every week or so it is announced that Capt. Wolvin, who promoted the company and perfected the company's leaching and electrolytic plants, will be in Butte "shortly" with plenty of money, but neither the captain nor the promised money show up. The Butte-Duluth has an enormous mountain of low grade copper ore, and it is the general opinion of mining and metallurgical men that, under the present high price and demand for copper, the company should be able to do business and make a good profit.

Butte-Alex Scott.

Stockholders of the Butte-Alex Scott Mining company will receive an initial distribution of $10.50 per share on the price received for the Alex Scott mine, sold to the Anaconda company some time ago. At a meeting of the stockholders, held at Dover, Del., March 30, it was decided to dissolve the company. Upon the surrender of certificates to the treasurer of the company in Duluth, the first distribution of $10.50 per share will be made to stockholders of record. After all affairs of the company are closed the remaining funds on hand will be distributed pro rata.

Butte-Detroit.

It is expected that work in the mine and mill of the Butte-Detroit company, new owner of the Ophir mine of interesting and varied history, will be started within a few weeks. Officers of the company have been elected as follows: President, J. F. Austin of Detroit; treasurer, J. S. Pishon of Boston; secretary, Louis A. Cadorette of Montreal; chairman of the board of directors, Sir Frederick W. Borden of Ottawa; directors, Sir Henry M. Pallatt of Toronto, Ellery C. Wright of Brockton, Mass.; Charles A. Wilcox of Boston, and W. L. Creden of Butte. The latter is managing director and will have charge of operations.

East Butte.

A fine new ore body has been discovered by the East Butte Copper company on the 1,500-foot level of the Pittsmont mine. The ore body has a width of eight feet, running 6 per cent copper. It is the most encouraging find yet made at that depth in the Pittsmont. The March production of copper was about 1,320,000 pounds as against 1,277,000 in February and 1,060,000 in January. The production for the first quarter of the present year was about the same as that of the previous quarter. There has been an increase in the output of second class ore with an average copper content of about 3 1-3 per cent. The mine, the smelter and the flotation plant are all operating at present, but not at capacity. Since the ore from the Alex Scott has been diverted to the Washoe smelter, there is not enough ore received by the East Butte to keep the smelter working at capacity. The company's earnings for the year ending Dec. 31 showed a big increase over the previous year, the 1915 profits being given at $782,993 against $22,253 for 1914.

Boston & Montana.

The Boston & Montana Development company has made arrangements with the Washoe smelter to handle 200 tons of ore per day, which will be mined from the Spain mine in the French Gulch district. There is a very large tonnage of ore blocked out in the Spain, which, it is claimed, will show an average value of $17 per ton, and it can be hauled by motor truck sixteen miles to the smelter and return at a net profit of $7 per ton, or about $1,400 per day, about $40,000 a month, or at a rate of about $500,000 a year. The company is still pushing development work on its Elkhorn properties and the "dope" is that it "expects" to cut the vein "almost any day now," which has been the "dope" for several months. The company owns 2,700 acres of mineral land in the French Gulch and Elkhorn districts.

NORTH BUTTE IS MUCH IMPROVED

Better Ore Bodies Are Uncovered on the Lower Levels.

According to unofficial reports from the North Butte company the lower levels are looking better than for a long time past. The Edith May vein, in particular, is said to be better on the 3,000-foot level than it was at 2,800 feet. One report regarding the property remarks as follows:

"Work at the North Butte last year did not give very good results. Workings were deepened, however, and they are getting below the lean horizon that exists in the Butte camp. The mine is in splendid physical condition today. Both shafts are operating in order to increase output rapidly as possible and reduce mining costs.

"A new concentrating and smelting contract is being negotiated that will be very much more favorable than the one under which the company has been working. This should increase earnings.

"Management at the mine has been changed.

"It was deemed advisable not to explore the known ore bodies on the east side until the company had effected the settlement of ownership of one particularly valuable claim. This matter is now out of the way and North Butte will start development in this territory. It has a very large area of well-located mineral land in that district. It comprises an area about three times as large as the mineral lands owned on the north side. These lands and interests therein have all been paid for and it is generally recognized in Butte that the company has made an excellent purchase and one that could not be duplicated today for two or three times the money invested."

DRILLING ON THE CUYUNA RANGE

Seafield Company to Drill Cuyuna Range Addition to Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A contract has been let by the Brainerd Townsite company to the Seafield Exploration company to drill the Cuyuna Range addition to Brainerd for iron ore. William Seafield and John Wahl, the latter of Duluth, were in the city and spotted the first hole. The Cuyuna Range addition lies in a good location for iron. Some drilling was done on this property in 1905 and good indications were found, but at that time iron men were not familiar with the formation.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd has its shaft down and considerable drifting has blocked out a large ore body. Pending contracts for the sale of ore, no work is being carried on at present at the mine.

East of Brainerd and near the city limits the Longyear Exploration company is drilling and ore is expected to have been located. The Tabert shaft, where sinking is being done by the Adbar company, is down sixty feet. The pumps are handling 800 gallons a minute. Bedrock is at 100 feet. Three shifts are worked and employment given to twenty-eight men.

The Armour No. 2 mine of the Inland Steel company has started shipping, the first train out consisting of fifty cars. The mine is now shipping about thirty cars daily. Five cars a day are being shipped by the Cuyuna-Sultana.

The Rowe pit mine is reported to have two steam shovels at work. The Iron Mountain mine has started hoisting ore. The Pennington and Thompson pit mines of the north range are engaged in stripping.

DIRECTORS CUT MELON

Stockholders of Butte-Alex Scott Receive $830,000.

The payment today was on the basis of $10.50 per share, an aggregate of $830,000 being distributed. Of that, $750,000 was derived through the sale of the mine to the Anaconda Copper company, and the balance came from earnings accrued through the operation of the property. It is intimated that a final disbursement of from 15 to 30 cents a share will be made by the directors as soon as some other assets have been realized upon. The payment of $750,000 from the Anaconda Copper company has been on deposit in the First National bank for nearly two months, having been made after the sale had been ratified by Alex-Scott shareholders.

Brokers are of the opinion that a considerable proportion of the funds distributed will be reinvested in other mining stocks that are considered to offer good possibilities.

SINKING AT THE BUTTE & ZENITH

Shaft to Be Put Down 1,000 Feet Before Crosscutting.

Butte, Mont., April 15.—Sinking of the shaft at Butte & Zenith, which was started last week, is going rapidly ahead. It is the plan of the company to put the shaft down to a depth of 1,000 feet before any of the nearby half dozen ledges are cut.

The shaft was drained the last week in March and was found to be in excellent condition, the water having come within about 175 feet of the surface, thus acting as a preservative to the timbers.

Ample pumping facilities have been provided and the Butte & Zenith company is now in a position to take care of any flow of water that may be encountered. A pumping station on the 460-foot level is equipped with an electrical pump in addition to a steam line attached to a steam pump, affording a combined capacity of close to 1,000 gallons per minute. A crosscut on this level has been utilized as a tank. It is planned ultimately to lower this pumping rig and place it on the 1,000-foot level when that point shall have been attained, and the water will be lifted from the 1,000-foot level to the surface.

Operations at the Butte & Zenith are attracting considerable attention in local mining circles in view of the fact that the shaft of this company will be the deepest in this section of the country, a locality lying about four miles west of the Butte hill and traversed by a number of large ledges, most of which show assay values at the surface and were mined in the early days of the Butte district to shallow depths. Copper sulphides are found within 200 feet of the surface. The Butte & Zenith City has a tract of ground embracing 300 acres, with a two-compartment shaft down to a depth of approximately 700 feet. About thirty men are employed at the property.

M'COMBER MINE IS LOOKING GOOD

From 4,000 to 5,000 Tons of Ore on the Stockpile.

Ely, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A visit last week to the McComber mine at Armstrong lake, operated by the Mutual Iron company, proved an eye-opener of the most agreeable kind. Late last fall work was resumed in No. 1 shaft. In the drift on the 100-foot level a vein of high grade hematite has been struck and, in the course of development and exploration, ore is being placed on the pile at the rate of about thirty tons a day. Assays show an average of 63 per cent ore of a Bessemer quality. The vein is about twenty feet wide and of an equal depth and dips apparently at an angle of 45 degs. to the north. A three-shift crew of thirty men is employed and the vein is being followed. The crew is being increased as fast as room can be made for them.

A pumping station has been cut on the 100-foot level and two pumps installed, one No. 9 Fairbanks-Morse and one No. 9 Cameron. These are supposed to handle all the water encountered here easily and take care of the water in the sinking of the shaft to a depth of 300 feet which will be done at once. At the 300-foot depth another drift will be run to the lead shown on the upper levels and it is confidently expected that a large deposit will be encountered. All indications point to a mine of considerable size as the vein in the upper levels seems to be widening considerably and at the 300-foot level should be of goodly proportions. The jasper and soapstone formation, so familiar on the Vermilion, and a sure indication of ore, is in place.

The Duluth & Iron Range railroad stands ready to build a spur to the mine as soon as there is something to ship, and the McComber bids fair to become a shipper this season. Mining men have estimated the ore on the stockpile at No. 1 shaft at from 4,000 to 5,000 tons.

KEWEENAW VERY BUSY

Will Be Ready for Mill Test About Middle of Summer.

Unexpected Lode Is Encountered in the Tremont-Devon Property.

Houghton, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Keweenaw Copper has just made a start for the mill test in getting the underground workings ready for stoping; and on the third level east is enlarging the drifts which are only of the usual exploratory size, six feet wide by seven high, so that stopes can be cut out. On the fourth level, both east and west, the ground is being cut out for switches and curves, and the cutting out for stoping will follow. This work will be carried on down through the different levels of the mine. The rock thus removed is of a good quality. The timber for the big trestle from the shaft across the valley to the Crest View terminus of the Keweenaw Central railroad owned by the Keweenaw Copper company, a distance of about a quarter of a mile and at a height for a good deal of the way of fifty to sixty feet, is now coming in and will be put in position as soon as the snow is sufficiently gone. At the mill there is a good deal of work to be done before it will be ready; the greater part of the repairs on the wash is about all finished; but the stamp is yet to be overhauled; new trestles have to be built; a 3,500 foot flume is to be rebuilt from the dam to the mill; and possibly the dam will have to be rebuilt and other repair work done. Consequently it is almost impossible to forecast when the mill will go into commission, but as much speed as possible is being made. The openings, especially on the foot-wall side, are in good ground. It is believed that the mill test, which will be probably started the middle of the summer, will give a good showing.

Contact.

Contact's diamond drill is now down about 2,000 feet and is just about entering Wyandotte lode, its objective point. The formations are very regular in their sequence and give evidence of but little disturbance by earth movements. This hole is the fourth.

Onondaga.

Onondaga has finished the eighth hole and has now moved the drill back to section 34, where the sixth hole is located. But little copper is being found, but the formations are undoubtedly those sought, the Nonesuch, and it is possible that copper may be encountered at any time. The members of the geological series correspond exactly to those of the upper side of the basin where the White Pine and the White Pine Extension are situated.

Tremont-Devon.

Tremont-Devon has an amygdaloid lode at the depth of nearly 900 feet with a width of about 12 feet and copper throughout that will average well. This lode was unexpected and is called by Managing Director Gibson the Devon lode and lies to the north of the Forest lode, on which is located the Victoria mine. This property is situated next west of the Victoria and the company was formed of local people, no stock having been distributed to the public. The drill will be moved back on the hanging wall so as to cut the Devon lode at the depth of about 200 feet, and then it is likely that a third hole may be bored at some distance away on the same strike to test its persistence. The depth of the first hole, which has just been completed, is about 1,000 feet. The Forest lode was crossed just under the Devon, but it was very narrow, as often happens at the Victoria, and carried only a very little copper. The fine showing of the Devon lode certainly demands further exploration and if the second and third holes fulfill the promise of the first a shaft will be undoubtedly sunk to explore it.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale has completed the difficult task of building a reinforced concrete collar at the angle of 56 deg. through a vertical depth of 96 feet in quicksands and gravel without any mishap or delay. Supt. James Richards is entitled to great credit for this success. Sinking will be begun in a few days and with the raises that are being made at the fifth and seventh levels it will not be long before rock can be hoisted from the latter level. Sinking will then be started so as to give more levels for development. No. 1 is now down to the fifteenth level with the repairs and has now only to go to about eighty feet below the sixteenth level, where it is bottomed. The mine will, therefore, have six shafts soon in operation, but it will take quite a time to open up and mine enough ground to work them to their full capacity. At the present time the mine can be said to have made only a fair start towards the production that it will have when these shafts, and probably at least one more and possibly two yet to be begun, will have after the mine is adequately developed.

Franklin.

Franklin will commence in a very short time to reopen its No. 2 shaft on the Allouez conglomerate, which is about 1,500 feet south of the shaft now in use on the amygdaloid and which is down to the sixteenth level. The mineraliaztion is much better on the southern side of the shaft than on the northern, as for instance the thirty-second level, to the south, has a length of over 700 feet, of which the last 500 feet have a high average, as there is a great deal of very rich ground and the levels above and below are coming to this ground as fast as they are sufficiently extended. As the drifting is almost wholly being done on this side, the yield will gradually increase. A good deal of repair work will have to be done at No. 2, as there has been considerable caving of the hanging wall. Good rock will be taken out as soon as the first level is reached and likewise from all the levels. The lode passed through by the long crosscut recently is known to be a branch of the Kearsarge, and after a few cuts had been made in drifting to ascertain if the mineralization was more than a pocket, and if it would pay to work in the future, which questions were satisfactorily answered and the extension of the crosscut was resumed.

North Lake.

North Lake is now down with the shaft over 700 feet and has not met with enough copper yet in any formation to call a halt for drifting, but is now in an excellent conglomerate that has so far a width of 150 feet, which is all that is to be desired in a lode, except the vital principle, copper. The vast number of barren yet characteristic lodes in the mineral-bearing series is shown by the annual report of the Franklin, just issued, where in the 4,000 feet traversed on the thirty-second level east from the Pewabic-Quincy lode there were passed through two conglomerates and twenty-three amygdaloids, with only one lode on this property and vicinity that is known to be of profitable value. The formations are but little broken as opened by the shaft, and the sinking will be discontinued at the 800-foot level and crosscutting begun to the lodes discovered by the diamond drill. The reason for going so deep is that the formations near the surface were considerably shattered.

Indiana.

Indiana is still pushing its crosscut out from the shaft and is again in a felsite body, which seems to be penetrated by cracks filled with trap. It is possible that the copper-bearing felsite bed that has so long eluded the pursuit may be run into at any time, although it is probable that it is not quite so near the shaft. This direction was taken both because in it are the felsite beds of the 600-foot level and because it is that indicated from the conclusions of Prof. A. C. Lane after his examination of the lode last summer.

Quincy.

Quincy mill has now running the largest Hardinge conical tube mill in this district and is putting in another, both lined with steel, for the use of steel balls. These mills are eight feet in diameter and the "band" or flat side, where the two cones meet, is thirty-six inches long. The steel balls are much more efficient, since they grind more material with the same power, and they save a good deal in costs, as the Danish and French flint pebbles are now almost unobtainable.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla is averaging for daily tonnage at its own mine from the Calumet conglomerate and the Osceola amygdaloid 10,880 tons, as compared with 10,500 for March and few first days of this month. This is a high figure, but now, with the good weather, it will be maintained and probably excelled after a while.

South Lake.

South Lake, owing to some unforeseen delays, will not hoist the waste rock for the floor of its bin until the coming week. This will not take long, and then it will start to send rock to the mill. The Butler lode, where the drifts have been opened for over 300 feet, is averaging very well, the copper being of the heavier grades, with a good deal of the barrel and small mass sizes, which is characteristic of this lode. This mine now has seven lodes, all of which have been opened enough to show that they carry commercial copper, and they are the Butler, north lodes Nos. 1 and 3 and the four south lodes. There are, besides north lode No. 2, which has made for over 100 feet at the Mass a fair showing, and a lode recently encountered in the crosscut driven south seeking the part of the Butler lode, which has been folded over from its normal position north of the shaft so that it dips with the four south lodes southerly. This lode had three feet of very heavy copper. Surely out of all of these the South Lake will find enough so profitable as to furnish a very large tonnage. The lack of interest on the part of the Eastern stock market is unsolvable to the mining world here in view of the number and quality of these lodes and also of the fact Lake mine is every day demonstrating for the Lake lode at quite a distance away the continuity and richness of the mineralization. It is probable that a steadily increasing tonnage may give the much needed impetus and stimulus so that the market will really afford some idea of the true value of this mine.

Allouez.

Allouez is proceeding at about the same rate of tonnage, 2,000 tons daily, and could if there were any greater mill capacity more stamps increase somewhat. The new "dry" or changing house for the men at No. 1 has been in use for about a fortnight. This new structure also contains the offices of the mining captain and the clerk. Costs should be somewhat lower than the low figures of last year, 9.31 cents, as there is almost no construction work contemplated.

Winona.

Winona will have its new shaft-rockhouse ready for hoisting about May 1 barring accidents. The leaching process equipment is slowly being made ready for the run which will be made in a couple of weeks probably. There has been some delay as the men have had to abandon their work to aid in the erection of the rockhouse. The leaching plant now being made ready is only experimental and has only a capacity of six tons daily.

Lake.

Lake Milling, Smelting & Refining company has received its first carload of machinery for one of the two additional stamps to be added to its lake mill No. 2, formerly Tamarack No. 2, or "Little Tamarack," but will not be able to have this stamp ready for operation until next fall as the excavations for the addition to each end of the mill has not yet been completed and will take quite a time to finish them and set up the stamp and its wash. This is now used for the Centennial and Allouez rock, and when it is ready the two-thirds of the latter that now goes to the Centennial-Allouez—Lake No. 1—mill at Point Mills will be treated here, making a great saving in costs.

New Baltic.

New Baltic is down with its third diamond drill hole 636 feet and has encountered three mineralized amygdaloids with several deposits of copper—some rich—from 1 to 2 feet thick. From the depth of 487 to 495 there was seven feet of commercial values with two feet of high grades of coarse "shot" copper. The other eight feet of the lode—that did not carry copper—was a good amygdaloidal vein rock. This hole will be pushed on until it reaches No. 8 conglomerate. It is thought that the lode described above is the New Arcadian, but it will be impossible to determine this with accuracy before the conglomerate has been met with, as in the second hole the latter lode was passed through over 100 feet before it should have been.

WEEK'S BUILDING PERMITS THIRD LARGEST IN HISTORY

Only Steel Plant and Ore Dock Permits Overtop Aggregate.

Amount of Construction Involved Is Near Half Million.

Apart form the week in August, 1910, when a $10,000,000 permit was issued to the Minnesota Steel company to cover the erection of the first unit of its plant, and the occasion nearly four years ago, when a permit for $1,500,000 was taken out by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad for its new steel ore dock, the new construction authorized in Duluth during the present week reached the largest aggregate value on record. No less than 51 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $451,815.

The value was swelled into six figures through the issuing of a permit for $390,000 to the Capitol Elevator company to cover the new concrete addition to its elevator plant on the harbor line now under construction by the Barnett & Record company. The great bulk of the remaining permits in the list authorized the building of homes and improvements.

Building High Class Homes.

As had been foreshadowed, substantial progress was registered during the week in carrying through the season's program for the building of high-class homes. A development in that connection was the letting of the contract to the Hanford Construction company for the building of a brick and hollow tile residence with a garage for W. C. Mitchell at Waverly and Hardy streets. Its cost is estimated at $20,000. According to the plans as prepared by Arthur Hanford, architect, this new home will be a welcome addition in the Woodland street. The frame building now on the site will be removed and set up on another lot.

* * *

Plans for a modern home for Oscar Mitchell at Fifth street and Twenty-fifth avenue east will go out to contractors during the latter part of next week from the office of Frederick W. Perkins, architect. It will be of pressed brick construction.

* * *

A brick veneer home with garage, to cost $8,000, is to be built for Mrs. H. W. Coffin at Woodland avenue and Hardy street. The general contract has been awarded to the Hanford Construction company. Arthur Hanford is the architect. The contract for a frame home for Dr. A. L'Amie in Waverly park has also been obtained by the Hanford Construction company. It will cost $4,500.

* * *

A three-story brick school, estimated to cost $20,000, is to be built at McGrath, Minn. The plans will go out for bids next Monday from the office of Kelly & Williams, architects.

* * *

Plans for three schools have gone out for figures from the office of Holstead & Sullivan, architects. A brick school is to go up at Big Forks, Minn., and frame schools at Warba and Trout Lake, Minn. The figures in each case are due to be in by April 29.

* * *

Gustafson & Olson have obtained the contract for a frame and stucco garage for T. F. McCarthy at Twenty-seventh avenue east and Sixth street. P. M. Olsen is the architect.

* * *

The new Linen Exchange company's building on East First street will be ready for occupancy within a few days. It will rank as one of the most modern laundry plants in the city. The general contract was carried through by George H. Lounsberry & Co. The plans were prepared by P. M. Olsen, architect.

* * *

F. G. German, architect, is making progress upon the plans for the proposed new Pilgrim Congregational church in the East end. When they will be ready to go out for figures has not as yet been definitely settled.

* * *

Clyde Fenton has obtained the contract for furnishing 900 Federal steel lockers for the new Morgan Park school. He is also supplying the weather stripping for the store and hospital buildings at Morgan Park.

COUNTY SEAT VOTE IN PINE ON MAY 2

Hinckley, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county seat fight in Pine county between Hinckley and Pine City, which has been waged for several weeks with more or less bitterness, is nearing the end. The county board has fixed the date for voting as May 2. Both sides are confident of winning, and both are making a thorough canvass.

W. R. Wearne Purchases Property on East Third Street for $10,000.

Increased Interest Shown in Residence Property in Outlying Districts.

While no especially large transactions were put through in real estate circles during the last week, dealers were gratified over the increased interest evident in the "own-your-own-home" propaganda.

It is being demonstrated that the list of persons desirous of buying lots in the newer districts of the city, with a view to improvement, is receiving steady accessions and an earnest call for houses is besides noted. A gratifying development is the inquiry for homes being received from new arrivals in the city, some of them from distant points.

A feature of the week was the purchase by William R. Wearne from Mrs. Carrie H. Abraham of her house at 2422 East Third street at a consideration of $10,000. The sale was effected through the Little & Nolte company.

The execution of an agreement covering the purchase of a modern East end house by a Buffalo investor who is about to remove to Duluth, was also reported by the Whitney Wall company.

Increased interest in property in the Park Drive division as a result of the definite statement that the building of the Chester creek bridge is assured, was reported by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. Several lots have been sold there during the last few days. That office besides disposed of two lots on Minnesota avenue.

* * *

The Duluth Realty company commented upon the springing up of a good inquiry in the Highland Park division on the central hillside. The building of six houses, ranging in price from $3,000 to $3,500, is now in progress in that division.

* * *

The Richardson, Day & Cheadle company averred that the last week was the most active in a considerable period, sales of a large number of lots having been effected. Twenty-seven lots were sold on West Eighth street, Fifty-ninth avenue west, Olney street, Huntington street and Highland street, at prices running from $45 to $275 each. Six lots were sold on the upper side of the boulevard between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, and a lot was disposed of in Harrison's Brookdale division at a consideration of $1,500. The purchaser proposes to improve shortly in the building of a home.

Interest in Norton's Fairmont Park division was reported by that office to be broadening materially in consequence of the intimation that it comes within the one-fare zone for travel, either to the eastern part of the city or out to the steel plant. That is considered to offer substantial inducement for investing in Fairmont Park property. It is reported that the concession was readily made by Herbert Warren, manager of the street railway company.

* * *

Receipt of earnest money was reported by Stryker, Manley & Buck upon the sale of a building lot near Nineteenth avenue east. Three lots were also sold at Ingleside Park.

* * *

The Gary Land company sold ten lots in Gary-Duluth during the week, to investors from Southern Minnesota, and arrangements are being entered into for the building of a number of additional houses there in the near future.

That company has removed to new and more commodious offices on the second floor of the Manhattan building.

R. E. Batley and C. R. Stowell have opened a real estate, loan and insurance office at 311 North Central avenue, to be known as the Aetna Realty company. Mr. Stowell has been in the real estate business in West Duluth for some time.

Mr. Batley has lived in Duluth for twenty-six years and has a wide acquaintance in West Duluth. He was connected with a local real estate firm for about two years and for the past three years has been with the Island Creek Coal Dock company in the capacity of chief clerk.

* * *

The Benjamin F. Schweiger company sold to Florence D. Le May for Edward Anderson, a four-room dwelling and twenty-five-foot lot at 705 East Twelfth street, at a consideration of $2,250. It also sold a six-room house and lot for Swan Carlson to W. G. Leonard at 2025 Piedmont avenue, at a consideration of $3,150.

A. J. Frey of the Field-Frey company, has returned from an extended Southern trip during which he took in the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate exchanges held at New Orleans. He said that the delegates at the convention from all parts of the country appeared to entertain optimistic views regarding the outlook for realty business during the present year.

* * *

There will be few desirable flats and houses that are conveniently located, vacant after May 1, in the opinion of Harry L. George, local manager of the Massachusetts Real Estate company. All the properties controlled by his company are likely to be filled up, he said today.

* * *

The best inquiry in several months was reported by Harold H. Jungck of the N. J. Upham company. A number of sales were closed up during the week, the list including a house and lot on Sixteenth avenue east for E. Borth to F. W. Scott at $4,500; a house and lot on Seventeenth avenue east for G. Hocken to H. Gauthier at $2,950; a lot on Exeter street for Charles Swanson to Joseph Telega at $1,330, and a property on Wadena street for Joseph Belanger to R. Korsness at $1,155. A lot in Waverly Park was also sold to J. G. Anderson. Stewart G. Collins represented the buyer.

BAYFIELD BANKER OUT FOR SENATE

Ashland, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A decidedly lively senatorial contest is in sight in this district comprising the counties of Ashland, Bayfield, Sawyer, Rusk and Price, following the recent announcement of Senator A. Pearce Tomkins, that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Shortly after Senator La Follette visited Ashland, last month, H. H. Peavey of Washburn, who was the McGovern candidate for lieutenant governor two years ago, announced his candidacy for senator, it being taken for granted that his candidacy represented a renewal of "team work" between La Follette and McGovern.

Last Thursday Alonzo H. Wilkinson, the Bayfield banker, announced his candidacy, and he will remain in the field until the end. He is not regarded as a follower of Senator La Follette. Mr. Wilkinson heads the confederation of Commercial clubs, which fourteen municipalities joined at Ashland this week, to boost the Twin Cities project for an extension of the Soo road from Mellen to Reserve.

SOLVING DULUTH'S LIQUOR PROBLEM IS

❂ ❂ ❂ ❂ ❂ ❂ ❂

MOST POPULAR INDOOR SPORT THESE DAYS

Solving Duluth's liquor problem is the most popular indoor sport in the city.

Each day the commissioners receive new suggestions from persons who have interested themselves in helping establish good liquor regulations, with a view of combating a "dry" Duluth.

Here are some of the solutions suggested to members of the council since the "dry" ordinance was filed two days ago:

Raising the saloon license from $1,000 to $1,500 or $2,000, compelling a large number of saloons to quit the business.

Reducing the number of saloons from 169 to 100 by eliminating those with shady records.

Prohibiting the sale of all liquors, excepting beer, at New Duluth, Gary, West Duluth, the West end, Garfield avenue and the central hillside district. All liquors will be permitted in the downtown business section, where there is more police protection.

Cutting out the saloons in the industrial sections and reducing the number in the central part of the city.

Establishing new police zones, permitting but one or two saloons in a block, especially along Superior street.

City commissioners have discussed these various questions, but no fixed action is contemplated at this time. Reports that Commissioner Silberstein is planning to introduce an alternative ordinance raising the license fee to $1,250 is not given much credence, in view of the fact that he has not taken the matter up even in an informal maner with the other members of the council.

Checking of the "dry" petition was begun this morning by City Clerk Borgen.

GALE CAUSES DEATH OF BALTIMORE GIRL

Baltimore, Md., April 15.—A forty-mile-an-hour gale sweeping over Baltimore and Chesapeake bay yesterday did considerable damage. Zepple Dover, aged 10, and her younger sister, Lillian, roller skating on Cross street, were blown into an automobile. Zepple's neck was broken and her sister badly hurt. A steel 110-foot smokestack at the Baltimore drydock was blown down, breaking through the roof of a dwelling and injuring William Decou and several other persons. The steamer Ellawood broke adrift and smashed into the Pennsylvania railroad piers, causing about $11,000 damage. Other vessels were blown from their moorings and several small bay boats were capsized.

CONSCRIPTION URGED ON BORDEN CABINET

Ottawa, Ont., April 15.—National registration, with a view to some form of a conscription, was urged upon Premier Robert Borden and members of his cabinet yesterday by a delegation representing forty-two recruiting leagues of Ontario, the Maritime provinces, and the West. They told the premier that the present voluntary system was not getting enough men, and that those who were coming forward were those citizens whom Canada could least spare. There was too large a proportion of married men, they said, when it was considered that every married soldier cost the country $37 more a month than a single man.

The premier, in reply, did not commit the government to any expression of views as to the merits, either of compulsion or voluntary system, but reminded the delegation that there had so far been no lack of recruits since men were coming forward at the rate of 1,000 a day. He admitted there were loopholes for economic waste in the system of voluntary enlistment, but said that the government had been endeavoring to arrange that men be drawn as far as possible from the industries which could best afford to spare them. He promised earnest consideration of the delegates' representations.

FRIDAY WAS WARMEST DAY OF YEAR TO DATE.

Yesterday was the warmest day of the year to date. The temperature reached 59 deg. above, and at times the sun seemed to have real summer heat. This morning the temperature, while pleasant, had fallen to 46 deg. and Weather Forecaster Richardson said that it would probably remain about that way, with the chance in favor of a cooler Sunday.

Cloudy and unsettled conditions will prevail over Sunday, but Mr. Richardson does not look for much in the way of rain, if any at all comes.

RECORD CROWD AT LABOR ASSEMBLY

A new record for attendance was set at the meeting of the Duluth Trades assembly last evening, and although the subject of the dry petition was discussed, it was decided to take no action. Union men in the city will feel much easier since this matter has been temporarily disposed of. The fear that the wets might launch a resolution opposing the initiative ordinance was the cause of the large attendance.

Some of the results of the Labor Forward Movement were evident last night when four new unions were represented and fourteen new delegates were obligated. The new unions are the bakers and confectioners, the international teamsters and chauffeurs, the tile layers and helpers and the jitneurs.

Charles Jones, representing the Duluth firemen, spoke in behalf of the double platoon system and urged the assembly to give the initiative petition its moral support. He said that the petition was the only hope the firemen had to secure relief.

INSANE GIANT RUNS AMUCK

Wrenches Bars From Window; Nearly Chokes Fellow Prisoner.

Peter Gavolovich, a giant woodsman, held as an insanity suspect, attacked Albert Cotren, 45, another city jail prisoner, yesterday afternoon, and the fight would have resulted seriously had not Jailer L. A. Root and Patrolman Harling come to the man's rescue.

Later in the day, when Gavolovich had been taken to probate court and ordered to St. Luke's hospital for observation, the giant wrenched out bars of the window of the observation room at the hospital and fled. Before breaking the bars he broke a pair of handcuffs which had been placed on his wrists.

Police gave chase and captured Gavolovich at Sixth avenue east and Fourth street. After a struggle he was overpowered and taken back to the city jail for the third time and lodged in the padded cell.

Gavolovich was brought to headquarters Thursday by police and held there until the following morning, when authorities planned to send him to Cloquet, where he has a brother. On the way to the Union station in the police touring car Gavolovich threw $86 into the street and then tried to leap head first from the speeding car.

He was returned to jail and lodged in the padded cell, but seemed to recover during the night and was normal Friday morning. Shortly after noon officers in charge of the jail opened the cell door to give him a chance to walk around.

Scarcely half an hour later cries for help were heard. Cotren, held for drunkenness, had wandered into Gavolovich's cell and had laid down on the bunk. The giant, enraged, had seized the man by the throat and was slowly choking him.

Special guards will be stationed over the man until he is taken to Fergus Falls or otherwise disposed of.

Training of Boys Approved.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—The senate yesterday considered out of its regular order and passed by a vote of 41 to 1 the Welsh-Slater bill to provide for general military and physical training of boys between the ages of 16 and 19 years. The action was taken after Governor Whitman had spent a special message urging the "preparedness legislation."

Shipments of German Steel.

Berlin, April 15, wireless to Sayville.—Shipments of the German steel syndicate in March were 311,649 tons, compared with 282,269 tons in February and 351,560 in March of 1915.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet, it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. MANY BOYS AT "Y" BANQUET

Hustler Badges Awarded to Twenty-Five Members.

Badger Football Captain Speaks; Other Talks Are Given.

Never in the history of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has it given such an elaborate affair as the fourteenth annual banquet last evening.

The big gymnasium had been beautifully decorated, the color scheme being yellow, with yellow streamers around the balcony, baskets of yellow flowers, while candles adorned each of the eleven tables. When the doors opened, the orchestra began to play and 250 boys marched in, filling every available place. The dinner was served by a committee of women and it was voted the "best ever." Thirty-five high school girls acted as waitresses.

E. W. Peck of Minneapolis acted as toastmaster and introduced each of the speakers with an appropriate story. Russell Duncan, president of the cabinet, gave the first speech, in which he reviewed the work of the club during the last year, showing that it had been very successful. John Ahlen followed with a speech on "Next Year." He outlined the many opportunities that the boys would have in their new building.

Howard Buck, the guest of the evening, told some interesting things about the big college athletes. He said that a college athlete today must play a clean game. Only once during the last season did he hear a man swear on the field, he said, and when his attention was drawn to it he apologized to the officials. He also said that the spirit of the game today is that the best team win. He never felt badly, he said, after a game that he lost if he felt he had put the best he had into it. Ralph Wyly gave an enthusiastic talk on Camp Miller and the fun a boy may have there. Irving Auld spoke for the High School club, saying that it was one of the best and most successful organizations in the department.

A delegation of fifteen boys from the Denfeld High School club were present, and Ralph Nichols was called on for a few remarks in which he told of the excellent work they were doing in their school. B. C. Wade, general secretary, spoke on "We Like You," telling the boys he was glad to have had them in the central department during the last year. Jacob Garon toasted "the Ladies" and at the close of his toast the girls in the balcony threw confetti streamers all around the banquet tables.

Two Honors Conferred.

Two honors were conferred on boys' department members last evening. The twenty-five boys who won places in the Hustler club were guests of honor, sitting at a special table. To win a place in the Hustler club a boy had to win 450 points. Points were given for reading books, doing good work at school, attending church, Sunday school, gymnasium classes, outings, etc., in short, to be an all-round hustler in the club. Each hustler received a boys' department official emblem, and at the close of the meeting Clyde Peterson was elected to go to Camp Miller for one week free. Raymond Bartholdi won the distinction of being the supreme hustler, having received 679 points. He received the boys' department blanket. Arthur Olson came second, with 644½ points. He received a silver medal. Fred Zollner was third with 635 points. He received a bronze medal. The other hustlers were Edward Evans, 599; Clyde Peterson, 567; William Hoskins, 555; Arthur Anderson, 535; Reuben Shemick, 562; John Bennett, 551; Harold Mitchell, 540; Russell Burns, 496; Clifford Melander, 499; Oscar Flaaten, 494; Harry Gulin, 472; Leonard Hendrickson, 485; Willard Hector, 512; Donald McGregor, 494; William Upham, 475; Robert Weichert, 455; Robert Currie, 462; Roy Anderson, 454; Clinton Wiberg, 470; Herman Griffith, 451.

Efficiency Medals.

The other honor was to win the efficiency medal. This is a national honor. Twenty Duluth boys won this honor, and they were decorated with the insignia. It is made of bronze and has three bars, for athletic, educational and religious work, and on the bottom is a triangle with the words "First Degree." To win this medal a boy had to take ten tests and get an average of 70 per cent. A picture of these efficiency members, along with their record will be hung in the club room of the new boys' building. The standings follow:

	Religious.	Athletic.	Educational

WINS $100 IN GOLD IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Chicago, April 15.—Clyde F. Dewitt of Northwestern University won the first prize of $100 in gold in the oratorical contest held here last night. His topic was "National Preparedness." Second prize of $50 in gold was won by Demaree C. Bess of the University of Iowa, whose subject was "Fillers-in." The other contestants were Ralph F. Thompson of the University of Indiana, who spoke on "Making of a National Spirit," and Forrest B. Black of the University of Wisconsin, whose subject was "Grinding the Sea Corn."

EXPECT DECISION IN STUNTZ CASE

Both Benoe and Eastman Are Confident of Winning Out.

Hibbing, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing awaits with interest Judge Fesler's decision in regards to the sixty or more votes in dispute in the contested town of Stuntz clerkship race.

Judge Fesler is expected to make his decision some time late this afternoon. In the Benoe camp there is an air of confidence that the recount of votes will show the former clerk's election while in the Eastman camp prevails the same confidence that Mr. Eastman's majority will remain as heretofore, fifteen votes.

POSTAL SAVINGS BONDS ARE POPULAR

Hibbing, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Foreign residents of Hibbing are among the most frequent purchasers of postal savings bonds, according to the local postoffice.

The privilege which allows a depositor to exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, or any multiple up to and including $500, bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per cent, is being taken advantage of by the man from across the waters.

June 1 will be the last opportunity for a while at least for depositors to purchase postoffice bonds and yesterday $2,000 worth of them were purchased.

That there is less money being sent to foreign countries during the war is the opinion of local postoffice officials.

BLIND PIGGERS FINED BY COURT

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Wright imposed sentences yesterday afternoon on the men who were convicted or pleaded guilty of violations of the liquor laws.

James Theodore, Mike Thomas, Philip Galena and Pete Michelich each received sentences of thirty days in the county jail and a fine of $60 and costs of prosecution.

William Dibbert, Ed Grefe, Bert Clair and Chester McLaughlin were each fined $80 and sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail, the jail sentence to be suspended upon conditions that in each case the suspension of the jail sentence may be rescinded and be immediately put into execution should the least suspicion attach to any, and if they hereafter, during the period of suspension, violated the laws of the state in any respect.

Court Makes Statement.

Judge Wright, in sentencing the men, stated that he was satisfied that such a course would be effectual in stopping the sale of liquor illegally in Grand Rapids, and that should the least suspicion—the presence of a drunken man or other similar evidence of violation of the liquor laws—lead to any of the men under suspended sentence, the jail sentence may immediately be put into effect by the local officials without the formality of trial. This arrangement was made as to the Grand Rapids violators and not as to the men outside of the county seat, in view of the fact that the sheriff and his deputies and the county attorney live here, and they can keep tab on the violations here, while they could not do so as well in the communities outside of the county seat.

PETITIONS ABOUT READY.

Requests for Virginia Saloon Referendum Now Completed.

Virginia, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected petitions for referendum election on the matter of reducing the number of local saloons from 49 to 25 will be submitted to the city clerk today or Monday. More than 400 signatures were obtained. Only 226 are necessary to hold an election. The petitions for the referendum include a number of local saloon keepers.

DUNCAN MINE AT CHISHOLM STOPPED

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—After steady operations for the last two years, the Duncan mine, a state-leased property, closed down today and, according to information received by the local management, will remain idle for considerable time. Work is under way pulling pumps and transferring equipment.

Low-grade ore is given by the operators as reason for shutting down. About 75,000 tons of the ore is in stockpile at the mine, but its iron content is so far below marketable standards that it will have to be mixed with higher grade ore before it can be smelted at a profit.

All men employed at the Duncan will be transferred to the Chester mine, which is opening up on a large scale and where it is stated the development work will be pushed this summer.

CHISHOLM MINE WORKER KILLED

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Niemi, aged 24, was killed yesterday when he neglected to securely fasten a bucket full of ore to a hoisting cable in an exploration test pit, located at the Hartley Burt mine, in which he was working. After being raised a distance of about twenty feet the bucket became loosened and fell back, striking Niemi on the head and killing him almost instantly.

Niemi and his partner, Charles Hokkinen, who was hoisting the bucket at the time the accident occurred, were both regarded as expert test pit men and much surprise is expressed among their friends at the apparent carelessness of Niemi.

Niemi is survived by his widow, who resides at 406 West Spruce street. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and interment made in the local cemetery.

EAST SWAN RIVER IS DOING DAMAGE

Hibbing, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The East Swan river, rising to fourteen feet in the last few days and aided by the melting snow ande ice, has overflowed its banks on the Lavelle road and threatens to do much damage before it recedes.

So serious was the situation looked upon yesterday that the township board engineers made a special trip in an endeavor to determine if there was any danger of bridges being destroyed.

They report that several fills in the road were washed away but that the concrete bridges stood firm as ever and that the water could not do these structures any damage.

The East Swan river is twelve miles southeast of Hibbing, and passes through a country widely traversed by farmers and others.

TOWER SPRING WORK.

Several Improvements of City Property Already Under Way.

Tower, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable going on here in the way of improvement and more is expected as the season advances.

The City hotel is this week undergoing repairs and exterior painting; the Ole Gruben residence on North Second street is being renovated, a new porch and veranda being added, as well as a new storehouse in the rear; Stonich's Main street property will be completely made over, and the heating plant in the Jacob Skala brick building at the North end of Main street is nearly installed. With the opening of navigation on Lake Vermilion, which is only a few days distant now, the building activities up the lake will no doubt commence, and promise to continue throughout the summer.

The Five Hundred club will meet tonight for its final meeting of this season, the affair to be in the nature of a costume party. The hostesses for this evening are Mrs. Albert Weinzerl, Misses Minnie Campaigne, Laura Nelson and Margaret Ferris.

FARMER HAENKA SUED.

Wolf Soil Tiller Alleged to Have Injured Man in Auto Collision.

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Haenka, the Wolfe farmer, has been sued by Russel Rose of Two Harbors for injuries and damages alleged to have been received last summer in a collision between Mr. Haenke's car and a motorcycle ridden by Rose and a companion near Mountain Iron.

Rose asks $6,220 damages.

A motion will be argued at Virginia, April 29, to transfer the case to a Duluth court.

PICK ABATTOIR SITE.

State Health Officer Approves Decision of Eveleth Council.

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. H. M. Bracken of St. Paul, executive agent of the state board of health, was here to look over sites for a slaughter house, at the request of the council and health department, which wanted his approval before deciding on a location for the abattoir.

A site near the Iron Range tracks, about 300 feet distant from the septic tank southwest of the city, was selected and was approved by Dr. Bracken. The building will be built the coming summer.

MANY AT INSTITUTE.

Gathering of Farmers at Deer River This Week Well Attended.

Deer River, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fifth annual farmers' institute held here Wednesday and Thursday was well attended notwithstanding both days were rainy. Many came from distances of fifty miles and the attendants numbered an unusual number of women. It is estimated that 200 visitors were in the village for the occasion. The Commercial club provided free transportation for all who wished to come down the Minneapolis & Rainy River road and free dinner and supper was also furnished for the two days.

Talks made by local men showed an unusual growth and progress in farming in the district. The business meeting adopted a resolution calling for legislation for the state to manufacture dynamite to retail at low cost to settlers.

GETTING PLANT READY.

Tower Concern Will Soon Be in Shape for Operation.

Tower, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work of putting things in readiness for the season's work at the Duluth Clay Products brick yard at the North American property has started. The roof of the machine shop has been removed, and a new one will be placed immediately. Most of the work of preparation was made last fall in order that there would be little delay when Spring finally permitted operations. The machinery is all in place and the work of making brick will no doubt commence as soon as the material can be gotten out. B. Smith has arrived from Minneapolis to be with the company.

BIWABIK BAND CONCERT.

Final Affair of Season Will Be Given Wednesday Evening.

Biwabik, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Biwabik City band will give one more indoor band concert this season at the Washington school auditorium next Wednesday evening.

Preparations are being made for the annual benefit dance for the band to be given at the Horace Mann gymnasium on the evening of Easter Monday, April 24. This annual affair for the band is always well patronized.

FIND EVELETH-DULUTH ROAD IN FAIR SHAPE

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. R. McCann, Fred Brown and R. P. Zeidler motored to Duluth Tuesday in the McCann car, returning Wednesday, and found the roads in fair condition. The trip down was made in about four hours and the same time would have been made on the return had it not been for trouble near the Morrison road, which delayed them three hours.

STEEL BEING LAID ON MUD CREEK LINE

Ely, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The laying of steel on the new Mud Creek branch of the Duluth & Iron Range was begun the latter part of the week under the supervision of D. B. Austin. The new branch is six miles in length and over a route comparatively free from heavy grades. As soon as the work is finished the work of pumping out the shaft will be commenced. The officials are in hopes of having the mine in commission soon after the opening of the ore season.

ELY LOCAL NEWS.

Ely, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Briggs, who has been ill at the Shipman hospital for some time, left Thursday for his home at Eau Claire, Wis.

The school board received no bids for the erection of a grandstand at their last meeting, but it is understood that they will advertise for bids again, and plans and specifications will be furnished.

The next meeting of the Commercial club will be held at the city hall on Wednesday evening, April 26.

Albert Kolstad returned Sunday from Rochester, Minn., where he has been under the care of Doctors Mayo.

Rev. J. C. Mapson attended the meeting of the Duluth Presbytery this week.

Joseph Martinetti and Clarence Chinn went to Chisholm Wednesday as delegates from the local fire department to the annual meeting of the Iron Range Firemen's association.

LANDSEEKERS ARE ALMOST IN CLASH

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie McDougall, who is homesteading up in 61-27, while here reported that there is much interest taken in the opening of the government land in Busti township, which took place Thursday. Among the rules applying was one which prevented the prospective homesteaders from being on the land before the hour of opening, and he states that many of the first comers had formed a pool and leased most of the land over which access to the government lands could be made, and warned others off the leased lands.

Force of arms was threatened, and excitement was looked for, but no serious disturbance has been reported to date.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION.

Physical Drills Are Presented By Pupils at Biwabik.

Biwabik, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first demonstration of the department of physical education of the Biwabik public schools was held last night in the gymnasium of the Horace Mann high school under the direction of J. S. Buchanan, instructor for boys, and Miss Helen Dixon, instructor for girls. Miss Cornelia Faber is pianist. The program follows:

RAPIDS BALL CLUB HAS BEEN REORGANIZED

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Rapids Cubs have reorganized their team. Roy Zeidel was re-elected manager; J. R. Sinnett, captain, and the following outside of the officers were enrolled on the staff: Tom Erskine, John Benton, Ray Beckfelt, John Costello, Harvey Jorgenson, Robert Pratt, Leonard Craig, Standley Farrell, Russell McAlpine, Lester Lofberg, Howard Doran, Otto Litchke, John Remer.

WARBA MAN SHOOTS SELF IN LEG

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. W. Hawkins of Warba shot himself in the thigh with a 22-caliber target pistol. The gun was hard to close, and Mr. Hawkins jerked it shut, which touched the cartridge, the bullet hitting him in the left thigh, and penetrating through the fleshy part of that member. He was brought to Grand Rapids on a speeder, and given proper surgical care, and he is able to be around.

TOWER BOATS ARE BEING MADE READY

Tower, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Boat house row is a busy place. The outing club launches, the Scout and Sally, are being thoroughly renovated, the Erma D., owned by C. De Caigney, which was out of commission last season, is being put in shape and Capt. Aronson of the Goodwill is making necessary repairs and improvements, while all the owners of smaller craft are busy getting things in shape.

The Aronson Bros. have let a contract for building twelve rowboats to the Bystrom contractors of this city. The Outing club has also placed a large order for small craft with an out-of-town concern.

TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR RANGE MEETINGS

Hibbing, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary J. E. Lawler of the Commercial club left today for Duluth to confer with George D. McCarthy, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, in regard to the convention to be held in Hibbing this summer.

Mr. Lawler will also visit Minneapolis, where he will meet labor officials in regard to the state federation of labor meeting to be held in Hibbing in June.

COOK NEWSLETS.

Cook, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The order of Railroad Trainmen will give a ball at the curling rink at Virginia, April 24, and a large crowd from Cook is calculating on taking it in. The superintendent of the D., W. & P. railway has promised to put on an accommodation coach for their return.

Ernest Carpenter and sons, Ervie and Hubert, left Thursday for Minneapolis, and the rest of the family will follow later.

Carpenters have moved out of the Pioneer hotel and the Lemoines have moved in and taken charge.

Anna, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Magneson, passed away Thursday afternoon of pneumonia.

Eveleth Road Meeting.

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the Sixth district road committee will be held at the city auditorium club rooms Wednesday, April 19. Delegates from all parts of the district will attend and the road situation will be discussed. The appointment of road overseers will be considered.

Eveleth Class Play.

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Importance of Being Earrest," the senior class play was shown to a large audience Wednesday evening. In the afternoon a matinee was given for the benefit of the grade children of the city.

Eveleth Building Plans.

Eveleth, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Engineering company, of which W. H. Hinn of Hibbing is manager, has taken a contract to furnish plans and supervise the construction of the home to be erected in this city by the Narodni Dom.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Forecaster.

CLOUDY

Despite the fact that conditions are partly cloudy, today is not at all bad. The air is agreeable and springlike, and further advance toward knocking out the ice in the bay and lake is being had; all of which helps. Still, a day or two of good, heavy rain will help matters greatly all around.

A year ago today was bright and agreeable. The sun rose this morning at 5:20 and will set this evening at 6:56, giving 13 hours and 36 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen over Wyoming, South Dakota, Western Iowa, Nebraska, Utah and Nevada, and has fallen over Southeastern states, the extreme Northwest and North Pacific districts. Frost occurred at Roseburg, Or. During the last twenty-four hours light to copious rains fell over the Southwest, Northeastern states and the North Pacific region. A maximum wind velocity at the rate of seventy-two miles per hour from the Northwest occurred at New York city last night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 15.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Unsettled weather tonight and Sunday with showers; warmer in southeast portion tonight; cooler Sunday.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness with showers late tonight and Sunday; warmer in south portion tonight; cooler in west portion Sunday.

Iowa—Showers tonight and Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Sunday.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Sunday.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; cooler tonight.

Lower Michigan—Increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain late tonight and Sunday; somewhat warmer tonight.

Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain late tonight or Sunday; warmer in east and south portions tonight.

LOCAL FORECAST

Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Unsettled and generally cloudy weather tonight and Sunday. Cooler Sunday. Fresh shifting winds, mostly westerly.

MINES HAVE BEGUN SHIPPING TO DOCKS

Virginia, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected ore shipments from the Virginia district to the Head of the Lakes docks, will be general the next week.

The Alpena and Commodore pits are now shipping to the docks and the next ten days will see considerably increased activity. It is estimated at least 8,000 additional men will be employed in the Mesaba mining industry during the next ten days.

CHISHOLM MINES ARE NOW SHIPPING ORE

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In accordance with orders received yesterday from Duluth, local mines of the Oliver company are shipping ore today. At daybreak today 145 cars of ore, the first ore drag from Chisholm this season, was on the way.

Overhauling of steam shovels and locomotives and other loading equipment was completed at the Monroe shops and shovels were headed into the stockpiles in readiness for orders to load and ship.

Ore in Stockpiles.

Ore in stockpiles at the Oliver properties in this district, estimating on the usual overrun on storage figures, will aggregate 1,437,000 tons, divided among the mines as follows: Glen, 85,000; Clark, 70,000; Monroe, 1,000,000; Chisholm, 160,000; Chester, 17,000; Myers, 30,000; Duncan, 70,000, all of which, it is expected, will be shipped before the close of the season.

A force of men started work in the Shenango pit Thursday in preparing of equipment for the start of shipments, which is expected early next week. Practically all "dead work" has been completed on the Shenango property and the mine is ready to handle ore trains as soon as instructions are received.

Development work is being forced at the Tioga mine and the main drift is now well advanced into the ore body. The ore at this mine is said to run heavy in iron content and the grade is desired at the company's furnaces. Shipments will be started from the shaft early next week.

RESERVATION CLEAN-UP.

Places on Fond du Lac Reserve to Be Furbished April 28 and 29.

Cloquet, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual clean-up of the Fond du Lac Indian reservation will be April 28 and all the homes on the reservation including the villages at Sawyer, Brookston and Cloquet will be cleaned up under the supervision of a committee composed of employes of the Indian office and some of the farmers, who will make an inspection after the work is completed and report to the Indian office here.

Guy Houchen, the Indian farmer, from the reservation went to Duluth on Friday to purchase four or five teams for use on the farms of the reservation. These teams are sold to the Indians on the reimbursable plan, they paying one-fourth the first year and the balance within four years. There are some fine horses on the reservation and their number is growing all the time.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING IN POOL

Fred Rosco of this city was rescued from drowning in the swimming pool of the Y. M. C. A. last night by Lawrence Duby just as he was going down for the third time.

Duby had just come down from the boys' entertainment and was in black face costume. He went into the shower room to wash up, when he heard the cries of Rosco. Believing at first that Rosco was merely having some fun, Duby did not go to his rescue until he saw Rosco go down for the third time. He dived into the tank and after a real struggle, succeeded in getting the unconscious man out of the water.

Duby worked for nearly half an hour to resuscitate Rosco.

Rosco, it seemed, was suddenly taken with a cramp in the deep end of the pool. He was helpless and would undoubtedly have drowned had it not been for the timely appearance of the amateur blackface comedian.

DIVORCE SUITS BEFORE COURT

If his story is to be taken as a fact, Charles Engman, 40, must have been an abused husband. In district court today he began suit for divorce from his wife, Wilhelmina Engman, 44, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. He charges:

That she threatened to kill him.

That she has falsely accused him of infidelity.

That she is possessed of a quarrelsome disposition and that twice she has forced him to leave home.

That she keeps the children and the home in a filthy condition.

And that he lives in constant fear that she will do him bodily harm.

The Engmans were married in 1899 and are the parents of five sons and one daughter, ranging in age from 15 to 4 years. Engman is suing for an absolute divorce.

* * *

District Judge Cant this morning listened to a recital of a hard luck story on the part of John L. O'Malley, 33, whose wife, Nellie O'Malley, 31, obtained a divorce on the grounds of cruelty last December, and then excused O'Malley from paying all of his monthly alimony instalment. O'Malley represented that he was out of work and was in hard financial straits. Although $20 was due, Judge Cant took the circumstances into consideration and reduced it to $18 for this month. Mrs. O'Malley is residing in Madison, Wis.

* * *

The divorce suit of Agatha Johnson, 22, against Charles Johnson, 54, was begun yesterday afternoon before Ensign. Mrs. Johnson charges cruelty, claiming that on one occasion Johnson threatened to chop her head off with an ax. They were married June 10, 1911, and lived at French River. She left him a year ago last February.

* * *

In Judge Cant's court Monday, trial of a suit brought by Ole Emmett to recover $2,240 from his former wife for board for each of her two children during the nine years he and their mother lived together as husband and wife, will be resumed. The Emmetts were married in 1906. At that time Mrs. Emmett was a widow and the children were 5 and 10 respectively.

RED LAKE RIVER TAKES ONE BRIDGE

Crookston, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Red Lake river is steadily rising, having gained nearly a foot since last night. The ice this morning carried away the new steel bridge over the river between here and Gentilla and the old bridge is doomed a mile farther down.

Many basements are flooded and a number of outbuildings were carried away.

Many barns and garages are untenable. From conditions up the river the rise is expected to continue all day. The Northern Pacific bridge here is threatened. In the rural districts the water is rapidly disappearing and the land getting into good shape, warm weather drying it out.

MAY ABSORB COAL COMPANY

It is reported about the city today in the coal trade, that the property of the Carnegie Fuel company at the Head of the Lakes is likely to be purchased by one of the other coal companies operating here. The story has it that either the Pittsburgh, the Northwestern or the Lehigh Valley would be the purchaser.

C. Beuglet, manager here for the Northwestern Fuel company, declared today that it could be positively announced that the Northwestern is not mixed in any deal nor does he know anything about it.

Officials of the Pittsburgh company and of the Lehigh Valley could not be reached. It is believed in coal circles, however, that the latter company is the most likely to purchase, as it holds quite a block of the bonds of the Carnegie company.

The Carnegie company has two docks at the Head of the Lakes. One is on the Duluth side of the bay, capable of carrying about 600,000 tons of bituminous coal and 100,000 tons of anthracite; and one on the Superior side, capable of handling about 500,000 tons of bituminous coal.

SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR WETS GIVE UP FIGHT

The verdict of the voters at the polls on April 4, which resulted in the city of Superior going "dry" by a majority of twenty-six votes will be allowed to stand without any further contest. Such agreement was reached this morning on the advice of attorneys for E. J. Schroeder and J. H. Lynch, who had started an appeal from the decision of Judge Frank Ross in the recent injunction proceedings to prevent the certifying to the election. The appeal to the supreme court is dropped.

This decision on the part of the saloon keepers amounts to the dropping of any contest and will mean that no further protest will be made against closing the saloons on July 1. The advice given the saloon keepers by the attorneys was virtually to the effect that the supreme court would unquestionably uphold the election as shown by the returns as being the will of the majority of the people and that their case was hopeless.

TO ENFORCE LIQUOR LAWS.

The Liquor Law Enforcement league was officially organized last evening at a meeting of about 100 advocates of no-license held at the offices of H. A. Johnson, in the Board of Trade building. The league will have for its object the assisting of the city authorities in the enforcement of the law after the saloons go out of business in Superior on July 1. The officers are: E. F. McCausland, president; R. C. Ogilvie, vice president; W. B. Kellogg, secretary, and Roy Arnold, treasurer. Two members from each of the ten wards were appointed members of the executive committee.

DECLARES SCHMAHL OVERLY TECHNICAL

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—T. J. Sharkey of Staples accuses Secretary of State Schmahl of being overly technical in denying Sharkey the privilege of filing for Republican congress nomination in the Sixth district.

Schmahl refused him on the ground that Sharkey was a Progressive candidate for congress two years ago and therefore could not take oath in filing for the Republican nomination that he was affiliated with the Republican party two years ago and voted for a majority of Republican candidates.

In a letter to Schmahl, received today, Sharkey says after the general election of 1914 he ceased to be a Progressive. In fact, says Sharkey, he voted for a majority of the Republican candidates at the last general election, even though he was a Progressive candidate.

Sharkey says that he will not take court action, but that Schmahl is "stretching things" in refusing his application.

RECREATION FOR THE GROWN-UPS PROVIDED

Batchelor Arranges to Have Fathers and Mothers Use Playgrounds.

Duluth's fathers and mothers will come into their rights.

This morning Recreational Director Batchelor announced that provision would be made on all the public playgrounds of the city for the playing of croquet during the early hours of the evening. It is his plan to interest the grownups in this game, which was popular nation-wide about twenty years ago.

"I want the parents of the children to use these public grounds just as well as the youngsters," said Director Batchelor. "The croquet fields will be laid out on all the playgrounds and a special invitation will be extended to the grownups."

Director Batchelor is also arranging to lay out tennis courts on several of the grounds for the use of the younger people. These courts, he said, will be ready about May 15.

Ten public playgrounds will be opened on May 1 to operate throughout the summer under the supervision of the city and school recreational departments.

IS FATALLY CRUSHED IN SOUTH CHANDLER

Ely, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Kangras, aged 55, widower, having a son and two stepdaughters, was crushed to death in the thirteenth level of the South Chandler mine here about 2:25 this morning.

His partner, Charles Nappa had left him for a minute to get needed timber, when the earth began falling and Kangras was caught in a heavy fall of ground that crushed him to death. His body was exhumed but life was extinct. The dead man had worked here for fifteen years. His wife died about a month ago.

MEN IN TRENCHES ARE VERY GRATEFUL

Ironwood, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A letter from the trenches in the great European war from "Somewhere in France," dated March 3, 1916, has been received by R. J. Harris, a local young man, thanking him and other young men here who forwarded to them tobacco and cigars bought with funds raised here.

The letter came in an envelope marked "passed by the censor, field postoffice 18, March 16." It is signed "I am, yours faithfully, Capt. E. Foster, B 72 B. F. A." and reads:

"Dear sir: You have been the means of giving the men of my sub-section a most welcome surprise today. I have a quantity of cigars and tobacco to distribute among the men and have been told that you were the donor, so I would like you to know how keenly the men appreciate the gift, especially coming from one so far away from us.

"I am pleased, sir, that you think of the boys out here and they all wish you 'the best of luck.'"

TO TEST LEGALITY OF BLUE SKY LAW

Madison, Wis., April 15.—An action, which will test the constitutionality of the Wisconsin blue sky law under which the selling of stocks and bonds is regulated in the state, is now before the Federal court here. The matter will be heard on May 4.

The Insurance Trust Company of Chicago was charged by the railroad commission with having agents in the state selling securities without first having obtained a license from the railroad commission in accordance with provisions of the blue sky law. These complaints came from Chilton, Appleton and Waupun.

Body of Boy Found.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—Partly clothed, the body of William Clark, 8 years old, who disappeared from his home here March 25, was found today in a swamp six miles west of the city. Investigation as to whether the boy met foul play or died of cold and hunger is under way.

CLEARING LAND MORE EXPENSIVE

Farmer Must Meet War Prices for Dynamite—How to Economize.

War prices for dynamite and the increasing cost of labor are factors with which the farmer must contend in laying out plans for clearing his land this year, according to M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the Northeast Experiment station, near this city.

Mr. Thompson says that a common practice is to cut a tract of land and then let a portion of it grow up to brush again. "This is expensive and useless" he said. "Six or seven pounds of grass seed—clover and timothy mixed—should be sown on the land and worked in with a spring tooth harrow.

"On the other hand, an extreme expenditure of capital and labor on a given area to get it into a crop is also undesirable, since no definite plan is being followed for future development. Assuming that delayed clearings are usually cheaper, this plan works well:

"A tract of a few acres easily cleared, well drained and fairly well located, that under average summer conditions will give a maximum crop with a minimum risk and investment is selected and put into crops. A second area, possibly twice as large, is brushed and seeded to grasses. The first tract supplies the immediate requirement for foodstuffs and income. The second supplies pasture and a hay crop, and is a delayed clearing. One gets certain pasture and forage crops with the cheapening of the final clearing.

"By cleaning up an additional area annually in a similar way the farm is developed on most economical lines."

DEVELOPING BIG DAIRY CENTER

Aurora and Vicinity Have About 700 Cows; Larger Herd Promised.

Aurora and vicinity are coming to the front as a dairy center, according to H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent, who returned this week from a swing around the county, where he has been assisting in short course institutes for farmers.

A new creamery has been organized at Aurora, and according to Mr. Larson, about 700 dairy cows are in that vicinity and the number may reach 1,000 before the end of the season. The new creamery is a co-operative organization.

County Agent Larson is preparing another bulletin, listing the "wants" of farmers and the products offered for sale. It will be distributed within a few days.

Russian General Dead.

London, April 15.—Gen. Plehve, retired, former commander-in-chief of the Russian Northern army, has died at Moscow, according to special dispatches received here.

LEGAL NOTICES.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Two Thousand, Three Hundred Seventy-eight and 19-100 ($2,378.19) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Finch and Florence Finch, his wife, Mortgagors, to Fitger Brewing Company, a Minnesota corporation, Mortgagee, bearing date the 26th day of January, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of February, 1915, at 11 o'clock A. M., in Book 343 of Mortgages, on page 165.

And Whereas the said Fitger Brewing Company, Mortgagee and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable, at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Six Thousand Fifty-one and 96-100 ($6,051.96) Dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot Thirty-two (32), Block Nineteen (19), Virginia, according to the recorded plat thereof, on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, excepting minerals, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at his office at the Courthouse in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the 24th day of April, 1916, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Six Thousand Fifty-one and 96-100 ($6,051.96) Dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-five ($75.00) Dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage, in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

FOR THE CROPS THEY RAISED, WHICH FAR EXCEEDED ANY OTHER STATE.

We can sell you a small or large farm so that a part of this great wealth will be yours. Farmers from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota are daily moving to North Dakota. Why not follow the lead? Here are two exceptional bargains.

480 acres two miles from city, central North Dakota, on Mouse river; all tillable land, 200 acres now in crop. Large buildings; 20 acres of timber along the river. Will divide this farm into 80-acre tracts. An ideal location for small dairy farms. Price $40 per acre; any reasonable terms.

160 acres, every foot under the plow; all level, excellent soil, no stone; three miles from town on main road. This farm is a snap and can be sold with small payment down, balance on crop contract. Adjoining farm sold last fall at $50 per acre. Price for this quarter section, if taken at once, $40 per acre.

If you are looking for farm lands do not buy until you have consulted

ONLY PROMPT ACQUIESCENCE BY GERMANY TO POSITION OF U. S. CAN PREVENT DIPLOMATIC BREAK

SUBMARINE ISSUE MUST BE DECIDED

Note to Germany Will Show Her Promises Not Fulfilled.

Communication Is All Ready to Go Forward to Berlin.

German Willingness to Meet U. S. Half Way Not Acceptable.

Washington, April 17.—Announcement was made at the White House today that President Wilson had practically completed consideration of the forthcoming communication to Germany and it was indicated that it probably will go forward to Berlin late today or tomorrow.

President Wilson, it was said, has been steadily engaged on the note for two days. He did not go to church yesterday, but worked practically all day examining evidence submitted by the state department.

Will Press Issue.

The document, officials said, will press the submarine issue to a decision. It was reiterated that the Sussex case would form only a link in the chain of evidence the United States will present to Germany to show that her promises have not been fulfilled.

The document was characterized by officials today as being very positive in tone and they believe only a prompt acquiescence by Germany in the position taken by the United States can prevent a break in diplomatic relations.

Unofficial dispatches from Berlin indicating that the German government is ready to meet the United States more than half way, it was said, will not change the course of the American

AMERICAN HURT WHEN SHIP IS DESTROYED

Two Aboard Russian Bark Imperator, Fired on Without Warning.

Washington, April 17.—One of two Americans aboard the Russian bark Imperator, from Gulfport, Miss., for Marseilles, France, was wounded when the vessel was fired upon without warning by an Austrian submarine off the Columbrede islands, according to official advices to the state department today.

The American injured was Gustav Olson, whose father is bandmaster at Fort Warren, Boston. The other American who was aboard was Aner Swennsson, whose brother is foreman of a Minneapolis furniture factory.

The state department's information came from the American consul at Barcelona, Spain. He said the ship was fired upon without warning on April 11. Three shots were fired, one taking effect. The vessel was set afire by the submarine. Olson was reported to be in a hospital at Barcelona, suffering from shrapnel wounds.

NICHOLSON MAY NOT BE ASSISTANT SECRETARY

Washington, April 17.—After a conference today with Secretary Baker, Senator Kern of Indiana said the prospects of appointment of Meredith Nicholson, the Indiana author, as assistant secretary of war, were very doubtful. Secretary Baker has not reached a final decision.

HEAD OF U. S. ARMY AVIATION CORPS CENTER OF CHARGES

COL. SAM REBER, U. S. A.

Col. Samuel Reber of the aviation corps of the army is the center of sensational charges made in congress by Senator Robinson of Arkansas. Robinson has demanded an investigation of the service on the ground that it is "contemptibly inefficient" and that Col. Reber is concealing the facts from his superiors.

SOON REACH FLOOD CREST

Considerable Damage Reported Around East Grand Forks, Minn.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications today are that the Red river flood at this point will reach its crest in a very short time, probably tonight or tomorrow. The rise over Sunday was very small and this morning the water had not quite reached the thirty-six foot mark. The North end of East Grand Forks, Minn., is badly flooded many houses being entirely surrounded. Yesterday two streets were cut off by water in the South end. Red lake and Red river have formed second juncture flooding the chief street of Minnesota Point.

So far business houses of Grand Forks have not been damaged to any extent there being out little water in the basement. The big rise at Crookston is not expected to make any material difference in the river here, except probably to retard the decline for a short time.

Railroad Bridge Unsafe.

Crookston, Minn., April 17.—(Special

Said to Have Gained Some Ground in Douaumont Region.

German Infantry Also Held in Check for Present.

New Movement of Importance Is Apparently in Preparation.

London, April 17.—After temporarily assuming the aggressive in the Verdun battle, launching attacks in the Douaumont-Vaux region, which are declared to have gained them some ground, the French yesterday and last night held their infantry in check. Neither was there any move by the German infantry arm, according to this afternoon's Paris bulletin.

Apparently a new movement of some importance is preparing west of the Meuse. Heavy bombardment of the French positions in the Avocourt region and along the line for some distance northeast, including the Dead Man's hill sector, has been mentioned in several recent official statements by the French war office and similar artillery activity is again recorded today.

Airmen Active.

French airmen are showing great activity in bombarding positions back of the German lines, attacking railroad stations and factories. The French war office also reports that "a vessel of the enemy" was struck in the North sea by bombs dropped from a French armed aeroplane.

There have been recent raids by the French airmen north of Saloniki, Bulgarian forces at Strumitsa station being bombarded by one squadron and German positions at Bogdantze by another.

German aviation feats reported today include the bringing down of two hostile aeroplanes, one of which fell victim to First Lieut. Barthold, another German airman who is piling up a record, this being the fifth machine he has forced to earth.

On the eastern front there are apparently no notable operations in progress.

French Statement.

Paris, April 17.—French positions in Avocourt wood and to the front from Dead Man's hill to Cumieres were bombarded yesterday. There were no infantry attcaks, the official report of the afternoon says.

To the east of the Meuse the night was calm except for artillery activity at Haudremont wood.

MOST GIGANTIC CONFLICT IN HISTORY ENTERS NINTH WEEK

London, April 17.—The most gigantic conflict in the history of the world, the battle of Verdun, has entered upon its ninth week. It is in many respects without precedent. The enormous scale of the German preparations and execution of the attack and the sustained ferocity of fighting mark the battle as one of the greatest efforts of the war.

Verdun has been rated as one of the strongest fortresses of Europe, the cornerstone of the French defenses against Germany. The evolution of military tactics during the war, however, and particularly the employment by the Germans of long range howitzers capable of reducing the greatest forts, have done much to change the character of the Verdun campaign as compared with the earlier conceptions of what such a struggle might be.

Reliance on Trenches.

Chief reliance for resistance by the French was placed on an elaborate system of trenches. In no previous battle were the losses so high as those which have been estimated in the fighting around Verdun. These estimates, however, cannot be regarded as conclusive evidence, for neither Germany nor France has announced its own casualties. However, if estimates are approximately correct, nearly 400,000 men have been eliminated as fighting units.

The ground occupied by the Germans after fifty-six days of offensive operations might be roughly calcu-

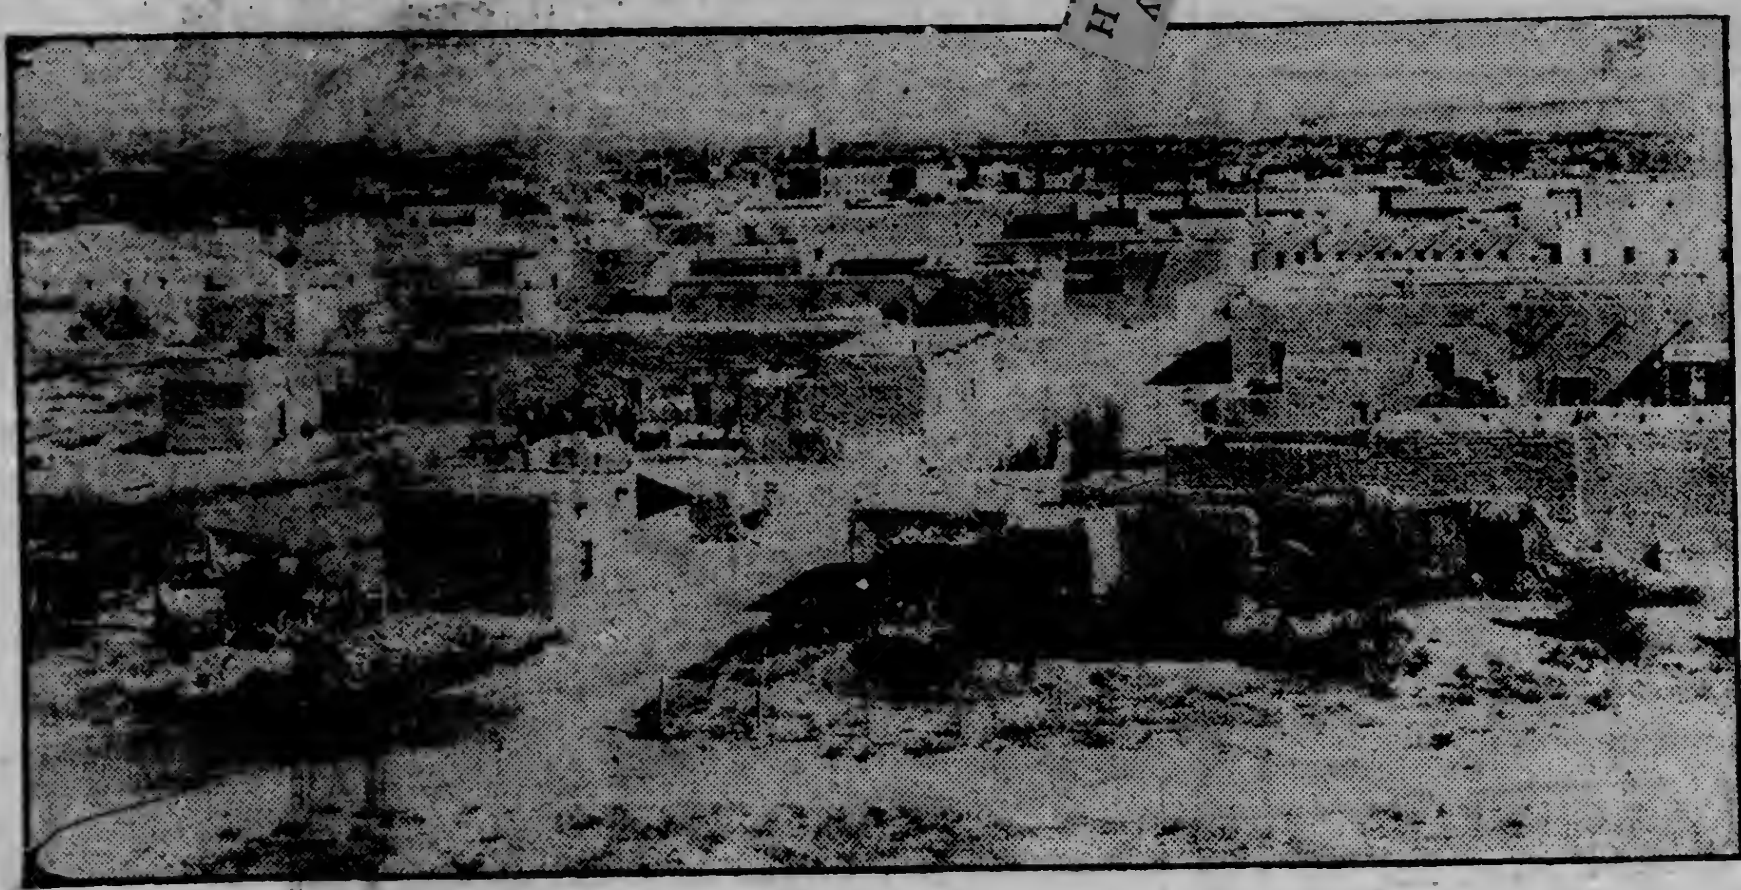
OFFICIALS DOUBTFUL OF TRUTH OF STORY OF FINDING BODY OF VILLA, REPORTED BY MEXICANS

PARRAL, WHERE THE MEXICANS ATTACKED U. S. TROOPERS



PARRAL, MEXICO.

This is the city of Parral, where the clash between Carranza soldiers and 150 United States soldiers took place, now the center of interest in the Mexican affair.

FARMER AND SON DROWNING VICTIMS

Lose Lives Trying to Take Wood From Red Lake River.

Crookston, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—August J. Wentzel, a wealthy farmer living near Fischer, Minn., aged 37, was drowned in the Red Lake river this morning together with his son, Paul, age 13.

They were attempting to save some wood when the boy fell in and the father drowned in and effort to save him. The bodies were recovered. Wentzel's wife and seven other children survive.

CONTEST ON BRANDEIS EXCEEDINGLY CLOSE

Washington, April 17.—The nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court was considered again today by the senate judiciary committee without action. Another meeting will be held Wednesday. The contest is very close and there are indications that the nomination may be reported to the senate without recommendation, leaving the next step in the fight for the senate itself.

Ship Purchased From Dutch Arrives.

New York, April 17.—The Ecuador, one of the three new steamships purchased by the Pacific Mail Steamship line from Amsterdam owners, arrived here today from Amsterdam. Before her departure she was given a provisional American registry by the American consul there. The Ecuador will be placed in service between New York and San Francisco.

DR. IRWIN SHEPARD DIES AT WINONA

Secretary of National Education Association for Many Years.

Winona, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Irwin Shepard, well known educator, secretary of the National Education association from 1893 to 1912, died this morning of heart trouble after an illness of two weeks. Dr. Shephard was born at Skaneateles, N. Y., in 1834. He entered educational work as superintendent of schools at Charles City, Iowa, and then came to Winona, where, after being superintendent of the city schools, he was in 1879 appointed president of the Winona Normal school, holding this position for nineteen years, until the growing work of the National Education association necessitated his resigning this presidency to give his entire time to the work of the educational association as its secretary. In 1912 he became secretary of the Bureau of Societies and Conventions of the Panama Pacific exposition. For the past two years he has led a retired life.

FRENCH AVIATORS DROP BOMBS ON BULGARIANS

Paris, April 17.—Raids by two French Aerial squadrons stationed on the Saloniki front are reported in a Havas dispatch from Athens. One squadron dropped bombs yesterday morning on Bulgarian forces assembled at Strumitsa station. The other attack was made on German positions at Bogdantze. Both squadrons returned undamaged.

NOT A WORD ABOUT VILLA

Mexican Government at Juarez Still Lacks Confirmation of Death.

Report From Mexico City Says That Body Is Still Buried.

El Paso, Tex., April 17.—Confirmation of Mexican reports that Francisco Villa's body had been exhumed at San Francisco Borja and was being brought to Chihuahua, was still lacking at the headquarters of the de facto government at Juarez today. The Mexican telegraph lines lay silent throughout the early hours. Not a message regarding Villa was received at the Juarez headquarters during the night.

"I still feel reasonably certain that the messages received Sunday over the Mexican land lines that Villa's body had been found is correct," said Andres Garcia, Mexican consul here today. "I shall make every effort to have the body brought to Juarez where scores of Americans who knew him may make an identification that will be completely satisfactory to the American people. We should have some official information about the Villa reports today."

De facto government officials were not able to give any information re-

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN MILWAUKEE RIVER

Believed to Be That of Charles Kock, Chicago Expressman.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—Doubled up with heavy guy wire which was wound around the legs and shoulders, the hands held in leash and pinioned to the body by a similar wire and heavy cord and tied so that the victim was absolutely helpless, the body of a man supposed to have been murdered was found today floating in the Milwaukee river at the State street bridge.

From a bankbook found in the clothes of the man, it is believed that he is Charles Kock, an expressman of Chicago. The bankbook showed a small deposit and is the only clew upon which the police will have to work, with the exception of a business card of Peter J. Siebold, 1854 North Halsted street, Chicago.

It is believed the body had been in the river two months.

RIOTING AT MEETING OF VENIZELOS MEN

Athens, April 17, via Paris.—An attempt to break up a meeting held by adherents of Former Premier Venizelos ended in riotous demonstrations. Speakers were greeted with cries of "Down with the traitors" and "Long live the king." Efforts were made to eject the disturbers. The police cleared the hall amid great disorder.

Several Shots Fired.

London, April 17.—Reuter's Athens correspondent says that several shots were fired in the riot which resulted from the campaign meeting of the Venizelos party yesterday, and that many followers of the former premier were arrested.

CONFIRMATION OF THE REPORT STILL LACKING

Remains Said to Have Been Exhumed at San Francisco Bjora.

Rumor Says Villa Was Recently Seen in That Vicinity.

Fight at Parral Cause of Much Comment at Washington.

Washington, April 17.—As the hours pass without confirmation of the story of the finding of the body of Francisco Villa, Washington grows more doubtful.

Villa's body was to have reached Chihuahua City by special train some time last night, but American Consul Letcher has not even forwarded the rumors as to Villa's death, which must be circulating there.

Secretary Baker today received a dispatch from Naco saying that Gen. Villa was last seen heading in the direction of the place where reports yesterday said he was buried. The dispatch was taken by war department officials to mean that the reports of Villa's death might be true. The dispatch was immediately sent to President Wilson.

The Mexican embassy here had no additional information. Its last report from Consul Garcia at El Paso said he was seeking confirmation.

State and war department officials refused to comment today on Gen. Pershing's report of the Parral fight, which is much different from the version transmitted by Gen. Carranza to support his suggestion that American troops be withdrawn. The American report shows that Carranza troops not only joined in the attack upon the little detachment of Americans, but followed them several miles as they withdrew to

NEUTRAL AND BRITISH VESSELS ARE SUNK

Norwegian Boat Sunk By Gunfire; English Boat Was Unarmed.

London, April 17.—The sinking of a neutral ship and a British steamship was reported by Lloyds today. The Norwegian ship Glendoon was sunk by gunfire. The lost British steamship was the Harrovian, which was unarmed.

The Glendoon, which was sailing from Iquique, Chile, for Calais, was built in 1894 and was owned in Christiania. Her gross tonnage was 1,918.

The Harrovian sailed from New York April 2 for Havre. She was a comparatively new vessel, having been built in 1914 for a London company. She was 385 feet long and 4,309 tons gross.

WILL CONTROL SISAL OUTPUT

Federal Trade Commission to Be Asked to Control Disposal.

Yucatan Farmers Ask Some One to Oversee Sale of Crop.

Washington, April 17.—Senator Ransdell, chairman of the committee investigating an alleged monopoly to control the output of sisal, announced today that the Federal trade commission would be asked to superintend disposal of the 125,000 bales now in Yucatan in order to insure a sufficient supply of binder twine for the American harvests.

The commission representing Yucatan farmers asked the senate committee to oversee the sale of the crop but it does not come within the province of a legislative body. Chairman Davies of the Federal commission has informed Senator Ransdell that it has the machinery to proceed with the distribution and will send two men to Yucatan. Senator Ransdell will introduce a resolution to put the trade commission in charge.

Plan Satisfactory.

MUCH SNOW; BUT NO FISH

Trout Streams Are High, Banks Muddy and Water Cold.

Duluth anglers who yesterday invaded the brook trout preserves of the country adjacent to Duluth returned last evening footsore and weary from their day's experience. Rain that began falling in the early morning kept many would-be fishermen at home, but several were bold enough to brave the elements and today they delight in relating their experiences.

Among those who went out into the wild yesterday were Willard Beck, Maxwell Harlan and Dave Cone. They made a trip to French river in an automobile, where they expected to enjoy good fishing. When they reached the district they encountered nothing but mud, slush and snow. The river was extremely high and was running wild, the water being muddy and icy cold.

"Never had such a time in my life," said Mr. Cone this morning, in telling of the trip. "Say, boy, those roads are just one sea of mud and in the woods the snow is four feet in depth in many places. Our automobile got stuck a number of times and when we did get it going it would slip and slide all over the greased highway. We met only a few fishermen and they were just as disgusted as the members of our party. In my opinion there will be no conditions fit for good fishing for many days."

RANDALL IS HURT; LANE SHOWING WELL

Newt Randall, well known Duluth young man, who is playing an outfield position for the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, has suffered an injury to his knee that may keep him out of the game for some time, according to a newspaper story published in San Francisco last Saturday. For several seasons Randall performed in the outer gardens for the Milwaukee club of the American association and previous to that was a member of the Boston Nationals and the Chicago Cubs.

Lane, an outfielder who last season played with the St. Boniface team in the Northern league, is also a member of the Oakland team and, according to reports from 'Frisco, is making an excellent showing.

HIGH WATER HITS MILLS AT CLOQUET

Two Plants Not Able to Start Because of Water Menace.

Cloquet, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald—Because of high water in St. Louis river the Johnson-Wentworth company sawmill and the water powor mill of the Cloquet Lumber company could not start up this morning. The big mill of the Cloquet Lumber company, which was to have started the season's cut today, was obliged to wait.

The river began to rise Saturday night and all day yesterday citizens and officials of the several companies were much alarmed. Late Sunday the rise of water had abated and it is thought that unless a drive of logs break loose the danger is past.

River Rises Rapidly.

The river has been partially open for some time, but Saturday, due to the great amount of snow and the thick ice, it started to rise and all that day and night it rose at the rate of four inches an hour. Floating blocks of ice and logs made the pressure on the dams all the worse since they jammed in the gates and backed up the water. The pond containing the logs at the Johnson-Wentworth Lumber mill broke loose and the logs went on down to the paper mill dam, where they jammed, and the officials of the mill with a crew of men were at work all night getting the logs through and blasting the ice to release the pressure on the dam. In several places the water rose to the level of the lumber yards and in some places even ran under and around the piles.

On Dunlap island the road approaching the bridge spanning the main channel was submerged and the water completely surrounded some of the residences, backing up on the island for a distance of 200 feet. The flood reached the steel girders on the D. & N. E. railroad bridge and would hardly permit the passage of a small log underneath. All the gates of dams were kept open to allow the water to go through and crews of men were continually at work to keep the gates clear. Over a mile of track was washed out on the Great Northern track above here and the Grand Forks train was forced to go over the D., M. & N. Crowds of people watched the flood during the day, the current was terrific and furnished many sights well worth seeing.

HOOSIER GOLD MEDAL SALE

$ THIS WEEK
Club Terms $1 Now $1 Weekly

Come and see what thousands of people saw at the great San Francisco Fair last year, what dozens of women saw Friday and Saturday at our store.

Learn why so many folks you know have paid us $1 in the past two days and ordered the Hoosier delivered to their homes. These neighbors will have many hours to spare when most women still are plodding 'round their kitchens preparing meals or putting away supplies and tidying up.

Hoosier has places for 400 articles all handily arranged at your fingers' ends. But don't think it is merely a "shelf-room" cabinet. The Hoosier is really an "automatic servant." It has 40 features that aid you in cooking and save you time and labor.

The Famous Roll Door "Hoosier Beauty"

Its perfect construction surpasses all other cabinets made:

—1—

—2—

Hoosier's Revolving Spice Castors puts the spices you need at your finger tips. No danger of knocking over any or spilling them.

—3—

Hoosier's Double - Acting Sugar Bin is the only sugar bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from top or bottom; has three times the capacity of most bins.

—4—

Hoosiers are made with Hinge doors or full view Roll doors above the base. The Hinge doors have remarkably convenient utensil trays. The Roll doors are open—no pockets or cubby-holes. The price has only 50c difference.

Remember, there are Hoosiers for farms, camps, apartments, big kitchens, little ones, for window spaces and the center of big kitchens. No further need for old-fashioned, built-in, uncleanable cupboards.

If you think that you can't spare the time to come, then you confess that you need a Hoosier badly, because it will give you so many spare hours for a lifetime.

Come see this Gold Medal demonstration tomorrow. Get out low prices and money-back offer. And please bring some friend with you.

NEW MARSHAL TAKES OFFICE

Wessel Succeeds Grimshaw; Cash Deputy in Duluth, Vice Mallory.

First Change in Seventeen Years; Only Two Retained.

Minnsota has a new United States marshal for the first time in seventeen years and Duluth has a new deputy for the first time in fifteen years. The former is Joseph A. Wessel of Crookston, who succeeded William H. Grimshaw on Saturday, and Duluth's new deputy is J. Scott Cash, who succeeds George J. Mallory.

Saturday was moving day in the marshal's office in Minneapolis, the change of the entire staff with the exception of two places taking place then. Mr. Wessel's bond was approved by Judge Wilbur F. Booth and filed with the clerk of court and Mr. Wessel took the oath of office. He took charge of the term of United States court being held at Minneapolis today.

The two exceptions to changes in the staff are in the reappointment of Stephen J. Picha, chief deputy in St. Paul, and C. W. Smith of St. Paul. These men are in charge of the books and records, and as their positions are considered competitive and are approved by the attorney-general of the United States, the holders being taken from the eligible list of civil service employes, no change was made. The positions are regarded as very important, for the office is now the disbursing office of the entire department of justice for the district of Minnesota, expending more than $150,000 a year.

JOSEPH A. WESSEL.

The retiring marshal, Mr. Grimshaw, who has held the office for seventeen years, was presented with a Winchester automatic hammerless shotgun and a rawhide case by his deputies as a token of their esteem. Mr. Grimshaw has often remarked that he would bag as many mallard ducks after retiring from office as before, and his deputies thought they would help him make good the assertion.

The other deputies named by Marshall Wessel are follows: Frank W. Tufts of Long Prairie; A. H. Jester of Bemidji, vice C. B. Buckman, resigned; John Ryan of Minneapolis, vice Charles Kittelson, resigned, and Joseph Buisson of Wabasha, vice W. W. Rich, resigned.

WASHOUTS MAKE ROAD DANGEROUS

Autoists Are Urged to Use Care on Miller Trunk Highway.

Because of the heavy rains during the last two days, automobile owners of Duluth are warned against driving over the Miller Trunk road.

E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual company, who returned yesterday afternoon from a range trip, said this morning that there are several washouts, and that unless drivers are careful, serious accidents may result. The ditches, he said, are not large enough to carry off the water, and the culverts are practically covered in several places.

ROOSEVELT THE CHOICE

Will Probably Be Nominated By Republicans, Says Gidding.

Duluth Well Advertised in East; Paris Still Fashion Center.

Roosevelt, in all probability, will be nominated for the presidency at the Republican convention in Chicago next June; business conditions in the East are in fine shape; Paris is still the fashion center of the world, despite the European war, and Duluth is looming up as the great metropolis of the West.

This is the message brought home by J. M. Gidding, president of J. M. Gidding & Co., who returned to Duluth this morning after spending the winter in New York.

Mr. Gidding is most optimistic, believing that business conditions are in excellent shape and that they augur well for the future. Business has been constantly on the increase, he said, with the coming months looming up even brighter than those of the last half year.

"Although we had an unusually bad spell of weather during March," said Mr. Gidding, when interviewed by The Herald this morning, "business has been exceptionally good. Every line of endeavor is working to its capacity in the East and with the opening up of warm weather throughout the country, big business is looking for a record-breaking year."

Importing Not Stopped.

With regard to importations from Europe, Mr. Gidding said that his company has had very little trouble in obtaining goods. Delays have been experienced on numerous occasions, one shipment relayed from Paris to Switzerland and then to New York from Italy, requiring more than three months in arriving at the Eastern port.

"Paris is still the fashion center of the world, notwithstanding reports to the contrary," continued Mr. Gidding. "The things that fastidious women wear still emanate from the French capital and that city is as strong now as it has ever been in making the fashions for the feminine sex. The well known designers, Callot, Paquin, Doucet, Lanvin and Cherult, are outdoing themselves in keeping up the prestige of Paris, having settled down to the conditions resulting from the war, which they consider as inevitable in the course of events. Mme. Georgette, our representative in Paris, is making trips across the water five or six times a year, having no fear whatever from submarine attacks.

"Although I am no politician, I feel that opinion in the East favors Roosevelt as the Republican candidate. I have heard such expressions at many dinner and semi-public functions, where politics naturally are discussed. The Republicans are divided over a logical candidate, all because opinions differ concerning Hughes, Root and Cummins and I will not be surprised if Roosevelt is nominated at Chicago next June.

"Duluth is certainly making its mark. It is being well advertised and business men in the East are learning more and more about our city. Coming into the city this morning I could see business at its height in the railroad yards and that is the best sign of good times anywhere. I am glad to get back, especially on such a nice spring day, after experiencing rain, snow and cold in New York for the last month."

FIREMEN ASK CO-OPERATION

Letters Are Sent to Labor Unions and Commercial Club Committee.

Duluth firemen today sent letters to the municipal committee of the Commercial club and to every labor union in the city in behalf of the initiative petition for the double platoon system filed a few days ago.

One of the letters was sent to George W. Morgan, chairman of the municipal committee of the Commercial club, asking that the firemen might be given a hearing so that both sides of the question might be placed before the business men. The letter stated that the firemen were ready to show the true conditions of employment here and elsewhere.

The other letters were mailed to various labor unions in the city, summarizing the firemen's efforts for relief and asking for each union to appoint a representative to co-operate with the double platoon committee of the firemen. The Trades assembly has appointed three members—A. G. Catlin, typographical union; W. R. Thompson, horseshoers' union, and Fred Bernard, bartenders' union—to cooperate with the firemen's committee.

PETITIONS ARE SUFFICIENT

Both the firemen's and the "dry" petitions contain a sufficient number of signatures.

This announcement was made at noon today by City Clerk Borgen, who said that he will file certificates of sufficiency to both petitions and submit them to the commissioners at the council meeting this afternoon. Indications are that the measures will go to a vote at the primaries on June 19.

Clerk Borgen and his assistants did not check all the names on the petitions as they found a sufficient number when but half through in each instance. According to the charter, the clerk must file a certificate of sufficiency, merely stating that the petitions contain the required 20 per cent of the total vote cast at the last regular election. A year ago 13,223 votes were cast, so that an initiative measure must contain at least 2,644 names to be legal.

The firemen ask for the establishing of a double platoon system on Jan. 1, 1917, while the "dry" petition asks for an ordinance abolishing all the saloons of the city after July 1, 1917.

"Soo" Need Not Stop.

Madison, Wis., April 17.—The railroad commission today dismissed the application of Eric Lundquist to compel the "Soo" road to stop train No. 17, a limited between Chicago and Duluth, at Spur 447 in Douglas county to take on milk, cream and passengers. The commission found that the present service was adequate.

WALKS INTO OPEN ELEVATOR SHAFT

When Fred Swanson, aged 24, living at 2009 West Third street, went to the Commercial club, Fourth avenue west and First street, to deliver some milk this morning, he walked into an open elevator shaft and broke his leg.

"The door is usually open," he said, "and I thought the car was standing there, as it usually is. I just walked in."

As it happened, the car was up, and Swanson went down seven feet, landing in the basement. Police took him to St. Mary's hospital in the emergency.

Swanson is employed by the W. H. Sargent company.

NEED REFRIGERATOR CARS TO MOVE FRUIT

Washington, April 17.—The interstate commerce commission today called the attention of railroads to the need of having on hand a sufficient supply of refrigerator cars for the movement of early crops of fruit and vegetables from the South. The attention of the commission had been called to a threatened serious shortage of such cars.

"The importance of having refrigerator cars for the movement of these crops is obvious," reads a commission statement, "and there would seem to be no good reason for diverting the cars which are intended for that purpose to other uses."

The commission therefore urged that all roads make immediate and special arrangements for the prompt return to the owning roads of all refrigerator cars now in their possession.

WIFE ILL; POLICE SEEK HUSBAND

Frank La Velle Missing; Sister of Range Man Quickly Found.

Mrs. Frank La Velle is seriously ill at St. Mary's hospital, while police are searching the city for some trace of her missing husband.

The La Velle's have been living at Camp No. 26 of the Cloquet Lumber company, but Mr. La Velle left to come to Duluth recently. In the meantime his wife has been taken ill.

He is described as being 45 years old, weighing 180 pounds, and having brown hair.

It took police but a few minutes to find Mrs. Martin Raymond this morning, when Virginia detectives telephoned that her brother, Thomas Devine, was seriously ill in a hospital there.

Mrs. Raymond was located at 114 North Twenty-first avenue west, where she had been visiting a sister. Both sisters left for the range this afternoon.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

CEASES EFFORTS TO END HIS LIFE

Would-Be Suicide Would Recover to Return to Germany.

Because he wants to go back to Germany, Gust Henkel, would-be suicide, has stopped trying to die. Instead of fighting his nurses at St. Luke's hospital, he is an ideal patient.

Henkel, a Baudette farmer, slashed his throat and stabbed himself in the breast with a pocket knife early last week in the waiting room at the union station.

Worry over the high cost of living and his inability to provide for his wife, at Baudette, as well as for a mother and sick sister at Brainerd, prompted his act, authorities believe.

When taken to the hospital Henkel swore that he would do all in his power to prevent nurses and his doctor from effecting a cure in his case.

"Henkel," said Dr. Klein Sunday, "if you try to get well and don't resist your nurses and your doctor every time we try to help you, we may try to get you back to Germany when you recover."

That promise was enough. Now Henkel is as anxious to get well as formerly he was to die.

QUICK WORK BY POLICE.

Find Stolen Auto of Richard Suksie in Half Hour.

Police found a stolen automobile in half an hour last night after Richard Suksie, 217 South First avenue east, reported to Lieut. Wilcox that his seven-passenger car had been taken from in front of the Y. M. C. A. building.

Just thirty-five minutes after Mr. Suksie had made his report, the police operator telephoned that his car had been located at Thirteenth avenue east and London road by Patrolman Bert Duff.

It was not damaged.

REPORTS ON INVESTIGATION

Oscar Arneson Tells State Auditor of Revelations in Timber Frauds.

Condemns the Omission of Bark-Marking; Declares It Very Important.

In a comprehensive report, covering his work of investigation into the alleged timber frauds on state lands, Oscar Arneson, chief land and timber clerk of the department, condemns the practice, which he declares is widespread, of not bark-marking the logs and not scaling the timber on the state land, and points out specific instances where he found gross violation. He mentions the case of John Cashin of Duluth, deposed timber inspector, quoting a report in which the scale is given wholly in round numbers and with no detailed measurements, and adds:

"It is evident that Mr. Cashin has been on the landing and saw the train go by and put down on his report so many cars and so many posts for ties. In no other way could such a report be made."

Arneson's Report.

Mr. Arneson's report in part, follows: "Hon. J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, capitol.—Dear sir: Inasmuch as I leave Sunday afternoon to conduct the state land state at Grand Rapids, on Monday, I beg to submit the following report of the activities in the timber department during your absence for your consideration upon your return Monday.

"The report as to the Rat Root Timber company seizure, which I made in my previous report to you, I presented to the state timber board at their meeting last week.

"The 'special' man, which we have had in the field making check-scale of the several camps, found in scaling the different camps a week ago that cars would scale 3,600 feet of logs to the car, another car scaled 3,800 feet to the car, still another scaled 4,100 feet of logs to the car. On Tuesday, of this week, when our 'special' man made another check of the camp under similar conditions as to size of logs and size of cars, the scales went 6,800 feet, 6,900 feet and 7,100 feet to the car. This last scale of course took place after the newspapers had published something about irregularities and you will note there is nearly 100 per cent increase in the scale.

Neglect in Every Camp.

"On Saturday, of last week, one of our 'special' men visited the Deer River branch and inspected several camps. Two train loads of logs were held until they could be properly marked before being released. Several similar camps were also visited at this time and in each instance were compelled to mark logs to avoid seizure. I desire to state at this time that at no camp have we made an inspection but that we have found a gross neglect in marking state timber.

"Referring to permit No. 2591, to James Gibson company, the Deer River branch, our special man makes the following report:

"'The timber under this permit was sold to Clement and Kennedy of Grand Rapids, and was cut and hauled by them and is decked on their right-of-way ready to be shipped but are not bark-marked or scaled. They are decked in such a manner that they cannot be bark-marked or scaled. While I was there a train and crew came up to load them. I told the foreman that under no circumstances could they load them or move them until they were marked or scaled. Later I saw Mr. Kennedy at Deer River and he agreed to mark them all as they were loaded. I was informed by Mr. Kennedy that the scaler (Maurice Sullivan) had received instructions from the surveyor general to scale the logs at once, as Mr. Kennedy had promised to mark them later. This does not seem wise to me as I believe in every instance the logs should be properly bark-marked before they are removed from the place where they are cut.'

Bark-mark Important.

"This department has been criticized for the enforcement of the law by holding logs until bark-marked, stating that it was a mere technical violation of the law and contract. In fact the bark-mark means everything. The end mark (M. I. N.) merely informs this department that the log was cut somewhere in the state of Minnesota. The bark-mark, or private mark, locates on what section of land, so that if we find a log that has not been scaled we can immediately make a scale and check with that of the scaler operating on this particular section of land.

Held Up 134 Carloads.

"All told, during the past ten days, we have held up 134 carloads of logs from different camps. They were released only after they were properly bark-marked. In no instance did we make a seizure as they are in the cleaning up of the logging season and to make a seizure at this time would work a hardship upon the logging contractors. This I have desired to avoid in every instance. I have only held the logs for a day or two until our inspector could again make an examination.

All in Round Numbers.

"Since my personal inspection of the Rat Root Timber company camp, the scaler, John Cashin, from the surveyor general's office, makes the following report, all of which I call attention to are in round numbers:

"Cedar posts, 1,600; cedar posts and culls, 12,000; tamarack ties, 6,000.

"Then under another section the same scaler reports:

"Cedar posts, 3,600; culls, 8,000; ties, 600; small ties, 3,200.

"It is evident that Mr. Cashin has been on the landing and saw the train go by and put down on his report so many cars and so many posts for ties. In no other way could such a report be made.

"In my report here I will incorporate only such matters of which I have documentary evidence and in no instance will hearsay be made a part of my report.

Send Own Scalers.

"I find that a condition exists quite generally that logging companies have sent their own men to the surveyor general's office to be deputized to do scaling, both for the state and for the company."

"It will be impossible for me at this time to report exact conditions as to the check scale made. We have investigated several camps and made check scales in several instances, but it will take two weeks or possibly longer before the scaler's report is made so that we may ascertain whether or not the state has received a correct scale. After receipt of this scale it will take some time to tabulate and arrive at the correct figures, so that it will possibly be July or later, before we can arrive at the true conditions that exist from the check scale already made.

Big Contractors First.

"The larger companies have all been inspected and during the week the smaller camps will receive attention of the field men. The reason for this is that the larger contractors have the facilities to remove the logs at this time, therefore we had to take them first. The smaller contractors must necessarily wait until the railroad companies haul it out, and therefore they are just beginning to ship out.

"Further, I desire to call your attention to a piece of land that was evidently stripped of all timber last year, under permit No. 2817 (held by T. J. Lofgren, section 26-61-28). J. H. Beagle, state land examiner, under date of April 24, 1915, from International Falls, reports this condition:

"'No cutting done and the chief reason was shortage of money. Extension of time required.'

"During this week I received the following astounding report, which indicates that the land was stripped of timber last year. Timber permit No. 2817, by T. J. Lofgren, 26-61-18, from Thomas Fitzgerald, state land examiner, as follows:

"'All the merchantable spruce and tamarack was cut on this tract season of 1914-1915, by T. J. Lofgren. There is no merchantable timber left on this tract. Is mostly swamp and covered with small tamarack and spruce.'

"Something Wrong."

"There is something wrong with these reports, as Mr. Beagle's report was made a year ago and here comes Mr. Fitzgerald at this time, stating that the land had been denuded of all timber. Mr. Beagle has perpetrated a deliberate fraud in making his report last year that there was no cutting, when at that time it was being logged by Mr. Lofgren. A stump scale ought to be made, as under permit No. 2817, the state of Minnesota has not received any money for the timber cut, as J. H. Beagle stated there was no cutting done last year. This will be a difficult matter to do as the stumps will be over a year old, and as the slashings no doubt have been burned, it will be difficult for the state to determine just what is due it.

"While at Bemidji Wednesday I laid the evidence I had obtained in the trespass case on school lands by Miller Brothers and four others, before the county attorney. Confession has been made by two of the parties implicated, in a sworn statement, which I also laid before Graham Torrance, county attorney, and I am certain that with what we have, conviction will be made. This is not only a trespass but is deliberate theft on part of those implicated.

"Very truly yours,
"OSCAR ARNESON,
"Chief Land and Timber Clerk."

NOT PAINTED AS HOSPITAL SHIP

Turks Defend Sinking of Portugal in the Black Sea.

Berlin, April 17, by wireless to Tuckerton.—Announcement is made by the Turkish government that the Russian hospital ship Portugal, sunk in the Black sea last month, was torpedoed by a Turkish submarine. The statement was given out yesterday by the Overseas News agency as follows:

"The Turkish government publishes the following report of the commander of the Turkish submarine which sank the steamship Portugal:

"The ship was sighted on the night of March 29-30. It was steering toward a landing place. When daybreak came it was observed that the ship was heavily laden and was towing heavily loaded punts with numerous occupants. The commander and other officers of the submarine were justified in believing the ship was a transport which was on the way to land troops and supplies. The ship was painted gray, with a small red line, and flew the Russian merchant flag. No Red Cross flag was flying and the name of the ship was invisible.

"The first torpedo did not hit. After the explosion of the second torpedo, which struck below the bridge, a violent explosion occurred within the ship. This explosion undoubtedly was due to large quantities of explosives stored in the ship. Immediately after this a destroyer attacked the submarine.

"The Russian affirmation that the ship was struck by two torpedoes is untrue. The Turkish government regrets if persons exclusively in the Red Cross service perished, but the responsibility rests on the Russian government, which transported these persons on a vessel which was being used for war purposes against the Turks.

"Provisions of the conventions adopted at The Hague stipulate that hospital ships must be painted white, with a green or red strip one and one-half meters long, and also must fly the Red Cross flag."

MANY CHAUFFEURS ARE "FLUNKED'

Ignorance of State Laws Bars Them From Licenses.

Ignorance of the state laws on speed and control of automobiles brought grief to fifty-three out of the seventy would-be chauffeurs who took the "exams" last week, according to W. H. Healy, state examiner for this district.

Four out of ten questions given the applicant were on the state laws, and examiners throughout the state are taking particular pains that these are answered.

A few of those whose marks were low may be given a chance to redeem themselves in a driving test, according to Examiner Healy. This is the first year that a driving test has been given, and was adopted when the state board decided that chauffeurs' examinations were not severe enough.

Mr. Healy returned Saturday night from Bemidji, where he conducted a test for prospective chauffeurs living in that section of the state.

INDIAN WHO GOT AWAY IS CAPTURED

Devils Lake, N. D., April 17.—John Azure, an Indian on the Turtle Mountain reservation, indicted at the last session of the Federal grand jury for introducing liquor into the reservation and who then escaped into Canada, was arrested at Belcourt, Rolette county, Saturday, by United States Deputy Marshal Bowler. Azure furnished a $500 bail bond to appear at the term of court here, which will be held some time in July.

Federal officials learned through one of the dailies published here that Azure had returned to the state and was located again on the reservation.

PRESIDENTIAL BEE MAKES MAN CRAZY

Gettysburg, S. D., April 17.—James Higginbotham is crazy again. He was committed to the Yankton asylum Saturday. Apparently well educated, James says he realizes his condition and that he gets this way every four years. Presidential year is blamed. Records substantiated him.

GEO. W. PECK PASSES AWAY

Achieved National Fame as Author of "Peck's Bad Boy."

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—George W. Peck, 75 years old, former governor of Wisconsin for two terms and at one time mayor of Milwaukee, died here yesterday after a short illness.

Peck was one of three Democrats, who since the admission of Wisconsin into the Union in 1848, held the position of governor. He was governor from 1890 to 1895. In 1892, his opponent on the Republican ticket was Former United States Senator John C. Spooner whom he defeated after a close contest.

Before his entry into public life,

GEORGE W. PECK.

Peck achieved national fame as a writer of humorous tales, his best known book being "Peck's Bad Boy." He was the publisher of Peck's Sun.

George Wilbur Peck was born in Henderson, New York, Sept. 28, 1848. While he was a small boy, his parents moved to Wisconsin, where he attended the public schools until he was 15 years old. He then started to learn the printer's trade, with which he was connected during most of his life.

In 1860 he married Miss Frances Rowley of Delaven, Wis. In the same year he purchased a part interest in the Jefferson County Republican, Jefferson, Wis., where he remained for three years. He then enlisted in the army and served two and one-half years in the Civil war as a private and later as lieutenant in the Fourth Wisconsin cavalry.

Started Paper in 1866.

After the war, he moved to Ripon, Wis., where in 1866 he started a paper called the "Representative." A few years later he located at La Crosse, where he purchased the La Crosse Democrat. He sold the Democrat in 1874 and founded the Sun which he transferred to Milwaukee in 1878.

After locating in Milwaukee, Mr. Peck began publishing a series of humorous stories, the best known of which were his "Peck's Bad Boy" stories.

In 1890 he was elected mayor of Milwaukee and served for two years. He was then elected governor of Wisconsin for two terms on the Democratic ticket. He was holder of numerous minor offices during his long term of public life in Wisconsin.

In private life, Mr. Peck was a quiet, unassuming man. He prided himself upon the fact that he was "a man of the people" and such he always remained. As governor of Wisconsin, he was still plain George W. Peck, never for a moment forgetting his old time friends, and always remained a jovial companion.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is Tongue Coated, Breath Feverish and Stomach Sour?

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has the grip or sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

NEWS FROM BIRDLAND

Peabody Bird or White-Throated Sparrow Is Latest Feathered Traveler to Northland; Known By Sweet, Long-Drawn-Out Song; One of the Most Welcome Spring Arrivals.

The latest bird to return to Duluth from the Southland is the Peabody bird or white-throated sparrow. This little fellow has been here several days now. S. George Stevens, one of Duluth's authorities on bird life, in speaking of this peculiar bird, says:

"In the spring among our very earliest visitors from the South comes the white-throated sparrow. And he takes some little time, often a week or two, in getting settled and renewing the home ties, before we hear the sweet, long-drawn-out song. It is surely one of the most welcome.

"Some there are who claim he says: 'Oh! My Canada-Canada-Canada,' and this may be quite true as when away down South all winter he doubtless has acquired an extreme longing for the far North country and, not fully realizing the difference between Northern Minnesota and Canada, has hit upon this call. Anyway, putting a kindly homing thought to his sweet utterances is certainly in keeping with his throat pulsations.

Two-Noted Prelude.

"No more rapturous effort was ever witnessed than a closeup view of these little feathered creatures when standing poised upon a swaying limb. He throws his head back and then swells the little, white crescent-shaped spot on his throat. The most lovable part of the song is the short, two-noted prelude.

"The strange characteristic of this little friend is that as winter approaches, something akin to sorrow must certainly overwhelm him, for in the fall he completely loses his ability to utter the sweet notes.

Loses Voice in Fall.

"In fact, he loses them one by one. He is believed by many to be an entirely different bird.

"In the fall I have stood quietly in the garden among the shrubbery and imitated the long spring call and had a whole flock of these birds gather about and try their utmost to answer me, but all in vain.

"When engaged in this attempt, I have repeatedly seen a silent onlooker make a dash at another of the birds who was trying to answer the call, as if to punish him for his folly, and the greatest excitement prevails.

"So it would seem that there is a peculiar response in all animal life to the greater joy of Nature known only to the Northland."

AUDITOR PREUS HINTS PROSECUTION

State Official Issues Statement Regarding Timber Irregularities.

St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Auditor Preus, who returned yesterday from Washington, today gave out a statement regarding alleged irregularities in cutting state timber in which he hinted at criminal prosecution of offenders.

He was seized with an attack of appendicitis on his return and was in bed this morning. It is not known whether he will be able to attend a meeting of the state timber board Wednesday.

Mr. Preus commended Oscar Arneson for the latter's reports on alleged misappropriating of timber from state lands in Upper Minnesota. He said he had placed Arneson in charge of the timber department of his office after he had become satisfied that B. F. Case, incumbent, was not giving adequate service. He said Mr. Case had resigned, leaving the place open for Mr. Arneson.

"I gave Mr. Arneson authority," he said, "to compel all buyers of state timber to comply with the law, to permit no irregularities and to compromise no crime, but to report criminal acts to proper officials for such action as prosecuting officials might deem proper.

"Anyone who for selfish purposes is willing to dip his hand into the state school fund, which gets the proceeds of timber sales, should be dealt with according to his deserts.

"In this entire matter it is gratifying that those who have stolen timber from the state cannot remove the evidence of their wrong doing, for they cannot pull the stumps out of the ground."

DULUTH JEWS WILL OBSERVE PASSOVER

First Festival of Emancipation Will Be Held for Seven Days.

Jews of Duluth will begin the observance of Passover at sundown this evening.

This holiday, which commemorates the flight of Moses and the Jews from the tyrannic rule of Egypt, is the first festival of emancipation in the history of civilization. It will continue for seven days.

This evening Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will conduct a short service at Temple Emanuel at 6:15 o'clock, after which a public seder will be held in the vestry rooms for all the members of the congregation. The Temple Aid society will serve the supper.

At the Adas Israel synagogue special Pesach, or Passover services will be held both this evening and tomorrow evening, with special services tomorrow and Wednesday mornings.

REPORT SHOWS GOOD PROFITS

Two Dividends of $387,000 Paid—Gives Receipts $4,155,522.

The financial statement showed gross earnings of $4,155,522.07 derived through sales of copper, silver and gold. Expenditures, including mining and development work, concentrating and smelting, freight on ore, and general and miscellaneous expenses came to $3,027,875.71, leaving a net income of $1,127,646.36.

Two dividends, aggregating $387,000, were paid during the year. The company was shown to be in a strong position financially, having $256,944.99 cash on hand; $4,500.50 in accounts receivable; $47,405.85 supplies at the mine, and $1,569,643.36 in copper and silver on hand.

In the report of Thomas F. Cole, president of the company, it was set out that deliveries of copper, gold and silver made during the year and average prices received, were as follows: 19,725,610 pounds of copper at 16.703 cents per pound; 944,284.79 ounces of silver at 50.27578 cents per pound, and 1,121.59 ounces of gold at $20 per ounce.

Gross sales made during 1915 for immediate and future delivery amounted to 27,805,869 pounds of copper, at prices averaging 18.1144 cents per pound. Many of these sales cover the copper to be produced during 1916 with deliveries to extend through that year.

Review of Operations.

During the year the mines of the company were operated as follows: Two months at 50 per cent of normal capacity, two months at 60 per cent, one month at 70 per cent, three months at 90 per cent, and four months at the normal output, which was practically the same basis on which the other mines in the Butte district were operated.

The installation of the new equipment in the Granite Mountain shaft was finished and placed in operation and the main hoisting outlet changed from the Speculator shaft to the Granite Mountain shaft.

This change required connections to be made between the two shafts on all the working levels of the mines and the cutting of the necessary stations, skip chutes, ore pockets and much other underground work. At the present time the company has two fully equipped hoisting shafts, one with electrical equipment and the other with steam equipment, either of which can be used in the event of a shutdown of the other. Both these shafts will be utilized to send increased tonnage of ore to the concentrator and smelter during 1916.

Extensive development and exploratory work in the various ore bearing veins was carried on in many levels throughout the mines, and the results of such work have been satisfactory, for notable tonnages of good grade ore have been disclosed. The production during the year has been below the normal capacity of the mines, but during the entire period a very large amount of underground development work was performed.

Joseph B. Cotton, Charles A. Duncan and G. Ashley Tomlinson, the retiring directors, were re-elected.

PRESIDENT'S STRENGTH SPREADS AND GROWS

John Walsh, council for the Federal trades commission, of which Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin is chairman, was in Duluth for a few hours yesterday on his way back to Washington from his home at Washburn, Wis., where he had been visiting on business. Mr. Walsh said that he finds President Wilson very strong in the East, and that in Wisconsin the president at the recent primaries received a larger vote than either Governor Philip or Senator La Follette, even in Milwaukee county, where the pro-German vote was supposed to be against him.

"General political conditions," said Mr. Walsh, "seem to me to point out that the president's strength is growing."

You will enjoy this work and this is something to stimulate your ambition. Make up your mind to go in and win some of these prizes. They are worth having and worth working for. Work which has been started or made up previous to April 15 may not be entered in the competition.

"Y" BOYS WILL PLAY FOR TITLE

Ten Intermediate Quints Will Meet for the City Championship.

The Duluth intermediate basket ball championship games will begin at the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening. Ten teams have entered, and the championship promises to be hotly contested for. All the teams will play. The halves will be ten minutes, and the losing teams will drop out and the winning teams will play off for the championship. The winning team is to receive a banner in the team colors.

Schedule:

Tuesday, 7:30—Jackson school vs. second Y. M. C. A. team; Salter school vs. D. S. S. C.; Catholic Boys' club vs. Proctor Y. M. C. A.; Y. M. C. A. Boys' department night class vs. Y. M. C. A. Boys' department afternoon class.

Wednesday, 7:30—Jefferson Athletic club, juniors, vs. Hazelwood basket ball team. The winners of Tuesday night games will play.

Saturday, 7:30—All winners will play off for the championship of the city.

The special Easter program began at the boys' department Y. M. C. A. this morning with special swimming lessons at 9 o'clock. A large crowd of boys availed themselves of this opportunity to learn to swim. These special lessons will be given every morning this week at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock baseball and swimming were featured. This afternoon at 2 o'clock a party of boys took an observation trip to the Patrick woolen mills, and at 4 o'clock a party of twenty boys took a hike to the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club. They will remain all night returning tomorrow morning. At 8 o'clock tonight there will be special games in the gymnasium followed by games in the clubroom. The special program for tomorrow will be basket ball at 10 o'clock, followed by swimming. There will be baskel ball games in the evening followed by a program of stunts in the clubroom.

CRACKSMEN BLOW SAFE AT LA CROSSE; GET $600

La Crosse, Wis., April 17.—Cracksmen blew open with nitroglycerin the safe in the office of the Majestic theater, took $600, the proceeds of last night's performance, and disappeared, leaving no trace. The robbery was not discovered until the theater was opened toward noon for the afternoon ticket sale.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength), take this home, add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat.

It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every one who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.—Advertisement.

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL AT MADISON

Madison, Wis., April 17.—Frank Tullo and Frank Schuvilli, Federal prisoners here, awaiting trial, broke jail last night.

The Dane county jail has been undergoing repairs for the last three weeks. Last week Orville Foster, a prisoner, escaped, but was retaken.

Tullo and Schuvilli were brought here from northern Wisconsin on white slavery charges and both were indicted and were awaiting trial. They were last seen last night when the jailer made his final rounds. It was not discovered they had broken jail until today.

MARINE

FAVORABLE TO NAVIGATION

Ice Has Almost Vanished From This End of Lake.

Only One Boat Shifted Since Saturday; No Ore in Yet.

The only boat shifted in the harbor today up to the time of going to press was the steamer Pathfinder of the Pickands-Mather fleet. She was taken from the Soo freight dock on the Superior side of the bay to the Globe elevator to load wheat. No other orders were received at the tug office today to shift boats, but it is expected that a good many of the steamers still to load in the harbor will shift under their own steam, for the bay is well cleared of ice and the vessels will have no difficulty in getting about. The only ice that is left is so loose and badly broken up that it does not serve as an impediment.

In the lake, conditions at this end are good enough for the opening of navigation now if ice conditions at the eastern end of the lake and at the Soo would permit the passage of boats. The field that has been blocking this end of the lake is away over at the south shore, almost out of sight. Ten miles of space separate it from the north shore and there is nothing blocking the way in or out of Duluth.

The steamer Briton may be expected in tomorrow or next day with the first cargo in of the season. She left Saturday morning for Port Arthur to bring down screenings.

No Ore in Docks Yet.

No ore has yet been dumped into the pockets of the Missabe ore docks at the West end, but it is expected that several trainloads will be brought down some time this week. As trains are loaded and brought from the range they are held at the storage yards at Proctor until such time as it is thought advisable to bring the ore to the docks. This will not be done until there is some prospect of the boats being able to get out. And this is not probable until more steamers come up.

Only one Pittsburgh steamer is in this harbor at present and there are five barges. Pittsburgh steamers are expected to leave Buffalo for Duluth about Wednesday of this week, but until the Sault is open, it is impossible to conjecture the time of their arrival here. The only possibility, therefore, of an early departure of ore before they reach here is that the steamer wintering here will load and start down with one of the barges in tow.

ICE CLEARS OUT OF ST. CLAIR FLATS

Steamers Released After Battle With Heavy Field Floating Down.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—The whaleback steamers Henry Cort and J. B. Neilsen of the Pittsburgh fleet, battled with the heavy ice in St. Clair river for nearly two hours yesterday and then put down their anchors to await the passing of the heavy ice field. Both boats passed out of the St. Clair ship canal at 3:30 p. m. and it took them nearly an hour to go one mile, after which the anchors were dropped. Word was received from the flats last night that the ice field had passed and both boats were expected to leave at once for Port Huron.

The steamer Alpena struggled with the ice for a considerable time yesterday before she got through on her way down. She is the first big freighter to come down from Lake Huron this season with a cargo. She was followed by the steamer Wyandotte of the same fleet, and by the F. L. Robbins, which left Port Huron for Cleveland yesterday morning.

TIME EXTENSION NOT CANCELLATION

Canada Atlantic Package Freight Line Case Taken Under Consideration.

The permission given the Canada Atlantic Transit company to resume operations of its package freight fleet, was not a cancellation of the order of divorcement of lake-and-rail lines as applying to it, as at first appeared.

Word has been received in Duluth that the permission is only temporary, but it has not been learned for just how long it is given. It is assumed, however, that it is for a year, or, at least, for the season of 1916, for it does not seem probable that the company would be allowed to go ahead and make its contracts for the year with the probability of having its business checked at any time during the season without being able to make new arrangements and suffering a dead loss in the operation of its property for the rest of the season.

The impression prevails here, due to the statement being made that the commission will give the company a rehearing at some time in the future yet to be set, that the commission has under consideration the extent of its authority over a foreign corporation. However that is merely assumption.

The Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company hoped to acquire the fleet of the Canada Atlantic Transit company, and planned, in that event, to operate its line from Duluth to Cleveland; but since the extension of time given the Canadian company, the Port Huron & Duluth company has to confined itself to its former route, Duluth to Port Huron. The Canada Atlantic line will operate, as formerly, between Lake Michigan points and Depot Harbor on the Georgian bay.

LAKE CLEAR FROM ISLE ROYALE TO KEWEENAW

Calumet, Mich., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Enormous fields of ice that have been hanging on Keweenaw point, extending into the lake north and west as far as could be seen from various stations along the peninsula, have been broken up by a northeast gale and the entire space between Keweenaw and Isle Royale apears to be clear.

The gale has driven large floes into Keweenaw bay, however, blocking the Portage entry. The United States ship canal's entry at the west end is clear.

The heavy snow storm of last night ceased this forenoon. Heavy ice is still in Portage lake.

PROGRESS MADE IN OPENING SAULT RIVER

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 17.—Rain, which was threatening all day, came down in a regular deluge last night. This will materially assist to soften the ice which is blocking navigation in the connecting link between Lake Huron and Lake Superior. The steamer Algomah left her dock at Detour early yesterday again and made much headway in Mud lake. She has succeeded in getting through the heaviest ice near Lime island.

Mr. Frazer of the Canadian marine department, who is on the Algomah in her ice-breaking job, said when they returned to Detour Saturday night that the ice the steamer was breaking was thirty to thirty-six inches thick and very hard. She was able to make only about three miles in Little Lime island after working hard all day.

Whitefish reports are more favorable. A northeast wind blew the big ice field above the point out into the lake for more than three miles. In the bay the ice was softening appreciably, but otherwise, generally no change.

CAREER IS BLASTED

A youthful emulator of Jesse James "terrorized" a section of the East end Sunday night, but his daring career came to an untimely end when he attempted to "hold up" a well-known business woman who happened to be "armed" with a flashlight.

"I was walking along Tenth avenue east near First street," she said, "and I noticed a white piece of cloth, resembling a sleeve, protruding around the corner of the building.

"More out of curiosity than anything else, I took out my flashlight and held it ready to flash on.

"Just as I reached the building, a little boy, 7 or 8 years old, ran out and pointed a toy pistol at me.

"'Your money or your life!' he said.

"At that I flashed on the light and it blinded him for a minute. He was so surprised that he dropped his 'weapon.'

"I think I discouraged him from a career as a bandit."

PARKS ARE OPEN.

Pavilions and Grounds Ready for Public; Weather Spolis Sunday.

Duluth parks are now officially open to the public.

The pavilions and grounds have been cleaned and the buildings were opened last Saturday noon. Yesterday's weather probably kept many from enjoying the first outing of the year, although the parks were open for use.

Improvements to the various parks will be started within a few days, according to the plans of Park Manager Cleveland.

CHILD FATALLY HURT BY AUTO

Elvira Johnson Steps in Front of Car and Is Struck.

Elvira, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, 1108 North Eighteenth street, was fatally injured by an automobile owned by Attorney W. P. Crawford, and driven by his son, Norbert, age 16, in front of the English Lutheran church late Saturday afternoon. The child backed into the street, looking at her mother who was carrying palms into the church, and stepped in front of the automobile.

The driver noticed the child backing into the street and applied the brakes. The car had almost come to a stop when the fender struck the child's left temple. She died shortly afterwards on the operating table at St. Mary's hospital. Concussion of the brain was the cause of death.

Norbert was accompanied by his father at the time of the accident. According to witnesses the driver is not blamed.

EXTRADITION OF GUNMEN OPPOSED

Chief Would Hold Henry and Engman on Robbery Charges.

Chief of Police Vincent McKinnon will protest the turning over of Brady Henry and Frank Engman, self-confessed highwaymen, to the St. Paul authorities to have them tried in that city for murder. A request for the prisoners has been made by the St. Paul police, who want the men for the murder of James Young while the two attempted to hold up and rob a Broadway saloon.

The chief will protest the requisition papers on the ground that the men committed a series of robberies in Superior and are liable to get in all about sixty years for their crimes. He also contends that the first robberies took place here, and the police exposed themselves to the danger of the gunmens' revolvers in capturing them.

Archibald McKay, district attorney, is willing that the two men be turned over to the St. Paul authorities. He said that the greater crime, that of murder, was held against them and that they would probably get a life sentence for it, relieving Douglas county the expense of a trial as well as the expense to the state of keeping them in prison for the rest of their lives.

Lund Makes High Score.

Corporal Anthony Lund of Superior made the high score in the Third regiment gallery rifle shoot held at Hudson yesterday. Lund scored 138 points. In the team standing, Company A of Neilsville was first, Company L of Sparta second and Company I of Superior third.

KELLY LOSES FIGHT AGAINST EXTRADITION

Washington, April 17.—Thomas Kelly, a contractor wanted in Winnipeg in connection with alleged frauds in connection with construction of parliament buildings there, lost his fight today against extradition in the supreme court. The high court affirmed the Federal court in Chicago, which refused to release Kelly on habeas corpus.

Canada asked for Kelly's extradition that he might be tried on a charge of obtaining $1,250,000 by false pretenses on the parliament buildings contract. Apparently no legal process now is available to prevent his extradition to Manitoba.

DAY IN CONGRESS

FIREARM COLLECTOR IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Minneapolis, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Mortimer Rollins, for fifty-four years a resident of Minneapolis, is dead at his home, a victim of his penchant for collecting firearms.

He had an array of rifles, revolvers and automatic pistols that he kept in his room. He showed them to visitors.

Yesterday he arose early to burnish up his arsenal and as he picked up an automatic pistol, it discharged suddenly. The bullet pierced his head.

Commission's Findings Upheld.

Madison, Wis., April 17.—Judge Stevens, in the Dane county circuit court, today upheld the findings of the Wisconsin industrial commission of proximate cause in the case of Peter Burak, who was awarded compensation against his employer, the T. L. Smith company, Milawukee, because an eyeball was punctured by a steel chip during the course of his employment.

OBLIGATED TO CARE FOR STEP CHILDREN

Ole Emmett Loses Action to Recover Remuneration From Mother.

When Ole Emmett married a widow with two children in 1906, he assumed an obligation to support and care for them as if he were their own father and he cannot, after a lapse of ten years, successfully maintain an action to recover financial remuneration. Judge Cant so held in district court today in disposing of the lawsuit which Emmett brought against his former wife to recover $1,224 for the board of each of the two children during the time he and their mother lived together as man and wife. The court granted a motion for directed findings in favor of the defendant.

The children were aged 5 and 10 when the Emmetts were married. Mrs. Emmett secured a divorce from her husband in August of 1915 and shortly thereafter he instituted proceedings to collect for the board of her children. The evidence disclosed that the question had never been raised while the Emmetts were living together.

J. H. Whitely appeared as attorney for Emmett and Andrew Nelson represented the defendant.

TO PROSECUTE ON CHARGE OF ARSON

St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. W. Hargardine, state fire marshal, and J. E. Markham, assistant attorney general, went to Redwood Falls today to appear in the prosecution of T. H. Gordan on an arson charge.

Gordan is accused of having caused the burning of a hotel at Seaforth, Redwood county. This will be his second trial, the jury disagreeing the first time.

Wisconsin Pioneer Dies.

Appleton, Wis., April 17.—John Schwalbach, one of the oldest pioneers in the state, died yesterday. He came to Washington county seventy-six years ago.

Washouts Disorganize Traffic.

Fort William, Ont., April 17.—Traffic on the Canadian Northern railroad between here and Winnipeg has been completely disorganized for over forty-eight hours as the result of washouts on the line in Minnesota state. Five or six bridges were washed away between Rainy River and the Manitoba boundary.

Big Lumber Deal.

San Francisco, Cal., April 17.—The L. E. White Lumber company, Mendocino, Cal., said to be one of the largest and oldest lumber concerns in the United States, has been sold to the C. A. Goodyear and James D. Lacey interests of Chicago, and James A. MacKenzie of San Francisco, it became known here today.

Society • Women's Clubs • Music • Drama

MINNEAPOLIS and St. Paul people are looking forward with interest to the short season of grand opera which the Boston Grand Opera company will give at the St. Paul auditorium beginning April 24:

For the opening night there will be a performance of "L'Amore De Ire Re," one of the great operatic novelties of the past year. Heading the cast will be Louise Villani, who created the role at La Scala at its first production anywhere in the word. With her will be Marr, Mardones, Boscacci, Marcel and Leveroni and Riccardo Martin. Following this opera which is one of the most popular in the Boston Grand Opera repertoire, will be Anna Pavlowa, Alex Volinine and the entire Ballet Russe will dance the "Snowflake Ballet" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Tuesday, April 25, will be the tercentenary of the death of Shakespeare and the management will offer "Otello" with Maggie Teyte Maurel, Gay, Boscacci and the great Giovanni Zenatello in the title role. Pavlowa, Volinine and the entire Ballet Russe will dance ballet divertissement following the production of "Otello."

There will be a matinee performance on Wednesday afternoon, April 26, at which Madame Tamaki Miura, the Japanese operatic artist, will sing the title role in "Madame Butterfly," with Riccardo Martin in the opposite leading role. This production will be following by the entire Pavlowa ballet in "Walpurgis Night."

The concluding performance will be Wednesday evening when the Puccini favorite, "La Boheme," will be heard with Lyne, Biegelman, Saroya, Gaudenzi, Chalmers, Mardones, Politi, Anannian, Alliato, a further cast of great prominence. This will be followed by an especial arrangement of a series of Spanish dances with Pavlowa, Volinine, and the entire Imperial Ballet Russe

Confirmation Class At Trinity Cathedral

Rt. Rev. John D. Morrison confirmed the following yesterday morning at Trinity cathedral: Mrs. F. H. Fairfax, Miss Gertrude McGiffert, Mrs. R. C. Henry, Dr. Daniel Murray, Mrs. Daniel Murray II, Mrs. Carter, Stephen Reichert and Miss Grace Gleason. Although members of this class, Miss Margaret Knox was confirmed by the bishop of Los Angeles and Miss Mary Weiss was confirmed by the bishop of Minnesota at Faribault.

Duluth Contributed Freely to Belgians

All reports are not in, but the Greysolon du Lhut and Daughters of Liberty chapters, D. A. R., think the returns from the sale of Belgian flags will amount to between $300 and $400. The local chapters are anxiously awaiting the returns of the chapters throughout the country to learn how much money was raised by the national D. A. R. for the suffering Belgians.

Easter Cantata Sung To Crowded Audience

Despite the disagreeable weather, Stainer's cantata, "The Crucifixion," was sung to a crowded church at Trinity cathedral yesterday afternoon by a large choir, with John Koneczny and Robert Drummond as soloists.

The reverent and devotional manner in which the cantata was sung was marked, and the director, Miss Leona Grieser, and the choir received much commendation for the finished performances of the choruses. Precision and shading seem to be features of the work of this choir, for the same characteristics were noticeable in George Nevin's cantata, "Adoration," which was given at Christmas time.

Robert Drummond possesses a voice of great richness and sympathetic quality and his interpretation of the bass solos yesterday was deserving of notice. The tenor solos showed Mr. Koneczny's voice to advantage.

Miss Gieser, who is organist as well as director, played an interesting organ number, "Fantasia for Lent," by Stephens, before the service and Handel's "Dead March," from "Saul," at the conclusion.

Duluthian Host at Pasadena.

George H. Crosby of this city, who has a winter home in Pasadena, gave a luncheon last Tuesday at the Midwick Country club to a group of Minnesota and Michigan men and a few additional guests from the East. Mr. Smiley graduated from the department of science, literature and the arts of the University of Minnesota in 1909, and received an M. A. degree at Yale university in 1910. He received the degree of L. L. B. from the college of law of the University of Minnesota in 1912.

Sunday School Delegates.

The following delegates were chosen by the teachers and officers of the First Methodist Sunday school to attend the state convention that will be held at Austin, Minn., April 26, 28 and 29: H. A. Sedgwick, Mrs. W. C. Brundage, Miss Mary Ober, W. H. Schilling, R. E. Miller, Mrs. Bertha Charleson, Miss Amelia MacArthur, Mrs. W. S. Moore, Mrs. Fanny Worthington, Miss Myrna Todd, Miss Jessie Todd, Mrs. E. M. Bellamy, Mrs. M. P. Burns and Miss Florence Wilkinson.

Thinks Swedish Art Will Shape American

William Fox, who is connected with the Brooklyn museum, said that his inquiry into Swedish art, which was his subject at a club meeting held in that city, had convinced him that the art of Sweden, more than that of any other country, would have a dominant influence in shaping American art. He said:

"The influence of all the art brought into our country, from others, was good for us, since our own art today reflected these invasions. Some of the most lasting impressions, however, were made by the Colonial art brought over from the other side by the early settlers of America, and adapted by them to the new life they necessarily led in a different country.

"We are a heterogeneous and cosmopolitan people," he added. "Sometimes, at night, I have walked through Gramercy park and have not heard one word of English spoken. But we will eventually work out an American people—and, with the boiling down of this melting pot, an American art. And the first lesson we Americans should learn when we come out of the confusion and evolve a simple and direct art as different from that of Europe as one European country in itself is from the other, is the direct, simple statement, that the Swedish picture tells its simplicity and sincerity. Each artist, with an individual expression tempered by the general tendencies running through his race."

Missionary From India Will Speak at Rally

Miss Flora Robinson, who has returned from Lucknow, India, where she has been engaged in missionary work six years, will speak at the district rally of the Women's Foreign Missionary society that will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the First M. Easter Greetings

EASTER CARDS, greetings and gifts are as much in evidence in city stores as though this season was December. Some window displays show lovely egg-shell porcelain china decorated with violets, buttercups, daisies and other spring beauties that make one plan the Easter Sunday dinner in good time. Other windows hold happy families of downy chicks and ducks. "Why," clamor the children, "do we have Easter chicks and rabbits?" Then, because they are too little to well understand, they are told the animals are discussing the latest styles in colored eggs, and to wait until Easter morning and they will see what they will see.

Eggs were given at spring festivals hundreds of years before the birth of Christ. Hindus, Japanese and Persians gave colored eggs to one another with allusion to the "mundane" egg from which they believe this world was hatched. We use eggs and flowers as symbols of the Resurrection.

If you have a poultry yard to levy on, it is not too early to plan and make some gifts "from the farm." A half a dozen snowy-white eggs in a basket nest of straw tied with a perky golden yellow bow would please anyone not so fortunately situated. And big, brown eggs from some pet speckled hen marked with her name and "regards" are just as welcome, as you may very well guess. In fact, anything right from the country seems particularly atttractive to townsfolk, who at this season feel surfeited with storage-house goods, no matter how good in quality.

This year Easter comes almost as late as it is possible for it to do, as it must fall between March 21 and April 25. It is regulated by the paschal or first full moon between the spring equinox and fourteen days after that. There is a wonderful abundance of Easter flowers on the markets and nature is competing most successfully with the hothouse beauties. If you plan to buy a plant for your Easter dinner centerpiece, make your choice early, while the selection is good. A crock of daffodils will stay in bloom for several weeks and fern will be useful until midsummer, when you will have your own garden to cut from. If you feel extravagant and indulge in cut roses and smilax and pinks you can prolong the life of the beauties some days by putting them in the cooler at night. In the morning plunge the flower stems in boiling salt water for one moment. This drives the plant juices upwards and revives the cut blooms.

Questions and Answers.

Mrs. Cope writes: Last season you offered your readers penny packets of flower seeds. I had wonderful success with those sent to me and would like to know if you will fill another order for me this season.

Reply—This is true. I received about fifty orders for penny packets of flower seeds last season and filled each order carefully. The offer was not repeated this season, as not one of the persons reported their experience with the seeds and I had no way of telling if it was worth the trouble of filling the requests. Since Mrs. Cope has written for more, I will make the offer to all my readers. Send one penny stamp for each package of seeds wanted and send an extra stamp for postage for each ten packages requested. Do not send money. Write to me in care of this paper and send order at once. Please write plainly and give your name and address.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson

Yellow Puff Sees Tommy

UNFORTUNATELY for Tommy Tittle-mouse, he was so elated about surprising Mrs. Tommy with a plan that was to be better than her own, that he neglected to be as secretive as he usually was. And it was the first time in his whole careful, watchful little life that he ever made such a mistake.

He hurried into the barn, climbed, patter, patter, patter, up to the cornbin and tucked a nice, fat grain of corn into his cheek—and then another.

Then, without a look to the right or left, he scurried down again and out to the lily bed, where he tucked the corn under the boards that held down the dead leaves put there by the gardener, patted them a bit for good measure, and then, in a hurry, he scrambled back for a second load.

Now, of course, that would have all been very well had nobody been around to watch. But it's very seldom that one mouse, or one person, or one anything, is in this world all alone—very seldom indeed. And it is certain that Tommy Tittle-mouse was not alone in the garden when he stowed away those grains of corn—no, sir!

He had not made even his second trip before Yellow Puff and Downy White spied him and guessed that he was doing something unusual.

Now Yellow Puff and Downy White were getting to be really grown-up chicks—in fact, they were all of five or six weeks old, and thought themselves far too wise and important to stay in the barn all the time. They wanted to roam around the yard and dig worms, as they had one wonderful warm day, and they were bored as could be when they had to stay in the barn.

But, unfortunately, the weather was still cold a good deal of the time, and even very wise and elderly chicks (of five or six weeks) had to be careful of getting too cold. Cold is uncomfortable, and Yellow Puff and Downy White liked comfort.

So when they spied Tommy and guessed that he was doing something out of the ordinary, they were happy as could be. "Come on, Downy," said Yellow Puff eagerly, "let's follow him to the door and see what he does."

And it is certain that Tommy Tittle-mouse was not alone in the garden when he stowed away those grains of corn—no, sir!

They followed Tommy Tittle-mouse and spied on him while he hid his corn. Then, because what they saw interested them hugely, they watched and waited till he had hidden a great many grains of corn right in that very same place.

Pretty soon, Tommy got tired of working and went into his nest for a rest.

"Now for a feast!" said Yellow Puff, and he and Downy White strolled indifferently, as only chicks can, over to the lily bed—and—ate—up—all—of—TOMMY'S CORN!

"Hiawatha" Will Be Repeated At First Methodist Church

MRS. S. P. STOCKER.

"Hiawatha," which was given at the First Methodist church Friday night by the missionary societies and the Queen Esther circle, will be repeated at the church at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the Duluth free dispensary that was opened in February by the Methodist churches of the district.

The pageant is in charge of Mrs. W. E. Lauterbach, who put it on in her senior year at college. Rev. John W. Hoffman said the production Friday night was superior to the one given by the Ojibways at Lake Chautauqua, as the Indians lack the imagination that amateur white persons bring into their interpretation.

Miss Mary Shesgreen will read the story of "Hiawatha" and Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker will play Ojibway melodies.

Some Spring Salad Recipes

June bugs and butterflies are not following in the train of the early robins, just yet at least, but the housekeeper may pretend to her guests that the butterfly season is at hand by serving them with a salad that rivals the choicest specimens of an entomologist. Every detail is carried out, even to antennae and polka dots on the wings, as is shown in the illustration.

It's a big jump from butterflies to peas and pickles but the following recipe, if not exactly poetical, is at least filling:

One can of peas, six small pickles cut fine, three teaspoons cheese cut fine, three teaspoons onions cut fine, half cup nuts cuts fine; mix these ingredients together with a generous quantity of mayonnaise; serve on lettuce.

Somerset Salad—Mix cup and a half cold cooked beef or veal (chopped), one cucumber pared and cut in cubes, half cup of French peas, one cup celery cut in small pieces, one cup chopped English walnuts; moisten with mayonnaise dressing and serve on bed of shredded lettuce.

Cherry Salad—Remove the stones from one can of cherries, cut in quarters, mix with the pulp of three oranges and sweeten to taste. Take nice red apples, scoop out the inside with a teaspoon and fill with the mixture. On top of apples put the following dressing: Beat the yolk of one egg until thick and gradually of two cups of powdered sugar. Flavor

Women and Cleanliness

A prominent society woman says that women are not clean. They smell of powders and perfumes, old lace and furs and flowers, but they lack the smell of the bath. They wash themselves, it is true, but they don't get clean. They haven't clean hair. They They don't know what a rub-down means because they don't perspire and they rarely are essentially clean. Women haven't the clean habit. It isn't the fashion.

This woman refers to her own class members of the Four Hundred, who haven't a single blessed thing to do but amuse themselves and keep themselves clean and in trim. It is news to hear that such women are not clean. Those of us who have read of the beauty baths and the care which fashionable women presumably lavish on themselves have been of the opinion that scrupulous cleanliness was the fad of the hour.

I presume that there are women in all walks of life who do not keep themselves clean. Such a condition of affairs is sad in any case and is almost inexcusable. I have met women who, while they did not pretend to society, did claim education, refinement and common sense. They had everything at their disposal which makes for cleanliness and yet they have been and are today dismal failures in this respect.

It does not take very much money to be neat and clean, although undeniably it takes a very desirable quality to be able to make oneself attractively and appropriately gowned on a limited amount of money, with few claims to either beauty or good looks. Some women have this knack and twice and thrice are they blessed.

Some women do not take any interest in their personal appearance and others are too lazy to make the constant effort that neat, becoming apparel and a well-groomed appearance demand. Still other women are filled with the idea that their charm of manner, their intellect, their wit or whatever mental gift is theirs is sufficient to carry them through life without giving a thought to the care of the person.

The poorest working girl may keep herself clean if she has the will, and most of them have. We see more blooming, fresh complexions and well-kept heads of hair among them than we do among the so-called better classes. The simpler living may account for this. With time and money at her disposal the woman does not exist who is not all that she should be in physical cleanliness.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

Queer' Isn't It?

"This too shall pass away." Do you sometimes find yourself outside of familiar things and catch for a moment a glimpse of an utterly different viewpoint of them from the one you are accustomed to taking, an objective, impassive viewpoint?

For instance, after an evening of cards during which you had been elated and depressed by turns and intensely interested all the time, did you ever suddenly see that the cards were just little bits of pasteboard with painted figures on them, and wonder at yourself that you could have spent three hours and all that thought and emotion in putting them down in one order or another?

Performing Solemn Gyrations to Barbaric Music.

Dancing, too. Have you ever looked forward to an evening of it, and then, in the middle of the evening, been suddenly stricken with a wonder at yourself and all the other grownup people that they should spend a whole evening solemnly performing fixed gyrations in an overheated hall to barbaric music?

And books—why should we be content to sit for hours reading about things that never happened and people who never existed? Why should we be so palpitatingly interested in their adventures, why should we follow them faithfully to the end of the book, instead of satisfying our curiosity by looking at the end and then throwing the book aside? Why, indeed?

And possessions of one sort or another, why should we work so hard to collect the superfluity of them we crave, when, after all, "you can only wear one tie, and one eyeglass in your eye, and one coffin when you die, don't you know?"

Trying to See the Wheels Go Round.

It is a dangerous thing to take one's pleasures apart and try to find what makes the wheels go round; if you aren't careful you will find yourself left with a mechanical, lifeless thing in which the wheels no longer do go round.

And yet, is it not also a dangerous thing never to get such a perspective on life, to just go on living and never ask "why" of anything?

Too much philosophizing, too much of the objective vision may make us discontented; too little makes us stupid.

The wise man is he who can look upon life objectively and learn therefrom philosophy for his disappointments without losing zest for his work and his pleasures.

And yet, can philosophy and zest ever subsist together? I wonder?

With My Letter Friends.

Question—Will you please take pity on my ignorance and tell me through the daily column about these three men—Sir Arthur Pinero, Eugene Walter, George M. Cohan?

Answer—Sir Arthur Pinero is an English dramatist, one of the foremost dramatic writers of the age. "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" is his best known play. Eugene Walter is an American dramatist. "Paid In Full" is probably his best known work. George M. Cohan is an American actor and dramatist. Farces and musical comedies are his forte. He is enormously popular and successful.

DULUTH GIRL SAYS ACTORS SHOULD LEARN THE LESSON OF THRIFT

MISS EDNA MUNSEY.

"The actor who doesn't save half his salary is not only a bad actor, but a foolish man," said Miss Edna Munsey, the Duluth girl, who will sing the leading role in "The Only Girl" at the Lyceum next Thursday, when interviewed recently in Portland.

The stage as a profession narrows down to a simple proposition of dollars and cents, according to Miss Munsey. And if the facts were known, Miss Munsey says, there are comparatively few players who save enough money during the theatrical season to carry them over the summer months of idleness.

FARCE IS BUILT ON ADVERTISING

Old Story of Rich Man's Son Treated in Original Way.

Why do you eat hen's eggs?

Because a hen cackles and makes a noise about laying an egg. A duck lays an egg and keeps still.

"Advertising, my boy, advertising."

Around this idea, Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett built the clever farce comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which opened a four-days' engagement at the Lyceum theater yesterday afternoon. Big audiences attended both performances yesterday.

Advertising is the keynote of the whole comedy, which is rich in bright humorous lines. The play never lags, and for that reason "It Pays to Advertise" has two and one-half hours of good, live fun. It is sheer farce, full of the improbabilities of farce, but it thoroughly fulfills its mission, which is to amuse.

"It Pays to Advertise" tells the same old story about the son of a wealthy father, the latter objecting to the boy's idleness, until he orders him out of the house. There is the father's stenographer to complete the love affair. But the rest of the play is entirely different.

Rodney Martin is not like all other rich sons, for when his father tells him to go, he immediately organizes a company all of his own, "to buck father's soap trust." He joins hands with Mary Grayson, the father's secretary, and Ambrose Peale, erstwhile publicity man for a Broadway show, who is out of a job. The trio open offices and start on a campaign to advertise "13 Soap, Unlucky for Dirt." The advertisements are on buildings, in newspapers, everywhere. Nothing is left undone to acquaint America with the new soap.

Of course, expenses pile up and the new company is on the verge of bankruptcy, when in comes an order for 250,000 cakes of the soap and another company wires for 30,000 cakes. Rodney then goes to his father, forms a new corporation, the latter to supply the soap for 3 cents a cake, the company selling it for $1 a cake as "the most expensive soap made." Of course, after that everything ends happily. There are many complications to the plot, including the love affair of Mary and Rodney.

The action of the play takes place in New York. The cast is adequate with Adele Rolland as Mary Grayson; Harold Vermilyea as Rodney; Elmer Grandin as Cyrus Martin; Frank Allworth as Ambrose Peale; and Elza Frederic as Comtesse de Beaurien. Cliff Worman portrays an interesting character bit as Ellery Clark, one of the real "spoiled sons."

"It Pays to Advertise" will continue until Wednesday evening, with a special matinee Wednesday afternoon.

Theater Gossip.

LAUDER'S DEBUT AS AN ACTOR.

Harry Lauder, the famous comedian, who comes to the Orpheum-Strand Thursday matinee and night, made his first appearance as an actor in the legitimate shortly before he sailed. He played the role of Georgie Pow in Graham Moffatt's "A Scrape o' the Pen" at the Comedy theater, London, for one performance, in the aid of the British Red Cross. Georgie Pow is a character something like that in Lauder's song of "The Saftest o' the Family," and according to press reports of the performance, Harry acquitted himself with all of the skill of an actor trained in that work. He studied the part while he was ill in a private hospital—a "nursing home," London calls it—and he was really out of his sick-bed only a few days before the performance.

NOTED STAGE STAR ON SCREEN AT ZELDA.

Mabel Taliaferro, the gifted stage and screen star, who is featured in "Her Great Price," a Metro "wonderplay," which opened a three days' engagement at the Zelda yesterday, has enjoyed an unique and successful career on both the speaking stage and in the silent drama. Miss Taliaferro was the first legitimate star on the American stage to go into motion pictures, and was only preceeded in pictures by two other stars, abroad, the divine Sarah Bernhardt and the great Coquelin. Her first screen appearance was in the three-reel production, "Cinderella," made by Selig, in which Miss Taliaferro met for the first time Thomas J. Carrigan, the Metro leading man, whom she afterwards married.

Miss Taliaferro began her stage career at the age of 2½ years. She appeared then with Robert Hilliard and Jennie Yeamans in "Blue Jeans." When she was 14 years old, she was William Collier's leading woman. Her next greatest success was in the charming role of "Lovey Mary" in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Then came the starring role in "In the Bishop's Carriage," in which she appeared in nearly every large city in this country and afterwards in Australia.

Miss Taliaferro also appeared in Booth Tarkinton's "Springtime" and until recently was starred in "The New Henrietta." Miss Taliaferro considers "Her Great Price" easily the best thing she has done in the silent drama.

LEVEE SCENE IN SKIT AT NEW GRAND.

A thoroughly enjoyable entertainment is promised at the popular New Grand for this first half of the week. "Night Time Down in Dixie" is the title of the big singing, dancing and comedy specialty which is offered by the "Seven White Blackbirds," amid elaborate scenic surroundings depicting the levee in a Southern town. The offering is headed by Clara Fiske, one of the few blackface comediennes, who is aided by a sextette of apt minstrel men.

Claudia Tracy, eccentric comedienne, is one of the important contributors on the bill, and runs true to the reputation of her race—for Claudia is of Celtic origin—for being able to radiate good humor. She uses a number of songs that were composed especially for her use.

Henry Loowey is a capable male dancer and is assisted by the Lucy sisters, a pair of proficient and pretty girls, who offer a series of numbers.

Le Vine and Inman offer "Sally's Visit," which is a specialty that embraces wire walking of both comedy and sensational nature.

"I Will Repay," a three-reel subject, with heart interest and relieved with just the right amount of comedy, toplines the photoplay program. Marguerite Clayton heads the cast of star players. One of the Sis Hopkins comedies, "Romance and Riot," and a drama, "The Hoyden," make up the balance of the program. On Tuesday and Wednesday the first of the "Social Pirates," a new series of stories, each one complete in itself, by the famous author, James Bronson Howard, will be added to the program. One of these stories will be given each week on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Sunday opened strong for "The Waifs," William Desmond and Jane Grey, at the Rex, and the unusual story made an appeal that is likely to draw good houses again today and tonight. "Fatty" Arbuckle, seen in a Keystone comedy called "His Wife's Mistake," proved as enjoyable as ever.

Tomorrow will begin one of the most noted pictures of the year, according to many of the critics of the East, when Douglas Fairbanks will open in "The Habit of Happiness." There will be a strong Keystone comedy in addition, but Mr. Fairbanks will doubtless capture most of the honors.

It is of this newest of pictures that "Wid" Gunning, recognized motion picture critic, says: "It has been a long time since I have really enjoyed a film as much as I did this latest offering builded around Douglas Fairbanks. New York has known Mr. Fairbanks a long time and his methods, but his recent film work has brought him in touch with millions of folk who had possibly never heard of him as the greatest light comedian on the stage. In this particular film we find a wonderful collection of types of the down-and-out class, and the work of this young man in teaching them how to smile is as novel and entertaining a thing as I have ever seen offered for amusement purposes."

The picture will be on until Friday matinee and night.

NOTABLE ATTRACTION AT THE LYRIC

It is rather an unusual week for the Rex-Lyric patrons, with Douglas Fairbanks and "Fatty" Arbuckle at the Rex and George Walsh and Doris Bawn in a brand new picture at the Lyric. "Blue Blood and Red," which began Sunday at the Lyric and continues Monday and Tuesday matinees and nights, is a play that breezes along, much action and with a new and "different" plot.

It is exciting, laughable, realistic and has an enjoyable relish that makes the picture one long to be remembered. "Algy Dupont" (Mr. Walsh) is turned out of his millionaire father's house, and after kidnaping his valet, starts out to see the country in his racing car. He gets among the cowboys of the West, and what they do to the young millionaire and what he does to some of them keeps the screen full of activities.

His brother, P. A. Walsh, is the director who made the picture. It is said that in the fist fight, the director hired a real prize fighter to pit against his brother, and entirely unknown to the star until he was in the midst of the encounter.

SAYS THE ENGLISH GET UP TOO LATE

Withal a Great People and Will Punish Germans, Says Baron.

London, April 17.—Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, on departing today for France with the other French members of the Franco-British interparliamentary committee, who have been visiting England for the last week, gave to the Associated Press the following impressions of his visit:

"My conclusion is that Great Britain is great indeed, and that Prussian militarism is sure to be punished as it deserves. Victory for us is a question of time only. Our children are sure now not to be deprived of their liberties. They will enjoy their peace, not a German truce.

"My only criticism is that England has still to hasten. The people are fine and good and brave, but they get up too late. The French people are at work every morning at least one or two hours earlier than the English people."

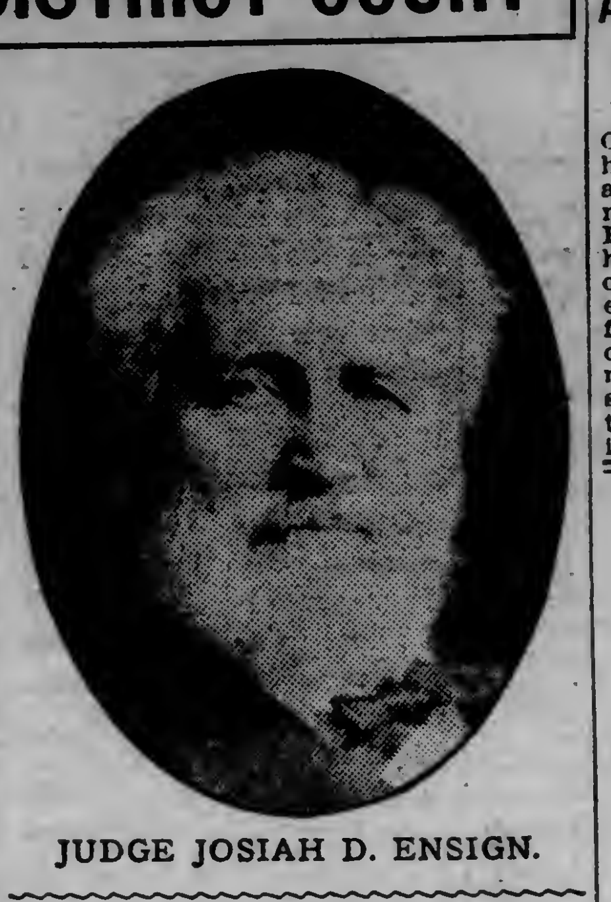
BEGINS TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR AS JUDGE OF DISTRICT COURT



JUDGE JOSIAH D. ENSIGN.

Josiah D. Ensign, dean of the Duluth bench and bar, today began his twenty-eighth year as judge of the district court.

The veteran jurist received his appointment as district judge in this county on April 16, 1889, and has been elected continuously since that time.

Judge Ensign will celebrate his eighty-third birthday anniversary next month. He was born May 14, 1833, in Erie county, New York. At the age of 6 he moved with his parents to Ashtabula, Ohio, where he was given a common school and academic education. He was admitted to the bar in 1857. During the same year he was elected clerk of the Ashtabula county courts. He served in this position for six years.

In 1869, Judge Ensign came to Minnesota. Sometime in February, 1870, he arrived in Duluth, and he has made this city his home ever since. Before going on the bench, he was active in political affairs. He is a former mayor of the city and has also served as county attorney, city councilman and board of education member.

IMPERSONATES "DRY" LEADER

Practical Joker Busy at Expense of Watson S. Moore.

Campaigning on the "wet" and "dry" issue has already begun, and some practical joker has been busy at the expense of one of the leaders in the "dry" camp.

Watson S. Moore, one of the leading promoters of the petition, said today that he had received information that somebody had called certain business men over the telephone, saying that Mr. Moore was talking, and asking their opinion on the wet and dry issue. Mr. Moore said that he had not made such calls and if he wanted to learn anybody's opinion, he would call on such persons in person to discuss the subject.

JAIL TERM FOR KNIFE WIELDER

An unprovoked attack upon a stranger will net Matt Juhannala, 34, woodsman, a long term in jail, police said today.

Saturday evening, while standing at a bar at Sixth avenue west and Superior street, Juhannala drew a knife and stabbed Andrew Anderson, a Jean du Luth farm employe, in the neck.

Anderson said he never had seen his assailant before. He did not see him at the time of the attack, as the lumberjack crept up on him from behind. Anderson was not seriously hurt, and was allowed to go to his home after Police Surgeon Harry Klein dressed his injuries.

Juhannala fled from the saloon, but was arrested later by Detectives Toewe and Bradley, on a description furnished by the victim.

In municipal court today Judge W. H. Smallwood bound the assailant over to await grand jury action. Bail was fixed at $500.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR HANGED IN EFFIGY

Benton, Ark., April 17.—Governor George W. Hays was hanged in effigy here Saturday night as a result of his action in commuting to life imprisonment the death sentences of Clarence Dewein and Joe Strong, who were to have been electrocuted for the murder of H. I. Thompson, an aged storekeeper of this city. Two figures were found yesterday morning dangling over the principal streets of the town, marked "Governor Hays." A petition signed by more than 300 residents of the town asked the governor not to interfere with the executions.

A Word of Precaution.

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about.

HOW HEALTH MAKES STYLE

The semi-elastic Nemo Wonderlift Bandlet (in all "Self-Help" Wonderlift Corsets) is fully adjustable to exactly fit the form. The corset is held firmly in its proper place—it can't ride up, twist, bulge or wrinkle. Your gowns fit smoothly.

(NOTE: No. 557, for very slim women, with concave abdomen, rounds out the figure and does away with sharp hip bones.)

Thus the priceless hygienic features of the Wonderlift Corset contribute largely to its superb style. The demands of both Health and Fashion are completely co-ordinated. This is true of no other corset.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

John Pierpont Morgan born, 1837.

Born in Hartford, Conn., the son of a banker, Morgan was educated in English high school, Boston, and the university of Gottingen, Germany. Entered a banking house at 20, and in 1860 became American agent for George Peabody & Co. of London; in 1864 became partner in Dabney, Morgan & Co., dealers in investment securities; in 1871 entered the banking firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co., which later became the present firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. He became one of the world's greatest manipulators and organizers of finance, his greatest single achievement being the United States Steel corporation. Died March 31, 1913, of nervous dyspepsia.

WAR AND THE PRESIDENT'S POLICIES

President Wilson has captained a parlous voyage of the ship of state through the most perplexing and dangerous waters it ever traveled.

Germany on the one side, and Mexico on the other, have threatened disaster—war.

For this captaining of this critical voyage President Wilson has been bitterly, incessantly and viciously assailed by those interested more in party advantage than in national welfare. YET THE VOYAGE SO FAR HAS BEEN MANAGED IN SAFETY, though dangers unparalleled threatened constantly.

The voyage is not yet ended. The perils are not over—are graver than ever, indeed.

If it becomes necessary to steer the ship of state into the hostile port of war, Wilson will steer it there with courage and confidence. The navigation rule that has guided him has been not to steer into that port unless it is absolutely necessary.

In keeping out of the enemy port of war the president, despite the bushwacking and sniping out of alleys of his political enemies, has had popular sympathy and support.

In refusing to follow the bad advice of his enemies, which would have meant war before it was necessary, the president has had popular sympathy and support.

So, if some day we find ourselves in that hostile port of war, the people will know that it is because there was no other way—no other honorable way—and that we are there because we must be there.

That will strengthen the president in that crucial hour. He will have in fuller measure still that popular sympathy and support which every president who deserves it should always have. The people will know that he has done his level best honorably to avoid war, and therefore that if war comes it will be because war was unavoidable with honor.

The president's course, despite the shameful guerilla methods of his political enemies, has been the right course throughout. He has known what he was about. He has not done the things his enemies demanded that he do because he knew they were the wrong things to do. He has done the things he did do because he knew they were the right things to do. What his enemies demanded that he do would have led certainly and swiftly to war. Every day of the many critical days that have passed, the only alternative to what the president has done has been WAR. The president has been determined to keep us out of war so long as he could honorably. When he no longer honorably can keep us out of war, then we shall know we are at war because it is RIGHT to be at war.

If the voyage continues to be peaceful, then we shall know that the president has found it possible to pursue his wise, humane, patriotic and courageous course to the end. We shall know that those who have criticized and shouted evil advice, hoping that disaster would overtake the administration so it would be possible for them to elect a new administration, have been wrong — horribly and traitorously wrong because they would have sacrificed peace and honor for political gain.

The president has been RIGHT. If he has made mistakes they have been small ones. His large policies and acts have been RIGHT. They have preserved the national honor and self-respect and yet have kept us out of war. If war comes, nobody who has followed his policies in the past two years will doubt that it has come because it is no longer possible to avoid it and still keep the national honor and self-respect.

Whether war comes or not, history will emblazon the record of President Wilson through the last year as the noblest type of that conception of American statesmanship which holds it to be America's mission and duty to uphold the rights of humanity and to pioneer the path of world peace.

A SUBJECT FOR BULL MOOSE INQUIRY.

Chancellor Day of Syracuse university may be remembered as a somewhat eminent champion of the "malefactors of great wealth" whom Theodore Roosevelt at one time, when "malefactors of great wealth" opposed him, delighted to dishonor.

Now, manifestly, "malefactors of great wealth" do not oppose Roosevelt, and he gives them no abuse.

So Chancellor Day of Syracuse university is out for Roosevelt. He says there is "a new Roosevelt"; that he understands "that recently he has modified to a considerable degree his views on those subjects."

So now there is a new Roosevelt that is tolerable not only to "malefactors of great wealth"—many of whom manufacture war munitions, by the way—but to Chancellor Day.

Those who followed Roosevelt four years ago very largely did so because of his policy of "social justice." Because, that is, of the policy Chancellor Day and the "malefactors of great wealth" opposed him for. Now he is "pussyfooting" about social justice, is a "new Roosevelt," has "modified to a considerable degree his views on those subjects."

Can he eat his cake and have it, too?

Villa is........(Fill in the blank according to the latest report.)

SOUNDS LIKE REAL PREPAREDNESS.

John Hays Hammond, Jr., has invented a torpedo so good, they say, that congress is likely to pay him three quarters of a million for it. That's quite a bit of money for a young man to make, but they also say that he has been offered more by other governments, but naturally prefers to keep it in the family.

This torpedo, according to well authenticated accounts of it, is a pretty vicious institution. It can be started on its way and then directed in its course from shore, from a boat or from an airship, as far out to sea as sight will carry—five to eight miles. It can be aimed so accurately that it will hit a bamboo pole upright in the water, and there isn't the slightest difficulty at all about sending it with its ton of explosives against the hull of an invading vessel.

What the Navy league and the other "defense" organizations ought to do with this torpedo is to buy it up and suppress it. If it is half what is claimed for it—and believed by those who have watched it work—it's the worst thing in the world for the business of the militarists.

So far as "external perils" are concerned, if this invention will do what it seems to be able easily to do—and the tests have been so thorough that a senate committee has voted unanimously to buy it—it sounds like pretty nearly enough "preparedness" in itself.

Why have great navies and great armies when if you have an instrument like this you can sink every warship and transport of the invader before they get within the three-mile limit of Americans waters?

There are surviving writers who haven't any Gallagher or Van Bibber to keep their fame alive.

"PECK'S BAD BOY."

George W. Peck died yesterday in Milwaukee at the age of seventy-five. He used to be mayor of Milwaukee. From 1891 to 1895 he was governor of Wisconsin, in one campaign defeating the redoubtable John C. Spooner.

Is that all you remember about him? Then you are a mere youngster.

But if you remember that he was the editor of Peck's Sun, with its picture of the round sun bearing the mystic inscription "Po Stn Obi Lls," and the author of "Peck's Bad Boy," and if you have recollections of keen pleasure in the appearance of these boisterously humorous publications, then you are getting on, son, you are getting on!

For the day of Peck's Sun and "Peck's Bad Boy" and his exploits is more than thirty years back, and to have any recollection of them now you must be at least forty. And when you were reading "Peck's Bad Boy and His Pa" in 1882—which is thirty-four years back, remember—anybody forty years old looked to you like an incredibly ancient person, hoary and bent with years.

Here you've been masquerading—to yourself, anyway—as a young person, and now the death of Peck's Bad Boy, which you probably thought happened twenty or thirty years ago, gives you away!

The comic literature which George W. Peck produced has been dead for many years, but there are thousands upon thousands with a lively recollection of it, and of how they used to welcome the installments of it that came out in ample volume. It was rather crude humor, it must be confessed, but it brought its laughs, many of them, and so made merry moments and thus did a good work in the world.

And may we now look for several editions de luxe of The Bad Boy and its sequels?

WHAT THEY ARE NOT.

Meredith Nicholson of Indiana, author of "The House of a Thousand Candles," "A Hoosier Chronicle" and other good novels, is to be assistant secretary of war.

"I tell you," declares Mr. Piffling Quibbles, "the president is appointing too many reformers, theorists and writers. Think of it: Louis D. Brandeis, Louis F. Post, Brand Whitlock, Newton D. Baker, Meredith Nicholson—and there are others! What's the country coming to?"

Well, anyhow, they are not politicians, not errand boys for the trusts, not valets of the big bosses or runners for Wall street.

There's a Reason

Editorial in the Jacksonville Times-Union.

The Albany Journal thinks the Democratic tariff is a failure as a revenue producer. It says:

> That the Democratic plea that deficient national revenue is due to the war and not at all caused by the tariff law, is false, was asserted in a speech by Representative Humphrey of the state of Washington, and he supported his assertion with the evidence of figures that cannot be disputed. He held up the fact that in January of 1913, when the Republican tariff law was still in force, imports amounted to $163,000,000. Last January the total imports were $184,000,000. But the revenue from import duties in January of 1913 was $27,000,000, while that in January of this year was only $15,000,000. In other words, from imports greater by $21,000,000 there was revenue diminished by $12,000,000. Mr. Humphrey declared, on the basis of this comparison, that if the Republican law were still in force, in the last eleven months the amount of revenue collected would have exceeded by $105,000,000 the amount that was collected.

The facts cited by Mr. Humphrey sound very plausible to those who do not understand the situation, but Mr. Humphrey should have understood the situation and the Albany Journal should understand it. The figures given appeal only to the ignorant and neither a congressman nor an editor should belong to that class.

We import from Europe nearly all our manufactured products that we do not produce in this country, and they are nearly all dutiable. We import from other quarters of the world nearly all our raw materials that we do not produce and they are generally on the free list. This is especially true of our imports from South America. Generally they come in free and the few that are dutiable do not pay large duties.

In 1913 a large part of our imports came from Europe, and were heavily dutiable. In 1915 the bulk of our imports came from other quarters and were generally admitted free. About half our imports came from Europe in 1913 and less than one-third of them in 1915. Our imports from Europe declined from $864,666,103 in 1913 to $546,352,567 in 1915—a decrease of nearly $320,000,000, or much more than one-third. The imports from other quarters rose from $927,930,377 in 1913 to $1,232,244,128 in 1915—a gain of more than $300,000,000, and rather mone than one-third.

This shifting of imports is caused entirely by the war. Some of the nations in Europe can't ship to us and others need products so badly that they have little for export. It is a condition that will last as long as the war and no longer. Any good Republican like Mr. Humphrey and the Albany Journal will make affidavit that under the present tariff this country will be flooded with imports from Europe as soon as the war ends. If so the treasury will then have money galore.

The fact that imports from Europe are generally dutiable and those from other countries are generally not is no new feature of the present tariff. It has always been so.

Joan the Maid.

The Lord forgive us, for the sake
Of her that led the harried host
Of France against the Englishmen
That Orleans won and lost.

St. Michael stood, a star in Heaven,
When in Domremy, upon earth,
He saw a little candle burn
That gave the stars much mirth.

There Joan was weaned, and kept her sheep.
One night, as daylight died,
She saw upon the roughcast wall
A sunbeam at her side.

'Twas Michael's lamp: "With feet of mail,"
He said, "they break the flax afield!"
And from the shadow on the wall
He wove for her a shield.

And in the ruins at Fierbois
He bade her look for Martel's sword—
Five Poictiers crosses on the blade—
To save France for the Lord.

Some men believe, and some will doubt,
And some will fall away;
But Joan believed, with blood and tears,
Until her martyring day.

At Rouen, in the market place,
They show the stones of shame,
Where for the piteous warrior maid,
Was lit the witch's flame.

Now, men of France, and Englishmen—
By that remorseful death
You wrought on her, call on the wind,
And on the dust beneath;

Call on the dust that once was Joan,
And bid her heart be there;
The sheepswool vest beneath the mail,
A halo around her hair.

Great news, if you that wrought should save
The land for which she died;
Call now, and on her white warhorse
The Maid may with you ride!

The blessed dead that loved their land
To death, like winds and stars
Still stir the dust, and cannot rest;
Joan's soul forgets not hers.

Whale of a Wallop.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The Rev. A. J. Waldron, the popular English clergyman, has a fine "eye" for the humorous. One of the best stories that he tells is the following.

"A very demure-looking Salvation Army lassie, who was traveling in a railway train, was asked by a man sitting next to her whether she believed every word in the Bible.

"'Yes,' she replied, 'I do.'

"'Surely,' exclaimed the man, 'you don't believe that Jonah was swallowed by a whale?'

"'I do,' she answered, 'and when I get to heaven I'll ask him about it.'

"'But suppose he's not in heaven?' inquired the stranger, with a sneer.

"'Then you ask him!' was the Salvation Army girl's reply."

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Unappreciative Man.

"My husband," sighed the weeping wife, "has made a ruin of my life. He does not seem to yearn or long for Higher Things, like Art and Song. The sordid things to him appeal; he'd rather have a good square meal, than sit with me through dreamful days, reciting Robert Browning's lays. A noble painting on the wall makes no appeal to him at all; with scorn he'll pass the picture by, and say he'd rather have a pie. Because the bread is always hard, because his porterhouse is charred, because the coffee's weak and thin, he'll make a most unseemly din. He can't be made to realize that noble odes beat oyster fries, that Ibsen's pen, surcharged with ink, surpasses sausage in the link, that Handel's grand harmonic burst beats schweitzer cheese or liverwurst. So here I sit upon the floor, and weep and wail forevermore."

A Man

Editorial in Collier's Weekly.

Our interest at the present moment is more piqued by the unobtrusive figure of Col. E. M. House than by any other individual who now walks about on this continent. Last week we printed this paragraph by the editor of the London Nation:

> Col. House's visit to us, which has just come to an end, stands, I think, for a landmark in the war. No one has had anything like his chances of valuing the general factors which will decide the fate of Europe, now dreadfully in the balance. This is not a small function. Save for the conferences of the allies, diplomacy has come to an end over the great field of Europe. Neither side knows what the other side thinks; and the more men strain the ear, the more loudly sounds the roar of the cannon. It is well, therefore, for the world to have at least one carrier of ideas and intelligence. Col. House has impressed everybody with his sense, prudence, reserve, sincerity, power of estimating forces, and giving their due weight in the balance of affairs.

This paragraph speaks for itself. After reading it, to go on expanding the idea that Col. House is a pretty important figure in the world would be too obvious.

Now, in reading Col. Harvey's North American Review, we find an article about Col. House by Henry Herbert Childers. It is by far the best article that has been written about the president's adviser. Apparently Mr. Childers has more information about Col. House than other political writers have commanded, partly, at least, because of having spent a good many years in Texas as a newspaper man. Mr. Childers quotes two expressions about Mr. House by men of insight. A distinguished American essayist, E. S. Martin, says:

> A shrewd, experienced, thoughtful man, whose interest in life is and always has been politics, to handle the machinery of it and get the best results compatible with the material offered. * * * The rare thing about him is his self-effacement and superiority to vanity. He loved to play the game, but never thought of the gate money, never cared to be a grandstand player. * * * A mere human being, like any of us, looking about for things that interest his mind and made life taste good and finding them supremely in politics.

To which an unnamed acquaintance of Col. House adds:

> I have known that man for eighteen years, and watched him play politics all that time; plan and direct; weigh men and choose between them; use their talents and abilities when they had them; put them in places where they belonged when he could; put in the next best man when he couldn't. He always played fair; always wanted the best man, the best law, and the best principle that he could see, and never wanted anything for himself except the fun of playing the game. You couldn't drive him into office. He never tried to make a penny out of legislation. The less he was seen and heard of the better he liked it.

Still a third quotation. Reference to Col. House was made one day this year in a public address by President Wilson:

> I can point out to you a few men—of course I am not going to name them now—whom every man ought to be afraid of because nothing but the truth resides in them. I have one in particular in mind whom I have never caught thinking about himself. I would not dare to make a pretense in the presence of that man even if I wanted to. His eyes contain the penetrating light of truth before which all disguises fall away.

These quotations suggest a pretty remarkable person. Our own guess is that the public does not know as much about him as it would like to. The interest which is provoked by these quotations is rather stimulated by a few of the fugitive facts set down by Mr. Childers:

> He rose gradually to be the most effective thought the most quiet influence in the Democratic policies of the Southern states. He never has sought anything for himself. * * *
>
> Perhaps the most remarkable thing that can be said of Col. House is that during these four campaigns for governor he never incurred the enmity of a single man, never had one heated controversy, never threatened, never browbeat, never punished. It is safe to say that he never sought to even up old scores with anyone, whatever the provocation. If he ever sought the friendship of any man, it is not on record. Place and power were not for him.
>
> Col. House has never tried to make money. His main effort has been to keep what his father left him and to make it productive. His income does not exceed $20,000. * * *
>
> Col. House's modesty amounts almost to diffidence. He will not get into a crowd if he can help it, and has never attended a convention of any kind, educational, religious or political. He never wrote a newspaper communication, nor until recently has he submitted to an interview for publication. He never belonged to a church or order of any kind. * * *
>
> House had played all his cards, had worked hard, and was much run down in health, but everybody thought he would surely attend the Baltimore convention. Instead he sailed from Boston to Liverpool, none too confident of Wilson's nomination. The moment Wilson was nominated I sent him a wireless at sea, as he had requested.

An impressive and stimulating picture, even an inspiring one. We are willing to be considerate of Col. House's modesty, and respect his wish to avoid crowds and publicity. But there aren't many things in America more worthy of emulation by youth than Col. House and his career; and whatever brings that career to the attention of youth is valuable out of proportion to the wounds to Col. House's modesty.

"A Heroic Mood"

New York Evening Post: At last we have a definition of the heroic mood into which the country must enter if it is to have the colonel for a candidate. If you are for the preservation of the United States, you may vote for the colonel; otherwise you had better vote for Smith, who is in favor of ceding Maine and Wisconsin to Great Britain, Florida to Germany, Texas to Mexico, and California to Japan. If you believe that the United States should be strong enough to defend its rights, you may vote for the colonel; otherwise you may vote for Jones, who is in favor of the United States never speaking up for its rights. If you favor "every honorable expedient to avoid even a just war," you must nominate the colonel, since no other visible candidate is in favor of peace with honor. Thus the colonel has drawn the line of demarkation between the craven and the hero, between the man who would pussyfoot on eternal principles and the man who maintains, come one come all, that bread is good and water is wet, that April has thirty days and that 3 times 3 is 6.

Cause for a Pardon.

Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: Senator Bob Taylor of Tennessee often told of how, when he was "Fiddling Bob," governor of that state, an old negress came to him and said:

"Massa Gov'na, we's mighty po' this winter and ah wish yo' would pardon mah old man. He is a fiddler, same as yo' is, and he's in the pen-tentry."

"What was he put in for?" asked the governor.

"'Stead of workin' fo' it that good-fo' nothin' nigger done stole some bacon."

"If he is good for nothing what do you want him back for?"

"Well, yo' see, we's all out of bacon ag'in," said the old negress, innocently.

Primary Elections—Presidential and Others

What Minnesota Editors Think About the Primary Principle.

"A Most Obnoxious Law."

In certain quarters the attacks on the direct primary laws, both presidential and statewide, continue. Now comes the Virginia Virginian with this: "There is considerable agitation among the newspapers of the state for the repeal of the primary election law. It certainly ought to be repealed, for it is a most obnoxious law. Its provisions give the people an opportunity to select whom they want for state officers, congressmen and United States senators, and, of course, this will never do at all. The kind of laws we want are those which will give the big fellows and bosses the opportunity to name the men whom they want nominated. By all means repeal the present primary law so that the bosses may rule the politics of the country, as has been done in the past."

It Has Him Guessing.

Irve Townsend of the Donnelly Star is frankly puzzled by the attitude taken by some of the guild. He puts it this way: "To save my life I cannot see why a number of country newspapers are opposing the primary election law. The number is limited, fortunately, but why any at all? Does Brother Joubert, for instance, intend to run for office, and has he a pull with the machine which he fears will not go with the people at the polls? It is plain to see why a professional politician prefers the old convention system, where the machine was supreme, but why should newspaper men?"

Exposing a Fallacy.

Of course it is easy to find instances in which the primary hasn't proved a universal panacea, and therefore these instances are pounced on by primary opponents in efforts to prove their case. The Mankato Review tore the covers off that fallacy very neatly, when it said: "The people make mistakes sometimes in their choice of officials, but this does not convince us that popular government should be abandoned and that we should return to autocratic or aristocratic ideas of government. They make mistakes in their nominations by primary, but this does not imply that we should be better off by a return to the iniquities of the old caucus and convention system."

No Fundamental Defects.

That what we want is an amended law, not a repeal of the primary system, is the opinion of the Willmar Tribune, which says: "By the indiscriminate criticism of the direct primary indulged in by certain politicians and newspapers controlled by them one would think that this law was expected to do away with all political chicanery, and prevent any mistakes from being made. Unfortunately human nature cannot be changed by law. But undesirable traits can be restrained by law, and the direct primary has and will help. There are no defects in the law so fundamental that they cannot be remedied. All amendments should be made with the view of simplifying the same and reducing election expenses. The state, counties and precincts should not be called on to stand expense of party primaries. Party names should be cut from all official ballots."

A Good, Plain Statement.

A good, plain, common sense statement of the case is this from the Milaca Times: "Considerable criticism of the presidential primary is heard over the entire state, but we must remember that a large proportion of the states now have it. It was new in Minnesota and it is easy to make objection to any new method. It is surely not liked by the politicians, and the voters need time to familiarize themselves thoroughly with it.

"The vote on the whole was not so small, perhaps considering everything larger than was to be expected. The Socialists, with about 30,000 votes, did not participate. There was not sufficient rivalry between the candidates of the various parties to bring out a large vote, and in a large proportion of cases none of the candidates were favored. Under both of these handicaps about 55 per cent of the voters who participated in the 1914 election cast their presidential ballot, perhaps largely to vote for delegates. Had there been a real opportunity to choose from available presidential timber on the Republican ballot, and such conditions had also existed on the Democratic ticket, the voters would have taken a different interest.

"No doubt several changes are needed to make the presidential primary workable and efficient, but the legislature will have an opportunity to correct the weaknesses of the law without destroying the primary plan that thwarts the plans of the party manager."

North Dakota Notions

Various Views Expressed by Newspapers of That State.

And Then Watch Them Wriggle.

Fargo Democrat: When the Republicans urge the people to turn the present Democratic national administration out, ask them what they propose to give in return and what they propose as a tariff policy and as a policy of international relations. Ask them what they would have done as to the great European war had they been in control. Put these questions at them and demand a clear public declaration from them.

Also Those Itching to Have Others Join.

Minot Optic-Reporter: It is our opinion that the fellow who has been itching to join the army will soon have something to do besides scratch.

When a Town Begins to Run Down.

Bathgate Pink Paper: When a town begins to run down and everyone complains of loss of trade and the neighboring towns are getting trade right up to and within the town limits, look in the local paper and you will get your answer; the merchants do not advertise, then look in the papers of the other towns and you will notice the successful merchant advertises.

May It so Continue!

Jamestown Democrat: It is yet too early, of course, to predict the outcome of our present expedition in Mexico, but events thus far have demonstrated the wisdom of President Wilson's policy and confounded the treasonable propagandists who have been moving heaven and earth to promote a conflict of arms between the governments of the two countries.

Teddy as a "Unifier."

Fargo Forum: Those who favor Roosevelt as the Republican nominee at the Chicago convention, generally advance the argument that he is one of the men who would "unify" the Republican party. To others, and they are legion, Roosevelt, instead of being a unifying power is regarded as the rock on which the party is liable to be shipwrecked once more. For instance, the St. Louis Times, a Republican newspaper, says:

> It is useless to waste more time talking about Teddy and his intentions. He's in the race tooth and toe nail. He has three hats, one pussyfoot and half a wardrobe in the ring by this time. The truth of the matter is, he has never been out of the race so far as Roosevelt is concerned. There is only one thing for Republicans to do to avoid another national split, or schism, and that is to get Roosevelt out to stay.

There are many comments of a similar nature in the Republican press at this time. These men evidently believe that Roosevelt is anything but a unifying force.

Why It Is Roosevelt

Editorial in the New York World.

"Wall Street is for Root, but I am for Hughes," says Governor Whitman, who insists that Hughes "is the only man who can be elected by the party."

Of course Wall Street is for Root, but Wall Street has no expectation that Root can be nominated, and it never allows sentiment to interfere with business. That is why it will take Roosevelt, and try to float him into the White House on a sea of money.

Wall Street wants control of congress. It wants control of the Federal reserve board. It wants control of the Federal trade board. It wants control of the tariff-making machinery. It wants control of the interstate commerce commission. It cannot get this through a Democratic party led by Woodrow Wilson. It can get it through the Republican party, and while it may despise Roosevelt personally, it is willing to accept him and support him—and finance him.

It might be ready to take Hughes, too, but Hughes is handicapped in such a way that it is almost impossible for him to obtain the nomination. Unlike the other candidates, he can make no active fight for delegates. His judicial position forbids. He cannot announce his candidacy or discuss publicly any of the issues of the campaign. While he remains on the bench his lips are sealed. He cannot say whether he is for or against preparedness, whether he is for or against more tariffs. He can say nothing.

Nor can he permit his friends to interpret his attitude toward the issues of the campaign, or to solicit support in his behalf, or to enter into any bargain for delegates.

But the Roosevelt elements in the convention would never vote for Hughes. Roosevelt would never permit them to vote for Hughes, and if Hughes were by chance nominated, Roosevelt would find an excuse to run against the man whom he refers to in private conversation as "that Baptist hypocrite."

So far as Hughes is concerned, the cards are stacked, and the Roosevelt crowd will make sure that the nomination never comes to him on terms in which he, as a justice of the United States supreme court, can acquiesce. If Hughes were ready, like Roosevelt, to take the nomination on any terms, in any circumstances, on any platform and by any arrangement, he might control the convention, but that kind of Hughes fortunately does not exist.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man.

The trouble with us is that we are very impatient, and think to accomplish a great deal in a very short time. One man on the street who makes a "lucky hit," and for his little investment draws out an enormous amount, does more than can be dreamed of to demoralize the community. A thousand others, unwilling to work for the money they hope to get, too hasty in temper to wait twenty years for the result of twenty years' toil, put their small venture upon the wheel, to lose it in the end.—G. H. Hepworth.

The Blessedness of Forgiveness.

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven."—Psalm xxxii.

It is the blessedness of emancipation. The boat which has been tethered to the weird, baleful shore is set free, and sails toward the glories of the morning. The man, long cramped in the dark, imprisoning pit, is brought out, and stretches his limbs in the sweet light and air of God's free world. Black servitude is ended; glorious liberty begins.

It is the blessedness of education. For when we are freed we are by no means perfected. We are liberated babes; and our Emancipator does not desert us in our spiritual infancy. The foundling is not abandoned. "Having loved His own He loved them unto the end." He begins with us in the spiritual nursery, and He will train and lead and feed us until we are "perfect in Christ Jesus."

Therefore is it the blessedness of exultation. The babe is resting on the bosom of the Lord, and "the joy of the Lord is his strength." It is not my emancipation that insures my joy; it is the abiding Presence of the Emancipator.—J. H. Jowett.

What the Shell Did.

London Punch: Old Lady—So, William, you've come back to us wounded, I hear. How did it happen?

William—Shell, mum.

Old Lady—A shell Oh, dear, dear! And did it explode?

William—Explode, mum? Not likely. It just crept softly up behind—and bit me!

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences is barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

CAN WE "MAKE GOOD?"

To the Editor of The Herald:

Ought we to be pottering over what may happen year after next, while the nations of Europe are fighting for their lives?

Is it frivolous and dilettante in us?

On that point H. G. Wells has something to say. He is an Englishman, not without standing in his own country. In the Saturday Evening Post he assigns to the United States the chief role of spreading the doctrine of world peace. The United States is in the best position to expedite the reign of law in the world because its energies are not wholly seized by the war. By it's traditions and genius, he believes the people of the United States can most help this work.

These sentences are characteristic of what he is saying:

"There is no real peace but the peace of the whole world, and that is only to be kept by the whole world resisting and suppressing aggression wherever it arises."

Our first business is to get that into our heads.

"At present, with three of these four great powers enormously preoccupied with actual warfare, there is an opportunity for guiding expression on the part of America such as may never occur again."

He refers to "a propaganda of ideas and language." He speaks of "progressive expression of a developing ideal of community."

"I see this matter as a question of peace and civilization." If we see it as he does, it may, or may not be our duty to try to promote civilization by hand grenades and chlorine gas; it is our duty to promote it by gaining and giving "guiding expression."

He credits us with sense and spirit enough to make good on that job.. Can we?

WHERE THE DANGER LIES IN PREPAREDNESS

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the Open Court of last Thursday's Herald, an "American" attempted to give us a sermon on logic. Where he got his wonderful reasoning I don't know. His logic is so mercilessly sharp that every time it attempts to pierce the target it glances off into space, and sometimes has a regular boomerang orbit.

He would have us believe that the police force and fire department are analogous to the army and navy in the question of preparedness.

When you see the police force and the firemen, Mr. "American," how exceedingly thrilled you are with the glory of mankind's defense against the felon (more the victim than the enemy of society) and the fire! How fervid is your devotion to injured society and how intense your hatred of the wrongdoer! No, Mr. "American," there is something emotional, something thrilling, something that arouses intense love of one's own and an equally intense hatred of another's; something that brings our blood to the boiling point, so that our rather volatile reason boils off as if it were nothing but hot air; something based upon selfish, brute passion, that distinguishes the question of national preparedness from preparation against internal disorder.

Why did we fight Spain eighteen years ago after she offered to make full concessions? And why do we commemorate the murder and robbery that we committed in that war? Why did our local newspaper at the time publish a stirring poem with a picture of a cannon above it that took nearly half the first page?

And why don't we immortalize the execution of persons guilty of murder, and those conquests of the fire-demon? The fight against filth and disease hardly touches our emotions, while national preparedness stirs them as if by magic. And why? For the same reason that the animal is stirred at the sight of blood.

Remnants of ancient barbarism, one of the strongest of which is nationalism, or patriotism, if you please, are still lingering in the human system. Each country thinks itself the chosen people of God, the center of existence around which everything else revolves. Love of one's country is no virtue, for it is easy to love one's own. It is he whose heart is broad enough so that he can love other countries as well as his own, who can feel the heart beats of all existence instead of only a part of it, that is truly deserving of merit. It is that egoism and narrowness of our sympathies that form the highway along which we carry on a program of preparedness, and it is our brute passions that act as the blinding and propelling force. And it is just these prejudices and passions which lie at the bottom of national preparedness that distinguish it from preparedness against internal disorder, and that will bring on the very evil we seek to forfend.

We are a people very easily provoked—that has been well proved time and again, and conclusively in the case of the war with Spain—and all we need is the pressure of a pair of heavy biceps to precipitate us into action. The desire is inherent in every being to make use of its powers; and every country, ours included, has those barbaric biases and passions to give that desire the color of justice and equity.

It is this very same desire which prejudices military experts in favor of mammoth armaments. Our Mr. "American" attempts to defend the military officer; but he is just the man of whom we should be most suspicious, for in him the national craving is strongest. He does not think of the dangers of the battlefield, for the battle forms the consummation of all his desires, the actual employment of the faculties he has spent his entire life to develop. His opinions should, therefore, be regarded with suspicion.

Above all, we should recollect that we are but a dewdrop in all existence. And if we can forget ourselves for a moment and remember that there are other nations in this world besides our own, and that they do not exist to sing to us while we eat, we shall be able to consider all issues with more coolness and reason. National preparedness, if thus held to view, becomes an evil in every sense of the word, and a mere relic of ancient barbarism.

SIGNER OF "DRY" PETITION THINKS PLAN INADEQUATE

To the Editor of The Herald:

I believe in Federal control of the liquor traffic, and believe that this will be accomplished eventually. In the meantime, some local progress towards further restriction is desirable. I signed the petition calling for an election on this question, as all such questions should be passed upon in that manner.

Since reading carefully the proposed law, however, I find this situation will exist, providing the measure carries: Our local concerns may ship their goods out of the city limits, and by a method which they may develop, sell it to those who care to purchase in the city again, either by the bottle, case or barrel. I suppose it is expected that this will materially discourage consumption, and it probably will. But will it not develop a situation through the legal and illegal bottle trade that will be very difficult to cope with? And will we not need quite as many officers to handle the results of a scattered traffic as at present?

As I understand it, about the only excuse for accepting a fee from liquor dealers was that it was necessary to have a greater number of policemen to look after such places, and that it was only fair to make the saloon pay for this large expense through such fees. As I look now at this matter, the net result will be that we forfeit these fees, abolish the saloon, reduce the consumption to some extent, but will still have the problem to contend with and will be obliged to maintain quite as large a force to watch the bootleggers, the drug stores and the bottle consumers. This can only be considered a half measure. Is there not, then, some other half measure that will reduce the actual consumption to a similar extent; some other way that will make quite as much progress in this direction?

Why not reduce the number of dealers a certain per cent and raise the license fees materially, and still make the traffic pay the cost of its supervision? I hope we will have some such alternative proposition. Then we can take our choice. Yours,

ALBERT JOHNSON.

FOR A CHORAL SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Duluth should have a permanent oratorio society, and just at this time of the year it requires an extra effort to get enough singers together to put on an oratorio or a cantata.

The rendition of an oratorio such as the Messiah, Elijah, Creation, or a cantata of similar grade, requires a chorus of at least 100 voices who have had some experience in chorus singing.

It is my firm belief that as soon as a permanent choral society is organized, it will cause all singers to establish this fact in their minds and they will look forward to the rehearsals as a pleasure, a duty and an education.

Spokane, Wash., is planning to send a singing chorus composed of 1,000 young boys on a tour throughout the United States, and has included Washington, D. C., in its itinerary.

Why should Duluth not get 200 singers together who will pledge themselves to work, boost, sing and attend these rehearsals?

If you want to do something for yourself and Duluth, think this over.

Thanking you for the space, I am,

H. E. VOIGT.

RENEWS HIS ATTACK ON HIGHWAY COMMISSION

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to add a few words to my previous letter to the Open Court upon the question of the state highway commission system of road building. While I would like to reply at length to the letter of H. O. Engelsom of Tofte, Minn., the rules of the Open Court require that I confine discussion to 300 words.

It is true that the commission has not as much power as was originally given by the Dunn law. Home rule "vaporings" during the last legislature wrung from the author of the law numerous amendments which took away the right of the commission to interfere with the township officials.

And what magic is there about the term "state aid" that, for the sake of such aid three politicians shall have control over the expenditure of enormous funds, and the last word as to how or where state roads shall be built? The taxpayer gives directly to the state a 1-mill road tax. This is a considerable part of the money, regarding which The Herald editor says "the state should never spend a dollar on roads in the routing and building and maintenance of which it has no say."

In this connection we might ask, "Who is the state? Is it the legislature?" Well, the legislature has no control over the spending of this money. "Is it the people of the state, the taxpayers?" They have no say in the matter, except the privilege of paying the taxes. "Is it the highway commission?" It would seem so at the last analysis.

Friends of the highway commission system speak of the efficiency of the work under said system, and to prove their claims point to the difference between the state highways and the usual township road. Is it quite fair to compare a mile of road costing probably less than $500 to another mile of road costing $2,000 or more? Are the township road builders inefficient because they cannot do as much with $500 as can the highway commission with four or five times that amount?

Yours truly, C. A. SWANSON.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretened to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"After Truth," Duluth: I notice in a letter from "American" in yesterday's paper that some preacher, in a recent sermon made the statement that on "most unimpeachable and expert authority it is stated that the United States has the most powerful navy in the world—excepting only that of Great Britain." Being most desirous of verifying so important a fact, will you kindly print the name of the preacher who made the assertion referred to, so that I may be able to communicate with him.

Ans.: "American" undoubtedly referred to The Herald's report of the sermon by Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits, printed in the issue of Saturday, April 8. In that report Dr. Lefkovits was quoted as follows: "Peruse the records of the hearings of the congressional naval committee and you will find it stated by the most unimpeachable and most expert authorities in this country that we have the most powerful navy in the world, excepting only that of Great Britain, and that our coast defenses and land fortifications are superior to those of any nation on earth."

"A Subscriber," Moose Lake, Minn.: Will the Alger Smith railroad run to Gunflint, Minn.? Through what townships and sections in Cook county will it pass, and how many miles of the road are left to work?

Ans.: See page 2, column 1, of The Herald for Saturday, April 15.

"A Subscriber," Eveleth: Could you give me the lines of the "Indian treaties" in this state? Does the Indian treaty land extend as far north as Ray?

Ans.: There has been much discussion in court as to whether various towns are included in this territory, and without the court records to refer to, we could not try to answer this question. Write to United States District Attorney Alfred Jaques at St. Paul, or to the United States Indian bureau at Washington, D. C.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

"Two Little Girls in Blue" and "Just Plain Folks," from Thomas C. Peck of Duluth.

"Renounce the Cup," from Susan Shier of Two Harbors, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Always in the Way" and "Play in Your Own Back Yard," from "M." of Chisholm.

"The Shanty Boy" Welcomed.

Many readers have recognized old favorites among the "poems asked for," but it has remained for the Wausau, Wis., Record-Herald to reproduce one of them with the following comment under the heading

A BALLAD OF THE NORTH COUNTRY.

Apollo kept a close watch over Northern Wisconsin during the heyday of the lumbering business. The spirit of poetry was in the air. Every hillock was a Helicon. Inglorious but not necessarily mute Miltons, Virgils and Burnses caught the whispered voice of the muse, as they felled the murmuring pine and the hemlock and yanked them into the rushing tide behind prancing Pegasi.

Unfortunately much of the poesy thus snatched fresh from the forge has been lost in the general shuffle, but now and then a gem of purest ray serene is fished up from the depths for the delight of new generations. Such is "The Shanty Boy," for a reprint of which we are inexpressibly indebted to The Duluth Herald. (April 11, 1916.)

This appealing ballad of love, devotion, disappointment, death and worldly wisdom, deserves an honored place in every Badger anthology. Its author is forgotten. Possibly, like the folk songs of Germany and England it had no personal author. Perhaps it is a growth rather than a chef d'oeuvre. At all events, we trust that none of our readers will be so cold hearted as to refuse a tear for the lovelorn damosel who died of scarlet fever in a pesthouse in the town of Ba-aboo, or of the unhappy Shanty Boy who found watery forgetfulness by inadvertently falling off the raft post in the mill of Mosinee.

TO CONSIDER CONTRACTS

Two Paving Jobs Will Be Let and Two Held Over for Week.

Four paving contracts will come up for consideration at the council meeting this afternoon.

Two of these, East Superior street and West Eighth street, will come up for final action, while Fifth avenue west and Nineteenth avenue east will go over until the following week.

The General Contracting company will be awarded the contract for paving Superior street from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, on its bid of $47,575.15, and E. A. Dahl & Co., will be awarded the contract to pave Eighth street, from Twenty-second to Twenty-fifth avenue west, and Twenty-second avenue west, from Eighth street to Piedmont avenue, on their bid of $12,601.85.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce resolutions awarding the contracts to E. A. Dahl & Co., for paving Fifth avenue west from Superior street to the courthouse pavement, and to D. H. Clough & Co., for paving Nineteenth avenue east, from Fourth to Eighth street. Both measures will be held over for a week.

A resolution ordering the paving of Twenty-second avenue west, from Third to Fifth street, will be introduced by Commissioner Farrell.

The ordinances appropriating $1,100 for a pump, $800 for parking the grounds adjoining the pumping stations, $176 for the purchase of special pipes and $306 for the purchase of an underground cable to be used by the fire department, will come up for passage.

DULUTH'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

Being a Review of Some Facts About the Community's Most Important Business; No. 12; Vacation School and Night School.

When the school plant—the buildings—attain their maximum efficiency, school will be conducted twelve months in the year, day and night.

In thickly populated communities, where the school plants are crowded, twelve months of school have been considered seriously, and some places it has become a reality. Chicago's board of education now has before it a resolution calling for twelve months of school. Supt. R. E. Denfeld of Duluth's schools favors such a plan.

As a step toward the twelve-month, day-and-night school, however, Duluth has vacation or summer schools, and night schools. The vacation school is conducted for six weeks, beginning late in June and ending early in August. Three hundred and forty-nine pupils were enrolled last summer and the net cost to the taxpayer was something more than $500.

Night Schools.

Night schools were begun in the fall of 1914. The course lasts about four months and originally was designed for foreigners eager to learn the language and customs of their newly-adopted country. Since then commercial and industrial classes have been added until now the public night schools are covering very much of the ground covered in a business college.

In 1914-1915 there were 296 pupils enrolled, and the net cost per pupil was $3.58. During the winter of 1915-1916 the night school classes contained 461 students and the net cost was cut down to $2.46 per pupil.

The object of the vacation school is to give an opportunity to students in the upper grades and high schools to review the work in which they did not secure a satisfactory standing or to undertake additional work, with the idea of gaining new credits. Pupils below the fifth grade are not admitted.

The way the summer school has worked out, it has been primarily an aid to backward students, or those who were behind because of forced absence from class. It has come to be almost a necessity, teachers say. A class of any kind is established whenever ten students signify their wishes.

Night schools will be one of the most important branches of the city's educational work in the near future, because of its residents. There is a large foreign-speaking population, and a large number of persons who work during the day who are anxious to learn.

Classes were maintained at the Central high school, the Monroe school, West end; the Irving Junior high school, West Duluth, and the new Harriett Beecher Stowe school, New Duluth, during the season. At Central high school there were classes in typewriting, stenography, bookkeeping and sewing, as well as in English for foreigners and special classes for day students who were making up work.

Classes for Foreigners.

At the other three buildings attention was centered upon the classes for foreigners. The newcomers were taught the English alphabet and the simpler words, and almost simultaneously they were given an idea of the United States. One of the first things they learned to do was to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and that song was sung religiously at each meeting.

Here is the way the foreign classes were made up: Finnish, 73; Jewish-Russian, 33; Swedish, 60; Norwegian, 18; Polish, 27; Italian, 24; Russian, 8; Austrian, 21; Belgian, 12, and so on, including Swiss, Irish, Scotch, Syrian, Greek, Germans, Serbians, Bohemians and Spaniards.

A number of foreign women and girls want to take up this work next year, according to George M. Paulus, who was principal of the night schools last winter. They have progressed sufficiently in speaking and reading English to warrant branching out into sewing and cooking classes, and even into typewriting, stenography, etc.

"I believe also," Mr. Paulus says, "that a class in penmanship for commercial students would be patronized well enough to warrant establishing it. The course for foreigners should be divided into three divisions."—R. D. McC.

How Physiologists Regard Coffee
In a recent article, Dr. W. A. Evans, editor of the "How to Keep Well" column of the Chicago Tribune, says:
"In order that no misunderstanding may arise, I should say that physiologists regard Coffee, Tea, Tobacco and Whiskey as drugs in the same sense as Opium and Cocaine are. From coffee at one end of the line to cocaine at the other, no pot has the right to call the kettle black."
The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a habit-forming drug—not enough in one cup to seriously harm. But, when used regularly, it is for many the cause of sleeplessness, nervousness, heart trouble, mental and physical fatigue, and a host of other complaints.
POSTUM

Postum comes in two forms: The original Postum Cereal, which must be boiled; 15c and 25c packages; and Instant Postum a soluble form that produces the beverage instantly—a level teaspoonful to a cup of hot water; 30c and 50c tins. Both forms are equally delicious, and the cost is about the same—one-half cent per cup.
Even a ten-day trial will place the average person far enough away from coffee trouble to prove

Virginia, fifth city of Minnesota in population, and in all likelihood fourth in its annual payroll, is facing several years of prosperity without precedent in its short life of less than a quarter of a century. The city is growing, not like a weed but like a flower, for few cities of its size compare with Virginia as a city beautiful. Strictly speaking, Virginia is only sixteen years old, as it was practically wiped out by fire on June 7, 1900. Plans made then for a beautiful city ave been adhered to faithfully and oday Virginia is a city of parked esidence streets, kept scrupulously lean, lined with miles of homes havng well-kept lawns and trees.

Millions have been spent in the naking of this splendid little city, but he cost has not fallen heavily on property owners, since the iron minng companies pay 86 per cent of the axes. Virginia has been reasonable n its demands upon the mining comanies and they in turn have met the ity half-way in its efforts to make he community a delightful one in hich to labor and to live.

Population in the Federal census of 910 was 10,473. Since then five aditions have been taken into the city ith an area of one and a quarter quare miles and today the population s figured, conservatively, as 15,000. n 1910 the Federal figures for Virinia and a radius of six and a half iles made the population in excess f 26,000. The trading population ibutary to Virginia and served by e interurban line is about 45,000.

More than 1,400 men are employed n the average in Virginia's lumber ills, the largest white pine lumber ills in the world, covering nearly 300 cres immediately adjacent to and ally a part of the city, and an averge of 2,000 more men in the woods. hese lumber mills have an average nnual payroll of $2,000,000. The payolls at the mines are four times as eat, or about $8,000,000. Railroads ell the payroll another million. rface and underground miners are id $2.50 a day—that is common bor. Other mine workers are paid ich higher, the wages of steam shovel engineers being $7 to $11 a day.

Virginia has spent $1,000,000 on street paving, of which it has eleven miles. It has thirty-two miles of cement sidewalks, costing $150,000; eighteen miles of sanitary sewers costing $100,000 and a sewage disposal plant, built last year, costing $92,000. Eleven miles of storm sewers have been constructed at an expense of $210,000. Invested in the water, light and gas plants are $625,000. An incinerator plant cost $25,000. On parks, boulevards and trees, $125,000 has been expended. Virginia has two miles of white way consisting of 153 standards, five lamps to a standard, costing $15,000 to install. The city has no municipal indebtedness except $400,000 of water and light bonds to run until 1928. Last year a quarter of a million dollars was spent in public improvements.

The city had a working balance of $203,848.75 on which to start the fiscal year, beginning April 1. Expenditures last year were $735,221.17 and the receipts $734,463.88, including the city clerk's balance of $32,316.21.

The water and light plant was purchased from private interests in 1913 for $550,000. Virginia, under municipal ownership, has the cheapest electric light in the state, a flat rate of 5 4-10 cents per kilowatt net with a day power rate of 4.5 cents, with 10 per cent off for prompt payment. Notwithstanding these low rates, the water and light department earned in 1915 $63,000 net, after paying all operating and maintenance costs, and with due allowance for depreciation of plant, as well as interest on the $400,000 of outstanding bonds. These figures were supplied to me by C. T. Harding, superintendent of the municipally owned utilities, including the gas plant, and may be accepted as being accurate. Since the city took over the water and light plant there has been a remarkable increase in the number of consumers, who have increased from 1,700 to 2,800 in two years.

Having been so conspicuously successful with the water and light plant it did not require much urging to induce the city to build a municipal gas plant, the largest of its kind, municipally, in Minnesota. This plant was installed at a total cost of $71,000. The gas is used for cooking and heating and may also be used for lighting. The gas plant is expected to be on a self-sustaining basis this summer. The rate charged is $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet. The enterprising water and light board has started a heavy advertising campaign in the local daily papers to increase the number of consumers so that the price may be reduced to a dollar, using as its slogan: "Boost for dollar gas." The exhaust steam from the water and light plant is not allowed to go to waste. It is used for heating in several blocks close by and brings in a revenue of approximately $5,000 a year.

Virginia's public schools are not excelled anywhere. Its high school course admits to any college. Of the seven school buildings, five are costly modern structures of brick, the high school and equipment costing more than $200,000. Pupils number 3,400 in round numbers, with 117 teachers. The night school enrollment averages 1,000. Here hundreds of foreigners are taught the English language and helped to become good Americans.

The board of education has arranged to build the model school of Minnesota, at a cost of $400,000, to replace the Roosevelt school. This new school is described in detail elsewhere.

Playgrounds and play apparatus are features of each of the Virginia schools. They keep the children off the streets and engaged in healthful games. The playgrounds are open at all times and are as well patronized on Saturday as any other day. These playgrounds, however, are not the only places the children can go for recreation. Virginia has gone farther than probably any other place of its size in the matter of parks. It employs a park superintendent, a trained and well-paid man, and already has a menagerie of considerable size.

Olcott park, consisting of forty acres, is on an eminence overlooking the city. It is on land leased by the city from the Oliver Iron Mining company and is named after the president of the company, W. J. Olcott. The park adjoins the beautifully kept Oliver location, which is also the headquarters of the company for the Virginia district. Olcott park is on the Mesaba interurban line and therefore easily accessible from all parts of the city. During the last four years the park has been well-developed and makes a fine showing. Roadways intersect it, and it is a favorite resort for automobile parties. The roadways are lighted at night with single lamp electric standards.

The menagerie is growing all the time. A census of its inmates at this time shows four elk, one moose, six deer, one timber wolf, four coyotes, eight foxes, two monkeys, two raccoons and two black bears. It has also a fine collection of birds, including ring neck doves, golden and silver pheasants, blue pea fowls, Indian Runner ducks, Manchurian ducks, Belgian hares and fancy pigeons.

South park, on South Central avenue, is a more finished park than Olcott. Both parks are equipped with bandstands. This summer about twenty-five concerts will be given by city bands. In each park is a complete public comfort station, with tiled floors and modern equipment. A rest room is a feature in each station. Tennis courts will be a feature of both parks this summer.

The park board plants all of the trees on residence streets. It takes care of the parked spaces and keeps the grass cut. In summer Virginia closely approximates a spotless town. What it looks like in the residence section is shown in one of the panoramic pictures appearing on this page. Virginia has designated the first week of next month as a clean-up and paint-up week. All civic organizations are taking part in the movement and the city is expected to be even more spick and span than ever. Plans for the city beautiful are more elaborate than they were in the beginning. The city has found that it pays to have a clean and beautiful town, which attracts visitors. Virginia has already arranged for two conventions this summer, those of the Modern Brotherhood and the State Librarians, which are expected to bring 10,000 people to town. No other city of its size entertains as many visitors in June and July as does Virginia—directly due to the efforts for a city beautiful.

Virginia does everything in its power to encourage and help the farmers in surrounding territory. It paid $3,000 for its public market site. It has complete market buildings, a market barn and a rest room for the farmers. The market is well patronized. The city furnishes a ready market for all farm products at high prices. Agriculture in the country tributary to Virginia is in its infancy. Prices for lands are low. The principal cost is a man's own labor in clearing. When these lands are brought under the plow they are very productive. Two hundred bushels of potatoes is an average crop. Like the rest of Northeastern Minnesota, this is an ideal dairy country. All root crops thrive enormously and clover and timothy spring up wherever the land is brushed and bared to the sunlight.

The best cheap land left on this continent is in Northeastern Minnesota, tributary to the great Mesaba iron range, of which Virginia is the metropolis. In no other section can a man get a start in farming with so small an amount of money. The Finns, an agricultural people, have been quick to recognize these facts and as soon as they make a stake in the mines they go on the land.

Virginia needs farmers more than anything else. Farmers should avail themselves of the splendid opportunities offered in this section, where business men and bankers stand ready to lend them a helping hand. What a wonderful combination—cheap land, which produces good crops close to high-priced markets. This combination cannot be excelled.

Prosperous as the city is, with its vast iron and lumber interests, its progressive business men, combined in the Virginia Commercial club, are making plans to let the world know Virginia's advantages for industries. Factories using wood or steel, or both, will prosper here. The lumber is at hand and the steel is made in Duluth. Railroad facilities are excellent. Virginia is served by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, the Great Northern railway and the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, a part of the Canadian Northern system. It is the center of a fast-developing section, which is an empire in itself. Virginia is a great labor market and the labor supply will not be a problem for new industries.

Virginia has reached the wholesale stage in its development, and the Commercial club is prepared to point out openings to those who may be interested. The city has a wholesale jewelry house doing business in four states.

Virginia has all of the merchants and professional men in every line that it needs—many people say more than it needs. Its wonderful growth and large payroll have attracted merchants from all quarters, until today the competition is most keen and rents are high. Several merchants with whom I talked complained that they were working for the landlords. One of them told me his rent was $500 a month. Merchants like the one quoted hold long leases at what are held to be exceptionally high rentals.

Every member of the Commercial club with whom I talked—and I talked with a great many of them—told me that Virginia needs farmers, industries and workers, but that all mercantile lines are more than full, and that it will be hard for newcomers to gain a foothold. Virginia's is the world-wide cry for producers and industries, and to these it has much to offer.

Business property on Chestnut street, the main thoroughfare, has made fortunes for its owners. The city offers inducements to investors. Chestnut street property averages 10 per cent net or better to its owners, and is increasing in value all the time. Outlying additions to the city also offer good opportunities to small investors and homeseekers.

Shortly, the city will add to its growing civic center, pictured herewith, a $200,000 city hall. It has levied $25,000 for a site, and within a year or two will have completed the building. The prosperity of Virginia is evident from the fact that in addition to four moving picture theaters, it supports an excellent stock company at the Lyric theater. This is made possible by the Mesaba range interurban railway, thirty-five miles in length, which connects other range cities and towns with Virginia, which is the headquarters of the electric line, and where it has its shops.

Some idea of the mineral wealth of the city may be had from the biennial report of the Minnesota tax commission for 1914, which states that 77,035,688 tons of iron ore now pay taxes in Virginia, not counting the immense tonnages of the Missabe Mountain, Minnewas, Rouchleau, Shaw, Moose, Commodore, Lincoln, Higgins, Franklin, Norman and other mines just outside the city limits.

The United States Steel Corporation, which, through its subsidiaries, the Oliver Iron Mining company and the Minnesota Steel company, has built four model towns in Northeastern Minnesota—Morgan Park, near the Duluth steel plant, and Coleraine, Marble and Taconite, on the Western Mesaba range—has a model "location" immediately adjoining Virginia. Rents are much lower than anywhere else in the district, and the homes more comfortable and better cared for than the most altruistic could possibly hope to find. Here Virginia's idea of a spotless town is carried out. Every sanitary precaution is maintained, as witness the picture on this page of how garbage is collected from the alleys in the Oliver Mining company's town. Another illustration shows a street of cozy homes, with well-kept streets and lawns, in the Oliver location. This location compares favorably with the most favored sections of the city and looks like anything else than a typical mining town of older sections of the country.

At the Oliver location is maintained a clubhouse for employes, under the name of the Mohami club, which is also pictured on this page. It has been eight years since the Oliver company made the experiment of building its first model town, Coleraine. It was an experiment in helping to solve the relations of labor and capital that attracted attention from all quarters. That it was successful has been proved in the Minnesota Steel company's model town of Morgan Park, with its splendid homes, at low rentals, which was built at a cost for homes alone of about $1,000,000.

Any story about Virginia would be incomplete without relating that it is considered the best governed of all the range cities and towns under an excellent home rule charter. Its water and light plant was divorced from [illegible] at the beginning, which doubtless has to do with the showing of profits at very low rates to consumers. Nobody in Virginia is so poor but that he may have electric lights.

Duluth would have 150 policemen if it had as many in proportion to population as Virginia, which has a force of twenty-two men, including the chief and drivers of the patrol car. The fire department has fifteen members with the chief. It has three motor driven machines for apparatus, a $6,000 steam fire engine and a horse drawn hook and ladder truck. A $6,300 motor driven apparatus truck is to be delivered June 1.

Any information of a special nature about Virginia which has not been touched upon in this short story may be had by writing to the secretary of the Virginia Commercial club.

PRACTICAL BUILDERS DOING GOOD WORK

Fine Structures Erected By a Virginia Contracting Company.

The Virginia Builders' Supply & Contracting company has just begun work on a large two-story brick block, to cost $22,000, for Shanedling Bros., one of Virginia's principal dry goods firms, which has outgrown its present large quarters, known as "The Big Store." This new block is on Chestnut street, a few steps from the Mesaba railway station, in the center of the city. The building must be ready for occupancy Aug. 1. It will be the most modern store building in St. Louis county.

During the last year or so the Virginia Builders' Supply & Contracting company erected the handsome Mesaba telephone building in Hibbing and the First State Bank building in Ely, and remodeled the Roosevelt school, Virginia, at a cost of $17,000. The company also built an apartment house for Sam Lippman of the Minnesota Dry Goods company, and erected the fine brick block of the Finnish Store company, Ely, and a large brick garage building in Virginia. Other work consisted of a number of miners' homes at Nashwauk, with more to be built this year.

The Virginia Builders' Supply & Contracting company's large warehouse at Virginia is opposite the Missabe railway depot, immediately adjoining the railroad tracks, which facilitates receipts and shipments. The company sells building materials of all kinds, including sash, doors, moldings, lumber, lath, shingles, brick, lime, cement, nails, paper and builders' hardware—in fact, everything that enters into the construction of a building.

The principals in the company are Andrew Nelson, Oscar Tamte and Ernest Johnson, all practical builders. For years all three were in the employ of Andrew Grande and helped to build a large part of Virginia. They may be said to have succeeded to the contracting branch of Mr. Grande's business, and are reflecting credit upon Mr. Grande as well as upon themselves by the excellence of their work. Messrs. Tamte, Johnson and Nelson are all property owners in Virginia and active in every movement for the good of the city. They will figure on contracts and building materials anywhere on the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges.

DEPOSITS DOUBLED IN LAST TWO YEARS

State Bank of Virginia, a Home Institution, Forging Ahead Fast.

Deposits in the State bank of Virginia average about $350,000. In the last two years they have more than doubled. This bank is only a little more than four years old and has had a steady and rapid growth from the time it was established. It has a capital of $50,000 and a surplus of $10,000.

Douglas Greeley is president. Mr. Greeley is also president of the Virginia Commercial club and one of the most progressive men in the city. C. E. Hendrick, general superintendent of the M. A. Hanna interests, with headquarters at Virginia, is vice president. H. V. Peterson, cashier, is also treasurer of the Commercial club and president of the park board. J. I. Frasa is assistant cashier. Messrs. Greeley and Hendrick and C. H. Rogers, C. E. Moore, J. E. Hanson, H. O. Johnson and F. H. Wellcome are the directors.

Announcement

A NEW EMPIRE FOR THOSE WHO ARE WISE

The Land Department of The Duluth & Iron Range Rail Roal Company is placing on the markets its lands drained by St. Louis County Ditch No. 1.

These lands may be reached from the stations of Zim, Dibell and Wallace, on the main line of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway. These lands are drained by large dredged ditches built completely around each section, and by 3½ and 4 foot hand ditches dug east and west across each section, every 80 rods. The company has established a 10-acre demonstration plot opposite the railroad station at Dibell, and this plot is now in charge of the soils department of the University of Minnesota. These land are of similar quality to the lands on which the famous St. Louis Co. head lettuce is annually being raised, around Duluth; it is of similar quality to the land on which celery was raised at Meadowlands, which was pronounced by Kalamazoo celery experts to beat any celery raised in Kalamazoo, Mich. It was pronounced equal to the finest hay meadows of Holland by Mr. T. Veldhaeusen Vanzanten, one of the leading bulb growers of Holland, which land in Holland sells at $500.00 to $1,000.00 per acre.

This land is for sale to the working man who will clear it up and put it into actual use in farming and not to the speculator.

It is believed that this character of land will be the basis for making St. Louis County the greatest dairy county in the State of Minnesota.

OUR PROPOSITION

Our proposition to the settler has been carefully thought out with a view of making such terms as will enable the purchaser to devote all of his energies for the first five years to clearing his land and starting farming operations. Our proposition contemplates a first payment of $3.00 per acre, and that all further principal payments shall commence five years after the first payment is made and the date of the contract. Interest payments at the rate of 6% shall be made annually. Provided, however, that if the purchaser shall commence at once making improvements on his land and shall clear, and put under cultivation and planting, each year 12% of his acreage purchased, the interest for that year shall be cancelled; and this plan shall be carried out for the first five years; the clearing, however, shall be continuous from year to year. This will enable the purchaser to devote all of his time to clearing his land, putting it under cultivation, and by clearing 60% of his land the first five years, to earn the cancellation of five years' interest on his contract. The purchaser will thereby be relieved of all payments, after his first payment, for five years, except his taxes and any ditch and road assessments.

Further information regarding this proposition may be obtained by application to

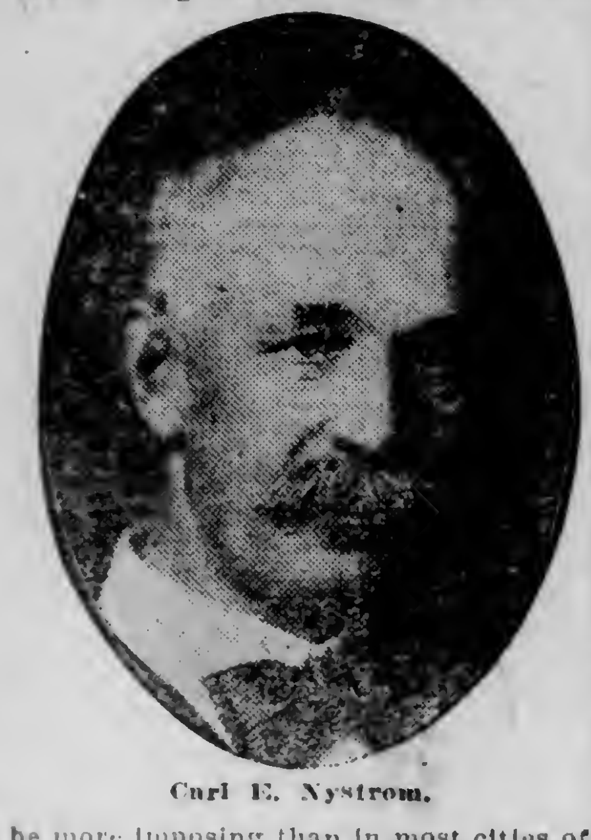
SCHOOL BUILDING TO COST $400,000

Gymnasiums, Swimming Pool and an Auditorium to Seat 2,500.

The board of education of Virginia will spend about $400,000 for a new school building on the site of the Roosevelt school pictured on a preceding page. The present building will be razed. Virginia's civic center then will be more imposing than in most cities of ten times its population. Plans for a new city hall will call for about $200,000. The Technical high school cost more than $200,000. With the cost of the county courthouse added, the five buildings composing the civic center will have cost almost a million dollars and will form a magnificent group.



Carl E. Nystrom.

The new building will be the most modern and complete school building in Minnesota, famed for its schools of all the states. Part of the new building will be used as a grade school to replace the Roosevelt school and the remainder for an industrial high school containing shop rooms for the teaching of various trades. Included in the new structure will be two gymnasiums, a swimming pool and an auditorium seating 2,500 people, the largest in Northern Minnesota with the exception of the armory and curling club building in Duluth.

This magnificent school building is being planned by the architect of the Virginia board of education, Carl E. Nystrom of Duluth, who designed the splendid North side school in Virginia and a large number of model school and other important buildings in other range towns. More than 100 architects entered the competition. The board finally chose Mr. Nystrom because of his unusually meritorious work on the North side school and other range school buildings.

FAST GROWTH OF JEWELRY BUSINESS

Savolainen Brothers Are Now Wholesalers as Well as Retailers.

Starting on a small scale less than nine years ago, the Savolainen brothers have built up the largest business on the Minnesota iron ranges in their line at retail, and have entered the wholesale trade and are doing business in four states. From the beginning they have followed the policy of the best for the money and square dealing, policies which have resulted in building up a large business.

P. Savolainen & Bros. began business in Virginia on Mesaba avenue in May, 1909, in a small shop about 15 by 20 feet. In a year they had outgrown their quarters and removed to a store about twice as big at 402 Chestnut street, the principal business thoroughfare. Soon these premises had to be enlarged and were again outgrown. Four years ago the larger store became too small, and the firm removed to the fine large quarters it now occupies at 222 Chestnut street, in the heart of Virginia. The business continues to grow at such a rate that still more room will be necessary very shortly.

In 1911 the firm opened a large store at Ely, the largest jewelry store on the Vermilion range, which is in charge of Abraham Savolainen. In 1914 the firm was incorporated under the name of the Savolainen company, which conducts the retail branch of the business.

Meanwhile the company's business had been extended over the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges, and smaller jewelers began to buy from the Savolainen company. A wholesale jewelry house was the logical evolution of this large and rapidly growing business, and was organized under the name of Savolainen Bros., with headquarters in Virginia. Associated with the Savolainen brothers in the Savolainen company is R. Backman, who is vice president. Peter Savolainen is president and Alexander Savolainen secretary and treasurer.

The Savolainen company is the timekeeper for the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges. Once a week it regulates the watches for all of the trainmen employed by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, Great Northern, Duluth & Iron Range and Canadian Northern railways.

Savolainens' are hallmark stores, which means stores of quality. Two years ago the Savolainen company turned out the first article under the hallmark trademark in the shape of a $350 sterling silver punchbowl for the graduating class memorial for the technical high school.

In the Savolainen retail stores at Virginia and Ely is kept everything usually found in first-class jewelry stores, including diamonds and other precious stones, watches, jewelry of all kinds, gold and silverware and cut glass. Savolainen Bros. import considerable French and English china, in which they have a large trade. The Virginia retail store sells Victrola and Edison phonographs and records, varying in price from $15 to $450. The Ely store handles only the Victrola, but sells also Kimball and Baldwin pianos and piano players.

The Savolainen company does a mail-order business throughout a wide territory. It has a handsomely illustrated catalogue, which it will be pleased to send to intending purchasers. The company employs a staff of expert watchmakers and undertakes to execute any design desired in gold and silver.

RAPID RISE OF CLEMENT K. QUINN

Mining Engineer's Big Success as a Promoter and Developer of Iron Mines.

Virginia still claims Clement K. Quinn as one of its big men, although he removed his offices recently from Virginia to the Alworth building in Duluth, and is now a resident of this city, which is more centrally located for his work on the various iron ranges of the Lake Superior district. Mr. Quinn located in Virginia nine years ago and during the last four years has achieved prominence as a promoter and developer of rich iron mines. Today he has command of large capital, although he is only 30 years old.

Two great properties which Mr. Quinn has promoted and developed are the Quinn-Harrison open pit mine at Nashwauk, which shipped 500,000 tons of ore last season and will ship 600,000 tons this year, and the Mahnomen open pit at Ironton, on the Cuyuna range, which will enter the shipping list with the opening of navigation and from which it is planned to ship not less than 300,000 tons this season. He has directed exploration work on all the Lake Superior iron ranges and is regarded as one of the best informed men upon iron mining in three states.

Mr. Quinn's success has not been accidental, but is the result of years of hard work. Upon graduating from the Michigan school of mines he was employed as a mining engineer on the Marquette range in Michigan, and later became chief engineer for the Jones & Laughlins steel interests in Michigan and Minnesota, with headquarters at Virginia, continuing in that capacity for seven years. He began his career as a manager of mining operations four years ago when he organized the Quinn Mining company in connection with the great stripping and mining firm of Butler Brothers. This company developed the Quinn-Harrison mine at Nashwauk, on the Mesaba range. Shipments from this mine were begun in 1914, when 200,000 tons were shipped. Last year the shipments were 500,000 tons and this season will rise to 600,000 tons. At this property the most modern of machinery has been installed, including a concentrating plant, completed last year, which can treat 8,000 tons of ore a day.

Mr. Quinn's growing business led him to sever his relations with the Jones & Laughlins interests two years ago. With Eastern capitalists he organized the Lake Superior Exploration company, and is its president. A large general exploration business is done by this company on the Mesaba and Cuyuna iron ranges in Minnesota, and throughout the Lake Superior district.

A little more than a year ago Mr. Quinn organized an operating company, the Mahnomen Mining company, which took over the lease of the property described as the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 10 46-29, at Ironton, on the Cuyuna iron range, in Crow Wing county, and which he has developed as a big open pit mine, adjoining the large Pennington open pit. The Mahnomen mine is estimated by the state tax commission to contain 3,800,000 tons of ore. More than 1,000,000 tons of overburden have been removed and many men will be added to the payroll of the fast growing village of Ironton, which was recently pictured and described in this newspaper.

The Mahnomen company recently acquired the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 8, 46-29, Crow Wing county, adjoining the Mahnomen mine, from the Great Northern Exploration company.

HEALING WITHOUT DRUGS.

Dr. A. Wagner's New Methods Attracting Much Attention.

A. Wagner, S. T., M. T. D., metaphysician, has made a lifelong study of drugless healing and for the last ten years has given exclusive attention to its practice. The doctor contends that there is a cure for every human ailment if proper treatment is applied and that what he has accomplished in the many cases he has treated can be done for others. Four years ago Dr. Wagner came to Virginia and has built up a large practice extending all over the range and into adjoining states.

Special attention is paid by Dr. Wagner to nervous and chronic ailments of both sexes. Included in his system of treatment are vibration, pressure and manual manipulations, working upon the essential principles of the anatomy by which phenomenal action is conveyed directly to the blood, nerve and organic centers of the human body. Many patients in Northern Minnesota testify to Dr. Wagner's success in treating a wide number of diseases, and his methods are being studied and followed by other practitioners.

Dr. A. Wagner, Metaphysician, Virginia.

Dr. Wagner has just published a booklet with the title of "Wagnerism," which he sends to applicants free. The doctor occupies the largest offices in the First National Bank building, Virginia.

ANDREW GRANDE, BUILDING MATERIAL

His Warehouses and Retail Stores Take Up an Entire Block.

Up to a little more than a year ago Andrew Grande had built a great part of the city of Virginia in addition to being engaged in the building material business upon a large scale. Mr. Grande's contracting and building material business had grown to such large proportions that it was hardly possible for one man to do justice to both branches of the business. It was necessary for him to confine himself to one branch or the other and Mr. Grande chose building materials and gave up a very large contracting business.

Already Mr. Grande has greatly extended his trade in building materials. His warehouses and retail store take up the entire block along the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, extending from Maple street to Spruce street. An additional warehouse is on Poplar street, also adjoining the railway.

This large business has been extended to all parts of the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges. Mr. Grande handles the best of materials in all lines, such as lumber of all kinds, sash, doors, moldings, fir and cedar products, cement, lime, plaster, fire brick, fire clay and sewer pipe—in fact everything that enters into the construction of a building, from cellar to roof. A feature is made of paints and oils at retail as well as wholesale.

Mr. Grande began business in Virginia nearly sixteen years ago, when the entire city was practically wiped out by fire and had to be rebuilt. He did much of this building—more than than any other man, and did it well. Mr. Grande takes an active part in civic affairs and is one of the most respected men in Virginia.

STAR BAKERY, THE LARGEST ON THE RANGE.

This big bakery takes up three floors, including the finished basement. It is a model of cleanliness and has bathrooms and dressing rooms for the workers. Star bakery products are the standard of excellence and are sold all over the range. The business is increasing constantly. The Star bakery was established in 1893 by Mr. Johnson's father, J. O. Johnson, and after the great fire of 1900 was taken over by the son. The bakery is equipped with modern machinery, making it unnecessary for bread to be handled by hand. Mr. Johnson is active in civic affairs. He is treasurer of the board of education and has served two terms as an alderman.

RIDGEWOOD SECTION

The fastest growing suburb in the city of Virginia, where the greatest increases in values will come during the next few years. The Ridgewood section is the only direction in which Virginia can grow, as mines and railroads shut off development in other directions.

A SOLID INVESTMENT WITH GREAT SPECULATIVE POSSIBILITIES

Closely adjoining Virginia's best residential section. Lots with fifty feet frontage, twice as large as other lots on Mesaba range. City water, sewer and electric lights now in Ridgewood. Hundreds of trees planted in line with Virginia's policy of city beautiful. SOUTHERN DRIVE, in the Ridgewood section, when parked, will be the loveliest avenue on the range. This avenue is one hundred feet in width.

All land for over one mile southeast, south and southwest of Cherry street lots and half mile east and south of Ridgewood is controlled by Oliver Iron Mining company. Poorest Cherry street lots sell from $400 to $500 for 25 feet, two feet below sidewalk. Ridgewood is only four blocks, or one-quarter mile further south; one-quarter mile from mill yard; one-quarter mile south of present pavement; one-quarter mile from Great Western mine with its millions tons of iron ore; one-quarter mile from Mesaba passenger station at Rainy Junction; one-quarter to three-quarter mile nearer South Park than Williams' addition or West Virginia.

Only a Few Blocks Left—To Be Placed on Sale Saturday, April 22

Investors at a distance will have the same opportunity to purchase the best lots in the Ridgewood section as people close by. Buyers out of the city will be awarded the best lots left at the price when their applications are received, if accompanied by 10 per cent of the purchase price. Then they will have thirty days in which to inspect their purchase, and if they are not satisfied all money paid will be refunded in full.

UNCLE SAM OFFERS AID

Federal Trade Commission Would Help Small Manufacturer.

Plans that might be adopted by small manufacturers and merchants to enable them to extend their financial and commercial credits so as to place them in a position to broaden the scope of their operations are the subject of a circular prepared by Edward N. Hurley, vice chairman of the Federal trade commission at Washington. It has been mailed to business men in all parts of the country and has already aroused considerable interest.

It sets out that the trade commission can be of constructive help to business men in aiding them to obtain the additional credits to which their business operations may entitle them and in giving advice that will lead to improvements in accounting practice and in establishing better methods of ascertaining costs.

In order to forward this campaign the commission is arranging to employ an adequate force of experienced accountants and cost experts and it will have the service in an advisory capacity of public accountants of national reputation. Members of this staff will be placed at the service of any manufacturer or business men applying for advice.

Attention is drawn to the fact that a business man frequently only obtains a small credit at his bank for the reason that he is unable to present a proper statement of his assets and liabilities.

Bank Credit Essential.

"Ability to borrow at the bank," the circular says, "has a far-reaching effect on all credit because to the bank, primarily, are directed inquiries for a rating of a manufacturer or merchant seeking credit for goods. An unfavorable or noncommittal report from the bank results in a curtailment of opportunity. It also checks expansion.

"Bankers are in business to loan money to business men and recognize that loans made on balance sheets that show a healthy condition are desirable loans. The banker will welcome any standard form of statement that will permit him easily to ascertain the exact liabilities and assets of his customer."

The importance to the manufacturer of an accurate knowledge of the true cost of manufacturing his product is touched upon.

"A manufacturer who does not know with a close degree of accuracy what it costs him to produce the different articles he manufactures and what it costs him to sell them, is not in a position to intelligently meet competition and invites business disaster," Mr. Hurley points out.

"Many of the larger manufacturers have thorough cost accounting systems, which they recognize as necessary in order to give them the information essential to successful management. On the other hand, the number of smaller manufacturers who have no adequate cost accounting system and who price their goods arbitrarily is amazing.

"Proper accounting for the smaller manufacturer is most essential. It is necessary for his success that he know on what particular article he is making a fair profit and on what he is making only a narrow margin of profit or losing money. If he has this information he can concentrate on the manufacture and sale of the product on which the profits are satisfactory."

GOOD SYSTEM FOR RECORDING CASES

Duluth's municipal court now has one of the best systems for recording criminal cases and their disposition in the state, according to bookkeepers.

The new system was installed following the arrest of Walter J. Richeson, former deputy clerk, on a charge of misappropriating public funds, and the installation was supervised by O. B. Thayer, accountant in the public works division.

A card index has been installed in the court room and clerks have a complete check on every criminal case that is handled. Up to this time it was necessary to know the date of an arrest, and the prisoner's name, in order to find the record, and even then it was necessary to search through a large volume in which the cases were "written up."

Now every prisoner has a card in the index, giving a reference to the page which bears his record. Individual sheets, filled out by the clerk when the prisoner is arraigned, are numbered and bound in books of 1,000, according to number, when the case has been disposed of.

The police department signs a receipt for every prisoner turned over to them by the court, and the sheriff in turn gives police a receipt for every prisoner which they turn over to him for imprisonment in the county jail, or for shipment to the work farm.

CITY TO LAY MAINS SOON

About Twenty Miles of Water and Gas Improvements Planned.

Laying of approximately twenty miles of gas and water mains during this year will begin within ten days, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Reed of the water and light department.

Bids will be opened next Wednesday morning on a large number of extensions already ordered for this year and construction work will begin just as soon as the contracts are awarded the following Monday, Manager Reed said. Last year sixteen miles of extensions were laid throughout the city.

A majority of the extensions will be laid in outlying districts, reflecting the exceptional growth in the many residential sections of the city, especially in Woodland, Hunter's Park, the hillside district and Morgan Park. The last named extension will be from West Duluth, the present terminus, extending out on Grand avenue to the steel plant and subsequently to New Duluth and Gary.

THE CACTUS PLANT

For Years Thought Practically Valueless

The cactus plant for years has been considered of no value, but GOD put everything on this earth to perform some duty. It has been left to science and experiment to find that good in the cactus plant. For food, for medicine and life-giving nourishment cactus has been found to have few equals, and many strange things have been told of the wild cactus that grows on our great Western plains. Many who have lost their way on the sandy desert and were almost dying of thirst have been saved by eating the cactus. A piece of cactus placed in a well of water purifies the water. The fruit from the cactus is as delicious as the banana, fig or orange, and oftentimes produces from five to ten tons to the acre of fruit. Its medicinal and commercial qualities are now well recognized. Medicinally, the cactus is a mild laxative and tonic for the stomach and the bowels. The cactus is one of the greatest discoveries of the century for both man and beast. It is claimed that as a fat producer and a milk producer in animals cactus surpasses anything. It is stated that after many tests that a cow will give 69 pounds of milk if fed cactus, where 37 pounds results from alfalfa food. Cactus increases the butter fat about 20 per cent, from test reports. Another test at Santa Rosa, California, where eight hogs were fed cactus, each hog gained two-thirds of a pound a day. It acts as food and drink for man and beast. Cactus is one of the ingredients used in CALIFORNIA CACTUS JUICE COMPOUND, combined with other medicinal Roots, Herbs, Leaves and Barks, has given wonderful results for rebuilding and reconstructing weakened and wasted substances and tissues of the body; consequently it is one of the greatest remedies known for overcoming disease in men, women and children.

A remarkable testimonial from Lloyd Staunard, 501 East Joseph street, Mishawaka, Indiana, states that he lost 30 pounds from stomach trouble, was so weak that he was confined to bed and could not retain a morsel of food on his stomach and could only drink a teaspoonful of water at a time. Doctors gave him up to die, but after taking one bottle of CALIFORNIA CACTUS JUICE he gained strength and seven pounds in one week, sat up in bed and asked for pie and coffee.

The CACTUS JUICE MAN is now located at the Lyceum Pharmacy, 431 West Superior street, and wants everyone to come and let him explain this wonderful medicine to you, or ask any druggist.—Advertisement.

U. S. SOLDIERS OUTNUMBERED

Forced to Retreat When Attacked By Mexican Troops at Parral.

Two Americans Killed and Maj. Tompkins Slightly Wounded.

San Antonio, Tex., April 17.—It was a force of Carranza's soldiers who engaged the little detachment of American cavalry at Parral Wednesday in a regularly organized action, according to a detailed report written by Maj. Frank Tompkins and forwarded yesterday to Gen. Funston by Gen. Pershing.

Forty of the Mexican soldiers, including one major, and one civilian, were killed by the retreating Americans. The American casualties were two killed and six wounded, including Maj. Tompkins. His wound was slight.

Maj. Tompkins' account of the action was received at Gen. Funston's headquarters last night and served to clarify Gen. Pershing's report in which the identity of the attacking forces was unstated and in which he left the inference that the cavalry was under Col. W. C. Brown.

The Americans are now north and west of Parral reinforced by a squadron of the Tenth Cavalry under Maj. Young, accompanied by Col. W. C. Brown and a picked squadron under Maj. Robert L. Howze.

Fears for Safety Dispelled.

Fear for their safety has been dispelled by this report and by troop disposition that Gen. Pershing has ordered, but the character of which Gen. Funston did not wish to reveal.

Maj. Tompkins' story of the fight indicated lack of control over the troops by the commanding officer of the Parral garrison, Gen. Lozano, and bitter antagonism by the public and troops. The fighting took place outside Parral and was continued over a route of eight miles to Santa Cruz, a station eight miles northeast of Parral on the railroad.

Gen. Funston said last night that while Maj. Tompkins undoubtedly acted in accordance with his best judgment in retiring, he regretted that he had not made a stand on account of the ill effect the story of his retreat will have on the Mexican people, who will naturally regard the incident as an American defeat.

Maj. Tompkins arrived outside Parral on the forenoon of April 12, with two troops, M and K, of the Thirteenth cavalry. Reduced in number, the total of the two companies is approximately 100 men. The report that unarmed men went into Parral appears to have been erroneous. Maj. Tompkins admitted that he did march his small detachment quite openly along the trail into the city where they were met by Gen. Lozano, who received them most graciously. The civil authorities arrived and joined in the courteous reception of the major and his troops. The incident appeared to be progressing without unpleasant features. Gen. Lozano and the civil authorities discussed with Maj. Tompkins the question of camping sites, he and the local officers declaring on one just outside the city, to which Maj. Tompkins was directed.

Began to Shoot at Americans.

Maj. Tompkins was preparing to move out to the designated camp when soldiers and civilians began to throw stones and to shoot at the Americans.

Realizing that the action was that of a mob of civilians and of soldiers who had gotten beyond the control of their officers, Maj. Tompkins made no stand, but retreated his men without making any resistance toward the city limits. Shouting crowds followed them, while stones and occasional shots followed them, but doing little damage. It was after noon when Maj. Tompkins led his men into a defensive position behind a railway embankment outside the town. The mob respected the advantage the Americans had taken, but within a brief time there appeared on their flank a force of 300 Mexican troops who began in military fashion a formal attack.

Maj. Tompkins was still averse to fighting in anything but a defensive manner against this force, since every officer who has entered Mexico with the punitive force has had it impressed upon him that clashes with the troops of the de facto government who are supposed to be co-operating with them, in their pursuit of Villa and his bandits, must be avoided.

Retreat Imperative.

Also it soon became apparent that the Mexicans' superiority in numbers made a retreat from the position behind the embankment imperative. A retreat was begun that was ended only at Santa Cruz. The Mexicans pursued them almost the entire distance of the intervening eight miles, the Americans contenting themselves with a rear guard action.

In the running fight, the Americans cared for their dead and wounded.

Maj. Tompkins' information that forty-one Mexicans had been killed was secured from one who passed over the trail to Parral after the engagement.

Maj. Tompkins and his two troops reached Santa Cruz just before dark, and there met Col. Brown and Maj. Young with a squadron of the Tenth. Later in the night Maj. Howze arrived with his picked squadron, making the force there about 500 men.

Maj. Howze also had led his men through a series of minor adventures. He had come from San Francisco, Porja, in the neighborhood of which he had been in a few skirmishes with Villa's men. He reported the loss of one man killed and one wounded.

MOST GIGANTIC CONFLICT IN HISTORY ENTERS NINTH WEEK

lated as 100 square miles. For the most part the main line has withstood the shock of successive attacks. The Germans captured Fort Douaumont early in the campaign and have bitten into French defenses at Dead Man's Hill and elsewhere, but at no point have they succeeded in breaking through.

Drive Begun Feb. 21.

The Germans are reported to have brought up seven artillery corps or about 280,000 men, to reinforce the troops which had been in service there, and subsequently, according to French accounts, other large bodies of reserves were called in. An unofficial French estimate placed the number of attacking Germans in some sectors at 17,600 men to the linear mile.

Within the first ten days of battle the French lost Haumont, Samogneux, Brabant, Ornes, Beaumont, Chambrettes, Marmont, Cotellate, Champ Neuville and numerous other outer positions, including villages, woods, heights and fortified farms, together with the fortified works of Hardaumont and Dieppe, Fromezzey, Abaucourt and, most important of all, Fort Douaumont. These positions lie east of the Meuse and north, northeast and east of Verdun.

Forges Captured Early.

Forges, near Dead Man's hill, was captured early in the third week, after an infantry assault along a front less than three miles long. Positions south of Forges changed hands frequently during the following days.

On March 31 the capture of Malancourt was accomplished after fierce night attacks. The Germans now had occupied all the French positions north of Forges brook, between Haucourt and Bethincourt and had materially advanced and strengthened their battle line in the northwest. New batteries were moved up and the infantry was rested and reorganized for the next attack on the forty-sixth day of the battle, when the Germans announced the capture of Haurcourt, about three miles northwest of Dead Man's hill, which formed a supporting point for the French left wing.

From it a large section of the French line and fortifications could be taken under German fire, including Bethincourt. This village then became the objective point. The French admitted the evacuation of the Bethincourt salient two days later, stating it was a premeditated move designed to straighten out the battle line.

Made General Onslaught.

On Sunday of last week the Germans undertook a general onslaught along a thirteen-mile front both west and east of the Meuse from the Haucourt-Bethincourt sector to Douaumont.

The Germans announced that within a few hours after it was begun that Bethincourt and two fortified positions to the southwest were isolated. Trenches in the region of Dead Man's hill were carried, but at no point was the French line broken through.

The failure of the Germans to break through the French line in their general offensive of last week led French correspondents to assert that the German offensive had broken down.

Dispatches from the German front, however, state that the operations are being carried forward methodically in accordance with the preconceived plan, and with a full measure of the expected success for the German arms.

ONLY PROMPT ACQUIESCENCE

government decided on at Friday's cabinet meeting.

President and Cabinet Agreed.

Before the communication to Germany goes forward the president and Secretary Lansing may confer again, but it was said early today that this was not absolutely necessary. The president and his cabinet have agreed on the steps to be taken and the president is now finishing the phraseology of the proposed communication. He intends to include in the indictment of Germany's submarine campaign attacks on neutral vessels not carrying Americans. That will be done on the broad grounds of humanity and for the reason that many of these neutral vessels were going to or from the United States.

The state department today received a cable from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, which, it was said authoritatively, was devoted entirely to editorial expressions from the German newspapers.

State department officials declared the ambassador had not yet submitted a report of conversations he was reported in press dispatches last week to have had with officials of the foreign office.

MINNESOTA'S OLDEST STATE LEGISLATOR AND HIS GRANDSON

FORMER STATE SENATOR PUGH AND MASTER JOHN SHIRAS PUGH.

It is probable that John Shiras Pugh, who is looking at the watch, meanwhile he clutches in his other hand a book in which he hopes there are "pitchers," does not take half as much real interest in the timepiece as his gran'pa, who is holding him, takes in the boy. "Gran'pa" is Senator Thomas H. Pugh, who, upon his retirement from the legislature, was the dean of the legislative corps from this section of the state, and had served a longer continuous term than any other member from any part of Northern Minnesota ever has served, being twelve years in the senate, prior to which he was six years in the house. In fact there are only one or two men in any part of the state who have served any longer.

John Shiras Pugh is not quite 2¼ years old, and his grandfather is 80-odd years young. The former is as active as he looks and the latter is as active as he looks—and that's pretty active. The boy is the only child of Mrs. John T. Pugh of 109 Howell street. His father, one of the best known men in the city and one of the leading board of trade members, died last year.

Today is the sixty-first anniversary of the arrival of Senator Pugh in Minnesota, just about fifty-eight and a half years before the arrival of his grandson. He arrived in St. Paul on April 18, 1855, coming up the Mississippi river from Galena, Ill., reaching St. Paul about 11 o'clock in the morning, in time for dinner—for it was dinner and not luncheon then—at the Merchants' hotel, then a log building. That day he saw his first Indian, and as the Indian was in a fight with a white boy and had the latter down, the senator, then a husky lad, rushed away from his meal, turned the human pile so that the white boy was on top, and then finished his dinner. Just a few days later Mr. Pugh went to Mankato, where he took up his residence and remained until 1874, during which period he served in the Indian wars of 1857 and 1862. In 1874 he was appointed receiver of the United States land office at Fargo, territory of Dakota, where he served until 1885, after which he was elected to the territorial legislature of Dakota, serving two years.

Senator Pugh came to Duluth in 1892 and has been a Duluthian ever since.

plan would be satisfactory to him, insisting only that the entire domestic demand be supplied before any sisal was sold for export. Representatives of several twine companies appeared at the hearing today to enter their orders for sisal.

Alexander Legge, general manager of the International Harvester company, introduced a statement denying that his company had any interest in twine except to supply it to the farmer at the lowest cost, with a reasonable manufacturers' profit, in order to increase the advantages and economies of the company's machinery. He denied that the company had sought to profit financially from the cultivation of sisal and charged that if the Yucatan commission were approved by the investigating commission it would be able to fix any terms of credit and prices it wished.

Without discussion the senate today adopted Senator Ransdell's resolution directing the Federal trade commission to supervise distribution of the available sisal in Yucatan. The commission is ready to undertake the work. The action is of much importance to the granger states which use binder twine.

garding an unofficial dispatch from Mexico City stating that Minister of War Obregon had announced that Villa's body was buried at San Francisco Borja and was not en route to Chihuahua City. It was believed here that there was some error in the cable and telegraphic transmission of the Mexico City dispatch.

Hears Body Was Exhumed.

Consul Garcia's information was that the body of Villa had been exhumed at San Francisco Borja and was being brought into Cusihuiriachic, whence it was to be sent on a special train to Chihuahua City.

Official word from Washington that the United States troops would be immediately withdrawn from Mexico if Villa was dead will undoubtedly result in expediting the efforts of the de facto government to ascertain the truth of the reports of the locating of Villa's body and to make a full and satisfactory identification.

If the supposed body of the bandit is still interred at San Francisco Borja, as stated in latest Mexico City advices, it likely will be many days before an identification can be made unless the Mexican government accepts as final the identification made by Carranza officers now in the vicinity of San Francisco Borja, which is thirty miles by trail south of Cusi.

According to the reports from Mexico City Villa has been dead over two weeks and physical changes may be such as to preclude any positive proof that the dead man was Villa. Mexican officials here said that the United States government undoubtedly would accept the identification if made by responsible Mexicans who knew Villa and by Mexican officials.

to The Herald.)—The Red lake river fell an inch during the night. The Great Northern bridge at Red lake is unsafe and passengers, mail and express are being transferred across it. It is believed the crest of the flood is here. The country districts are drying rapidly with a gale blowing Sunday and bright weather today. The river is full of timber, cordwood and debris.

Fargo-Moorhead Damage.

Fargo, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The flood water in the Red river is gradually receding here though the rain of Saturday night and Sunday may retard its fall. The stage of water has not yet reached a point where it is possible to make any accurate survey of the damage done. Many residences in both Fargo and Moorhead are still inundated. Rough estimates are that the damage will run into many thousands of dollars in the two cities alone. It is believed here water will rapidly recede from this time on as the Sheyenne river, which empties in the Red river above here is falling rapidly. This stream is largely responsible for holding the stage of the Red river up for such a long period.

OFFICIALS DOUBTFUL OF TRUTH OF STORY OF FINDING BODY OF VILLA

avoid a clash. The majority of the Mexicans killed are reported by Gen. Pershing to have been Carranza soldiers, one of whom was an officer.

Further Details Sought.

It was indicated at the state department that further details would be sought from American officers before a reply would be sent to Gen. Carranza. Secretary Lansing planned originally to deal with the Parral incident as a separate question and not in the reply to the note suggesting the recall of the American expedition.

The reply to the Carranza proposal for withdrawal was still in preparation today. It will outline the terms under which the United States will discuss the withdrawal of its forces and until report of Villa's death has been confirmed no change in the program will be made.

It was reasserted today that should the body be identified as that of Villa the expedition would come out of Mexico at once. No instructions have yet been sent to Consul Letcher or Gen. Pershing, however, as to the identification to be required. None will go forward until these officials transmit some report.

Disappointment at El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., April 17.—Disappointment was freely expressed here today over the lack of any official confirmation of the death of Francisco Villa. Mexican officials here and in Juarez, while still professing confidence in the truth of the report, could offer no explanation as to the silence of Col. Carlos Carranza and the other officers and officials who were reported to have the body of the bandit in charge.

A number of newspaper correspondents and a few other Americans left here early today for Chihuahua in the hope that the story of the finding of Villa's body was true. Several other Americans who at first had intended to go abandoned the trip, some through skepticism and others because of rioting that was reported here to have occurred in the Mexican state capital during the last two days.

No Confirmation at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., April 17.—Unless the body reported to be that of Francisco Villa is brought to El Paso, the matter of identification probably will not come to the attention of the military officials, it was announced at Gen. Funston's headquarters today. Gen. Funston is without official knowledge of the question of Villa's death.

It must be established beyond any doubt that the bandit leader is dead before military authorities will relax the campaign they have been pushing against him for the last month.

Headquarters is awaiting news from Col. W. C. Brown of the Tenth cavalry. Gen. Funston was advised yesterday that Col. Brown had asked Consul Letcher at Chihuahua to have an aeroplane sent to Santa Cruz, near Parral, to carry back a dispatch on an occurrence last Thursday night. It is believed by officers that Brown may have a report on a second engagement in the vicinity of Parral.

Unofficial Report.

El Paso, Tex., April 17.—An unofficial message received over the Mexican land miles from Chihuahua says that Villa is dead. Other messages stated that the burial place of Villa's body was betrayed by a Villista officer who was promised his freedom if he would tell where the bandit's body could be found.

The Villista officer took the Carranza soldiers to San Francisco Bjora, thirty miles south of Cusi and a little to the west of Satevo. When the body was exhumed, messages received here stated, it was found that the left leg was in a gangrenous condition and there was a gunshot wound through the knee.

Mexican Consul Garcia announced that he has received a message from San Antonio, Mex., that a special train was being made up at that point to take the body of Villa to Chihuahua City. Mr. Garcia states that the body is being brought to San Antonio by Col. Carlos Carranza, a nephew of Gen. Carranza.

Body Has Not Arrived.

El Paso, Tex., April 17.—A telegraphic dispatch was received by Gen. Gavira, commander of the Juarez garrison, from Cusihuiriachic at 10:30 o'clock this morning, stating that the body of Francisco Villa had not arrived there at this hour.

Gen. Gavira talked today with the telegraph operator at San Antonio and obtained further details of the reported finding of Villa's body.

According to the operator, on last Sunday Gen. Cavazos and Col. Carlos Carranza, who were at Cusi, received information that a Villa band was operating in the neighborhood. Two Carranza officers with a body of men hurriedly left Cusi and engaged the Villa bandits in a combat in which many of Villa's followers were killed and wounded and some were captured.

Begged for Life.

A Villa colonel was among the captured. He begged for his life, and promised to lead his captors to the grave of the bandit if they would not kill him. The operator at San Antonio said that Gen. Cavazos and Col. Carranza were taken by the prisoner to San Francisco Borja, where the body is reported to have been unearthed.

Gen. Gavira said that as soon as he was advised the body of Villa had been brought to Cusi, he would telegraph Minister of War Obregon, requesting that the body be brought to Juarez. Gen. Gavira said Villa would not be given a military funeral, but he would be buried as a bandit in the Juarez potters field.

A mining concern here with a representative at Santa Barbara received a message today that that town had been attacked by bandits Saturday night. The bandits, whose identity is unknown, carried off supplies and a few horses.

Reprimand Approved.

Washington, April 17. — President Wilson today approved the recommendation of the secretary of war imposing a sentence of reprimand on Lieut.-Col. Goodier of the aviation service who recently was tried by court martial in connection with charges over the conduct of the San Diego station.

JESS WILLARD SAYS: "TAKE NUXATED IRON

If you want plenty of 'stay there' Strength and Endurance and Health and Muscles like mine"

A hitherto untold Secret of his Great Victories over Jack Johnson and Frank Moran

Ordinary Nuxated Iron will often increase the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent. in two weeks time.

I consider that plenty of iron in my blood is the secret of my great strength, power and endurance.

Jess Willard

SPECIAL NOTE.—Dr. E. Sauer, a well known physician who has studied widely in both this country and Europe, has been specially employed to make a thorough investigation into the real secret of the great strength, power and endurance of Jess Willard, and the marvelous value of nuxated iron as a strength builder.

NEW YORK.—Upon being interviewed at his apartment in the Colonial Hotel, Mr. Willard said: "Yes, I have a chemist with me to study the value of different foods and products as to their power to produce great strength and endurance, both of which are so necessary in the prize ring. On his recommendation I have often taken nuxated iron and I have particularly advocated the free use of iron by all those who wish to obtain great physical and mental power. Without it I am sure that I should never have been able to whip Jack Johnson so completely and easily as I did, and while training for my bout with Frank Moran, I regularly took nuxated iron, and I am certain that it was a most important factor in my winning so easily." Continuing, Dr. Sauer said: "Mr. Willard's case is only one of hundreds which I could cite from my own personal experience which proves conclusively the astonishing power of nuxated iron to restore strength and vitality even in most complicated chronic conditions."

Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old, and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46, careworn, and nearly all in. Now at 50, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

Many an athlete or prizefighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Boyce Drug store and all other druggists.

SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

WAR SPRINGS FROM HEART

Economic Problems Are Not Primary Causes, Says Rev. Mr. Sayles.

Declares Civilization of Head Is But Small Factor.

That the present European war is not simply one involving "bread," and that the causes of war are based primarily in the heart, was the theme of the sermon on "The Supreme Question," preached by Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, yesterday morning. In part he said:

"There is a school of thinkers which asserts that all the movements of human life and all the revolutions have been for bread. It seems to me that this is too simple an interpretation of history. At the same time we do well to recognize that without a proper economic foundation to human life all other phases of life will suffer.

"When a man succeeds as did Napoleon in Europe by draining France of her men and money; by spilling blood without a shudder; when a man succeeds as did Lorimer by corruption in politics, by a loss of his integrity; then we see that the world or any portion of it, and the soul are not interchangable commodities.

"What shall a man give in exchange for his lost character, for his lost manhood, for his lost soul?

"We Americans need this warning. We have a mechanical, commercial, material emphasis. We speak of efficiency and it may only mean machine.

"Jesus might have become a military Messiah and answered to the expectation of the people, but it would have meant denial of His own spiritual ideals of His work.

"At the end of His ministry, He stood face to face with Pilate, representing Rome and wealth, power, dominion. These forces destroyed Jesus physically.

"Jesus stood for the soul. After these centuries He has the verdict of the centuries on His side.

"Answering Haeckel, the German materialistic monist, Rabbi Samuel Schulman of New York city says: 'I will tell you what illusion this war has swept—namely, that men become better and more civilized because of the mastery over nature which enables them to increase their material comforts. This war proves that the civilization of the head is but the smallest part of human nature, but that if brutal wars are ever to end humanity's heart must be educated."

NO CHANCE TO COMPROMISE

Choice Between Good and Evil Is Sharply Defined.

"Make a compromise with principle and see how soon it will come to pass that you have to give way more and more. Choose companions of slack morals, whom you cannot commend in all their ways, and see how soon you will be compelled to readjust yourself to a lower standard of living or else make yourself uncomfortable with such companions."

So declared Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, yesterday morning in his sermon on "Christ or Barabbas?"

Dr. Ryan declared that there was no middle ground and that people were required to make a choice between the best or the worst.

"Human choice," he said, "is one of the enigmas of our common life. Where people have not a definite loyalty to persons, or to principles, there can be no certainty as to what man will do. Pure selfishness will often debase our choice. Man has ever the choice of the best or just the fairly good. Too many a man is content with just getting through with his life and says the mediocre is good enough for him. All this spells failure and of the worst character.

"There seems to be no stopping place in human choice. After one takes a position lower than his best, he seems compelled to go on stepping lower and lower all the time. He may not mean it, he may not deliberately choose it, but on he must go toward his lowest level, or he must cling to the highest that is in him. It is forever a choice simply between Christ or a thief or a robber and even a murderer."

Brainerd Clean-up Week.

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd will have a paintup and cleanup week, according to plans laid by Mayor R. A. Beise; President Mrs. O. H. Johnson, Mrs. G. W. Mosier and Mrs. A. W. Ide of the Brainerd Musical club; F. A. Farrar, president of the city council; Dr. C. S. Reimstad, head of the board of health; H. McGinn, fire chief; Henry Squires, chief of police; Iver Benson, chairman of the street committee. The mayor will soon issue a proclamation on the subject.

Blind Pigger Sentenced.

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—P. E. McCabe, charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place, got thirty days in jail, after a hearing before Judge Gustav Halvorson in the municipal court. The case will be appealed to the district court.

LET THE DEAD BURY DEAD

Life Means Overcoming and Looking Forward, Says Rev. Dr. Gebauer.

Urges Congregation to Forget Past and Strive for Future Success.

In his sermon yesterday morning at the First Unitarian church, Dr. George R. Gebauer preached on "Let the Dead Bury the Dead," and urged his congregation to forget the past and strive for the attainment of better things and a better life. Vain regrets, he declared, were foolish, and progress, he said, might be obtained by benefiting by mistakes and attaining wisdom as a result of error. He said in part:

Striving for the Better.

"Life means overcoming and good life means overcoming for a better. That is what the great misunderstood poet-philosopher, Nietsche, tries to convey when he says, 'And this secret imparted life itself to me. See, it said, I am that which forever must overcome itself.' And this is what Jesus has in mind when he says to the would-be disciple, 'Follow me and let the dead bury the dead.' On the roadside of life are traveling not a few men with the backward look, with the soul full of dead regrets and empty of forward living purpose. They will not see that the bygone opportunities are for the bygone alone. Their eyes are filled with tears of shame and sorrow for 'what might have been.' Their eyes rest upon the ghosts of past, while in the meantime living opportunities for good are passing by. Ah, the foolish mourners for the past, the blind yearners for the 'might have been.' Look onward and not backward, let the past be past, and take hold of what comes to meet you from the hills of the future. What is man's duty toward his past and his self that carries the past in his soul? It is to make what was living and good in it more alive and better, and to let the dead and bad past bury itself. It is for the man who has done the wrong thing to build over the tomb of the past the living temple of good. The past is but a ghost except it help us in the present and reach with blessing into the future. It is so often a dream, a nightmare, when it might be, when it ought to be, an inspirer and teacher.

The Past Is Dead.

"What is good past and what in the end is evil past? The past rightly used is to that extent a good past, and past not used for good or a better is an evil past. Yes, the most miserable past rightly used is better than a praiseworthy past, which sings to us a lullaby and rocks the soul into the indifference of moral death. Yes, to grieve uselessly over the faults and mistakes of yesterday is about as foolish as to gloat over the virtues we once possessed. Overcome the evil of the past with good and make the good of the past a better in the present; that means life and salvation. Let the error not merely tell you that you are weak, but let its inward recognition assure you that you may be strong and walk straight. We must learn to transform life from day to day and turn our foolishness into wisdom. Repentance must open life to the good, renew it and reform it. Do not hold onto the morbid thought that you can never make good the evil you have done. Ah, you may. You may at least vicariously right your wrong by doing right, by showing love and consideration to the stranger, the enemy, in memory of the hatred you may in a dark hour have shown to one who was a friend. The doors of divine atonement are never shut. If you have disfigured the golden plate of life by scratching upon it unkind deeds and words, do not put away the plate in useless grief, rather go and engrave upon it, mindless of the scratches, deeds of love and truth and God in His mercy will blot out your transgression.

"Ever face the day with new resolve to do what is right, and do it; let your soul aspire, as it will when you are truly sorry for your deeds. The remainder leave to God."

CHURCHES OBSERVE PALM SUNDAY

Crosses Distributed to Worshippers; Commemorate Christ's Triumphal Entry.

Palm Sunday was observed in all the churches of the city yesterday with special services and musical programs.

At the Trinity Cathedral, St. Paul's Episcopal church and all the Catholic churches palm crosses were distributed among the communicants. The distribution of the palms is part of the services and follows a special blessing by the pastor. The palm is the symbol of reverence and honor and its use dates back to Christ's entrance into Jerusalem, according to the Christian belief, when the multitude spread palms in His path. The entrance into the city was but a few days before His trial and subsequent crucifixion.

At the Episcopal churches members of the altar guild gave palms to all the worshipers at the 8, 11 and 5 o'clock services. All the churches were especially decorated with palms.

The "Passion" was read at all the Catholic churches, this narration, which tells of the life of Christ, taking the place of the regular sermon.

At each church announcement was made of special services and music for Easter Sunday.

CROOKSTON REVIVAL.

Plans Being Formulated for Big Evangelistic Campaign.

Crookston, Minn., April 17.—Plans are being formulated for a big evangelistic campaign to be held in a big tabernacle here beginning May 7, by Rev. A. Lee Aldrich, a noted evangelist.

R. I. Conrad, the business manager for Mr. Aldrich, has been in charge of this organization campaign, and is looking after every detail. Headquarters have been established at the Methodist church, where Mr. Conrad may be found.

The next big item of the campaign is the building of the great tabernacle, in which all the meetings will be held. The building committee, of which Mr. O. F. Carpenter is chairman, has secured a site on that portion of Central park, where the chautauqua tent stood last summer, and will front on Robert street, with entrances near the East Robert street bridge.

The tabernacle will be built large enough to accommodate the great audiences which are expected to throng to hear the evangelist. It will be 78 by 132 feet, with a twenty-foot peak. It will have a seating capacity of at least 1,800.

SHOWS EVILS OF HYPOCRISY

Bishop Morrison Draws Lesson From Withering of Fig Tree.

Tells Trinity Congregation How Triumphal Entry Was Mere Sham Welcome.

Drawing a contrast between those who merely have the outward appearance of being religious, and those who are really religious, the Rt. Rev. James D. Morrison, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Duluth, gave a sermon on "The Withering of the Fig Tree" at yesterday morning's services at Trinity cathedral.

"The day is Palm Sunday," he said, "of which this is an anniversary, the day that our Lord made a triumphal entry into Jerusalem and received from the people a hearty welcome.

"It is told that they met Him on the road near the Mount of Olives and greeted Him as king. The sons of David shouted 'Hosanna' in His praise and waved palm branches, and strewed them in his path. There was every appearance of friendship and a desire to acknowledge Him as Lord, but the Master was under no illusion.

"He knew that the welcome was unreal and that the shouts of praise presently would be turned into maledictions which surrounded Him the following Friday on His way to the cross; and the sermon on the withering of the fig tree was a sermon to teach His disciples the truth of the contrast between professed beliefs and realities.

"We are told that in the early morning, on His way to Jerusalem, He saw, in the distance, a fig tree covered with foliage and went to it expecting to find fruit hidden among the leaves. But although it had the appearance of fruitfulness, it was in reality barren. When He came to it He found nothing but leaves and He said unto it: 'Let no fruit grow on this tree,' and presently the tree withered away."

Bishop Morrison confirmed a class of five at the cathedral during the morning services. At St. Paul's church in the evening, when his topic was "Conversion," he confirmed a class of forty-four.

TAKE IN MANY NEW MEMBERS

First Presbyterian Church Gives Morning to Reception and Communion.

Dr. Brewer Preaches in Evening on Christ's Entry to Jerusalem.

One hundred and thirty-two people were received into the membership of the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning, which probably establishes a record. Sixty-six of these joined on profession of faith, and an equal number joined by letter from other churches. Communion services followed the reception of the new members. During the morning two new elders were ordained, they being L. E. Marvin and A. J. McLennan, and four re-elected elders were reaffirmed. The latter are K. C. Hoxie, Thomas Thorburn, Leonard Young and T. F. Upham. Deacons ordained were C. A. Graves, J. F. Taylor and Dr. C. B. Hutchinson. The new members received yesterday brings the total membership of the church up to 1,166.

Aside from the ordination, reception and communion, the services were confined to the musical program, Dr. Brewer, the pastor, giving no address. In the evening, however, he spoke on "The Triumphal Entry," and an excellent musical program was given, the feature number being "The Palms," sung by E. L. Hodson.

Passion Week Meetings.

During the current week a series of special services will be held at the church in which much interest is shown. On Wednesday evening Miss Hester Grier McGaughey, sister of Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, will speak on "Gethsemane." Miss McGaughey is a Bible specialist.

On Thursday evening Judge W. D. Edson will speak on "The Trial of Jesus From a Lawyer's Viewpoint." On Friday evening the choir will give Stainer's "The Crucifixion," under direction of Miss Ruth Alta Rogers.

Jesus' Triumphal Entry.

Last evening Dr. Brewer preached on the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem, telling how, after His disciples had brought the ass' colt, they put their garments on it and Jesus sat upon it, the crowds spread their garments in the way and cut down branches of trees and strewed them in the way, shouting "Hosanna, blessed is He," and He made His way through the throngs that filled Jerusalem for the passover, to the city and the temple.

"Up to this time," said Dr. Brewer, "Christ had not revealed His identity. When He performed miracles He had said to those around Him, 'Tell no man;' but now the time had come for Him to make the proclamation of His kingdom. As Cæsar, when he crossed the Rubicon, knew the die was cast, so Jesus clearly saw Calvary just ahead. The proclamation was made, not as earthly kings in martial splendor, but in humility, riding upon an ass.

"From that day to this He has been reigning Messiah, king."

Mr. Brewer spoke of the countless multitudes who throughout the ages have been proclaiming Christ Messiah, king; of the influence He has had on all lines of human endeavor, in art and literature and other directions. He elaborated on Christ's influence on the hearts of his followers. Then coming down to the present time, contrasting the influence of politics and religion, he mentioned the exciting political campaign of four years ago, and contrasted a political banquet given in Philadelphia at that time, at which 1,100 took part, with a religious banquet in Boston at which 4,000 were present, and others at Columbus and Dayton, Ohio, in which the enthusiasm was at the religious banquets rather than the political.

He spoke of the $200,000,000 given every year by the Christians in America.

In closing, he told of the wonderful demonstration at Philadelphia at the time of "Billy" Sunday's departure; of the throngs that filled the public square, the station and the trainshed to bid him good-by, many thousands singing "God be with you" and other songs, showing that in the present the multitudes still proclaim Christ Messiah, king.

PASTOR URGES "DRYS" TO BE FAIR

Attack Saloons and Not Persons, Is Rev. Mr. White's Plea.

"In the present campaign for a dry, cleaner and more progressive city, let all remember that exaggeration, unfair methods, and 'mud-slinging' prove to be but boomerangs which return with telling effects upon the thrower. Let us deal openly and honestly with truth and facts. While intemperance has been the universal curse since the fall of man and although the saloon from start to finish is an absolutely illegitimate business, yet temperance folk must bear in mind that we war against the saloon, not the saloon keeper,—against the traffic, not the trafficker,—against the demon of drink, not the poor captive slave to perverted appetite," said Pastor Stemple White last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church on Tenth avenue east, where he spoke on "Duluth and the Saloon."

Extent of Traffic.

"In this so-called Christian nation, Uncle Sam spends $360 for 'booze' to every $1 that is sent to foreign missions. In 1914 there was consumed in the United States 2,252,272,000 gallons of alcoholic drinks. If all this perverted use of nature's products were put in beer bottles and laid end to end, it would reach straight through the earth 196 times, or belt the equator sixty-two times. In other words it would be sufficient to connect the earth and moon with six glassy cords of loaded fuse.

"In times of disaster, war and strike, the saloon is often closed. Why not permanently in times of peace? It is more to be feared than disease and bullet. It strikes at efficiency, and all life insurance companies discount the 'wet' risk.

No Economy in License.

"Why attempt to defend the saloon for the sake of financial revenue when the facts of experience prove that license income is far more than offset by the increased cost of coping with and caring for the almost innumerable effects of the saloon? If it were true (which it is not) that a "wet" city is more prosperous financially, God has written, 'Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink' and 'Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood, and establisheth a city with iniquity.'

"We need not worry about the so-called 'blind pig' scare, in case the city goes 'dry.' A 'pig' with eyes can do far more damage, and if some officers can't round up a 'blind pig,' could you expect them to be able to control the other variety? To those 'wet' enthusiasts who insist that more 'booze' is sold in 'dry' territory than in 'wet,' I ask, why not vote then for prohibition and thus increase your business? Selah!

Preventing Crime.

"Let everybody keep cool and sweet, and all pull together for a cleaner and more progressive city. Let all clergymen themselves eliminate the fermented wine from the communion table in harmony with Holy Scripture, and consistently get clear on the water wagon. Although the saloon is one 'bar to heaven and a door to hell,' let no one expect to see angel wings sprouting on Duluthians when the city goes dry. In spite of all our just laws against murder, legislation simply restrains, but cannot absolutely prevent crime. Only the grace of God through Jesus Christ can regenerate the carnal heart and truly prohibit, not only intemperance, but all transgression of God's law."

Pastor White declared that the S. D. A. denomination took such a worldwide stand against intemperance that the non-use and non-handling of alcoholic drinks was made a test of church fellowship.

SYMPATHY WITH ALLIED NATIONS

Prominent Americans Issue Address to People of Triple Entente.

Boston, Mass., April 17.—An "Address to the People of the Allied Nations" bearing the signatures of 500 Americans all distinguished in their vocations, is published today simultaneously in the United States and Europe.

Addressing "the people of the nations of the Triple Entente," the following statement is made: "Our judgment supports your cause, and our sympathies and hopes are with you in this struggle. In saying this we are confident that we are expressing the convictions and feelings of the overwhelming majority of Americans. * * * It is because we believe that the success of Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia will mean the restoration of Belgium and Serbia, and the suppression of militarism, that we ardently hope for that consummation. In that hope we believe the future of civilization to be involved."

In inviting signatures, the committee in charge set the arbitrary limit of 500. The intention was not to have the "address" popularly signed but rather by persons in different parts of the country prominent in their respective vocations and communities.

The names signed to the "address" represent forty-two states of the Union. Of the total of 500, over 150 belong to business and legal circles. This number includes former members of the national and state governments, of the judiciary and the diplomatic and consular services. It also includes former cabinet officers, ex-governors and ex-senators, railroad presidents, bankers and journalists. The clerical profession is represented by thirty-two bishops and other prominent clergymen. The signers also include many distinguished members of the faculties of Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, California, Michigan, Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, Indiana, Johns Hopkins, Yale and Dartmouth. There are in the list over twenty university and college presidents, besides some of the best known authors, actors, painters, sculptors and architects.

FARM NEAR SABIN, MINN., FETCHES $135 PER ACRE.

Moorhead, Minn., April 17.—Hugo Bachenheimer of this city has purchased the Otto Jonck farm near Sabin for $135 an acre, the highest price paid for land in this section in the history of the county.

The Jonck farm of 120 acres is located one mile north of Sabin and is recognised as one of the richest and best developed farms in the Red River valley.

FORMER CONDUCTOR PASSES AT MINOT

Minot, N. D., April 17.—Funeral services were held here at the Masonic temple at 2 p. m. today for W. E. Towner, a former Great Northern conductor and one time newsboy on that road, who died here Saturday, aged 65. The body was taken to Springfield, Ill., for interment.

He had lived for twelve years in Minot, and for nine years of that time, since retiring from the service of the railroad, has been employed by the Consumers Power company, having charge of its store room.

He leaves a wife and one son, Albert, also three sister, Mrs. La Forest King of Springfield, Ill., Mrs. R. S. Mooney of Palatka, Fla., and Mrs. George R. Fish of Chicago.

NORTH DAKOTAN FLOOD VICTIM

McKenzie County Pioneer Is Drowned While Crossing Stream.

Williston, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third victim of the floods in this section was J. B. McLucas, a pioneer McKenzie county rancher, who was drowned while crossing Cherry creek with a team and wagon. A hired man stood on shore while it occurred. A rope was thrown out, but McLucas was disabled in attempting to free the team from the wagon.

Railroad Traffic Delayed.

Lakota, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traffic on the Sarles branch north of here and the farmers' line north of Devils Lake have been hampered during the past two days by washouts. At several points the rails have been undermined by water pouring across the tracks.

White Earth Flooded.

White Earth, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly the entire residence portion of White Earth is under water and most of the business places have had their floors submerged by the worst flood in fifteen years. Two railway bridges between Paulson and Tioga have been put out of commission by the high water.

Found Dead in Bed.

De Lamere, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peder K. Haug, age 67 years, a pioneer of this section, was found dead in bed by neighbors. Fatty degeneration due to chronic alcoholism is attributed as the cause of the death.

TWENTY SOX RECRUITS GALLOP INTO BALL YARD

Big Crew of Athletes Seeking Berths With Duluth Team.

Pitching Staff Shows Class While the Outfield Gives Strong Promise.

Attired in uniforms of various hues, displaying a rainbow effect of lettering and a wide range as to size and age, twenty young ball tossers will trot out into Athletic park this afternoon and gallop over the lot which will be the scene of many a warm conflict this coming season.

This will be the first real workout of the season and Manager Darby O'Brien will give the squad only light practice. The air is packing a chill feature despite the fact that the sun is high and bright. In the crew are Pitchers Lane, Posten, Culver, Bartoff, Shoulders and Morse; Catchers Hauptman, Walgermott and Ryan; Outfielders Altman, Schreiber, Vigerust, McGraw, Williams and Nelson; Infielders Schmidt, Wolfe, Webb, Lausch, Fall and Webb.

While it is reasonably certain that "Dutch" Altman will preside in left garden and Schreiber in center, and that Wolfe will draw the shortstop position, the lineup, outside of the pitchers and catchers has not been framed. Three of the new recruits, Infielder Schmidt and Pitchers Morse, Shoulders and Lane, reported to Manager O'Brien this morning. All of the new men are big huskies, each being at least six feet in height. Shoulders was with the Sox last year on their spring training trip but was not brought into Duluth for the reason that he was not in the best of shape. He is said to have a world of smoke and nice control. He hails from Lincoln, Ind.

Schmidt comes well recommended from the management of the Sioux Falls, S. D., team, where he performed last season. He is a candidate for a first base job.

Will Be in Race.

With the grand amount of material to pick from, Manager O'Brien should have little difficulty in being able to choose a crew that will put up a stiff argument for the Northern league banner this season. He is well stocked with good pitchers and he is pleased with what he already knows of his catchers. The outfield should smite the pill at a lively clip and, with a reasonable amount of clouting assistance that can be expected from the infield, the team batting should be high.

"Barring accidents I will have a great crew," said O'Brien this morning. "I will not say that I am going to win the pennant but I will say that my men will be right up among the leaders in the race for the flag. Athletic park has been given the annual repairs and is now in first class shape. A new score board is being erected which will be a big improvement over the old one."

The first real lineup of the Duluth team will take place next Saturday at Athletic park when O'Brien's men will take on the Northern league team of Superior in an exhibition contest. On next Sunday the same teams play at Hislop park in the city across the pond.

FIRST WEEK OF MAJOR LEAGUE PLAY

SHOWS STRENGTH TO OLD TAIL-ENDERS

New York, April 17.—The rejuvenated teams of the American and National leagues began the 1916 season under favorable weather conditions. The start was sufficiently unhampered by the weather to permit the fans throughout the country to get a good idea of the strength or defects of their favorites.

The end of the first week found the Boston clubs leading in each league. Neither has yet lost a game, but the Braves have played only two games and the Red Sox only three. Perhaps the greatest surprise of the short opening week was the strength displayed by Cincinnati in the National, and Chicago in the American league.

The Braves appear to be even a bit stronger than they were last year.

Alexander opened the season with a victory for Philadelphia. New York is apparently strengthened through the addition of Kauff, Rariden, Rousch and Anderson from the Federals. The Phillies present for 1916 virtually the same aggregation with which they won the National league championship last year.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh, the other western teams on the National league have several new players and appear stronger than last year.

Opening Day Triumphs.

Opening day in the American league witnessed two three-hit games. Groom of St. Louis held Cleveland to three hits, and Covaleskie of Detroit did equally well with Chicago. The veteran, Fielder Jones, apparently had succeeded in merging the 1915 Browns and his old Federal league team into a winning combination.

Cleveland and Washington are stronger than last year with new men added to their ranks. Klepfer of Cleveland held St. Louis to three hits Saturday. The Tigers and the White Sox with their hard hitting outfields, appear every bit as strong, if not stronger than they did when the 1915 season ended.

The Washington-New York series was too short to give an adequate idea of the prowess of the two teams, but there is little doubt that Manager Donovan has a much better aggregation under the Yankee flag than he had last year. The return of the self-exiled Baker adds much offensive power to Donovan's club.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds Beat Pirates.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 17.—Cincinnati easily took the first game of the series from Pittsburgh here yesterday, 6 to 1. Pittsburgh was forced to use three pitchers, while Toney's wildness kept the large crowd in doubt many times as to what the final result would be.

Chase was put in the game when O'Day sent Mollwitz from the field for disputing a strike which the umpire called on him. The many errors made by the visitors were responsible for several runs. Score:

Pittsburgh	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0	1	4	4
Cincinnati	0 1 3 0 2 0 0 0 x	6	9	1

Play Tight Game.

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—With one on in the tenth Snyder doubled into the crowd in left field and Hornsby came in with the run that gave St. Louis a 1-to-0 victory over Chicago in the first game of the series here yesterday. Up to the ninth it was a pitchers' battle between McConnell and Meadows, the former having the edge. Sallee, who succeeded Meadows in the ninth when the latter wavered, also pitched air-tight ball, retiring the side after the bases had been filled. In the tenth Hornsby was safe when Zimmerman threw wildly to first. Then came Snyder's hit. Score:

St. Louis	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1	1	6	2

Batteries—McConnell and Fischer; Meadows and Snyder.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Play Spectacular Game.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 17.—With two out in the tenth inning, Graney of Cleveland tripled, scoring O'Neill and winning the game yesterday for Cleveland over Detroit by the score of 4 to 3. Detroit outbatted Cleveland nearly two to one, their thirteen hits including seven doubles, but the spectacular support given the Cleveland pitchers held the score down. Cobb was thrown out at the plate by Roth in the ninth inning and Young was thrown out at the plate by Speaker in the tenth. Veach carried off the batting honors with three doubles and a single in five times at bat. One of the largest crowds that ever attended a professional ball game in Cleveland was present. It is estimated that 8,000 people were turned away, unable to gain admission. Score:

Cleveland	0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 1 1	4	8	0

Browns Break Jinx.

Chicago, April 17.—The St. Louis Browns won their first game in Chicago since Oct. 3, 1914. They defeated the local Americans yesterday, 6 to 5, in a ragged, wild and erratic game. Incidentally it was the first appearance of Fielder Jones as head of an American league club here since he quit the leadership in 1908 of the club which was his opponent.

Eddie Collins' fumble paved the way for the visitors' first run. Benz's wildness, with a fumble by Terry, followed by Pratt's hit which bounded away from Felsch and went for a double, enabled St. Louis to clinch the game in the fifth inning. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	1 0 0 0 5 0 0 0 0	6	5	0
Chicago	0 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 1	5	5	2

Batteries—Wellman, Davenport and Hartley; Benz, Russell, Wolfgang, Scott and Schalk.

FAST TEAMS OF SEMI-PROS

Range and Wisconsin Cities Will Support Crack Ball Teams.

Duluth Will Be in Running With Former League Stars.

With prosperity smiling in every quarter of the great Northwest, bringing a consequent looseness in the money market, semi-professional baseball is due to witness one of the greatest years ever seen in the North.

Hibbing and Chisholm have already organized their crews and will be ready to clash this coming week-end if the weather moderates. Two Harbors, as usual, will have a ball crew, as will Ashland, Washburn, Hurley and Bayfield in Wisconsin, and Ironwood in Michigan. All of these teams now give promise of being stronger than for many years and some real spirited contests are looked forward to by the joyous fans.

Baseball in the Chequamegon Bay district in years past bordered on the big league stuff. Both Ashland and Washburn supported teams for two seasons that won the championships of several states. Brass bands and special trains carrying hundreds of wild-eyed rooters were features of the contests. These independent teams maintained a salary list that ran between $3,500 and $4,000 a month.

That Duluth will have a fast semi-pro team that will meet all of the best in this division in the Northwest, now seems certain. There is an abundance of material here and, it is said, the organization will soon be effected to launch the crew. Among the players who will probably be asked to join are Frank Summers, Frank and Muggsy McGraw and Frank Schaefer, all former Northern league performers. Associated with these stars will be a number of fast young Duluthians who have shown class in past seasons. Among the latter, it is said, there are a number of good pitchers who, with a little more development, will be as good as any in the circuit.

The usual number of amateur teams that perform each Saturday and Sunday, during the summer months, on the various vacant lots of Duluth, are getting ready for an active season.

BRIEF ITEMS OF SPORT NEWS

St. Louis, Mo.—Earl Hamilton, one of the St. Louis American southpaws, has traded his big automobile for a house and lot in Oswego, Kan.

"The house rents for $15 a month," Hamilton said. "It used to cost twice that much to keep the car in condition for service."

* * *

Indianapolis, Ind.—Drivers who have entered their cars in the 300-mile automobile race, to be staged at the Indianapolis motor speedway next Memorial day, have begun to arrive at the big brick oval and are tuning up their machines for the event. Among the early arrivals were Johnny Aitken, Eddie Rickenbacker, Tom Rooney and Pete Henderson.

The European war, it seems, has not killed the racing game in the old country, for a number of entries have already been received from prominent drivers abroad.

* * *

Lafayette, Ind.—"Too ladylike," is the criticism of the Purdue football squad undergoing spring training by Clero O'Donnell, the new coach, who arrived recently from the East. His methods of coaching are entirely different from any seen here and are proving popular with the players and the student body in general.

Coach O'Donnell is paying especial attention to the manner in which the men run and the Purdue players are becoming familiar with the low, crouching position, which has been dubbed "the duck waddle." The new coach plans to return to his home in Everitt, Mass., where he is under contract to coach baseball this spring. He probably will not return until fall.

* * *

Evansville, Ind.—Interest in the "Big Four" high school track meet, to be held here May 6, has been greatly increased by the announcement that Ewald O. (Jumbo) Stiehm, the new athletic director at Indiana university, will referee the contest. It will be Stiehm's first appearance in this part of the state and also will be the first time that he will officiate in an athletic event in Indiana.

Evansville, Vincennes, Princeton and Washington compose the "Big Four" association. The meet was originally scheduled for May 13, but was moved up to May 6. The triangular meeting arranged between Evansville, Bedford and Petersburg for May 6 has been canceled to make room for the bigger event.

* * *

Minneapolis, Minn.—The proposed high-power motor boat to be called "Miss Minneapolis" has been ordered built by the Minneapolis Athletic club's board of directors. It will cost $10,000, which was raised by public subscription. "Miss Minneapolis" will be ready for the water some time in June and will represent this city in various national power boat rsces during the 1916 regatta season.

Minneapolis, Minn.—President M. E. Cantillon of the Minneapolis American association club has announced the release of Lester Smith, Jack Hubbard and Robert Ingersoll, pitchers, to the Fargo club of the Northern league. Ingersoll was with the Millers for a time last season, but failed to display association speed and was sent to the Omaha club of the Western league, where he pitched good ball. This spring he was returned to the Millers, but an attack of rheumatism has prevented him from rounding into shape.

MASONS HIT THE BALL.

Defeat L. A. C. Ball Crew By Count of 20 to 2 in Opening Game.

Using heavy sticks, the Masonic baseball team won its opening game of the season Saturday afternoon from the L. A. C., crew by a score of 20 to 2. The Masons started slamming the ball in the opening round and continued to pepper it right smartly until the umps called the final man out in the last frame. The Masonic team would like to arrange games with any 16-year-old team in Duluth. The manager's phone number is Grand 1939-Y.

Following was the personnel of the teams in Saturday's contest: Masonic, C. J. Karon, P. J. Walt, F. Littman, H. Kapelow, J. Fischman, H. Clow, L. Cohen, J. Gronseth, L. Laskewitz.

Members of Northwestern Gun Club Hold Banquet at Eagles' Hall.

Commissioner Farrell Delivers Principal Speech on Lengthy Program.

When Secretary Herman Kalkbrenner of the Northwestern Gun club pitted his crack team of marksmen against a crew that was piloted by John Wold, treasurer of the club, late last fall defeating the latter team, the treasurer and his faithful followers agreed to banquet Kalkbrenner and his men.

The spread was held last evening in the Eagles' hall on West Second street where an elaborate banquet was served by M. J. Gleason, proprietor of the Ormonde hotel, Lake avenue south. The tables were beautifully decorated, red and white carnations predominating. When the dinner was over Treasurer Wold introduced Earnest oGering, who acted as toastmaster. Mr. Goering made a brief speech and then introduced City Commissioner Bert Farrell, who spoke at length on the growth of the club and suggested plans for the future. Fred Berbig, president of the club, and others made short talks.

Those present were:

Herman Kalkbrenner, Ott Kalkbrenner, M. Monsen, Jacob Patskowski, William Hesse, A. W. Kentkel, Edward Hibberd, John Amunson, Frank Heldman, John Wold, F. W. Dryer, Ed. Krause, B. Jeronimus, John Peterson, C. W. Evans, Ed. Peterson, Frank Russell, C. Miller, Frank Diminski, Fred Berbig, George Gray, William Kethel, Edward Goeden, J. Nelson, M. Peterson, Bert Farrell, John Anderson, Hans Johnson, John Mathson, E. Goering, All Arnson, John Patskowski, Axel Johnson, Ole Peterson, Frank Peterson, Frank Johnson, Gust Ellison, E. Webber, William Webber, Pete Krustenson, George A. Garry.

With a membership of 120 the Northwestern Gun club is now one of the largest organizations of its kind in the Northwest. The members have two clubhouses, one on the Rice Lake road where their traps are located, and another, a hunting lodge at Round lake, on the Soo Line, a short distance from this city. The club is in a strong financial condition.

Next Sunday the first regular shoots of the season will be held over the Rice Lake road traps when it is expected a large number of the members will turn out.

BROTHER PITCHES AGAINST BROTHER

Coveleskies Will Oppose Each Other in Cleveland-Detroit Game.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 17.—For the first time in twenty years and the second time in baseball history in the major leagues, brother was scheduled to pitch against brother here today.

The Coveleskies have never before been members of opposing teams and had not seen each other for a year until the arrival of the Detroit squad here yesterday.

It was back in the 90s when the first brother-brother duel was staged in the National league, Brownie Foreman pitching for Cincinnati against Frank Foreman for Baltimore. In that case also one was right-handed and the other a southpaw.

Coulon to Try Comeback.

Chicago, April 17.—Johnny Coulon, former bantamweight champion of the world, has been matched to meet Johnny Ritchie at Kenosha, Wis., in a ten-round, no-decision bout, on April 25, it was announced today. The weight will be 116 pounds.

O'Donnell Wins Again.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 17.—Eddie O'Donnell, winner of the road race at Corona, Cal., April 8, won the 150-mile motor derby yesterday at Ascot speedway here. His time was 2:17:09. Eddie Pullen was second. His time was 2:17:27 4-5 and Hughie Hughes finished third. His time was 2:18:25. Six other started.

MARYLAND ALMSHOUSE IS AGAIN DESTROYED

Baltimore, Md., April 17.—The new Baltimore county almshouse was wrecked by fire yesterday afternoon. The seventy-five inmates were removed safely, eighteen of the more feeble being carried out in their beds. The cook, Margaret Ewe, herself old, was saved by firemen, but fell dead from heart trouble when she reached the ground.

Two county firemen were badly burned. The structure, which was just finished and of stone, replaced the one destroyed by fire last year. The fire was due to a defective flue. The loss has not yet been estimated.

WILL ENFORCE ORDINANCE

Jitney Drivers Must Procure Licenses or Suffer Arrest.

Case Brought to Test Measure Is Pending in Supreme Court.

This is the opinion of City Attorney Samuelson and, as a result, the measure will be enforced after Wednesday, according to instructions given out yesterday by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, to Police Captain Fiskett, acting head of the police department, in the absence of Chief McKercher.

Since the jitneys resumed operations, the police have had considerable trouble with violators and Commissioner Silberstein yesterday asked the city attorney for an oral opinion on the question. The latter declared that the measure can be enforced at this time, despite the fact that it is now before the supreme court on an appeal from the decision of the district court.

About sixteen jitney operators have obtained licenses from the city under the jitney ordinance and unless the others file bonds and make application immediately for permits, they will be arrested, according to instructions given the police yesterday by Commissioner Silberstein.

Will Enforce Ordinance.

"The jitney drivers are repeatedly violating the law," said Commissioner Silberstein, "and the public must be protected. We will enforce the ordinance until the supreme court rules otherwise."

The jitney ordinance, introduced about a year ago by Commissioner Silberstein, was passed on May 17, to become effective a month later. At that time the drivers refused to comply with the ordinance and several were arrested by the police. Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted by the Duluth Jitney association and the case brought before the district court, where the petitioners lost their case. A. E. McManus, attorney for the drivers, later filed an appeal with the supreme court and an opinion is expected during the first week in May.

It is estimated that there are at least seventy-five jitney drivers operating in the city.

REPUBLICANS UP AGAINST IT; T. R. OR NOBODY FOR THE NOMINATION

Bitter as Pill May Be, There's No Help for It; Former President Seems Certain Choice, Though. Opposition Is Stronger Than His Support; State Politics Quiet.

The Republican presidential situation seems virtually settled.

The Republicans, to paraphrase Sam Blythe, are headed for Chicago to nominate Roosevelt—and gosh! how they dread it!

Those who doubt that the colonel will be the choice of the national Republican convention, which will convene June 7, are few and far between. In fact those who still say they believe he won't, do not "believe"; they "hope."

But the feeling about what will happen after the nomination is vastly different. That Roosevelt will NOT be the strongest candidate is being pretty well established. Then why nominate him? Just because if he is not chosen, the Progressives—and T. R. will lead the van—will not stand for it, and some good excuse will be found again to bolt the Republican ticket. It is virtually handed out "cold turkey," that it's "me or nobody." So what on earth are the poor, perplexed, harassed Republicans to do? Why, nominate the man the seceders demand and make the best of it.

Opposition Is Strong.

The Chicago Tribune, pro-Roosevelt, is conducting a poll of editors in several mid-Western states to find out the sentiment on the Republican nomination. The sentiment of the editors themselves is not sought, but that of the communities they represent. It is interesting to note that up to the present time, while the vote shows the former president to be strong, the opposition is stronger; and expressions of opinion are bitter in their opposition to him—where they are not emphatically for him. It seems impossible in any quarter of the country to discuss the former president calmly. Bring up his name some time and start an argument, as an experiment. Inside of ten minutes you will have a fight—only verbal perhaps—going on.

So far the poll is confined to Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Wisconsin, and up to Saturday the total showing was as follows:

Hughes	254
Roosevelt	229
Sherman	207
Cummins	179
Fairbanks	132
La Follette	58
Root	29
Ford	18
Wilson	15
Scattering	33
Total	1,154

It will be noted that out of 1,154 votes cast in this poll, only 229 want to see Roosevelt nominated, while 925 do not. Justice Hughes has twenty-five more adherents than the Colonel, but conditions as to the justice are admittedly different. It is not known whether he would consent to make the run and it is generally acknowledged that should he give even tacit consent, there would be a movement for him which would materially increase his support even on paper.

Such a contingency is the only thing that the Roosevelt supporters need fear, and they know it. For that reason every effort is bent by them to discourage and discount the strength of the justice. At that, it is probably too late for the Hughes movement to blossom, for the Republicans know whom they must obey if they wish to present even an ostensibly united party—which it will not be, except on the surface.

President Wilson's name was not expected to enter the vote for the poll was taken among Republican newspapers.

In connection with the poll taken in Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, here are some of the comments:

"Republican workers will scratch Roosevelt if nominated."

"Not one in fifty favors Roosevelt."

"The old-line Republicans say they positively will not support Roosevelt."

"Roosevelt will lose two-thirds of the women vote because they believe Roosevelt and war are synonymous."

"I am for anybody except Roosevelt."

Will Roosevelt Refuse?

And now comes John Callan O'Laughlin, the political writer for the Chicago Herald, with a statement which will probably cause many smiles. Mr. O'Laughlin is the colonel's personal friend, and a better press agent a man never had, so this statement may be taken as emanating from the colonel himself:

> The Herald correspondent is in a position to say that Col. Roosevelt will not accept the nomination unless it shall come to him in such fashion that he will be assured of the loyal support of the great bulk of the rank and file of the Republican party. Of greater importance in his mind is the fact that the voters must understand that his selection means that the Republican part will stand for real Americanism—for the preservation of American rights on land and sea without count of cost.
>
> It is not the intention of the colonel to make any open fight for the nomination. If it comes to him it must come as a spontaneous offering on the part of the convention and as a realization by that convention that he is the man upon whom the country can depend to bring about the restoration of American prestige abroad, and the safety of American rights and the protection and advancement of American trade.

Unbelievable Modesty.

That nobody will believe the Colonel is restricted by such a feeling of modesty is to be expected. Unless there is an unlooked-for blowup before June 7, Mr. Roosevelt will see to it that he has the nomination bottled up. Should Justice Hughes be forced into the open by the demand of Senator Works of California, made on the floor of the senate last week, that the justice should repudiate the attempt to drag him from the sacred precincts of the house of justice into the political arena, there might be some change, particularly should the justice say that he would accept the nomination if given him, or something like that. It is understood, however, that the justice would require unanimous demand, and, of course, that is not likely to be given.

The Progressives will dominate; the tail will wag the dog.

The Chicago Herald correspondent goes on to say that despite the attempts of the standpatters to get Root into the race again, the latter will support the colonel both in and out of the convention, for "he believes his former chief is a genius in the handling of foreign affairs." Mr. O'Laughlin naively says:

> The standpatters believe they will have a sufficient number of delegates to prevent a majority casting its votes for Roosevelt on the second ballot. There is little fear on the part of these politicians that the Colonel will sweep the convention on the first ballot because of the "favorite sons" movement in various states. It is conceded, however, that after the complimentary ballot has been cast for such men as Weeks of Massachusetts, Burton of Ohio, Fairbanks of Indiana, Sherman of Illinois and Cummins of Iowa there will be a defection to the advantage of the former president.

He adds that with the standpatters it is anything to beat the colonel and declares that they prefer Hughes, but intimates that they will not get him.

Another Political View.

On the other hand, the political correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, Arthur Sears Henning, says:

> As the selection of delegates, both instructed and uninstructed, goes forward, the old guardsmen, whose common bond is hatred of Roosevelt, are viewing the situation with complacency. As the delegates come up out of the primaries and conventions, like the oysters hopping from the waves to greet the walrus and the carpenter, the old guard perceives a growing aggregation of familiar faces. They are for the most part trained and seasoned politicians—warranted not to stampede and guaranteed to stand without hitching.
>
> The old guard is confident that there will be an overwhelming majority of the convention proof against any efforts to stampede it into the nomination of Col. Roosevelt. The old guard has little more love for Justice Hughes than for Col. Roosevelt, but will accept him if the defeat of the colonel becomes a desperate necessity, or if no other candidate more to its liking looks like a "sure winner" against Wilson.

Fear Him Weak.

He follows that up with the following statement:

> There are a great many Republicans outside the ranks of the old guard who believe it would be a party misfortune to nominate Col. Roosevelt. They assert that Roosevelt could not possibly command the support of the bulk of the Taft following in 1912 nor the Americans of Teutonic extraction, alienated by the colonel's denunciation of Germany.
>
> The shortcomings of Hughes as a candidate also are coming in for a good deal of discussion by the Republican leaders. It is pointed out that if the justice maintains his silence on the issues of the hour only extraordinary considerations will move the convention to tender him the nomination in ignorance of his views on questions that will determine the choice of a president in November. The party under such circumstances would not know whether it was naming a leader who as president would be another Wilson or a second Roosevelt.

But write as they will, it seems that the nomination of Roosevelt by a tamed and docile Republican party is as certain as death and taxes.

All of which will materially strengthen the already strong position of President Wilson.

With a defeat scored against him, with no visible division of the Republican party, as was the case four years ago, the question will come up again in a new light: What shall we do with our ex-presidents?

State political matters are tame. Governor Burnquist has announced his candidacy for the governorship, which is no news, but is simply going through the regular form. Samuel G. Iverson is still a candidate, and said while in the city last Friday that he was well satisfied with his progress. Well, that helps some, but it is hard to see where Mr. Iverson comes in. His platform is excessive taxation; but the increase he talks about was going through its most rapid period of growth while he was state auditor and it did not seem so horrible then until the economy and efficiency agitation was started by The Herald, much to Mr. Iverson's disgust at that time.

Governor Burnquist has given out as reasons for asking a nomination for the chief office in the state, the following:

That in 1913, he eliminated eight senate committees, and in 1915 he eliminated sixteen more.

That with fewer committees, twenty-seven instead of fifty-one, there was no "jam" on the closing day and no important legislation was lost or no "woodchucks" put through as a result.

That as lieutenant governor, he did without a private secretary and cut out one-third of his appointees.

That senate expenses for employes and supplies, which had been $58,024 in 1911, were reduced to $47,252 in his first term and $40,362 in his second.

That properly organized committees, especially the finance committee, made possible more careful consideration of appropriation bills and a consequent reduction in the tax rate. Bills in 1915 called for expenditures totaling $18,$19,503 as against $19,579,168 in 1913 and $18,512,308 in 1911.

• • •

Three candidates for the United States senate have filed on the Republican ticket—Former Governor Eberhart, who filed some time ago; C. A. Lindbergh, congressman from the Sixth district, who filed last Thursday; and F. B. Kellogg, who filed on Saturday. Senator Clapp has not yet been heard from and new stories to the effect that he will not file are arriving. Should this happen, it is believed in many quarters that it comes pretty nearly cinching the nomination of F. B. Kellogg, as Mr. Lindbergh and Former Governor Eberhart are battling for almost the same class of support. There is talk of Julius A. Schmahl entering, but his friends do not believe that he will make the try. Still if Moses Clapp stays out, you never can tell.

• • •

On the Democratic side, it seems that Daniel W. Lawler of St. Paul will file for the United States senatorship. This may be a propitious year for Mr. Lawler as there bids fair to be a marked split in the Republican ranks and he is, personally, very popular.

Samuel D. Works, state insurance commissioner, who has been doing remarkable things in insurance improvement in year he has been in office, will probably file for the Democratic nomination for governor. These are the only candidates mentioned on the Democratic side, in a positive way at least.

It is quite probable that the proposed state conference of the Democrats will not be held, although that has not been finally settled. The leaders of the party are generally opposed to it.

• • •

F. B. Kellogg, as has been announced, will open his campaign in Rochester about the last of this month. It has just been given out that C. A. Lindbergh will open his campaign for the senatorship in Melrose April 26. Melrose is Mr. Lindbergh's birthplace and plans are being made to give him a good start. Former Governor Eberhart has not yet announced where or when he will open his campaign, but it will probably be at Mankato, his old home.

• • •

D. A. Peterson of Brainerd, Minn., manager for Edward L. Rogers of Walker, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district, was in Duluth Saturday and declared that Mr. Rogers must be reckoned with by the other candidates, of whom there is a legion, with more in the offing.

"Ed will run as well as he played football," said Mr. Peterson.

If he does, the other candidates may as well save themselves time and anguish, for Mr. Rogers was certainly some football player on the university team. But then you know the way managers talk.

• • •

They're at least keeping Congressman Sidney Anderson guessing in the First district. Two well known men have filed against him, Ola M. Levang, formerly his secretary and political manager, but whose love has now grown cold; and State Senator F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia. Mr. Levang's candidacy is not taken very seriously, except as a help to Senator Duxbury, who is looked upon as a formidable rival with a fight on between Anderson and Levang, provided George Tawney or the former congressman, "Jim" Tawney himself, does not enter.

• • •

Roseau Region: We are pleased to learn that Paul Marschalk of Warroad has decided again to be a candidate for representative from this county. An examination of his votes on the many important issues which came up in the last session of the legislature shows that he was uniformly right, and when human rights clashed with property rights he was always found on the side which should prevail. Although tied down with the task of securing a big drainage appropriation, he sacrificed no moral issue and did no "log-rolling." Mr. Marschalk enjoys the confidence of his constituents and they know that few men in the county could fill the position as well as Mr. Marschalk, and none better.

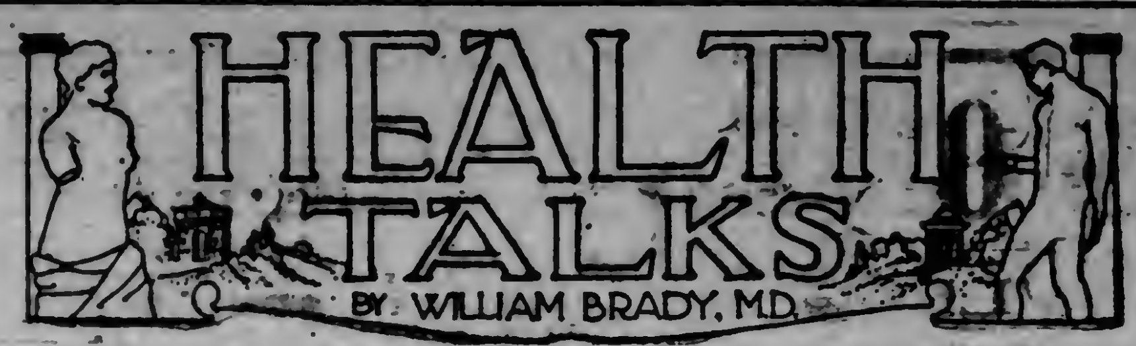
Mr. Marschalk was one of the hardest, most effective and most untiring workers in the last legislature for Northern Minnesota, and his people would do well to send him back for another term.

• • •

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Journal-Press gave enthusiastic support to Samuel R. Van Sant when he was candidate for governor, and has a very warm liking for the gallant soldier and good citizen. It stands ready to do him a good turn whenever possible.

Just now some of the astute machine politicians, under the direction of the genial Edward Smith, are having some of their henchmen urge Governor Van Sant to be a candidate for United States senator, is the report from the cities. The purpose is to take votes away from Frank B. Kellogg and to aid A. O. Eberhart. This is the game. We do not believe Van Sant can be elected, and some of the men who are urging him to be a candidate, from advices received, are not on the square with him. He is too good a man to be used by the machine politicians, with whom he is not in sympathy. He is a splendid citizen, and we do not believe, when he sizes up the situation, that he will let the politicians fool him into becoming a candidate.

Not that we care a hang, but former Governor Van Sant is getting some pretty good advice from the Journal-Press.



Do Children Outgrow Squint?

WILLIAM BRADY MD

There are still many people who maintain that a child will outgrow various abnormal conditions. This would be a comfortable belief if it were not so disastrous in effect upon the child. Such diseases as adenoids, spinal curvature, decayed teeth, stuttering and squinting may, in time, cease to give trouble, but only when the child's health or efficiency has been destroyed.

There is, however, some truth in the popular idea that children outgrow squint. A baby may be seen to squint when ill and the squint will disappear when the child recovers. Some children grow up with a squint, and the squint disappears when they reach their teens, or the eyes appear almost straight. The squint may be noticeable only when the child is tired, or in the evening.

There is no need of alarm about the temporary squint of a very sick child. It is due to the temporary irritation of the illness and usually passes with the attack. It signifies weak brain control of the eyes, however, and therefore should be a warning to the parent to be watchful for indications of eyestrain when the child goes to school.

When a child grows up with a slight squint, even though the eyes seem almost straight, one eye is generally defective. It has lost the power of focusing accurately; the child is handicapped by the lack of binocular vision. The sight of the eye that was crossed is gone practically; the vision is comparable to that of the rabbit's eye—there is a field of vision, but no fine visual perception.

Wherefore it is obvious that even the slightest evidence of squint or cross-eye should be heeded, and the child placed under the supervision of a good oculist whom the family doctor recommends. Conservation of vision is one of the first duties of conscientious parents. No vicious notion of "outgrowing" squint should be entertained for a moment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Youngest Doctor Did It.

I wrote you some time ago, you may remember. I had tried seven different doctors without obtaining any relief from a severe pain in the back and lameness. I had also taken a lot of so-called "kidney" medicine, but two doctors found the urine normal. You advised me to stick to my doctor—who happened to be the youngest man in our community. He came the second time, put a plaster jacket (adhesive plaster) on me (two of them), and that was the end of my trouble. Hereafter I'll have the young doctors for mine.

Answer—A doctor may be young at 80, and an old fogy at 25—it all depends upon his mental caliber and his training. It just happened that the youngest doctor was an active member of his medical society—which made us sure he would give satisfaction.

Still Lots of Smoke.

If a child in a schoolroom comes down with scarlet fever, and the health officer burns a number of formaldehyde candles in the schoolroom the next night, does that do away with the danger to other children in the schoolroom?

Answer—Certainly not. If any other children have been infected (through contact with the disease of the first child), the fumigation cannot alter the fact. In plain words, such fumigation is a waste of time, money and, perhaps, opportunity. The first child should be isolated, and the schoolroom closed for a week, to allow any possible secondary cases to be recognized.

DYING WIFE SEEKS HER MISSING HUSBAND

Injured seriously in an automobile accident and given but a short time to live, Mrs. Irving Dutcher of 102 Johnson Park, Buffalo, N. Y., is making an effort to locate her husband, from whom she has not heard in months, she says.

Since her injury friends have taken up the work of trying to find the missing husband, so that he will be able to see his wife again before she dies.

The husband is in the West, friends believe, but more than that they do not know. Letters have been written to cities of the Northwest and Pacific coast, each containing a picture of the missing man, in the hope that he will be located.

STRENGTH OF PRESIDENT

Interesting Primary Returns and Straw Votes on Presidency.

New York, April 17.—The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post says: Straws—they say—show which way the wind blows, and just now most of the straw votes that have been taken in various parts of the country seem to indicate substantial strength behind the claim of the Democrats that President Wilson's re-election stock is on the rise.

Some interesting polls have been made and the results have been communicated to the White House. In a letter from James M. Price, Bergville, Minn., may be found the following:

"The president carried this district at the late primaries over the combined vote of all the Republican candidates by 678 votes. Summary:

Wilson	5,231	5,231
Cummins	2,943
Estabrook	1,210
Webster	400
Total Republican vote		4,558
		678

Wilson's Vote in Milwaukee.

In Wisconsin at the recent election the president received 22,000 votes in the city of Milwaukee, and about 25,000 votes in Milwaukee county. The total vote received by the president was almost as large as the combined votes cast for the La Follette and Philipp candidates for the position of delegates-at-large to the Republican convention. Henry C. Campbell, editor of the Milwaukee Journal, in a letter to Secretary Tumulty, characterized the showing as "remarkably good."

"Wilson polled heavy vote here today. Surprised our opponents. Got 500 more votes than either La Follette or Philipp faction. President's vote in Racine county will exceed 2,500. No strife on our side. Will sweep state in November."

In another telegram from Frank B. Schultz, chairman of the Democratic central committee, Wis., appears the following:

"Extend congratulations to the president for remarkable primary vote, Wisconsin, Tuesday. Milwaukee county, eight precincts missing, 24,000. Philipp, last election, 22,000."

Another Milwaukee corespondent says:

In German Settlement.

"One city heard from is Fort Atkinson, the center of a strong German settlement. Here President Wilson, on the Democratic ticket, received 509 votes, while Senator La Follette, who has taken issue with the president on many questions, received but 186 votes on the Republican preference ballot.

"Kewaunee, Wis.—The town of Red River, a Republican stronghold, in this county, gave President Wilson forty-eight votes in the presidential preference primary. It is said that the most votes any Democratic candidate ever received in any previous election here was fourteen.

"In Ozaukee county, Wisconsin, the president received 973 votes, while in this county La Follette received 730 votes and Roosevelt three.

"In Green county the president was given 700 votes, Senator aL Follette 1,036. This is normally a Republican county."

In commenting on this, the Milwaukee Journal says:

"Few of the counties reporting election returns have compiled the results of the presidential primary, but such figures as have been received indicate that President Wilson received general indorsement throughout the state. This appears to be the case, regardless of the locality whence the vote is reported."

In North Dakota a letter from F. O. Hellstrom says the "president polled a larger percentage of the total vote cast in this election than has ever been cast at any of the state-wide primaries held in this state."

Wilson Popular in Oregon.

In a straw vote taken by the Portland Oregonian the president received the highest number of votes. A summary of the poll is as follows:

2,328	registered as Republicans.
639	registered as Democrats.
249	registered as Prohibitionists, Socialists, etc.
3,216	total registered for three days.

813	voted for Wilson.
468	voted for Hughes.
329	voted for Roosevelt.
82	voted for others.
1,524	did not vote.

The president received sixteen more votes than Hughes and Roosevelt combined. The Oregonian, which is one of the leading Republican papers in the Northwest, says, in commenting on this poll:

"One outstanding fact emphasized by the straw vote was Mr. Wilson's obvious popularity among the women. Considerably more than half the women who voted expressed preference for Mr. Wilson. This was true, notwithstanding the fact that a large majority of these women had registered as Republicans."

In commenting on this poll in a letter the Hon. Joseph N. Teal says:

"The registration in this county is about 3½ to 1 Republican. This straw ballot shows several important facts. Out of 818 voters expressing preference for a Democrat, 813 were for Mr. Wilson. This indicates substantial unanimity among the Democrats. The total voters expressing a preference were 1,692. Of these, 864 expressed a preference for some Republican, 818 for some Democrat, a Republican majority of but forty-six. The majority of women expressed their preference for Mr. Wilson. The significance of this test vote lies in the fact that this county and state are both overwhelmingly Republican, and the result of the test is really startling."

In Upper Michigan.

Marquette, Mich., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Strenuous efforts to "explain" what they call the "incredible" strength of President Wilson in a poll of three Upper Michigan cities are being made by the Republican leaders. The poll covered approximately 10 per cent of the vote that was cast for president in 1912, and the result shows Mr. Wilson much stronger in Marquette county than he was in that year. Roosevelt and Hughes are the Republican favorites, no others getting even an interesting vote.

In 1912 Wilson got only 997 votes out of a total of 7,822. In this poll he received 230 out of a total of 720. Following were the names placed on the ballots in the poll, with the number of votes given each man:

Republicans—Hughes, 161; Roosevelt, 172; La Follette, 11; Sherman, 7; Ford, 4; Root, 34; Smith, 70; Burton, 6; Cummins, 6; Fairbanks, 9.

Democrats—Wilson, 230; Bryan, 10.

Wisconsin Travelers Elect.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—A. H. Thierbach of Milwaukee was elected president of the Wisconsin Travelers' Protective association at the meeting of delegates Saturday. W. S. Demning was re-elected secretary. The association went on record to show opposition to the 2.4 cents mileage rate. This increased rate was called discriminatory and unfair. An effort will be made to obtain the 2,000-mile book for $40.

Normal School Owns Lands.

Madison, Wis., April 17.—Long litigation over the ownership of the lands in the state forestry reserve in Northern Wisconsin was closed Saturday when the Wisconsin supreme court approved the filings of Judge S. D. Hastings, the referee, declaring that the state normal school fund owns practically 200,000 acres of these lands as a trust.

You Must Purify Your Blood In The Spring

Are you simply dragging your way through life, suffering tortures from some blood malady that has stolen your health, robbed you of the ability to enjoy life's pleasures, made the future a hopeless uncertainty, and left you but a shadow of your former strong, self?

If so, let us warn you to look to your blood, and you will likely find the cause of your trouble. Poisoned blood can be blamed for more disease and suffering than any other thing, and there can be no health until the life fluid, that feeds and builds up every part of the body, is made pure and free from poison.

Whether your bad blood is shown by malaria, rheumatism, catarrh, scrofula, contagious blood poison, or some other blood disorder, you can be well, and again feel the bounding bouyancy of health that comes only with pure and well-nourished blood.

S. S. S. is the greatest blood remedy known. It is nature's own remedy, purely vegetable. It goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroys the germs that feed upon the red blood corpuscles, banishes every poison, and sends rich red blood coursing through your veins.

When you take S. S. S. you are not experimenting, because S. S. S. has been the standard blood remedy for 50 years, and there are thousands of people who owe their robust health and renewed vitality to its remarkable curative powers.

Just now you need a reliable tonic. The aches and pains, the weakness, the lack of vitality, the absence of all desire to exert yourself, are your system's cry for relief from starved and poisoned blood. Answer that cry with S. S. S., the great blood remedy that drives out contagion and brings back the blood of health. Get S. S. S. from the druggist today. It will give relief. LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF POLICE COURT

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF ARRESTED

Two years ago a horse was stolen from the G. H. St. Johns company of Superior, and yesterday Fred R. Monett, 50, was arrested as a fugitive from justice and taken to the Wisconsin city to face trial, charged with stealing it.

At the time of the alleged theft Monett was employed by the St. Johns company and despite efforts to trace the animal the police finally gave it up.

On Saturday an employe of the Superior firm thought he saw the horse. It was hitched to the delivery wagon of a Duluth dairy, and the police of this city soon started another investigation.

The dairy company heads revealed the identity of the person who had sold them the horse and through it the police were able to convince themselves that Monett was the guilty person. This is the second time that he has been under arrest on complaints sworn to by Mr. St. Johns, according to police, who say that he tried to forge his employer's name to a check in 1914.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Buchanan returned to Superior with Monett, after Lieut. Gust Lahti of the Duluth police visited the Monett home at 25 North Second avenue west and arrested the alleged thief.

Glass Just Broke.

Herbert McLennan, aged 19, is far from being the homeliest young man in Duluth, police say.

The unusual feature of the case is that McLennan looked at a plate glass window in a store at 707 West Superior street, and that the glass promptly broke into a thousand pieces. McLennan doesn't know how it broke, but he turned and hot footed it down the street, but Patrolman Youngstrom was after him, and the chase ended as suddenly as it began.

In municipal court today the young man pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was released and the case dismissed when he offered to pay for the broken glass. It was shown that he did not intentionally break it.

LITTLE NAP EXPENSIVE.

Conrad Sandwick Awakes to Find Money and Watch Gone.

William Sharrow is waiting for navigation to open. He has been spending his time at the Lake Carriers' rooms, Fifth avenue west and the waterfront, but the chances are that he will wait in jail from now on.

Conrad Sandwick was waiting with Sharrow, but Saturday was a lazy day, and along in the middle of the afternoon Sandwick took a little nap.

When he awoke, Sharrow was missing; also Sandwick's new watch, price $3, and $14 in currency. Sandwick raised the alarm, and began looking for Sharrow.

He found him in a saloon on West Michigan street some time later, aided by Patrolman Harry Toewe, and Sharrow went to jail, loudly protesting his innocence.

Police found Sandwick's watch in Sharrow's pocket, but the money was gone.

"I won that from him in a poker game," said the alleged thief, explaining about the watch.

He will be tried on a petit larceny charge this afternoon.

FAWN NEARLY LEADS BOYS TO THEIR DEATH IN LAKE

A spotted fawn, but a few months old, went sight-seeing through the East end residence district this morning and nearly caused the drowning of two youths who tried to catch it after it jumped into the lake and swam away.

The tug Williams put out, and after some maneuvering, rescued the two boys, who gave their names as Nels Neilson and George Beerhalter. They had put out in a rowboat which was not equipped with oarlocks and were unable to make any headway against the stiff off-shore wind, which blew the frail craft out into the lake.

The fawn, believed to be the same one that was seen on Fourteenth avenue east yesterday morning, was abroad bright and early today and soon attracted a crowd of nearly 100 persons, who followed its leisurely journey.

After trotting down the hill at Eighth avenue east the animal glanced up and down Superior street and then went over the fence extending along the wall flanking the Duluth & Iron Range right-of-way at this point.

One boy, the son of Louis Johnson, jailer at police headquarters, went near enough to pet the animal, but a minute later it became frightened at the narrowing circle of people, and vaulted over the fence, jumping down to the railroad tracks, twenty feet below.

A call was sent in to police headquarters by citizens who saw the animal lying on the railroad tracks, but by the time the officers arrived the fawn had fled to the lake shore and was swimming out towards the Wisconsin side.

The boys started their adventuresome trip soon after the police left, but they came back without the deer, glad to get back on solid ground. The fate of the fawn is unknown.

Meeting of Bazar Workers.

A meeting of the different committees of the German-Austro-Hungarian Relief association, under whose auspices the Red Cross bazar was held last month at the Duluth auditorium, will be held Wednesday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock, at the Moose hall, 224 West First street.

Plat Is Vacated.

Judge Cant of the district court today granted the application of Ludwig A. Larsen for an order vacating the plat of Murray Hill addition to Duluth, which is described as the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 18, 50-14. The plat was filed in February, 1888, and Mr. Larsen is the sole owner.

Traffic Tangles Multiply.

Traffic tangles have multiplied with the coming of warmer weather, according to George Wood, "czar of trafficdom" at Third avenue west and Superior street. The first offender of the week was Sam Dandrea, 20, who forgot the rules for a minute while passing Officer Wood's corner. Judge W. H. Smallwood fined him $10 and costs.

NO LETUP IN STEEL TRADE

First Advance in Rail Prices Since 1901 Announced for May 1.

Despite high quotations, the rush of consumers to place orders for various steel products is said to continue unabated. It is intimated that the finishing mills could book more orders than they are taking were they able to obtain the requisite supplies of raw materials. On account of the scarcity of pig iron and semi-finished steel they are being compelled to refuse considerable business.

First Advance in Fifteen Years.

The most important recent feature in trade circles was the announcement by the United States Steel corporation that quotations on steel rails will be advanced $5 a ton after May 1 next. The quotation will then be $33 for bessemer and $35 for open-hearth rails.

This is the first advance announced in steel rail prices since 1901, the year that the United States Steel corporation was formed. The highest figure for rails ever reached was in 1867 when the average price was $166 a ton. In 1873 the average price was $120.58 a ton; in 1880, $67.52; 1883, $37.75; 1885, $28.52; 1887, $37.08; 1890, $31.78; 1893, $28.12; 1894, $24; 1898, $17.62; 1899, $28.12; 1900, $32.29, and 1901, $27.33. Since then the price has been $28 for bessemer standard sections.

Manufactures contend that the advance recorded in steel rails had become necessary to place them in line with other materials. The former quotations had been held stationary despite the fact that the market in other materials had been heavily advanced. In support of that it is pointed out that bessemer and open-hearth billets are quoted at $45 a ton compared with $20 a ton a year ago. Steel bars are quoted at double the price at which steel rails have been selling. In expectation of higher prices for rails, railroads have been endeavoring to cover their requirements as far ahead as possible and it is estimated that nearly 1,500,000 of rails have been already sold for delivery in 1917.

Enormous Daily Bookings.

The United States Steel corporation is estimated to have been booking orders for all products at the rate of 70,000 tons a day since April 1, and it is therefore predicted that another large increase will be shown in its unfilled tonnage for the month. All the independent steel companies are said to be equally busy, so that taken on the whole more prosperous conditions now exist in the steel trade that any previous period in the history of the industry in this country.

HUSBAND'S "JOKE" AS GROUND FOR DIVORCE

Wife Does Not Enjoy Having Face Blackened With Kettle Soot.

When intoxicated, Victor J. Peltonen, 33, sometimes had peculiar ideas about humor. One of his "jokes" was to paint his wife's face with burnt cork rouge. The modus operandi consisted in simply taking a soot-blackened iron kettle and rubbing it over her countenance.

Hilja Maria Peltonen, 25, didn't appreciate the "joke." In district court Saturday afternoon she began suit for divorce, setting forth this incident, which is alleged to have happened two years ago, as one instance of his cruelty.

The Peltonens were married in Gilbert on Aug. 24, 1909, and Mrs. Peltonen alleges that ever since she has been subjected to a constant tirade of abuse. He frequently struck, kicked and otherwise maltreated her, she says.

She asks for an absolute divorce.

WILL STRIP NEWLY FOUND ORE BODY

The Consolidated Vermilion & Extension company today started the stripping of a new bed of ore recently discovered about a mile from the shaft on its Vermilion property. The overburden of dirt to be stripped is said to range from only three to eleven feet.

The stripping operations will take place in lots 2 and 3 in section 4, townshi 62, range 14. It is said to be a separate ore body from that near the shaft.

Samples which have been taken from parts close to the surface by C. W. Drew of Minneapolis, assayed at 64 and 57 per cent respectively, with only .0011 of phoshorus.

The Duluth & Iron Range road has laid about one and one-half miles of the branch to the main shaft and will probably complete the line within two weeks.

RUSS SOLDIERS FIRE BARRACKS AT SAMARA

Berlin, April 17, by wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News agency today made public the following:

"Russian soldiers at Nikolayevsk, government of Samara, mutinied and set fire to the barracks. Twenty-seven soldiers perished in the flames. The men complained of ill treatment by their officers."

ASSERTED U. S. OFFICER ADMITS CULPABILITY

Mexico City, N. Mex., April 17.—The war office received a dispatch today, in which further details are given of the Parral affair. It was asserted an American army officer admitted his culpability for entering the town.

The dispatch also says American troops have ceased their movement outward until such time as the negotiations between the United States and Mexican governments are terminated.

Oscar F. Brosell, 120 North Twenty-second avenue west, is asking for the appointment of himself as administrator of the estate of his father, Oscar P. Brosell, who died on Jan. 7, last, aged 56. The estate is valued at $950 and the heirs are a widow, one daughter and two sons.

I. W. W. ORATOR SPEAKS IN DULUTH

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Jones, well known I. W. W. orator, addressed a meeting of working men and women yesterday afternoon at the Finnish Socialist hall. Among other things the speaker declared that lockouts and strikes are necessary to the success of the working people and that the members of the I. W. W. hit upon the only feasible plan to secure what is coming to them is by taking direct action. More than 200 persons heard the address.

This evening she will speak in Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street and tomorrow she will go to Two Harbors where she will speak the same evening. Next Saturday evening Mrs. Jones will deliver an address before the working people of Superior.

WILL FIGHT ONLY IN CAUSE OF HUMANITY

Public Land in Bismarck Land Office Territory Goes Rapidly.

During Year Ending March 31, Office Did Much Business.

Bismarck, N. D., April 17.—That the public domain within the jurisdiction of the local United States land office is rapidly settling up is shown in the report of the office for the year ending March 31. There were 790 final proofs, 572 new filings and 1,405 patents received.

Since the opening of the Standing Rock Indian reservation in Sioux county there has been a steady increase of business at the office and it is predicted that the large amount of vacant public land will all be entered before the expiration of many years, as there is manifestly a greater interest being shown in those lands now than at any time since the opening of the reservation. Fourteen of the thirty-two entries made on these lands were made at the Bismarck office during the month of March.

Detailed Report.

The report in detail follows:

Homestead applications, 572; final homestead proofs, 790; relinquishments, 109; rights of election, 185; petitions for designation under the Enlarged Homestead act, 144; notices of leave of absence, 136; state selections, 80; applications for reduction of required area of cultivation, 25; public sales, 8; railroad selections, 1; soldiers' additional homestead applications, 1; coal applications, 1; patents received, 1,405; commissioner's letters received, 474; commissioner's letters disposed of by completion, report, etc., 431; new contests litigated, 68; contests carried to a hearing, 7; miscellaneous letters answered, 12,674; receivers' receipts issued, 949; registered letters mailed, 550; homestead entries on Standing Rock Indian reservation, 32; area entered on Standing Rock Indian reservation, 7,539.89 acres; amount deposited to credit of Standing Rock Indians, $4,059.82.

PETER HALEY, OLD NORTH DAKOTAN, DIES

Devils Lake, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Peter Haley, age 76 years, a veteran of the Civil war, pioneer of Devils Lake and prominent Mason, will be held from the Masonic temple Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Knights Templar, with Past Grand Commander Clarence Hale of Grand Forks in charge. The Blue lodge will conduct the ceremany at the grave. The death of Mr. Haley marks the passing of one of the best known pioneers in Northern North Dakota.

HER HOME NO LONGER CHILDLESS

Operation not Necessary after Taking the Great Medicine for Women.

Miller's Falls, Mass.—"Doctors said I had displacement very badly and I would have to have an operation. I had a soreness in both sides and a pulling sensation in my right side. I could not do much work the pain was so bad. I was also troubled with irregularity and other weaknesses. My blood was poor. We had been married four years and had no children.

After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I became well and strong and was saved from the operation. We are now the parents of a big baby girl and I praise your remedies to others and give you permission to publish my letter."—Mrs. JOSEPH GUILBAULT, JR., Bridge Street, Miller's Falls, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is famous for restoring women to normal health and strength. When this is done wives no longer despair of having children.

A woman should be reluctant to submit to a surgical operation until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. If you have a case that needs special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

PAYING BOUNTIES IN NORTH DAKOTA

State Must Settle for Slaying of 20,000 Wild Animals.

Bismarck, N. D., April 17.—State Auditor Jorgenson is making payment for the killing of stock-destroying animals in North Dakota.

More than 4,000 individual certificates registered will be paid with $50,000 available, which will represent the destruction of 20,000 wolves and coyotes at $2.50 each, the bounty provided by law in North Dakota.

CANADIAN NORTHERN HAS FLOOD TROUBLE

Culverts Washed Out Near Baudette, Interfering With Traffic.

Baudette, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traffic is almost tied up on the Canadian Northern railroad because culverts between Williams and Baudette are washed out. No freight moved Saturday and delayed passengers were transferred to a train on the other side of the culverts. Rain turning to a heavy snow storm is responsible for the high water. In the western part of town many places are surrounded by water.

STATE DYNAMITE FACTORY DESIRED

Western Itasca County Farmers Adopt Resolution Urging Establishment.

Deer River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the high price of dynamite, farmers in the western part of Itasca county are experiencing great difficulty in clearing land by the explosive method, and the institute just held here adopted the following resolution calling for the erection of a state factory for the manufacture of the explosive, to be furnished the soil tillers at cost:

"Whereas, There are thousands of acres of good timbered agricultural land in Western Itasca county, Minnesota, unfit for agriculture until cleared of the timber; and,

"Whereas, The same condition prevails throughout Northeastern Minnesota; and,

"Whereas, The only feasible way of clearing this land is by the use of dynamite; and,

"Whereas, The present price of the dynamite is prohibitive, be it therefore

"Resolved, That we, the farmers of Western Itasca county, in institute assembled, do hereby petition the 1917 legislature to appropriate a sufficient sum with which to erect a dynamite factory to be under state control and products to be furnished to the farmers at the actual cost of manufacture."

WIRELESS MEETING IN NORTH DAKOTA

Operators of Radio Stations to Gather at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of organizing a state radio association the wireless operators of North Dakota have been called to convention at the state university here April 21 and 22. Thirty-nine stations, representing twenty-two cities of the state are expected to be represented. The matter of meeting government requirements has been taken up by many stations and it is believed that a large percentage of operators in attendance at the convention will be able to present government licenses. The convention was called by R. T. Jacobson, Fargo; C. D. Curtis, Pembina; A. L. Smith, Fargo; P. H. Teal, Devils Lake; Dr. A. H. Taylor, Grand Forks, and M. E. Todd, Wahpeton.

In the Fifth ward L. E. Birdzell, who has taken the place of Dr. A. A. Westeen in the contest, opposed W. H. McGraw.

Walter J. Brekke is running in opposition to P. O. Thorson, the present member of the board from the Seventh ward.

STARTING FOX FARM.

Mill City Man In New Industry at Turtle River.

Turtle River, Minn., April 17.—Dr. Poppe of Minneapolis, who is establishing a silver black fox farm here, left Saturday for Winnipeg and the Hudson Bay district, where he will purchase foxes for his farm.

He has purchased land on the H. E. Lidman farm here and will begin the construction of eight pens as soon as possible.

A house for a caretaker will be constructed.

The entire farm will be fenced with 12-foot fencing. Fencing will be sunk in the ground so that the foxes will not be able to dig out. The eight pens will cover about two acres of ground.

Dr. Poppe now has seventeen silver black foxes in Wisconsin, which he will ship to Turtle River as soon as the farm is completed.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Advertisement.

CANNOT LUMP PROPERTY

North Dakota Assessors Must Value Each Class Separately.

Rugby, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assessors of North Dakota have started their work with the new schedules which contain over ninety items. For the first time farm fences, fall plowing, property of secret societies, household pets and scores of other items will be assessed this year.

No longer will property owners be able to give a lump sum to the assessor as every item has to be listed at 25 per cent of a fair market value, except monies and credits which goes in at 5 per cent. State tax authorities threaten to make a complete reassessment of every district where the assessor fails to carry out the letter of the law.

MURDERER BREAKS JAIL.

Escapes From Hennepin County Lockup on Eve of His Trial.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 17.—With his trial on the charge of the murder of Godfrey C. Carlson, a Riverside avenue butcher, in October, 1914, set for Tuesday, Carl Swanson escaped from the Hennepin county jail Sunday.

Taking a rope which he had made from bed clothing, Swanson let himself out of the fifth-floor window while the jailer was absent. He lowered himself to the fourth floor, kicked in a window and re-entered the building.

He found himself in a vault used by the office of clerk of the court. Swanson is said to have been prepared for this emergency. He picked the lock and strolled to the street.

Implicated with Swanson are Raymond Hawkes and James Spencer. Hawkes is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary and Spencer is held in the county jail awaiting trial. Swanson, in company with Hawkes, was arrested in Chicago a month ago.

SMALL PIMPLES ON BABY'S HANDS

And Feet. Grew Larger and Spread Rapidly to Limbs. Itched and Burned. Caused Disfigurement.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When my baby was about one year old, small pimples appeared on her hands and feet. They grew larger and spread rapidly to her limbs until it seemed that her whole body would be covered. The pimples were hard and red, and seemed to have clear watery heads which oozed out water that hardened, and formed scales. They itched and burned and were very much aggravated by her clothing. Wherever the eruptions appeared, it caused great disfigurement.

"We began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a week she was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. W. G. Carpenter, Amelia, Neb., July 14, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail

ON THE IRON RANGES

FLOOD WATERS ARE DAMAGING BRIDGES

Spans on Sturgeon and Little Fork Have Been Lost.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Flood waters of the Sturgeon and Littlefork rivers have caused thousands of dollars of damage to the Bear River country, according to Editor Peterson of Bear River, now here.

The steel bridge on the road near the farm of Peter Dank went out when the water of the Sturgeon rose higher than in many years. This bridge is located six miles west of Bear River.

The Harger bridge, a mile east of Celin, and the Alf Fisher bridge, both on the Littlefork, were washed away. All mail service to Bear River from Cook was temporarily stopped.

There is a report that the Larson bridge was also damaged by high waters, but this is not confirmed. It is two and one-half miles north of Blueberry hill at Bear River.

Littlefork on Rampage.

Bear River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Littlefork river is out of its banks, has overrun hundreds of acres of low-lying land and swept away practically every bridge which spans it. Flood conditions are causing serious inconvenience to settlers and interfering with mails and ordinary methods of transportation to the Bear River country and country north of Cook, in the Littlefork valley.

PAUN ADMITS HE CUT NICK SPEHAR

Man Returned to Virginia From Illinois, Confesses His Guilt.

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Paun pleaded guilty to a charge of assault in the second degree in district court today for cutting Nick Spehar in an affray on the North side last winter. He was remanded to jail and will be sentenced later. Paun was recently brought back from Illinois.

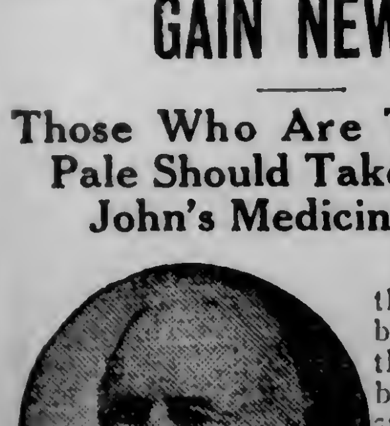
Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cantata, "The Seven Last Words," given last evening by the choir of the Presbyterian church, under the direction of Miss Gola Baker, assisted by R. N. Marble, Jr., at the organ, Miss Ruby Wasser at the piano and F. E. Evans of Buhl, violinist, proved most successful.

The soloists were Mrs. Harry White, H. E. Martin, John Adams, John Sheehy and Bickle. The members of the chorus were the Misses Katherine Hattendorf, Maude Cottingham, Mildred Nygaard, Bessie F. Tyrell, Elaine Shields, Charlotte Johnstone, Margaret Lloys, Francis Hill, Mrs. E. P. Radford, and the Messrs. H. E. Martin, John Sheehy, Leo Johnson, Nickola Santella, Evered Williams, John Adams and Bickle. Such a cantata was never before attempted in Hibbing and the success of this first attempt is pleasing to all.



BEST TIME TO GAIN NEW FLESH

Those Who Are Thin and Pale Should Take Father John's Medicine Now

Experts agree that this is the best season of the year to build up the strength and weight that has been lost during the winter. Father John's Medicine is best for this purpose because it is made of pure and wholesome food elements which strengthen and build up those who are weak and run down and are easily taken into the system. No alcohol or dangerous drugs.

SWINDLING PAIR WORK IN HIBBING

Collect Large Sum for Relief of Reputed Ill Musician.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Police are seeking two strangers who worked a confidence game on Saturday, which is said to have netted them several hundred dollars.

Using the names of prominent Italians, living here, the pair sent letters to Italian residents, stating that a prominent Italian musician was in need of funds and that they were delegated to collect the same.

The Italian residents, always willing to help their countrymen, responded in liberal manner and the investigation which followed disclosed that the men were working a fraud game.

The musician denied all knowledge of asking for any money and the men who supplied them funds reported to the police. A good description of the men have been furnished the local authorities and arrests are expected to follow.

KNIFE RIVER BOY LANDS BIG TROUT

Knife River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The catching of a twenty-one-inch German brown trout in Knife river weighing four and three-fourths pounds, by Master Joseph Rabey, Jr., opened the fishing season here Saturday.

All streams adjacent to and reached by the D. & N. M. railroad are reported high and muddy and it will be some time before conditions are favorable for good fishing.

Polo Players, Who Visited Hibbing, Do Far East.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hankinson's famous auto polo teams, which delighted Hibbing spectators at the ball park last year, completed a 24,000-mile journey in the Orient since Dec. 15, 1915, according to a letter received by Trustee B. J. Burrows from Mr. Hankinson.

The Philippines islands were visited, and at Manila 86,024 admissions were reported. One day was spent at Hongkong and one day at Shanghai. Over 8,000 people visited the attraction at Osaka, Japan, and at Tokio, under the auspices of the Keio university baseball team, 16,246 admissions were recorded.

A total of seventeen games were played by the auto polo players and 127,205 paid admissions was the record attendance.

The auto players are coming to Hibbing again this summer.

HIBBING MERCHANTS' GOOD SATURDAY TRADE

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday was one of the busiest days so far this year, according to Hibbing merchants. With ideal weather conditions the shoppers were out in force and all of Hibbing's stores report a record-breaking business day.

With $125,000 in cash in circulation, it being the March monthly payday of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the crowds that lined the streets in Hibbing's business district was a revival of the old boom days, and everywhere there was an air of optimism that Hibbing had come back into its own.

All the stores were crowded. The street cars and buses brought in large crowds from the surrounding localities.

IVERSON FEELING POLITICAL PULSE

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel G. Iverson, candidate for governor on the Republican ticket and state auditor for twelve years, arrived Saturday and left this morning for Virginia.

"My visit up this way is to look over the political field," stated Mr. Iverson. "Things look good in this range country, and the crowds I saw on your streets and in your stores on Saturday look as though prosperity is with you."

Mr. Iverson said he finds political affairs favorable for his candidacy.

VIRGINIA DISTRICT MINES SHIPPING

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ore shipping is general from the Virginia district today. Practically all the mines that will work during this season are loading ore. The working forces are but slightly increased and operations will not be at top speed until the lake situation is normal.

Eveleth Gary Debate.

Eveleth, Minn., April 17.—The final debate of the interclass series in the high school will be held Tuesday night, when the seniors and freshmen will compete for the Eveleth high school championship, discussing the Gary school system. The freshmen will appear on the affirmative side and the seniors will uphold the negative. Edwin Culbert, Myrtle Mitchell and Frank Brince are members of the senior team, while Alma Niemi, James Culbert and Ellis Huttula represent the freshmen.

DEACON MINE SHIPS.

Mountain Iron Property Is Sending Ore Down to Docks.

Mountain Iron, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Deacon mine, a state property operated under a lease by the Oliver Iron Mining company, is loading cars and shipping. The Deacon made its first shipment last year of about 60,000 tons. This year it will perhaps ship at least twice that amount. The mine is an underground proposition and has been active all winter.

William A. Rogers, High Kennedy, John Kennedy, H. T. Clement and W. S. Rogers, all of Buffalo, officials of the Rogers-Brown Mining company, were here recently inspecting the Iroquois mine. This property was operated under lease for several years by the Rogers Iron company, but the lease was surrendered about a year ago, the pumps were pulled and the mine has since filled with water. Many of the buildings and much of the equipment has been sold and removed, together with all of the mining timber that was in stock, and what has not been sold already is for sale.

BRIDGE CREW WILL SOON START WORK

Knife River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bridge crew of the D. & N. M. railroad will begin operations soon. Peter Churchill will have charge. Timbers used for this kind of work have arrived from Washington and it is expected the outfit will have work throughout the summer.

SCOTTISH RITERS OF HIBBING TO DULUTH

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Iron Range Lodge of Perfection worked the fourteenth degree to a class of twenty-three candidates Saturday evening at the Masonic temple.

Samuel Iverson, candidate for governor, was a visitor and made an address.

Candidates were present from Chisholm and Nashwauk, and the majority of them will take the consistory degree at Duluth this week.

Hibbing Scottish Rite Masons are planning on attending the annual reunion of the Scottish Rite lodge at Duluth this week, leaving on Thursday afternoon to be present at the big banquet that evening.

BAILEY MILL TO START WEDNESDAY

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sawmill plant of the Bailey Lumber company will resume operations Wednesday, giving employment to 200 men. The plant was closed during the winter.

To Hold McKinley Jobs.

McKinley, Minn., April 17.—The village council reappointed all village employes. Rudolph Haldorson, elected as treasurer, resigned, and Emil Berg was elected by the council. Berg formerly was treasurer. Village Attorney W. K. Rademacher, Marshal Otto Johnson and Superintendent George Ellis of the water and light department were appointed. The salaries of the village employes were fixed as follows: Village clerk, $25 per month; marshal, $75; superintendent of water and light plant, $90; attorney, $25; treasurer, $150 per year.

Chisholm Child Buried.

Chisholm, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Aino Maki, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Maki, who died Friday, after a several weeks' illness, was held Sunday afternoon from the L. H. Siukonen home. The girl was 2 years and 2 months old and an only child. Mr. Maki, who is a student at Suomi college, Hancock, Mich., was summoned home when the child became seriously ill, but arrived several hours after her death.

EXPLANATORY NOTES
Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear. ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy. R rain. S snow. M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

Despite the fact that Sunday was the rainiest day this year, and really a very rainy day and quite disagreeable, few complaints were heard, for the people could see better things ahead as a result of the downpour. The grass shows the effect of the warm baptism it received, and with today's sunshiny conditions and summer warmth it is sprouting beautifully and the green is a good sight for the eyes.

A year ago similar conditions existed, a beautiful bright day following a heavy rain. The sun rose this morning at 5:16 and will set this evening at 6:59, giving thirteen hours and forty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Northeastern Michigan caused light to copious rains over the greater portion of districts to the eastward of the Rocky mountains during the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours, and fresh to strong westerly winds in the lake region. Heavy rain fell at New Orleans. Light rains also occurred over Washington and Oregon. Somewhat cooler weather prevails in the Middle West and Northwest, with freezing temperature from Montana northward."

General Forecasts.

MOUNTAIN IRON NOTES.

Mountain Iron, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recently appointed boiler house firemen, Joe Matson, Henry Vilsmeyer and James McCarthy get a salary of $3.75 for eight hours work instead of $3.25 as reported. The firemen have arranged to change shifts every two weeks.

Miss Stella Stebbins, librarian, has been away for several days visiting at Northfield and other points. During her absence, Miss Berensten helped out in the library after school hours.

Mrs. L. A. Dams of Chesterfield, Ill., left for her home Thursday, after a visit of two months with Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Mitchell.

Peter Matchefts, a former resident and former partner in the Mountain Iron Store company, was in town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Severson moved into town Friday from the Anderson settlement, where they have lived for the last year and a half.

Small Hibbing Fire.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A leaking old stove set fire to a roberoom at the Barrett livery barn on Saturday evening, but the total damage amounted to only $10.

NOT SATISFIED WITH 10 CENTS, GRABS $108.

Appleton, Wis., April 17.—When Michael Meyer of Milwaukee went to give a stranger 10 cents at Appleton Junction yesterday, a pocketbook containing $108 was snatched from him. Later the purse was found empty. Tom Gallagher, claiming Brooklyn, N. Y., as his home, is under arrest. Meyer was returning home from the woods with his winter's earnings.

STRENUOUS LOVER IS BOUND OVER

North Dakota Farm Hand Alleged to Have Beaten Girl.

Minot, N. D., April 17.—Angered because she spurned his offer of marriage, George Hemingen, employed on the farm of Charles T. Nelson, near here, is charged with having beaten Mr. Nelson's daughter, Miss Alma Nelson, with a pitchfork. He was arrested, brought here and bound over to district court by Judge Willis.

The story is that the assailant had become infatuated with Miss Nelson, who refused to recognize him in any manner even as a friend. He is said to have wanted her to marry him and when she indignantly repulsed his advances in that direction he became enraged and proceeded to beat her up with the first weapon at hand which happened to be a pitchfork. She was severely injured about the head and body before help reached her and her assailant was forced to desist, but this morning she is resting easier and it is expected that she will suffer no permanent injuries from her terrible experience. Considerable indignation was expressed throughout the community in which Miss Nelson lives and in which she is held in the highest esteem and respect, at the outrage.

FOUR-DAY REUNION FOR SCOTTISH RITE

Degrees Are Conferred Upon Class of Forty Candidates.

The annual four days' reunion of the Scottish Rite Masons of the city opened at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Masonic temple. Beginning this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the several degrees of the rite will be conferred on a class of more than forty candidates. The degree work will be carried on tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday and the reunion will come to an end with the Maunday Thursday banquet. The Feast Obligatory for Knights Rose Croix will begin at 6:30 o'clock and at that time the mystic lights will be extinguished, not to be relighted until Easter Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. The relighting ceremony will be under the direction of H. W. Cheadle, wise master of A. T. C. Pierson chapter, Knights Rose Croix.

ZENITH BOARD TO TURN SALESMEN

Will Canvass Business District to Dispose of 400 Copies.

Members of the 1916 Zenith board, publishers of the Central high school annual, will make their appearance this week in the downtown districts in an attempt to get the business men of the city interested in their book.

The board this year is making a big attempt to dispose of 1,500 copies of the Zenith, a number which previous boards never dreamed of. In their several sales among the students of Central they sold about 1,100 slips, breaking the former record by a good margin and even exceeding their own expectations. Thus encouraged, they will be invading the business offices all of this week in an endeavor to dispose of at least 400 copies. If this is accomplished the general sale at the end of the year will easily bring the total sale to 1,500 copies.

The board of education set an expense limit of $1,200 on the expenditures of the Zenith several years ago. Previous boards managed to get within this limit by limiting their sale. The 1916 publishers, however, obtained permission to add $1.20 to the grand total for every book over 1,000 that they published. The more books they sell, therefore, the more they will be able to put into each copy and the better the final quality.

Judging from the "skeleton" of the annual this year the book is to surpass anything that has ever been attempted at Central.

SAYS HOSPITAL IS PLACE FOR THEM

Violently Insane Should Not Go to Jail, Deputy Asserts.

Only in exceptional cases are persons suffering from mental disorders and insanity confined in the county jail, according to Thomas A. Feaks, deputy in the office of S. W. Gilpin, probate judge.

Peter Gavolovich, violently insane, broke the fastenings of his "cuffs" in a ward at St. Luke's hospital Friday afternoon and escaped. He was recaptured by the police. In an interview published in a morning paper, the authorities are criticized for not placing Gavolovich in the hospital instead of sending him to the county jail."

"It has been the policy of Judge Gilpin not to place an insane man in jail when it can be avoided," said Mr. Feaks. "We regard such persons as unfortunates and not criminals. They are often in need of hospital treatment and we figure that it is the humane way of handling them.

"We are not thinking of the cost, but of the humane aspect of it. Gavolovich will be sent back to the hospital. I have a new straight jacket for him and if necessary we will have a special deputy to watch him. We have no moral or legal right to send him to jail."

ICE FLOES SWEEP AWAY STEEL BRIDGE

Structure Over St. Louis River Destroyed; Loss Is $3,000.

Ice floes Saturday night swept away the steel bridge which spans the St. Louis river on the Paine and Whiteface road, two miles west of Meadowlands. The damage was $3,000.

E. K. Coe, county road engineer, declares that one of the biggest ice jams in his recollection is now in the St. Louis river.

The bridge which was swept away was built six years ago. It is of solid steel construction with spans 128 feet apart. It is expected that at the next meeting of the county commissioners, bids for the construction of a new bridge will be asked for.

RIVERTON SPELLER WINS FIRST PRIZE

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Wilma McFerran of Riverton, pupil of Miss Nora Barron in district No. 45 school, won first prize at the spelling contest held here under the auspices of the Crow Wing County Teachers' association. She scored 100 per cent in the oral and written tests, repeating her prize winning performance of last year.

LABOR UNIONS FOR STATE INSURANCE

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—George W. Lawson, secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, says an earnest effort will be made to secure the passage by the legislature of the state insurance act, wherein the state will offer cheaper liability insurance than a private company, the Minnesota law being modeled on the Ohio plan. He gave notice in an address that the state federation will keep after the legislature until the desired reform was secured.

ST. MATHIAS FARMER CALLED TO COLORS

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. Dagnere, a farmer of St. Mathias, has been called to the colors in France, belonging to the class of 1880, and with his wife and little children, will sail from New York on the French liner Chicago. He does not expect to be called for service in the trenches, but in the reserves.

CROSBY BANKER'S FAMILY POISONED

Crosby, Minn., April 17.—Assistant Cashier H. H. Garceau of the First National bank of this place, and his family, who have been suffering from ptomaine poisoning, are reported on the road to recovery. All were taken sick after eating food prepared at home.

Wisconsin Delegates to Meet.

Appleton, Wis., April 17.—While en route home from Washington last night, where he attended a meeting of the chairmen of the various Democratic state central committees, Joseph Martin, state chairman of Wisconsin, said that the Wisconsin delegates would be called into session before attending the national convention.

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood.

When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of out-door exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. if you mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

DELEGATES TO BE ELECTED

Duluth Rotarians to Choose Representatives to International Convention.

Cincinnati Preparing to Give Visiting Members Royal Good Time.

The Duluth Rotary club, at its regular luncheon at the Spalding hotel next Thursday noon, will elect two representatives to the annual convention of the International Association of Rotary clubs, to be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, on July 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20. It is likely that more than the two official representatives will go from Duluth for the annual convention, especially when held as near at hand as Cincinnati, and accessible by a lake trip, is usually a strong attraction to Rotarians.

The program for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors has just been completed by the Cincinnati entertainment executive committee. The entertainment will open with a reception Sunday evening, July 16, in the ballroom at the Hotel Gibson, where old acquaintances will be renewed and new friendships made.

On Monday afternoon the women will be taken on a trip to the Cincinnati zoological gardens, where they will enjoy a luncheon and a special concert, followed by a woodland play in an open air theater. The men will attend model luncheons downtown, showing how Rotary luncheons should be conducted. Some will go to Redland field to see the Cincinnati Reds play Philadelphia. Others will enter the golf tournament at the Hamilton County Golf club, where golfers from all over the country will be entered in competition for a prize cup.

Um-m! Georgia Watermelons.

In the evening a parade headed by the delegations contesting for the 1917 convention will be held just prior to the start for the zoological gardens again. More than a dozen bands will enliven the evening at the zoo, where Atlanta, Ga., a strong contender for the 1917 convention, will give a great watermelon party for the benefit of all visitors. Fireworks and dancing will wind up the evening.

All the principal points of interest, the parks, residence and industrial districts, will be visited by the women on an automobile ride Tuesday, with a woodland luncheon in Burnet Woods park near the University of Cincinnati. The men will attend trade and professional section luncheons downtown, the baseball games and the second day's play of the Rotary golf tournament. Music hall, seating 3,600 people, will be the scene of a great musical festival Tuesday evening for the benefit of Rotarians.

Last the Best.

The big entertainment of the convention is reserved for Wednesday, when the Rotarians will leave Cincinnati at 10:30 a. m. for Coney Island summer amusement park. Here an old-fashioned Kentucky burgoo and barbecue will be served. Athletic events, swimming contests, a burlesque Kentucky Derby, a ball game between Toledo Rail Lights and the Cincinnati Urichos, champion amateur baseball teams, and other features have been provided. The day will wind up with a summer carnival, in which all delegations will appear in novel and striking costumes during a dinner, dance and various entertainments.

Thursday evening will be the final event of the entertainment program, music hall and its esplanade being turned into a magnificent Parisian garden, where the annual grand ball, led by President Allen D. Albert of Minneapolis will take place.

New Carrington Industry.

Carrington, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A flour mill is a new industry that will soon open in Carrington, S. F. Bateman, formerly of Park River, having reached the conclusion to enter this field. A $15,000 plant is planned for this city.

PIMPLY? WELL DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

RAPS METHOD OF FINANCING

Church Should Not Be Turned Into Soup Kitchen, Says Pastor.

Business System of Raising Funds Is Scriptural, Says Rev. Mr. Ford.

Raising money for churches by means of bazars, suppers, entertainments and theatricals was scored by Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, in speaking last evening on "The War Chest." The use of churches for such purpose causes a lack of respect for the house of worship from the public and is wasteful, he said.

The pastor said that the financing for Christian warfare was important and demanded careful consideration. "The financing of the church is as religious and devout a part of the work as to plan a revival meeting," he said, "and placing a coin in the collection plate is as devotional an act as repeating the Lord's prayer if both are done in a Christian spirit.

"How shall we secure the funds for the church? Paul gave us the divine plan when he said, 'On the first day of the week let each of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him.' The church is putting this plan into practice today with greater zeal than ever before. This is the day of budgets, duplex envelopes, every-member canvasses and financial secretaries in church work. This method of church finances is scriptural, reverent, reasonable and economical.

"Such cannot always be said of some of the present-day questionable methods of making money for the church. Turning the house of God into a soup kitchen or a vaudeville show is not in keeping with the decision of the apostles when they said, 'It is not fitting that we should forsake the word of God and serve tables.' This giving of suppers and bazars not only perverts the proper use of the church building, but it causes a lack of reverence toward the church by the world, and in addition is wasteful of time, energy and money. A direct gift of the money instead of providing these various schemes would be much less wasteful and in the end more successful and allows the members more time for actual Christian service."

TO FORM SCOTCH AUXILIARY.

Women of Clan Forbes Will Form Organization.

Plans for the organization of a woman's auxiliary to Clan Forbes will by made at a meeting of the clan to be held this evening at the Odd Fellows' hall, 602 North Central avenue. At the close of the business session an entertainment of several musical numbers has been planned. The program will include:

Bagpipe selection, Robert Mowbray; vocal solo, Ray Abbott; reading, J. W. McGillvary; Scotch reel, Messrs. McPhail, Morrison, McLeod and Young; vocal solo, Byron W. Brooks; victrola selections; vocal solo, Ray Abbott, and piano solo, Rev. J. Wilbert Lillico.

CITIZENS' TICKET WINS IN PROCTOR

Record Vote Recorded; 269 Ballots Are Cast By Women.

The school election in Proctor resulted, Saturday evening, in the heaviest vote in the history of the village being cast. The citizens' ticket won out by a small margin, the straight ticket being voted by 611 of the 621 voters. Of this number of voters 269 were women.

The new school board under the independent form of school district will be F. J. Paulu, who received 328 votes; H. J. Barncard, 332 (three-year term); Le Grand Pace, 329; F. E. Howell, 329 (two-year term); P. M. Quick, 334, and C. O. Ellefson, 328 (one-year term).

The defeated candidates are William McMurtrie, who received 292 votes; J. E. Code, 290; Mrs. Charles Connors, 292; A. Swanson, 291; Andrew Nelson, 288, and F. Spearman, 292.

The first meeting of the new school board will probably be held early this week. The advertising of bids for the construction of the $50,000 high school building will be the principal subject to be brought up. Plans for this building had been approved by the former school board and are said to be satisfactory to the citizens.

VANDALS BUSY IN ONEOTA CEMETERY

Trees Are Cut and Fences Torn Down; Prosecutions May Follow.

Lot owners of Oneota cemetery are indignant over depredations which have taken place in the cemetery recently. Trees have been cut down, and in some places the fence has been torn down.

Andrew Myles, president of the Oneota Cemetery association, said today that at the meeting of the association directors to be held Thursday evening, rewards will be offered for information leading to the conviction of those who were destroying property in the cemetery. He said that on one or two lots good-sized trees had been cut down, shrubbery torn up and other damage done.

OPPOSE SALOON FOR GRAND HOTEL

Church Active in Circulating Petitions Opposing License Transfer.

Petitions circulated yesterday and Saturday by members of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street, as well as other residents of the Ramsey street district, were signed by nearly 200 people in remonstrance against the tranferring of any saloon license to the building formerly known as the Grand hotel, Fifty-third avenue and Ramsey street.

The petitions were circulated by G. Nuholm, Rev. Gustaf Oberg, August Gustafson and C. G. Frost among the residents of the neighborhood. At virtually every house in the district the residents signed the petition.

Early last week F. H. Peters requested a transfer of his license from 2117 West Superior street to 5217 Ramsey street. The latter place was occupied by a saloon two years ago. Since that time three attempts have been made by John J. Frey, owner of the building, to have a saloon located there.

"The residents are unalterably opposed to any saloon in this building," said Rev. Mr. Oberg today. "This is also especially true of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran congregation, which will build its new church on the opposite corner."

Similar sentiment was expressed by other men in charge of the petitions. Petitions will be presented to the city commissioners today.

MAXIMUM OF SEVEN YEARS IN REFORMATORY FOR RICHESON

A state reformatory sentence of not more than seven years on the indeterminate plan was given to Walter J. Richeson, former deputy clerk of the municipal court who was convicted several weeks ago on a charge of misappropriating money entrusted to his keeping. Richeson will be taken to St. Cloud tomorrow to begin his sentence.

"Have you anything to say, Mr. Richeson, why the sentence of the court should not be passed upon you?" asked Judge Fesler.

"No, your honor, I think not."

Because Richeson is young—he is 26—the court sentenced him to the state reformatory rather than the penitentiary.

Before leaving the courtroom with an officer, Richeson shook hands with the court attaches and was in apparently cheerful spirits. He declared that he was going to take his medicine and try to make the best of it.

WEST DULUTH TEAM WINS LOVING CUP

Makes Score of 95 Per Cent in Maccabee Contest.

The degree team of West Duluth tent No. 2, K. O. T. M., scored a percentage of 95 and a fraction in a competitive drill held Saturday evening at Two Harbors and won the loving cup put up as a prize by Great Commander Edward H. Haas of St. Paul. The contest was the third of a series of four held in competition with teams of Duluth tent No. 1, Vermilion tent of Two Harbors and the Virginia tent.

The local team had scored second at the two former contests, the first honors having been awarded to Two Harbors in both exhibitions. The next contest will take place in West Duluth some time next month.

Following the exhibition, which was attended by nearly 300 members of the order, a banquet was served. Dr. Haas presided and presented the cup to the West Duluth team. Among the other speakers were: A. L. Elderkin, deputy great commander; Judge H. W. Lanners, director of the West Duluth team; William Towl, mayor of Two Harbors and record keeper of the Two Harbors tent; George J. Mallory, past grand commander of the Maccabees, and captains of the other three teams.

The four teams will go to Winona in June to take part in the state encampment of the lodge according to announcement made by Dr. Haas. Plans will be made for a state championship competitive meet to be held during the convention.

PETITION URGES REMOVAL OF POLES

Central Avenue Residents Would Improve Appearance of Property.

Removal of all the telephone, telegraph and electric light poles on Central avenue from Cody street to the D., M. & N. tracks, is requested in a petition filed with City Clerk Borgen this morning. The petition will be submitted to the commissioners this afternoon.

The petitioners state that the poles are unsightly and that the wires should be laid underground, in view of the fact that Central avenue will be paved this year. The poles, states the petition, interfere considerably with the growth of trees along the thoroughfare.

Among the thirty signers on the petition are Judge Lanners, W. B. Getchell, E. J. Zauft and Louis Ramstad.

REACH NO DECISION ON EXTENSION

Situation Regarding Traction Service to New Duluth Uncertain.

A conference was held between committees representing the New Duluth, West Duluth and Duluth Commercial clubs at the latter club rooms Saturday afternoon to consider what steps to take to induce the Duluth Street Railway company to extend its lines to New Duluth. The conference had no definite results. Members present maintained they had the promise of Herbert Warren, vice president of the company, that the extension would be made this year if it was possible to do so.

Residents of New Duluth fear that when the street car line has been extended to Morgan Park and the cars are in operation that the Northern Pacific railroad will reduce its train service between the city and New Duluth and Fond du Lac. This would cripple the suburbs as a residence district, it is said.

"Mr. Warren has promised to do all he can for us in getting the extension through this year," said A. W. Kuehnow this morning. "He told us that President Robertson would be in the city in a short time and look the situation over thoroughly. It may be possible that we will yet have our line before next winter."

The conference Saturday was attended by W. S. Moore, H. H. Peyton, A. W. Kuehnow, T. T. Hudson and Commissioner Bert Farrell of the Duluth Commercial club. J. J. Frey and Charles Kauppi represented the West Duluth Commercial club, and A. W. Loffelmacher, Matt Prettner, Noble Sampson, L. R. Taylor, Fred Damkroeger, Edward Martell and Douglas Lewis the New Duluth club.

Revival Services.

Revival services will be continued every evening this week at the Bethany Norwegian Danish M. E. church Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street. Pastors from various churches of the city will speak. Special music has also been arranged for each evening.

Next Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock the Young People's society will have charge of a sunrise meeting. Confirmation will be held at 10:30 o'clock and in the evening a reception for new members will be held.

West Duluth Briefs.

Albert Owens of Marble left yesterday for a visit with relatives at Ishpeming, Mich., after spending a few days visiting friends in West Duluth.

W. S. Perkins of St. Paul returned last evening after spending the week-end visiting his daughter, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, 512 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Dr. K. Loomis of St. Paul was a visitor yesterday at the home of Dr. W. E. Judson, 635 North Fifty-ninth avenue.

AIDED IN BURIAL OF DOROTHY ARNOLD

Confession Said to Have Been Made By Man in Prison.

New York, April 17.—A confession said to have been made by a prisoner in the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston, R. I., that he aided in the burial of Dorothy Arnold, the rich young woman who mysteriously disappeared from this city six years ago, was being investigated by police detectives here today.

The confession is said to have been made by Edward Glennorris, who is serving a two-year sentence here. He is alleged to have told the authorities in Rhode Island that Miss Arnold was taken from a house in New Rochelle by a man whom he had been hired to protect and removed to a house in the outskirts of West Point, where she died after a brief illness.

The next night, according to the story of the prisoner, he went to the West Point house and helped bury her in a grave in the cellar.

ITASCA LAND SALE.

About 1,000 Acres Sold at Grand Rapids Averaging $5 Per Acre.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 17.—(Specitl to The Herald.)—P. S. Brown of the state auditor's office conducted the regular monthly sale of state lands in Itasca county here today. About 1,000 acres were sold at an average of about $5 per acre, bidding being fairly spirited.

VILLAREAL STARTS A NEW REVOLUTION

San Antonio, Tex., April 17.—Gen. Antonio I. Villareal is attempting to start a new revolution against the Carranza government, according to a report received today by Consul General Beltran from Melquiades Garcia, Mexican consul at Laredo.

IMPORTANT RULING ON SAFETY APPLIANCE

Washington, April 17.—The supreme court today so construed the various Federal safety appliance acts so that all employes, no matter whether engaged at the time in intrastate or interstate commerce, may recover damages for injuries occurring through failure of interstate commerce railroads to comply with the safety appliance laws. It was regarded as a precedent making decision, giving safety appliance laws a scope far greater than the Federal employers' liability law.

WILL TRY TO VERIFY REPORT ABOUT VILLA

San Antonio, Tex., April 17.—It is expected at army headquarters that Gen. Pershing will make every effort to verify the report of Villa's death. Such information is essential in planning his future operations. Headquarters last heard from Gen. Pershing at Satevo. No report of his movements since the rumor of Villa's death gained circulation has been received by Gen. Funston.

CANNOT BE HEAD OF PARK REGION COLLEGE

Fargo, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. K. G. Jerseth of Decorah, Iowa, college today declined the position of president of the Park Region college at Fergus Falls, Minn., recently tendered by the board of trustees. To C. Davock of Fargo, a member of the board, Prof. Jerseth sent a letter declaring his health would not permit of his taking up the work. He is a member of the Lutheran college faculty at Decorah.

Telegraph Service Suspended.

New York, April 17.—The Commercial Cable company today announced a suspension of telegraph service over its lines with the Chinese province of Che-Kiang, except for government messages, which are accepted at the sender's risk. The independence of Che-Kiang was declared by revolutionists on April 12.

Lawrence Has Many Applications.

Appleton, Wis., April 17.—More applications for admission to Lawrence college for next year have been made to date than had been received at the end of June last year. Every room in Ormsby hall has been engaged and only a few remain in the other girls' dormitory.

Waters Will Recede.

Davenport, Iowa, April 17.—The stage of the Mississippi river here today registered 14.4 feet and will begin to recede, according to the United States weather bureau. Little damage was done by the high water in this vicinity.

Charged With Embezzlement.

Chicago, April 17.—James J. Jennings, a real estate man, was arrested here today on a warrant charging embezzlement, issued at Sacramento, Cal. He is accused by Mrs. Mary E. Warsham of Latonia, Ky., of having swindled her out of $6,000.

Former Minnesotan Slain.

Great Falls, Mont., April 17.—Mrs. Anna Kowell, formerly of Brownsville, Minn., was shot and killed late Saturday by John Neuman at the Kowell ranch near Belt, twenty miles from here.

RAPS DANCING IN SCHOOLS

Theater-Going, Sunday Desecration and Unclean Sports Scored By Pastor.

Immorality and Prudery Cited as Influences in College Life.

"Christian Education" was the theme of a sermon last night by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church. The pastor deplored the disregard of Biblical teachings in public schools and colleges and the tendency of allowing unclean sports to creep into the life of the student in college. He also said that much harm was being done by the teaching of dancing in schools. In part he said:

"A Christian is not at home in this degenerating age, nor can he be reconciled with modern deceitful and adulterous standards of living. He is in the world but not of it. Having been born from above, his lineage and heavenly title outclasses earthly aristocracies.

"Nevertheless a Christian should be alive to world forces and should play no ignoble part in its achievements.

"Mammon, the god of material gain, is taking the choicest boys and girls into his golden court. To youth of Christian virtues and of pure unimpaired vigor, special inducements are made. Lured by the promise of successful careers, young people of promise assemble in high schools, colleges and professional schools.

"The tendency is to standardize such training so as to meet the modern demands for efficiency.

Church Schools Justified.

"The church schools held in view man's citizenship in two worlds. Such ancient colleges were handmaidens of religion. The discipline was as stern as the pious purpose of the founders was lofty. Such institutions have justified themselves even. tested by worldly standards.

"Today the state is following the policy of pioneering church schools and colleges with the sorry, but tactful omissions of Biblical training, and the atmosphere of prayer. These state schools have reacted upon denominational schools. The result is that real scolarly training is not well balanced with due emphasis upon divine revelation.

"Christian youths should have secular training. Moses, Daniel and Paul studied the knowledge of this day. If such learning was helpful to prophet and to apostle in former time it is ten times more important for a Twentieth century Christian.

"It is difficult to overestimate the rapid changes of our age and the profound social transformations that are made over night. Twentieth century science, philosophy, sociology and government speaks in a new language. To discern the meaning of today's—war, trade, theology and inventions—means a position of power and leadership. The lad of no scholarly training is fitted only to mediocrity and to vassalage.

Two Temptations.

"Two temptations confront the Christian student, even as they assailed Daniel in Babylon.

"First is the temptation to receive moral and spiritual defilement as a part of school life. He who is a reverent student of the Bible shrinks from moral filth. He will be resolved not to defile himself with what some call king's food, or a so-called royal good time.

"The unclean sports of student life are almost forced upon the Christian. The urge is 'It is expected of you,' and 'you must see all sides of life,' and 'don't be narrow.' Seeing the sunny side of life, drinking, smoking, gambling, theatergoing, Sunday desecration and dancing, are some of the defiling indulgences of student life. Public school teachers are doing much harm by teaching or encouraging their pupils to dance the round dances.

"Christian noblemen, mindful of heavenly citizenship, will refuse these rich dainties. Those, who for higher things reject the lower things will, in the lapse of years, excel those who love sin or fear ridicule.

Intellectual Prudery.

"Second, is the temptation of intellectual prudery. The college man is tempted to condemn the illiterate. He is prone to use his powers for selfish comfort and gain. When success comes he often takes the credit to himself.

"A Daniel-like Christian attempts great tasks in order to save men. In prayer he relies wholly upon the Lord and confesses that God is the author of his success. In losing his life for Christ's sake he finds it in a larger achievement than he dreamed."

REJECTING CHRIST FOR SOCIAL REASONS

Placing Position Above Religion Scored By Rev. Mr. Ofstie.

"Some persons experiment with religion, and if the religion of Jesus Christ does not fit into their social circles, they throw away Jesus Christ, not the circle, and ask for a new Christ," said Rev. H. A. Ofstie, pastor of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, in his sermon last night on "What Do Ye?"

"In religion some folks are dangerously correct at times. Correct socially and intellectually, but damnably incorrect spiritually. The standard of what is right and seeming is self-made—not Christ's command. They do as Chesterton says of Shaw, 'He is like a nurse who tried rather bitter food for some years on a baby, and on discovering that it is not suitable throws away not the food but the baby and asks for a new baby.'

"Christ was a king of simplicity, and as such His call to our time is that of an unmixed, natural grace of life.

"The disciples were told to bring Him the colt of an ass. Had it been in our modern age I suppose the disciple would have turned to Christ and asked with surprise, 'Why, Master, let us get you an automobile?' I believe Christ would have refused, if the riding had meant a shadow upon his relation to the common folk and their interest in Him. Christ was not after a ride, but a kingdom—something heavenly, divine. He worried little about the conveyance, just so He reached His throne—and He did—!

"Some one smiled at the dusty disciples as they returned, perhaps, but the Bible did not count it worth recording. The Pharisees did smile through their criticism, thinking themselves wiser than a noble-hearted follower of Christ. But the colt was ready for Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem."

MARKET HAS SHARP BREAK

Wheat Turns Weak on Better Crop News and Foreign Reports.

Flaxseed Recovers Materially With Good Buying By Crusher's Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 17.—The market was weak at the close with the appearance of fresh selling pressure. Foreign news was a factor.

May wheat closed 1@1⅛c off, and July 1⅛c off.

May durum closed ¾c off and July ⅝c off.

Oats closed ⅛c off at 42⅛c for on the track; rye unchanged to 1c off at 93c, and barley unchanged at from 63 to 71c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed unchanged at 44⅛c.

At St. Louis May wheat closed at $1.10½ bid, and May at $1.10½ asked.

At Kansas City May wheat closed at $1.05¾ bid, and July at $1.06¼ bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.14½ bid, and calls at $1.18¼.

Nervousness was shown in the wheat market during the first three hours trading today, the market being influenced by conflicting reports.

Prices opened ⅛c off on advices of good rains in some sections of the Southwest and especially favorable reports from Kansas and Nebraska. Then the market firmed up over 1c in sympathy with strength in corn, but it weakened later in line with rumors from Wall street that war orders coming to this country are likely to be curtailed from now on. That was taken as an indication that prospects for peace are becoming brighter.

Prices were sustained somewhat by an increase of 3,038,000 bu shown in the American visible supply of wheat in the week. This is about double the decrease reported a week ago.

There is evidence of a growth of bearish sentiment among grain operators. They take the view that with the enormous outpourings of Canadian wheat coming upon the market with the opening of navigation, little export trade in American wheat can be hoped for until those supplies are out of the way. It is estimated that vessel charters have been made already to move 20,000,000 bu of wheat from Lake Superior ports at a basis of 6c, the great bulk of it being Canadian grain.

Advices regarding spring farm work from over the Northwest were more cheerful today, it being reported that the prospects for seeding have greatly improved as a result of good weather during the last few days.

Inspections of wheat at Duluth today were only 12 cars, but with the congestion at the elevators relieved through the loading out of boats, it is expected that the movement of grain this way will be on a more extended scale in the near future. Minneapolis reported receipts of 426 cars against 137 last year, and Winnipeg had 438 cars compared with 219 a year ago.

May wheat opened ⅜@½c off at $1.16⅝, eased off ¼c more, bulged to $1.17½, and stood at $1.16¾ at the noon-hour. July opened ½c off at $1.17½, gained ⅞c, and then weakened ⅝c.

The market in durum was comparatively narrow. The May future opened ½c off at $1.11½, gained ½c and then eased off ⅜c. July opened ¼c off at $1.13, broke ½c and then gained to the same extent.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed showed marked nervousness. At the start quotations were advanced 3¼c, with good inquiry from crushers in evidence. Prices weakened later on some realizing which the market did not readily absorb. The close was fairly strong.

Cables were strong. At Buenos Aires flax closed 1¾c up at $1.32⅛, and London unchanged at $2.43¾.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.07 and closed 2c up at $2.09 asked. July opened unchanged at $2.08½ and closed 1¾c up at $2.10¼. At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2⅛c up at $1.86⅝.

Russell's News, New York, said: "Export inquiry for wheat this morning is not active but there is evidence of some orders, sales late Saturday were about 1,000,000 bu. It is understood to be Canadian wheat for the Hudson Bay company. There has been some little demand for oats, with a cargo reported here this morning."

* * *

A Chicago wire said: "Our reports from the winter wheat states show a very poor condition in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Texas and Southern Oklahoma, with heavy abandonment. In the Eastern states of smaller acreage, conditions are average. Kansas and Nebraska show improvement since growing weather has developed and the abandoned acreage will be small. Hessian fly damage in Kansas is confined to small sections."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was very dull and easy with liberal arrivals and poor inquiry. Spot market was dull and irregular, unchanged to 3d lower. Cargo market was easy, winters 3d and Manitobas 4½d lower. Freer Canadian offers, increasing local stocks, larger floating quantity with expectations of liberal arrivals were bearish factors. Continental demand was less active. There were fewer Plate offers at 3d advance. Argentine advices are unfavorable with rain reported."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 17.—Reports that owing to unwelcome rains many fields in the Northwest were in bad shape again rallied the wheat market today after some display of weakness at the outset. Bearish cables and favorable weather in the winter crop states were responsible for the early downturns. The lateness of seeding in the spring wheat region, however, seemed to make the trade unusually sensitive to any fresh development of adverse conditions. Opening prices, which varied from ¼ to ⅞c lower, with May at $1.15 to $1.15⅛, and July at $1.13⅞ to $1.14⅛, were followed by further declines, but then an advance to well above Saturday's finish.

Big stocks and the nearness of the opening of the lake navigation tended later to cause a decided setback, and so, too, did the fact that any urgent export call was lacking and that the submarine issue with Germany was eliciting renewed anxiety. The close was unsettled, ⅞c to 1¼@1⅜c net lower, with May at $1.14¼@1.14⅜ and July at $1.13⅝.

Corn paralleled the action of wheat. Cash interests were buying and offerings were light. After opening ⅛@¼c off to ⅛c up the market scored a substantial gain all around.

FLAX STILL A PROBLEM

Severe Breaks of Last Week Have Traders Guessing.

Flax has had another eventful week, marked by sharp declines. Again the question arises: Has it reached bottom or is it nearly there? And nobody seems to be able to answer. The first break of the week came on Thursday, when there was a decline of almost 5c, and on the following day the close was still 5c lower. Saturday the seed fell 3c more, but on buying by crushers and no particular cable weakness there was a rally and it closed 4c up, 1c over the day before.

The decline is believed to be due largely to the throwing overboard of seed by holders who look for a bear market or are tired of waiting. The bulls persistently hold on and predict an ultimate advance to much higher levels than prevailed when the break first started.

The closing prices for the past six trading days, compared with the same period a year ago, were:

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Starts Higher But Soon Loses the Initial Gains.

Specialties Drop in the Afternoon But Have Partial Recoveries.

New York, April 17.—Latest advices from Mexico formed the basis of strength at the opening of today's market; shares of companies operating in that country making initial gains of ⅝ to 4 points with Mexican Petroleum as the foremost feature. United States and Crucible steels, American Zinc, United States Smelting and some of the war issues also rose a point or more and Mercantile Marine preferred as well as motors and coppers were materially over last week's final figures. New York Central, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific rose material fractions.

The speculative character of the early rise in today's stock market was demonstrated before the expiration of the first hour by which time most gains were forfeited. Industrials and equipments related to the munitions group were the heaviest features, some of the issues falling under last Saturday's quotations with actual weakness in Crucible, Baldwin and Industrial Alcohol. United States Steel's gain was soon wiped out and Bethlehem Steel dropped 38⅛ to 430. Rails also receded, but in more moderate measure. Progress towards completion of the new French loan was foreshadowed by the further improvement of exchange on Paris. Bonds were steady.

Greater pressure was directed against specialties in the afternoon the leaders of that group then showing recessions of 3 to 6 points with eleven for Cuban-American sugar. Bethlehem continued its decline to 424.

Partial recoveries from lowest prices attended the dull dealings of the final hour. The close was irregular.

GOOD ADVANCE IN GREENE-CANANEA

Business in copper stocks at Boston was light today with trading confined to a comparatively few issues.

Greene-Cananea was a feature. At the start it advanced $2.38 to $48.38, but it sold around the close at $47.50. Keweenaw was also strong, selling $2.25 up at the close at $7.

Active trading appeared in the zinc stocks. American Zinc sold 50 cents off in the late trading at $93; Butte & Superior 25 cents up at $93; Copper Range 75 cents off at $63; Mohawk $1 off at $97.50, and North Butte fractionally off at $27.62.

Good business was put through in United Verde Extension in the curb list. It sold up to $27, and then eased off 75 cents.

London metal markets: Spot copper closed up £1; futures up £1. Lead, spot off 2s 6d; futures off 5s. Spelter, spot up £2, and futures up £2.

* * *

United Verdi Extension, which has been producing 2,000,000 pounds of copper a month for the last three months, will, shortly, produce on the basis of 4,000,000 pounds of copper monthly, according to reports.

On the 1,400-foot level an unusual ore body has been opened up. Conservative estimate places it at 400,000 tons, averaging 30 per cent copper.

At present prices for the metal, the increased production will give Verde Extension gross earnings of over $1,000,000 a month. On costs of not to exceed 9½ cents a pound, experts point out this would mean a profit of about $700,000 monthly. That is equivalent to more than 100 per cent a month on the $525,000 capital stock outstanding of the $750,000 authorized.

The company's stock was active in the Boston curb list at around $25 a share last week.

GERMAN SITUATION UNSETTLES MARKET

The stock market at New York has been nervous during the last week under the fear of trouble between this country and Germany over the submarine issue. In the opinion of many brokers, though, that possibility has been largely discounted in the recent declines in securities quotations.

Discussing the situation, Renskorf, Lyon & Co., New York brokers, say in their weekly market review: "The large interests have been expecting this action would ultimately come and have been gradually adjusting values and preparing the stock market for this event, so that if a severance of diplomatic relations with Germany should materialize, the action would be pretty well discounted as a market factor and the decline would not be as severe as many people imagine. It is always the unexpected event that takes the market by surprise and causes a big decline in prices, while past performances of the stock market show us that many times when expected unfavorable news materializes, the market often rallies sharply as soon as the announcement is made public.

"It would seem as if any action of this character would hasten our program of preparedness and would stimulate to a considerable extent, greater industrial activity. It would doubtless mean the governmental expenditures of several hundred millions of dollars for guns, munitions of war and supplies of all kinds. This would increase the earnings of all of our manufacturing concerns and prolong the present period of activity. We would doubtless see a greater expansion in all branches of industrial companies in the future. Plants and factories would be enlarged and the output would be rapidly increased to meet the greater demands.

"From an investor's viewpoint, many of the standard issues yield a handsome return on the capital invested, but from a speculative position there are many arguments in favor of a lower level of prices before there is any sustained recovery of consequence. It would seem prudent to curtail commitments pending the possibility of unfavorable development, so as to be in a position to take advantage of any opportunity that may occur. A little later people will be in a better position [illegible] securities and then there will be a better time to increase commitments."

SALE OF SCHOOL AND OTHER STATE LANDS

State of Minnesota,
State Auditor's Office,
St. Paul, Minn., March 23, 1916.

Notice is hereby given, That on May 17, 1916, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands, and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

TERMS OF SALE.

Fifteen per cent of the purchase price is payable to the County Treasurer at the time of sale. The unpaid balance is payable at any time, in whole or in part, on or before forty years from the date of sale, at an interest rate of four per cent per annum, due on June first of each year; provided, that the interest can be paid at any time within the interest year without penalty. In effect, this means that the interest money may be paid at any time between June first and May thirty-first without penalty.

Appraised value of timber, when so stated, must be paid for in full at the time of sale.

All mineral rights are reserved to the State by the laws of the State.

All lands are sold subject to any and all ditch taxes thereon.

Lands on which the interest has become delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale, to the actual purchaser. Such lands are listed under the caption: "Delinquent Lands."

No person can purchase more than 320 acres of land, as provided by the General Laws, 1905; provided, however, that State lands purchased previous to 1905 is not charged against such purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority.

Appraisers' report showing quality and kind of soil are on file in this office.

Lists giving legal descriptions of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the Immigration Commissioner at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

D. H., March 27; April 3, 10, 17, 1916.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Notice is hereby given, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, containing a power of sale, executed by Antti Salo (signed "Andru Salo") and Sanna Josefina Salo (signed "Sanna J. Salo"), Husband and Wife, mortagors to Van Sant Company, mortgagee, dated the 13th day of July A. D., 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of July A. D., 1915 at 3:05 P. M., in Book 249 of Mortgages on Page 273 thereof, which said instrument was re-recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota on the 9th day of August A. D., 1915, at 10:05 A. M., in Book 243 of Mortgages on Page 602 thereof, of the records of said office; and said mortgagee has exercised the option reserved to the holder of said note and mortgage by the terms thereof, and has declared the entire sum immediately due and payable, and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage and the debt thereby secured the sum of forty-four and 5-100 Dollars ($44.05); and no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt so secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

And therefore, That by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained which by reason of the facts aforesaid, has become operative, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises described therein and covered thereby, situate, lying and being in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and described as follows: The Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (NE SE) of Section Twenty-five (25) in Township Sixty (60) of Range Fourteen (14), will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder therefor, for cash, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, to satisfy and pay the amount which shall then be due on said debt so secured by said mortgage, and the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) stipulated in said mortgage as attorney's fees, and the costs and expenses of these foreclosure proceedings as allowed by law, and taxes, if any, and that said sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said St Louis County, at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, on the 10th day of June A. D., 1916.

Dated April 14, 1916.

WANT AD RATES AND INFORMATION

1c a word per day; $1 per line per month. Display classified, 72c per inch per day.

No ad taken for less than 15c.

CHARGE WANT ADS will not be run longer than seven days without renewal order.

ALL CHARGE WANT ADS are due and payable the same day first insertion of ad appears. All out-of-town want ads are cash in advance. Mail orders given prompt attention. Address all letters to Want Ad Department.

CLOSING HOURS—Want ads to be classified properly must be in The Herald office by 11:30 a. m. on the day ad is to be run. Want ads received after closing hour will be inserted under the heading, "Too Late to Classify."

TELEPHONE WANT ADS are charged at the same rate as cash ads and collection will be made at your home or office as soon as possible thereafter. This is an accommodation service and payment should be made promptly when the bill is presented so as to avoid further annoyance and to aid the efficiency of our service. Always ask that your telephone ad be repeated back to you by the telephone ad taker to make sure that it has been correctly taken.

BLIND ADS—No answers to blind ads will be given unless ticket is presented at time of request. Always save ticket showing key number when placing blind ads. Herald employes are not permitted to tell who any advertiser is. Answers to out-of-town blind ads will be forwarded without extra cost.

THE HERALD desires to give the best service to its readers and advertisers. If you desire any suggestion as to the wording of your ad, call the Want Ad Department.

AUTOS WANTED

You Can Communicate With 98 Per Cent of the Prospective Buyers

Hundreds of automobiles are being purchased in Duluth and the surrounding country this year. The cars which are advertised most persistently, thus inviting the consideration of all prospective buyers, are finding quickest sale.

You can reach every interested person in this great territory by offering your car in the "Herald want ad" column.

By a careful comparison of the names in which automobile licenses were issued and the subscription records of The Duluth Herald it was shown that 98 per cent of the present car owners are readers of The Duluth Herald.

What is of interest to the car owners of today is also of interest to the car owners of tomorrow, consequently 98 per cent of future car owners also are readers of The Duluth Herald.

Do You Want to Trade?

If you have an automobile you would like to trade for real estate or anything else, you can find some one who is willing to match your trade.

OR IF YOU WISH TO ACQUIRE A CAR by trading you can find somebody who will be pleased to make an exchange. Inserting and reading "Duluth Herald want ads" is the means of bringing about many mutually satisfactory trades.

REPORTED DEATH OF VILLA MEXICAN HOAX

PURSUIT OF BANDIT HALTED

U. S. ADVANCED DETACHMENTS ARE RECALLED

Expeditionary Force Is Now Being Concentrated at Three Points.

Unprovoked Attack at Parral Cause of Action By Gen. Pershing.

Believed Further Pursuit Would Meet With Armed Resistance.

Camp of Gen. J. J. Pershing at the Front, April 17, by motor and wireless to Columbus, N. Mex., April 18.—The American pursuit of Villa is at a standstill because of the unprovoked attack upon American cavalrymen by the insubordinate soldiers of the Carranza garrison at Parral. At General Pershing's headquarters there seemed no prospect of the resumption of the chase while there were numerous indications that a continuation of the pursuit would meet with armed resistance.

A small party of American officers was fired upon near here last night, none of the Americans being injured. This, coming on the heels of other reports of sniping is reported responsible for the belief that the expeditionary command is confronted with a serious problem.

A report received here from Carranza sources that a Villa colonel captured near Cusihuiriachic had promised to lead a party to a grave in which Villa was said to have been buried last Friday, is generally discredited by military authorities here.

Say Americans Repulsed.

Newspapers published in Chihuahua reached here today containing reports of the attack upon the command of Major Frank Tompkins at Parral.

WILSON WILL BE HARD MAN TO BEAT

Says "Ed" Smith at Washington on Way Home From Florida.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 18.—That President Wilson is not as unpopular as some Republicans assert and that he will be a hard man to beat in November was the declaration made by E. E. Smith of Minneapolis, former chairman of the Minnesota Republican committee, who, with National Committeeman E. B. Hawkins of Duluth, is here on the way home from Florida.

Mr. Hawkins began to ask about the Roosevelt movement as soon as he arrived and ventured the prediction that even William H. Taft would vote for Roosevelt if the colonel were nominated. Mr. Hawkins indicated that he felt like a good many other Republicans who did not like the way Roosevelt deserted the party in 1912, but they would support him as the Republican nominee. Mr. Smith would not say anything about Roosevelt, but he indicated that the man who got the vote of the New York delegation would be nominated.

ICE BREAKING UP IN BALTIC

Great Sea Will Be Entirely Free in About a Fortnight.

Naval Operations of Much Moment Are Expected Soon.

London, April 18.—News that the ice is now beginning to break up in the northern part of the Baltic and that that part of the sea will be entirely free of ice in a fortnight, has been received here with great interest, for it is believed that the spring campaign in the Baltic is likely to bring forth many features of interest. Germany recently has been engaged in a variety of operations designed to isolate the Baltic from the North sea, including a complicated mine field and a huge submerged steel net to prevent the ingress into the Baltic of British submarines.

The new German mines around the entrance to the Baltic are described by Scandinavian newspapers as en-

GERMAN AMBASSADOR INSTRUCTED TO DISCUSS ISSUE WITH LANSING

PASSENGER ON ILL FATED "SUSSEX" NOW IN NEW YORK

EDWARD H. HUXLEY.

Edward H. Huxley, who will be a valuable witness for the state department in the matter of the sinking of the Sussex, has arrived in New York. He was a passenger on the ship and he says it was blown up in a deserted sea, which contradicts the German story that the submarine torpedoed another ship at about the place where the Sussex was sunk.

FIVE BODIES RECOVERED

Killed in Collision of Two Trains on New Haven Railroad.

May Be More Bodies in Wreck; Thirty Others Injured.

Bradford, R. I., April 18.—A search of the wreckage resulting from the rear end collision of two trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad here last night was still in progress today in an effort to determine whether it contained any bodies in addition to the five persons who are known to have lost their lives. It was the opinion of many persons who had been at the scene during the night that at least three other passengers had been unable to extricate themselves from the burning mass.

The inquiry by the public utilities commission of Rhode Island was well under way, George H. Carmichael, a special agent, having been early on the scene to collect statements from witnesses.

The coroner's inquest probably will be held this afternoon.

FRANCE MUST MAKE GREATER EFFORTS

Minister Thomas Says Enemy Still Has Advantage Over French.

Paris, April 18.—A warning that France must make still greater efforts was given by Albert Thomas, the munitions minister, in an address yesterday at the Creusot works. M. Thomas praised the efforts of the workers and continued:

"But these efforts, great as they are, are still insufficient. The enemy had a considerable advantage over us, which we perhaps have not yet regained. Certainly our armies, thanks to you, are today well provided with munitions, but you know how the enemy, with his methodical disciplined organization has constantly increased his strength.

"It is your task to continue to surpass our production and with the help of our allies to equal the effort of the menacing, sleepless enemy."

M. Thomas also praised the industrial organizations which before the war were at strife with the state for "the present union of effort and organization which the most audacious among us would never have dreamed was possible."

Makes Engagement With Secretary on Orders From Berlin.

Submarine Question Will Be Taken Up in Broad Way.

U. S. Answer to Germany All Ready to Go to Berlin.

Washington, April 18.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, acting under instructions from his government, will discuss the submarine crisis in general terms with Secretary Lansing at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

It was understood that the ambassador has no instructions to discuss any specific case now in controversy between the two governments, but to take up the subject broadly and to seek the viewpoint of the American government in the present situation.

There were some indications today that Ambassador Gerard has been informed by the Berlin foreign office of its desire to meet the wishes of the United States if it is shown that the channel steam Sussex was destroyed by a submarine in violation of the German government's instructions and that Count von Bernstorff was authorized to make such a statement in general terms to Secretary Lansing.

Note in Vigorous Terms.

The Amerncan government's communication to Germany designed as the last word of this government in the submarine controversy was being put into diplomatic code today for the immediate transmission to Berlin.

The document is said to be the most vigorous diplomatic paper President

ANCIENT CATHEDRAL AT ANDRIA IS BURNED

Rome, April 18, via Paris—The ancient cathedral at Andria, near Bari, was destroyed by fire today. The fire began in the residence of the bishop, from which Mgr. Seidl was rescued with difficulty.

Andria, in the thirteenth century, was a favorite residence of Emperor Frederick II, two of whose wives were buried in the cathedral.

The section of the town near the cathedral was imperiled by the flames, which were extinguished with the assistance of soldiers sent from Bari.

AFTER GAINING GROUND IN A VIOLENT ASSAULT GERMANS AGAIN REST

French Positions on Steinbruch Captured By Teuton Forces.

Unwounded Men to Number of 1,646 Taken Captives, Says Berlin.

Relative Calm Follows Fierce Attacks in Douaumont Region.

London, April 18.—After their attack of yesterday with heavy forces on the French lines between Douaumont and the Meuse, north of Verdun, which netted the Germans some ground near the Chauffour wood, they have abandoned activity in this sector for the time being.

Even the artillery fire east of the Meuse has not been unusually heavy, according to Paris, but west of the river the first line trenches of the French from Dead Man's hill to Cumieres have been given particular attention by the German guns.

German Statement.

Berlin, April 18, via London, 3:43 p. m.—French positions on Steinbruch, 700 yards south of Haudremont farm, in the Verdun region, were captured by the Germans in their attack of yesterday, the war office announced today. The Germans took prisoner 1,646 unwounded men.

French Statement.

Paris, April 18, 12:01 p. m.—French first line trenches in the Verdun region west of the Meuse, from Dead Man's hill to Cumieres, were bombarded yesterday by the Germans. East of the river relative calm prevailed during the night.

Yesterday the attack between Douaumont and the Meuse was very violent. The German forces included troops from five different divisions.

East of the Chauffour salient the Germans penetrated a front line trench, but were partly ejected.

PRESIDENT FAVORS SENATE SUGAR BILL

Washington, April 18.—President Wilson favors the senate bill postponing the placing of sugar on the free list until 1920 in preference to the house bill postponing it indefinitely.

Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee told the president today that the conferees on the measure were at a deadlock and asked his advice.

Senator Simmons returned to a meeting of the conferees prepared to insist on the senate provision.

WILL OFFER REWARD FOR CRONE'S CAPTURE

Those Present at Banquet to Archbishop to Raise Substantial Purse.

Chicago, April 18.—A substantial reward for the capture of Jean Crones, alleged poisoner of the soup at the banquet to Archbishop George H. Mundelein here several months ago, will be subscribed soon by those who were present at the banquet, it was announced today.

A country-wide search has failed to reveal the whereabouts of Crones, former assistant chef at the University club of Chicago, although scores of tantalizing postcards signed with his name have been received by police authorities in various parts of the country. A committee planning the reward hopes to raise between $5,000 and $10,000.

FRAMED AT JUAREZ, REPORT GEN. BELL MADE TO FUNSTON

Thorough Investigation Made By American Commander at El Paso; Letcher Also Fails to Verify.

Bandit Chief Has Excellent Chance to Escape Far Beyond Most Advanced Detachments of Americans.

San Antonio, Tex., April 18.—General Bell, reporting from El Paso to General Funston, gave it as his opinion, after as thorough an examination as he could make, that the report of Villa's death had been manufactured in Juarez. Consul Letcher, who said he had been in communication with Cusihuiriachic, also has failed to verify the report.

Francisco Villa now has an excellent opportunity to escape into territory far beyond the most advanced of the American detachments because the punitive force has penetrated about as far south as it is going with the present organization.

Official admission that it was impossible to extend the main line of communication south of Satevo was taken today to mean that the field of operations would be restricted to that district over which detachments of cavalry with provisions for one or two days could ride.

Villa Would Be Safe.

Beyond the arc of that fan Villa would be safe so far as the Americans are concerned.

General Pershing is believed to have explained in detail this phase of the situation in a report to General Funston and to have made recommendations that more effective facilities for the pursuit of Villa be authorized. The drive of the three cavalry columns to Parral and its environs established the fact that there is no chance of obtaining provisions in that region and that every force sent forward must depend wholly on the quartermasters with the main column for supplies. They were reported to have fallen back to Satevo, but whether they have started out again to beat the trails in the district beyond has not been told.

Must Guard Themselves.

Officers here regard the Parral incident as indicating clearly that General Pershing's men now have to guard themselves not only against attack by Villa's men, but from those detachments of Carranza's army that are antagonistic to his announced attitude of co-operation.

General Funston sent messages today asking that a report be made to him at once on the unofficial rumor that a trainload of forage shipped from Juarez to Chihuahua and intended for the American troops, had been seized by the Carranza authorities. The arrival of some of the supplies sent to Chihuahua has been reported but no advices that they had reached the army had been received. General Funston was yet waiting today the confirmation of the story that Villa was dead. No American official has sent any report other than repetition of the unconfirmed reports from Mexican officials.

LONG REPORTS FROM FUNSTON

Problems of Mexican Situation Laid Before President and Cabinet.

Secretary Baker Declines to Reveal Contents of the Messages.

Washington, April 18.—Secretary Baker laid before the cabinet today long reports from Gen. Funston reviewing the whole situation on the border and in Mexico.

From the state department the president and the cabinet received an outline of the diplomatic steps taken or contemplated since the Carranza government urged the withdrawal of American troops.

A decision as to what course now to pursue is to be reached between the military and diplomatic aspects of the situation.

Gen. Funston's dispatches came last night and are the fullest discussion of his problems he yet has submitted. They contain no mention of the reported death of Villa. That was the only hint of their contents Secretary Baker would reveal. The substance of the messages, the secretary said, was beyond the realm of public discussion at this time.

It is understood that the reports show Gen. Pershing's men to be south now of the farthest southern point at which Villa's trail has been even indefinitely

GERMAN SECRETARY IS UNDER ARREST

Former Secretary to Von Papen Taken After Hard Fist Fight.

New York, April 18.—Wolfe von Igel, secretary of Franz von Papen, former military attache to the German embassy, was arrested here today in Capt. von Papen's former office at 60 Wall Street, after a fist fight with four agents of the department of justice. Von Igel is the fifth man, indicted yesterday with von Papen, charged with conspiracy to blow up the Welland canal.

Washington, April 18.—Chief Bielaski of the department of justice, bureau of investigation, today received word of the arrest in New York of a man named Von Igel, former private secretary to Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled German military attache, and implicated with him in the alleged plot to blow up the Welland canal in Canada.

NEBRASKANS IN PRIMARY

Nomination of Governor and U. S. Senator Chief Interest.

Wilson, Cummins, Estabrook and Ford Presidential Candidates.

Omaha, Neb., April 18.—The chief interest in today's state primaries in Nebraska centered in the offices of governor and United States senator. In the presidential preference vote Woodrow Wilson has no opposition, although Robert G. Rose of Nebraska had filed for the place on both the Democratic and Republican tickets. What he represented was not generally known. Republican voters had the names of Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, Henry D. Estabrook of New York, formerly of Nebraska, and Henry Ford of Michigan to choose from. A campaign of considerable vigor was also made in the interest of Charles E. Hughes of New York. Justice Hughes had forbidden the use of his name on the official ballot, but a concerted movement was made several weeks ago to induce voters to write his name in as is permissible.

Nebraska's two candidates for the vice presidency, Governor John H. Morehead, Democrat, and Former United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett, Republican, were practically without opposition, although William

FAMOUS PAINTER ENDS HIS LIFE IN CHICAGO

Cavallaro Believed to Have Become Despondent Over Lack of Work.

Chicago, April 18.—Despondency is believed to have been the cause of the self-destruction in a shabby studio on the North side here today of Francis D. Cavallaro, a painter once widely known abroad. Cavallaro was 60 years old. He was reputed to have been honored by European royalty and his paintings adorn many churches and theaters, principally in Europe.

According to newspaper clippings found in his room, the artist at one time was the honor guest at a reception in London given by the Italian ambassador, when Cavallaro's portrait of the king of Italy was unveiled. Growing age with lessening of commissions made him despondent. This and the suicide of a friend recently are believed to have led him to kill himself.

SCHOOL FOR ASSESSORS

Eighty Pupils Given Instructions By State Tax Commission.

Duties to the State and to Taxpayers Are Outlined.

Assessors of the various cities, towns and villages of St. Louis county are holding their annual meeting and school of instruction at the court house today and Samuel Lord, James T. Hale and James G. Armson, members of the Minnesota tax commission are here to explain the workings of the classified assessment law and the duties of an assessor as a public servant. The meeting was called at 10 o'clock this morning and about eighty were in attendance. The sessions continued throughout the afternoon.

The three members of the tax commission, together with H. A. S. Ives, secretary to the commission, arrived in Duluth yesterday. The greater portion of Monday was spent on an unofficial tour of inspection over the property of the Minnesota Steel company. This morning, the commissioners attended the annual meeting of the assessors and each discussed certain phases of assessment work. The assessors are called in once a year by the county auditor who gives them instructions and the necessary books and blanks.

Senator Lord's talk was along general lines. He was followed by Judge Hale, who is a former resident of Duluth and well known here. Judge Hale discussed the legal aspect of assessment work, explaining many points of the new law and its application. During the afternoon, Mr. Armson took up the subject from a statistical and clerical standpoint.

Senator Lord's Talk.

"There will be raised in this state this year by direct taxation for school, road, local, county and state purposes the enormous sum of $52,000,000," said Senator Lord.

"Whether the assessor does his work well or whether he does it poorly, and whether he lists all of the property in his district or only a part of it, practically all of this very large amount of money will be raised just the same. Except as to a very small fraction of this amount nothing that the assessor can do will add to or subtract from it a single penny.

"But while the assessor has practically nothing to do with making the taxes of a community high or low he has nearly everything to do with making them fair and just. From the standpoint of the individual taxpayer he is the most important officer who has anything to do with taxation. If he complies with his oath of office and does his work in the way that the law provides, approximate justice will prevail among all of the taxpayers of his district; but if on the other hand he departs from the standard fixed by law, or if he omits any considerable amount of property from his list his assessment will inevitably abound in the grossest inequalities and result in the rankest injustice. Taxpayers whose property is not all listed and assessed will pay less than their share, and taxpayers whose property is all assessed will pay more than they ought to.

Tax Dodgers.

"In nearly every community tax-dodging is resorted to most by people who are best able to pay. It is not the citizen of limited means whose property is all in sight and easily found by the assessor who escapes. Such people, as a rule, pay taxes on every dollar's worth of property they have in the world. It is among people with bulging pocket-books where we find our most flagrant tax dodgers. Many of these people by one dishonest device or another evade every tax that they safely can. It is this class of citizens that make the burden of taxation harder than it should be for honest taxpayers because all taxes, which by trickery and dishonest methods tax-dodgers get out of paying, must be made up by the less favored and more honest taxpayers of the county.

"The tax commission will aid assessors by every means in its power to enforce the law against this class of citizens and when a false statement by a taxpayer is called to our attention we will see that the matter is placed in the hands of the county attorney for prosecution. Much can be done by assessors to prevent tax dodging if they will perform their duties fearlessly and diligently and in strict accordance with law.

"If honest taxpayers could only be brought to realize that the only way their rights can be safeguarded and a square deal for everybody obtained is by a full listing and legal assessment of all property in their district, tax dodging instead of being regarded as a game of wits in which the strong, the greedy and the resourceful always win, would be regarded as a crime and dealt with accordingly. If honest taxpayers fully understood that tax dodging in nine cases out of ten simply meant that well-to-do citizens were casting their tax burdens upon their less favored brethren tax doging would become odious and a tax dodger if disclosed would become an object of contempt in every community.

Taxes Often Burden.

"Taxes have become so high in many communities that they are a great burden to citizens of moderate means. There has been a noticeable tendency in recent years toward very large public expenditures, and it behooves every good citizen and every taxpayer of moderate means in such communities to scrutinize all public expenditures closely and to think twice before lending their support to any new public enterprise—no matter how attractive it may seem. The thing to be considered by people of moderate means in such communities is not so much whether a proposed new building or improvement is a good thing in itself or not; but rather one of whether they can really afford to have anything added to their already heavy burdens."

Mr. Armson's Talk.

Mr. Armson, who has been a member of the tax commission for several years, occupied a part of the afternoon session in a detailed explanation of the various blanks and books used by assessors, illustrating his talk with sample sheets and diagrams.

Mr. Armson said that because of its diversified resources St. Louis county presented more problems for solution in the assessment of property than any other county in the state. In area it was almost an empire. In assessed value it embraced more taxable property than any other county in the state. Excluding money and credits, it included within its borders in 1915 more than 22 per cent of all property in the state subject to an ad valorem tax and about 24 per cent of all taxable real estate.

"St. Louis county presents practically every phase of assessment and every possible problem that can confront an assessor," he said. "Having the third largest city in the state, with diversified industrial and commercial interests, it offers for solution every possible problem of urban assessment; in its large area of agricultural land its cut-over-lands and its timber lands every question of rural assessment is presented, and finally in its mineral lands, representing as they do about 80 per cent of the taxable real estate of the county and nearly 20 per cent of the total taxable real property of the entire state, assessors are confronted with assessment problems not easy of equitable solution. So diversified are its resources that the county has taxable property in each of the three classes of real estate and in every enumerated item on the listing sheet for personal property. The equitable assessment of these vast and diversified interests is not an easy task."

Growing Tax Rates.

Mr. Armson also referred to growing tax rates and outlined some of the causes for the increase. Among other things he said:

"In a general way growing tax rates are largely due to the expanding functions of government—state and local—and to an increasing demand on the part of the people for more things and better things from each of the units of government than was formerly required. We now demand and insist that government do many things that we did for ourselves years ago or left them entirely undone. In addition to the expanding functions of government we are also demanding improved service. We now require more efficient public service, better public buildings, better schools, better roads, and better health and sanitary conditions than we formerly did. To do these numerous things revenues are necessary and public revenues must come from some form of taxation. Every activity of government requiring the expenditures of money spells taxation in the final analysis.

"Growing tax rates do not necessarily mean extravagant or unwise expenditures. If the activities of government are wisely planned and its revenues economically expended the benefits derived from such activities and expenditures may fully compensate the citizen for a high tax rate."

Mr. Armson analyzed the amount and purpose of the present tax levy in St. Louis county. He said that the total amount levied in taxes last year and payable this year was $9,525,142. This was an increase of $1,098,764 over the levy of 1913. Dividing the taxes into the purposes for which they were levied, the apportionment of each $100 in 1913 and 1915 was given as follows:

State revenue	$ 10.55	$ 9.50
County	7.65	11.53
Townships	1.29	1.12
Cities and villages ...	33.57	33.98
Roads and bridges	14.37	12.32
Education	32.57	31.55
Totals	$100.00	$100.00

Of each dollar of the levy of 1913 only a little over 10½ cents went to the state revenue fund, while in 1915 it dropped to 9½ cents. The total state levy in the county for all purposes, including education and roads and bridges, in 1913 was $1,591,410, and in 1915, $1,354,402, being a decrease in the two years of $237,008. Of each dollar of the total state levy in 1913 the state returned to the county and its subdivisions in aid of schools, roads and bridges and other public purposes about 19 cents, while in 1915 the amount returned on each dollar was a little in excess of 23 cents. The comparative figures were given as a matter of information, it was stated, and not for the purpose of justifying or condeming levies or expenditures. They demonstrate, however, that direct taxes are levied almost entirely for local purposes in the final analysis.

Assessor's Duties.

Mr. Armson emphasized what had been said by the other commissioners that only by a strict compliance with law could an assessor discharge his duties in accordance with his oath of office. "Whether the existing taxation system of this state is theoretically right or wrong is not a question to be determined by an assessor," he said. "His sworn duty is to follow the law as he finds it, regardless of his personal opinions. It was not optional with him to enforce some provisions of law and disregard others, he must obey every provision of the assessment law."

Numerous questions were asked and answered in reference to the proper method of listing and valuing property. Much interest was evinced in the discussion by the assessors and it was generally felt that the conference would result in a more complete and equitable valuation of property this year than in past years.

CALF HID BEHIND CABBAGES GROWN FROM U. S. SEED.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 18.—"Cabbages large enough to hide a calf grown from seeds distributed by the department of agriculture," said Representative Halvor Steenerson in the house today. "I had a letter from one of my constituents last fall thanking me for the seeds I sent him. He said he lost a calf. He hunted all over the place and finally discovered the calf hidden behind a cabbage grown from government seed."

Mr. Steenerson used this letter as an argument for the continued free distribution of seeds through members of congress.

LAST DAY OF GRACE FOR JITNEYS

Safety Head Will Enforce Ordinance Without Any "Buts," He Says.

Jitney men want the Silberstein jitney ordinance enforced, but—

Commissioner Silberstein says he is going to enforce it, without any "buts."

A delegation from the Duluth Jitney association, accompanied by A. E. McManus, attorney, conferred with Commissioner Silberstein yesterday afternoon, asking that the council overlook the bond requirements of the ordinance for the time being, but that the rest of it be enforced to the letter.

"We are anxious to have the jitneys regulated, and want to do all we can to protect the traveling public," said Mr. McManus, "but would like to have the bonding provision of the ordinance omitted for the present, until the appeal to the supreme court is settled."

"Today is the last day of grace for the jitneys," was the commissioner's answer. "Police will be instructed to bring in any bus operators who have no bond and license.

"Many of them are running wild during the rush hours, and then not working at all during the rest of the day," he said. "We want to put an end to that sort of thing."

COL. A. D. DAVIDSON MAY GO UNDER KNIFE

Col. A. D. Davidson, who has been ill for some time, was taken to Rochester, Minn., last evening, to be examined and perhaps operated on at the Mayo hospital there. He has been suffering from acute stomach trouble. He was accompanied to Rochester by Mrs. Davidson and A. R. Davidson, and the party went in a private car attached to the Northern Pacific train.

WILL MARKET COAL DIRECT

Carnegie Dock & Fuel Company Will Not Sell Interests Here.

New Officials Appointed—F. W. Wolvin Continues as Sales Agent.

The Carnegie Dock & Fuel company officials emphatically deny the rumor published Saturday that they are about to sell out; but announce that rearrangements of the company's business are about to be made. One important step will be the direct marketing of its coal from the docks at the Head of the Lakes rather than through its subsidiary, the Carnegie Fuel company. The appointment of new officials is also announced.

It is considered probable that the rumor of a sale to one of the other companies here became circulated through news of these changes being made and through confusion arising from negotiations now going on to merge the Carnegie Coal company of Pittsburgh—an entirely different concern—with another Eastern company.

J. T. M. Stoneroad, secretary of the Carnegie company, has issued the following announcement concerning the rearrangements:

"The Carnegie Dock & Fuel company, with general offices in Minneapolis, is announcing the direct marketing of its coal from its Head of the Lakes docks, rather than through its subsidiary, the Carnegie Fuel company, as heretofore, and the appointment of John A. Howe as vice president and general manager, succeeding C. P. White, resigned; and William H. Godwin, manager of sales, vice Edward Savage, as general sales agent, resigned.

Negotiations Pending.

"There is absolutely no ground for the report published that the Carnegie Dock & Fuel company is to be absorbed by certain other interests. The basis for such a rumor doubtless arises from the negotiations pending for the purchase by the Carnegie Coal company of Pittsburgh, of the stockholding of the Lehigh Valley Coal company of New York, in the Pittsburgh & Lehigh Dock company, Duluth, operated by the Carnegie Dock & Fuel company, or the sale to the Lehigh Valley Coal company of the stockholding of the Carnegie Coal company. In the event that such negotiations fall through, the dock will continue to operate as at present. Neither company owns any of the bonds of the Pittsburgh & Lehigh Dock company.

"The Carnegie Dock & Fuel company is a fixture here, except as to its business, which is making rapid strides in the way of increase."

Fred W. Wolvin will continue as sales agent for the Carnegie company in Duluth.

RED RIVER FLOOD DANGER IS PASSED

Red Lake River Reported Rising, Causing Damage in Crookston.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a drop of one-tenth of a foot here last night, it is believed all danger of a Red river flood has passed.

Reports from Red Lake river points declare that river is still rising, but the only effect this will have is to start a decline of the Red river.

North of here on the Red river, the water is still coming up, but it is believed none of the towns will suffer.

Red Lake River Very High.

Crookston, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Red Lake river here rose steadily, though slowly all day yesterday, and stood at the 21.6-foot mark at 9 o'clock last night, a gain of three-tenths of a foot during the day.

Ice wagons stuck in the mud, floundering delivery horses which frequently have to be unhitched, stalled automobiles, etc., are so common the past few days as to attract little attention. The business section of the city is high and dry, no water being within four blocks of the business houses, or near the paving. East Robert street and Bridge street in Jerome's addition are flooded, and residents have to make a circuit of several blocks to reach their homes, a few of which have been abandoned. The woods district is also badly inundated, and the north half of Sampson addition is flooded.

Railroad Bridge Repaired.

The Great Northern bridge at Red Lake Falls has been repaired and trains passed over that line last night. The water there and at Thief River Falls is receding a little. At St. Vincent the water is steadily rising. On the Minnesota side of the Red River, farms close to the river are overflowed in places, but back from the river reports are very encouraging and many farmers expect to begin seeding the last of this week.

BENTALL TO SPEAK AT MAY DAY GATHERING

G. O. Bentall of Litchfield, Minn., Socialist candidate for governor of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker at the May day celebration to be held on May 1 in Duluth under the auspices of the various Socialist locals of the city. The mass meeting will be held at the Auditorium on the evening of May 1 following a parade through the city.

Plans are being made by leaders of the party to have every local represented in full force. The parade will form near the courthouse at about 7 o'clock and march through the principal streets, winding up at the Auditorium.

A meeting will be held by the Socialists tomorrow evening at the town hall at Lakeside. The speakers will be S. M. Slonim, a local attorney, and Leo Leukki, professor at the Socialist college at Spirit Lake.

Another meeting of interest planned by the party will be held at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue and First street, on May 9. The speaker will be George Kirkpatrick, author of the book, "War, What For."

Railroad Men Here.

A number of well-known Twin City railroad passenger agents are in Duluth today. All of them report excellent business with prospects for the greatest year in the history of their respective districts. Among the visitors are: Charles Humphrey, Minneapolis, district passenger agent of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois; F. Lyons, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island, with headquarters at Minneapolis; H. C. Strohm of St. Paul, northwestern passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, and W. H. Glover of Minneapolis, traveling passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain road.

Resist Marshal's Order.

Bemidji, Minn., April 18.—Judge C. W. Stanton will hold a hearing Thursday on the injunction against the order of the state fire marshal ordering the tearing down of the Star theater building on account of being an alleged fire trap. Assistant Attorney General Louis L. Headley will represent the state. The owners of the building are Andrew Clavin and George Tanner.

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection" says Dr. J. W. Ray, of Blockton, Ala. Continuing, he says, "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, for which nothing is better than "Actoids," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few anti-kamnia tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets.

Anti-kamnia tablets at all druggists.

CITIES IN ILLINOIS HOLDING ELECTIONS

Local Option Question Notably Absent in Many This Year.

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—Illinois cities and villages from Cairo to Galena and to Danville will select their mayors, aldermen and boards of trustees today.

The local option question is notably absent this year, only nine small cities voting on the question.

Danville, the largest city in which the local option question was raised, will not vote on that proposition today, the petition raising the liquor question having been withdrawn yesterday after it had been submitted in court.

Fine Healthy Child Convincing Evidence

Simple Inexpensive Remedy Checks Early Tendency to Constipation

About the first thing impressed on the young mother is the necessity for regularity in her baby, which brings up the question of the most desirable laxative for children's use.

Mrs. Jesse Richardson, Philpot, Ky., says she has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for the past year and that there is no medicine in the world like it. She writes, "My little son, William, Jr., just loved it because it is so pleasant to take, and everybody talks about his being such a fine healthy boy.'

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of simple laxative herbs, free from any opiate or narcotic drug, and is the standard remedy for constipation in thousands of homes throughout the land. Drug stores everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle. Get a bottle of this excellent remedy, and have it in the house. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. WM. J. RICHARDSON, JR.

TO SIDE-STEP COMPLICATIONS

Rumored Eberhart Will Not Attend Chicago Convention to Nominate Roosevelt.

Fears Participation Will Endanger Support of Anti-Roosevelt Element.

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is asserted here among politicians, and generally believed, that Former Governor Eberhart, who obtained the highest number of votes for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention, will not be present at that gathering but will be represented by Ed Smith of Minneapolis, whom he has named as alternate.

The deal is arranged so that the former governor, who is a candidate for United States senator, will not become involved in unpleasant complications through the nomination of somebody who might not be wanted by certain important elements in Minnesota, and thus endanger his strength in his race for the senate.

Specifically, alienation of the pro-German vote is what the former governor wishes to avoid. It is felt that there is no escape from nominating Theodore Roosevelt for the presidency, and the Minnesota delegation is very likely to fall into line. Mr. Roosevelt has alienated the pro-German vote, it is believed, by his utterances concerning the great war, and Mr. Eberhart fears that should he participate in the nomination of the former president, he would sacrifice a large part of his former support among the pro-German element in this state.

Busy With Business.

Therefore, Mr. Eberhart, who is engaged in the construction business, will be very busy just about convention time, and will be unable to get away. That will make it necessary for his alternate, Mr. Smith, who is for Roosevelt, to journey to Chicago, sit with the delegation in the convention hall and cast his vote for his favorite, who happens to be the Theodore Roosevelt, heretofore mentioned.

Under the circumstances, should Mr. Roosevelt be nominated, as he probably will be, nobody can blame the former governor and senatorial candidate, for a man must attend to his business, mustn't he? And should somebody else be nominated, Mr. Eberhart can tell his pro-German friends how well pleased he is.

It is said that one or two other prospective candidates for office, who are also delegates to the national convention, will side-step trouble the same way.

gines of destruction far superior to any previously encountered in this district.

Russo-British Activity.

During the latter part of last year, the Russo-British naval activity in the Baltic began to attract attention. More than a score of steamers on their way to German ports with ore and other supplies were destroyed, while earlier in the year a German attack on the Gulf of Riga, designed to support Germany's military operations ashore, was prevented from accomplishing the expected results.

Since November important additions have been made to the Russian fleet in this theater, and naval critics here believe it is now far from a negligible factor threatening the German left wing in the eastern theater and barring a short cut to Petrograd.

A Russian naval authority in a recent statement called the Baltic "Germany's most important and most vulnerable theater of sea warfare."

"When the spring offensive on land on the eastern front begins," this authority added, "it will certainly be accompanied by a fresh struggle for mastery in the Baltic."

Wilson and Secretary Lansing ever have drafted.

The document reviews Germany's submarine activities after the Lusitania was sunk almost a year ago, and makes plain that only an immediate change in the German policy can make possible the continuance of friendly relations between the two nations.

As the president was putting the finishing touches to the note, on which he and Secretary Lansing had been working for nearly a week, official word was received by the state department that the lives of two Americans had been endangered by an attack on the Russian bark Imperator by an Austrian submarine. Carl Barleyhurst, an American consul at Barcelona, Spain, who sent the report, said the attack was without warning. One of the Americans aboard was wounded by shrapnel shells fired by the submarine.

A full investigation of the incident was ordered at once by the state department. If the consul general's report is borne out, it is probable that representations similar to those about to be made to Germany will be sent to Austro-Hungaria.

The cabinet discussion of the submarine crisis today resulted in no change in the situation and it was announced that nothing had come up to prevent the dispatch of the American note to Germany, as planned, probably tonight or tomorrow.

Count von Bernstorff's engagement to discuss the situation with Secretary Lansing in general terms late this afternoon, it was indicated, will not delay the sending of the note.

According to these, Americans were encamped in the Plaza de San Juan, when, despite the efforts of the Carranza officials, the Mexican populace attacked them with firearms, whereupon the cavalrymen fought back. The affair was described as being a repulse of the Americans since they retired finally to Lamnios.

The newspapers pointed out that despite the unfortunate occurrence there was no friction between the American commander and the Carranza authorities in Parral, both of whom were working to establish pleasant relations.

Reports reaching here today from Carranza sources said that a Constitutionalist force engaged a Villa command under General Larangas, within a few miles of this camp two nights ago, two Carranza soldiers and one Villa bandit being killed. It was a detachment of General Larangas' force that attacked General Pershing's escort train near here Tuesday night.

Advance Forces Recalled.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—Reports were received here today from Mexican sources that the American advance detachments had been recalled by Gen. Pershing and that the expeditionary force was being concentrated in three places, a strong detachment being encamped near Satevo, the main column near Namiquipa and a third division at Colonia Dublan.

These reports also stated that the Parral fighting had had a most unfortunate effect on the people of Northern Mexico and had greatly inflamed the anti-American feeling. The Parral incident, it was said, has been magnified by anti-Americans and anti-Carranzistas into a great battle in which the Americans were badly beaten.

Comes to Halt.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—The American punitive expedition into Mexico has virtually come to a halt in its pursuit of Francisco Villa. Dispatches from the front say that only small detachments of cavalry are operating in limited zones out of the army base at Satevo. Mexican officials here still believe that Villa's body has been found, though no confirmation of the report was received during the early hours today over the Mexican telegraph lines.

Officers of the de facto government call attention to the fact that Villa never has been reported south of San Francisco Borja, where his body is said to have been located, and that the American forces are only following a blind trail if they proceed over the Durango-Chihuahua line.

If Villa's body has been found, it should reach Cusihuiriachic some time within the next forty-eight hours. It is said by Mexicans that the trail north into Cusi, from the point where the body is said to have been found, is rather difficult and that it would take some time before the body could reach the railway.

G. Webster of Illinois was also a candidate on the Republican ticket.

The Senatorial Fight.

There was much interest in the senatorial campaigns of both parties. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, present incumbent, had for his opponent Ignatius J. Dunn, attorney of Omaha, who nominated William J. Bryan for president at the Denver convention. The contest for the Republican nomination was between John L. Kennedy, former congressman, and Chester H. Aldrich, former governor of the state.

The candidates for the gubernatorial nominations were more numerous, the Republicans having Samuel R. McKelvie, present lieutenant governor; Abraham L. Sutton, former district judge; Clarence J. Miles, president last year of the Nebraska State Baseball league; William Madgett and Walter A. George on their ticket, while the Democrats were given Charles W. Bryan, brother of the former secretary of state, Keith Neville and Clarence E. Harman t oselect from.

For Congress.

Of the present members of congress from Nebraska, Reavis in the First district and Kinkaid in the Sixth, Republicans, and Stephens in the Third, Democrat, were unopposed in their own parties. Lobeck in the Second (Omaha) had L. J. Quinby, H. B. Fleharty and A. T. Monahan to contend with, while David H. Mercer, former congressman, and Benjamin S. Baker contested for a chance to oppose the successful Democrat in the fall election.

The Prohibition voters were asked to choose between Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts and Ira Landreth of Tennessee for the presidential nomination, and between Robert H. Patton of Illinois and Clarence True Wilson of Kansas for vice president. The Socialist, Progressive and People's Independent parties had no candidates for president or vice president.

The Prohibition Issue.

A feature of the campaign was the injection of the liquor question into it by various campaigners, although the constitutional amendment was not submitted for action at the primaries. William J. Bryan toured the state for a month in the interests of his brother's candidacy for governor and I. J. Dunn's for the senatorial nomination. Mr. Bryan advocated state prohibition.

Charles F. McGrew, an Omaha banker, contested with R. B. Howell, incumbent, for the position of Republican national committeeman, and James C. Dahlman, mayor of Omaha, and Arthur F. Mullen, an Omaha attorney, for the corresponding position with the Democrats located. The pursuit apparently is winding westward into the more mountainous regions.

Candidates for the honor of representing the state in the various state conventions and for state offices were numerous and included many men known in politics and business outside their own state.

Again Fired On.

Renewed sniping around Parral was not reported to the department, although news dispatches from General Pershing's camp disclosed that American troops had again been fired upon by Carranza troops.

War department officials would not discuss the probable result of the continued hostility.

It was intimated, however, that even without this new incident, General Pershing might have thought it necessary to call the department's attention to the situation very fully and to await further instructions. It was thought that he would avoid any possibility of further clashes until he was advised as to the wishes of President Wilson.

In that event, it was said, it seemed probable that present operations at the front are of a limited character and would not be extended without further instructions.

Killed and Wounded.

War department records give the names and homes of those killed and wounded in the fighting at Parral last Wednesday as follows:

Killed:

Hobert Ledford, private troop M, Thirteenth cavalry, Cincinnati, Ohio, 330 Mulberry street.

The name Joseph or Joe Ridgley is not found on rolls of troop M, Thirteenth cavalry, but Jay Richley, sergeant of that troop, is recorded as from Saginaw, Mich., 1913 Michigan street.

Wounded:

The name Benjamin McGliel, not found, but Benjamin McGehee, corporal Troop M, Thirteenth cavalry, is recorded as from Dexter, Mo.

Walter F. Wallingham, corporal Troop K, Thirteenth cavalry, Albany, Tex.

Richard Tannous, corporal Troop K, Thirteenth cavalry, Taunton, Mass.

Lawrence W. Schomburger, private Troop K, Thirteenth cavalry, 717 East Parkway, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Missing:

Charles H. Eichenberger, private Troop M, Thirteenth cavalry, 31 Folsome avenue, Glendale, Long Island, N. Y.

Herman E. Kirby, private Troop M, Eleventh cavalry, of Rome, Ga., was killed in a skirmish in which his troop was engaged on the way to Parral.

The list does not take in Maj. Tompkins or Lieut. Ord.

To Inform Carranza.

Gen. Pershing's reports on what transpired at Parral have been transmitted to Special Agent Rogers at Mexico City to be communicated to Carranza as a matter of information. They are at variance with the version communicated to Secretary Lansing by the Mexican embassy here.

In his dispatches Carranza used the incident to support his argument for withdrawal of the American troops, adding that his own forces had sought to stop the firing. There is nothing to support that in the American advices.

President Wilson and the cabinet went over the Mexican situation again fully at the meeting today and afterward it was announced that there was no change in the situation nor in the American government's policy.

FIVE BODIES RECOVERED

continued his investigation. He conferred with Engineer Mansfield, whose record, it was stated, showed that it was the first time in his twenty-six years of service as engineer that he had been in an accident of this kind.

More than thirty other persons were injured, most of them suffering from cuts and bruises or shock.

All the victims were occupants of the rear car of a local train, which had started to run on a siding in front of the Bradford station when the Gilt Edge Express from Boston crashed into it.

Coals from the express locomotive and the explosion of a gas tank set fire to the wreckage and the flames spread so rapidly that the nearby station and freight house were destroyed, together with four wooden coaches of the local train.

Trainmen were at variance in their statements as to the signals.

Was Taking Siding.

The engineer of the local train said that he had trouble in making steam, and when he arrived at Bradford he wired to New London for instructions. He was told to draw onto a siding at Bradford and let the express pass, and was just moving his train from the main track when the express bore down.

There were only about fifty passengers on the local and loss of life and most severely injured were suffered by those in the rear coach. The identified dead are:

THOMAS BOARDMAN of Westerly.

MISS JEANNETTE CLARK, daughter of William Clark, president of the Westerly mill of the American Thread company.

MARGUERITE BLISS, address unknown.

J. F. BURBUR of Westerly.

The accident was due, it is believed, to wrong signals or failure to read properly the signals.

PROTEST BY VENIZELOS

Ex-Premier of Greece Complains Bitterly of Gagging Free Speech.

Says Present Government in No Way Represents Majority of People.

Athens, April 17, via Paris, April 18.—The Liberal morning papers comment bitterly today on the action of the police during the rioting yesterday, while the government organs throw the blame on the Liberals. It is announced that Liberal meetings will be resumed after Easter, the Liberal party meanwhile taking action against the police authorities for allowing, it is alleged, the presence at their meetings of agents whose object was to provoke riotous events.

"I beg you to bring the events of yesterday and the earnest protest of a majority of Greeks to the knowledge of the American people, who have struggled for so long to establish free speech as the fundamental right of free peoples," said ex-Premier Venizelos today to the Associated Press.

"Here in Greece we are confronted by the question whether we are to have a democracy presided over by a king, or whether at this hour in our history we must accept the doctrine of the divine rights of kings.

Does Not Represent Majority.

"The present government represents in no sense the majority of the Hellenic people. We Liberals twice within a year received the vote of the majority. At the last election, which was nothing more than a burlesque of the free exercise of the right of suffrage we were not willing to participate in a farcical formality where, owing to the mobilization, it would have been possible, as indeed it was the government's intention to keep the Liberal voters with the colors and not allow them to cast their ballots, while their opponents would be given every facility to crush the Liberal party by a vote which could not have represented more than a small minority of the Greek people.

Refused to Take Part.

"We refused to take part in this sinister comedy. The present government of Greece is, therefore, nowise representative and we Liberals have left us only our right of free speech and free assemblage, guaranteed by the constitution, as the sole means of taking counsel among ourselves; of trying to enlighten the opinion of the country and perhaps of exercising the pacific pressure of the will of the majority upon a government not representing the majority.

"Now it is even sought to deny us this. The meetings organized by the Liberal party were not even those free and open ones to which we have every right. Our meetings were held in enclosed buildings. Those who came to them were invited but the police threw out our doorkeepers, put in their own and let enter whomsoever they, the police, wanted to be present at our meetings.

Denial of Liberty.

"It is a denial of every constitutional liberty. You yourself have witnessed with what patience we Liberals—a majority of the Greek people—have submitted for months to a government which is in no wise constitutional.

"The moment has come when the position of the highest functionary which every king of the Hellenes ought to occupy, must so strictly be defined that it will forever be impossible to raise again the question of the divine rights of kings in Greece; it will forever be impossible for any government hiding behind the person of the sovereign to arrogate to itself rights which reside only in the whole Hellenic people.

"Understand me. I am not talking in any sense of the possibility of a republic in Greece. I insist only on our rights—our constitutional rights, our rights as free people which ourselves we have gained by the force of arms and which we have no intention to abandon."

ASK PASTORS TO PREACH ON KINDNESS

Humane Sunday and "Be-Kind-to-Animals" Week to Be Observed.

Duluth pastors will be asked to preach sermons on kindness on Humane Sunday, and special emphasis will be placed on the humane treatment of animals on "Be-Kind-to-Animals-Week." Humane Sunday for Protestants and Catholics will be May 21, and for the Jews May 20.

The American Humane association, a federation of the anti-cruelty societies, with headquarters in Albany, N. Y., is receiving requests from all over the country for large quantities of special literature in connection with its Humane Sunday and Be-Kind-to-Animals-Week observance. The week of May 16 will be known as Be-Kind-to-Animals-Week. The purpose of the whole observance is to center attention on the relation and duty of man to the defenseless forms of human and animal life. How much need there is for the treatment of this subject is shown by the fact that more than 550 active anti-cruelty societies were called upon to interfere during 1915 in cases of cruelty involving 212,215 children and 2,394,721 animals.

Humane Sunday met with great success last year when it was first developed on a nation-wide scale. Hundreds of clergymen all over the United States devoted a whole or part of one service to it. Early indications point to a far larger number taking up the work this spring than did last year. While anti-cruelty societies are backing up this movement, they are not asking for special contributions or collections.

The Be-Kind-to-Animals-Week celebration is designed to bring more vividly before the public the important part that animals play in the economic and social life of man nd how essential it is that they be accorded kind treatment. To this end local societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals are planning for work horse parades, pet animal shows, special illustrated lectures, publicity campaigns and other means of arousing the public. The Boy Scouts and Campfire girls are co-operating with local committees in many localities. Any clergyman desiring special Humane Sunday literature can secure it by postal card request from the headquarters of the American Humane association, Albany, N. Y.

BANNER YEAR FOR ITASCA COUNTY

Big Preparations Are Being Made for Record Tourist Business.

A banner year for Itasca county and its "capital," Grand Rapids, is predicted by Edward J. Farrell, secretary of the Grand Rapids Commercial club, and a Duluth visitor yesterday.

The village commercial club, he declared, is planning an unusually active season. Since the village is looking forward to their biggest tourist patronage this year, the new highways are being completed, a big, roomy clubhouse is being erected at Lake Pokegama, and several other features for the comfort of visitors are being arranged. The remainder of the Duluth-St. Vincent highway is being completed and the large number of Duluth people who make trips to the neighborhood during the summer months will find the traveling much more pleasant than heretofore.

M'DONNELL LOSES FIGHT

His Charges of Irregularities in Paving Specifications Are Denied.

Mill City Firm Gets East Superior Street Job for $47,595.15.

Charges that specifications for East Superior street paving were prepared by the General Contracting company of Minneapolis, and that any semblance of "fair and full" competition was out of the question, failed to deter city commissioners yesterday.

They awarded the contract for paving the street from Sixteenth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east to the Minneapolis firm on their bid of $47,595.15, thus ending a six weeks' tilt between contractors.

Patrick McDonnell, local contractor, made a last attempt to land the contract, aided by counsel, C. O. Baldwin. His bid was low, but the city's legal department declared that it did not conform with the specifications of the proposal.

Set Impossible Task.

"You have called for the impossible in these bids, gentlemen," said Mr. Baldwin. "You have set conditions which prevent anyone but the firm who made the specifications from competing.

"These six typewritten pages of specifications," he continued, "which, incidentally, were inserted after bids were called for, were prepared to suit the convenience of the Barber Asphalt company, or its subsidiary concerns."

Mr. McDonnell told the commissioners that they were setting a dangerous precedent in awarding the contract to the high bidder, or to any other than the low bidder.

"I was not given a fair deal on the old Superior street job," he said. "Tar macadam was forced upon me, and I even campaigned against it after I saw that I was low bidder, because I knew it would be unsatisfactory.

"I merely was doing what I had to do, and it isn't fair to make me the goat because the paving didn't stand up. Property owners got just what they demanded, and just what they paid for."

Dr. D. D. Murray, a property owner, agreed that Mr. McDonnell should not be blamed for the "mighty bum pavement" laid twelve years ago, and said that the contractor had laid just what the people wanted.

Commissioner Farrell, answering the charges, reviewed the controversy at length, and said "property owners want Trinidad Lake asphalt, and I'm going to see that they get it, if I quit my job doing it."

"You can let that statement go just as far as you like," he added defiantly. "This sort of a controversy won't arise again. The council, at a meeting Saturday, decided to build an asphalt plant, and the city will furnish asphalt to contractors.

Will Get Asphalt.

"I have written the Barber Asphalt company and asked if we will be furnished asphalt. I am certain we will, but if not, we will buy some other kind."

When the question was placed before the commissioners, there was not a dissenting vote. H. A. Carmichael, former city attorney, interposed a short statement in behalf of the Minneapolis firm, saying that charges of any irregularities in the specifications were unfounded.

The General Contracting company has notified Commissioner Farrell that work of paving the street will begin at once. D. H. Clough & Co. of Duluth will lay the base and the Minneapolis firm will lay the asphalt surface.

LABOR UNIONS TO HELP THE FIREMEN

Trades Assembly to Aid in Obtaining Double Platoon System.

Firemen have won over the labor organizations of the city in their campaign for a double platoon system, and the trades assembly will co-operate with them in their work.

City Clerk Walter Borgen yesterday afternoon certified to the sufficiency of the initiative petition filed by the firemen and under the provisions of the city charter, the city commissioners have twenty-five days in which to call a special election on the proposed ordinance, to be held not less than forty or more than fifty days after the call is issued.

A committee including A. G. Catlin, W. R. Thompson, and Fred Bernard has been named by the trades assembly to push the proposed measure.

George W. Morgan, as chairman of the municipal committee of the Commercial club, has been instructed to investigate the merits of the firemen's demand, and to report to the main body of the club.

PHILLIPS, "CORN KING" FOR A DAY, IS DEAD

Chicago, April 18.—George H. Phillips, who for a brief but dramatic period, enjoyed the title of corn king in the grain trade, died at his home here yesterday.

Phillips, a little more than a decade ago, ran a small grain commission business and "scalped" small lots in the corn pit of the board of trade, like many another small trader.

He was lifted above the ruck by one thing alone—an almost uncanny instinct with regard to corn from the moment the seed entered the ground until it was graded in the big market.

At a time when most of the big traders were bears, Phillips saw, or felt, that there had been a lot of corn sold for future delivery in Chicago, and that it could not be delivered.

He interested down-state men, with money, in his theories, and they bought all of the corn offered. Almost overnight a new "corn king" was born and his name was George Harshaw Phillips.

ARMY NEEDS THE MEN.

Reading, Writing and Spelling Examinations Are Eliminated.

The reading, writing and spelling tests, which have heretofore proved one of the big stumbling blocks for prospective recruits in the army, are to be eliminated in the future from the examinations, according to plans announced yesterday, by Lieut. S. A. Campbell of the Seventh infantry, U. S. A. Lieut. Campbell is in charge of the recruiting for the Minneapolis branch, and following his departure Sergeant John Smeets announced the change in the requirements.

Many prospective candidates for the army, otherwise perfectly fitted for enlistment, were unable to get by the barriers of education, and the army therefore lost men who would undoubtedly have made excellent soldiers.

AGAIN AFTER BILLY SUNDAY

Interchurch Council Determined to Bring Evangelist to Duluth.

Smithies Re-elected President and Makes Annual Report.

For nearly two years, church leaders of Duluth have tried to persuade Evangelist "Billy" Sunday to set a date for Duluth, but to no avail. Last fall, a delegation from Duluth visited the evangelist in Philadelphia, but he would give no assurances that he would appear in this city.

As a result of a meeting of the Men's Interchurch council last evening, efforts to bring Mr. Sunday to Duluth will be renewed. The council voted to send a delegation to interview the evangelist either at Kansas City or at his summer home. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee headed by J. H. Cook. The committee was given full power to act.

Smithies Re-elected.

W. L. Smithies was elected president for the ensuing term in the annual election of officers which was held during the course of the evening. Other officers chosen were: W. J. McCabe, vice president; Rev. J. J. Daniels, vice president; A. C. Le Duc, treasurer, and B. C. Wade, executive secretary. The executive committee consists of the following members: C. A. Duncan, J. J. Moe, J. H. Cook, W. H. Hoyt, W. L. Smithies, W. S. Moore, B. N. Wheeler, Frank Crassweller, J. W. Walker, W. B. Patton and H. A. Sedgwick.

President Smithies submitted an interesting report on the activities of the council for a period extending over a year and a half. Relating the accomplishments of the council, the report told of the Layman's Missionary convention which was held in Duluth last January. This was referred to as the "most successful series of religious meetings ever staged in the city."

Mr. Smithies also reported that the interchurch council had introduced the "flying squadron" in Duluth during the fall of 1914.

Sunday School Teachers' School.

The training school for Sunday school teachers which is now being conducted at the Y. W. C. A. is a project of the interchurch council. More than fifty persons are receiving training for Sunday school teaching work. On April 25, a class of fifty Sunday school teachers will be graduated and receive diplomas. The exercises will be held in the First Methodist church.

The president also reported that a committee from the interchurch council had co-operated in every way possible with Mayor Prince and a civic committee on the playgrounds project. The churchmen alone raised $500 of the $1,500 obtained by subscription.

A copy of the president's report will be sent to all of the churches comprising the council.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Relieved By Hood's Sarsaparilla, Which Renovates the Blood.

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils, and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage, strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

GIRL, IMPRISONED TEN YEARS, GAINING FAST

Baltimore, Md., April 18.—Grace Marshall, a Talbott county girl, who was imprisoned for over ten years by her father in a dingy room until she weighed fifty-seven pounds and could not talk, was taken back from Johns Hopkins hospital yesterday. In four months she had regained her speech and weighs ninety pounds. She can also walk.

Miss Marshall, who is 28 years old, will testify against her father and stepmother, who are to be tried this month for inhuman treatment.

Sentiment among the country people has been bitter against them and their neighbors have ostracised them. The fact that the girl was alive was not known until four months ago.

WOMAN DECLINES TO BE HEAD OF BOARD

Sawtelle, Cal., April 18.—Mrs. Ellen French Aldrich, entitled by precedent to honorary title of mayor by virtue of having received the largest vote as a trustee at the election April 10, refused to accept the office as "president of the board," which would have been voted her last night. She said she could give better service as a regular trustee. Mrs. Aldrich formerly resided at Dayton, Ohio.

Cook County Pioneer Passes.

Grand Marais, Minn., April 18.—John Collins died at his home in Chippewa City recently. He was about 36 years old and had spent the greater part of his life in Cook county. He was buried in the Chippewa City cemetery.

Williston Dedication.

Williston, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gov. Hanna, Col. Fraine Adjutant Tharaldson and other state and militia officials will be here Monday, April 24, for the dedication of the new armory of Company E. The dedication will be in the afternoon to be followed by a ball in the evening.

Never Neglect Colds; Treat Them Promptly

Often they lead to those pulmonary troubles which are responsible for more than one-tenth of all lives lost through illness.

Heavy colds which develop deep-seated coughs or cause inflammation of the air-passages and persist in spite of medication, weaken the system to a point where resistance easily is overcome—and asthma, bronchial and pulmonary troubles are the result. To renew normal resistance, Eckman's Alterative has been found highly beneficial in many instances.

Its lime content is so combined with other remedial agents as to be easily assimilated by the average person—and it contains no narcotics or habit-forming drugs of any sort. So it's safe to try.

FEW LICENSES ARE WITHHELD

About 150 Hotels Pass Muster and Twenty Are Refused Permits.

New Ordinance Brings Much Information to the Surface.

One hundred and fifty hotels, approximately, will be licensed under Commissioner Silberstein's new hotel ordinance before the list is completed.

Twenty hostelries have been refused licenses because of unfavorable reports on conditions prevailing made by the police or health departmentt. About forty have been passed upon favorably, including all of the larger ones, the applications being presented to the council at yesterday's meeting.

"We are learning things about these hotels of ours that we never knew before," said the commissioner, "and I am convinced that the ordinance will work wonders. It gives a chance to check up sanitary conditions and, what is more important, it gives us power to correct conditions when they need it."

A list of the owners who have made application to the council for licenses includes Fred Podell, at 204 Lake avenue south; Manne Arvila, at 249 South First avenue east; Joe Mickolaczak, at 2221 West Michigan street; P. L. Weller and I. M. Cushner, at 210-212 West Superior street; John Saarinen, at 267 South First avenue east; Victor Axelson, at 237 South First avenue east; W. F. Riedel, at 615-617 West Superior street; Lake Superior Investment company, at Twentieth avenue west and Michigan street; Frank Kohnen, at 603 Garfield avenue; Realty Company of Massachusetts, by F. A. Prince, 318-320-322 West Superior street; H. E. Mousso, at 10 Lake avenue north; John F. Kreuzberger, at 119 East Superior street; Mrs. Julia Wallace, at 421 West Superior street; E. R. Ribenack, at 601-603 West Superior street; E. R. Ribenack, at 514-516 West Superior street; Albert Cox, at 527 West Superior street; Eli H. Cholette, at 917 West Michigan street; A. J. CROWDS GATHER TO LISTEN TO HUGHES

Ottawa, Ont., April 18.—Large crowds sought admission to parliament today to hear Maj.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, make his promised statement in regard to the charges that abnormal profits were allowed in awarding fuse contracts by the Canadian shell committee, which are about to be investigated. Reports said Sir Sam would ask to be relieved of actual charge of his department pending investigation.

WILL SPEND EASTER WITH HIS FAMILY

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because the members of the state board of pardons were actuated by an Easter spirit, E. J. Laird will spend next Sunday not in the St. Paul workhouse, but at home with his wife and children. Laird was sentenced to the workhouse for sixty days, Feb. 25, for non-support. His term would have expired two days after Easter Sunday.

The pardon board held a special meeting today and commuted the sentence, effective Saturday next.

FIVE BOATS LOAD GRAIN

Two Steamers on Their Way Up Lakes From Buffalo.

When Channel Is Cleared Navigation Will Open With Rush.

Five additional boats are loading grain in this harbor today besides those already reported.

The steamers La Salle and Griffin of the Helm fleet were moved to the elevators this morning and the Signus and Indus of the Pickands-Mather fleet were put under the spouts at an early hour. The steamer B. J. Jones of the Becker fleet was moved to an elevator this afternoon and will load up preparatory to getting out. Others will be loaded within the next few days.

No ore has been brought to the Mesaba docks yet and no orders indicating when ore is likely to be dumped into the pockets have yet been issued. It is believed, however, that trains will come down to the docks about the last of the week. A few trains are held in the storage yards at Proctor until the ore is needed at the docks.

Two steamers are on their way up from Buffalo. The W. P. Snyder, Jr., and the C. W. Kotcher started from there last Sunday, two days earlier than the first departure for the Head of the Lakes last year; and it is hoped that by the time they arrive at the Sault that the ice-breaker Algomah will have cleared a passage through Whitefish bay so that the steamers may come up. The Algomah has cleared out the river, reaching the Sault from Detour this morning, and will now tackle the big field of ice in Whitefish bay.

As soon as something resembling a chance to get through is furnished at the east end of Lake Superior, navigation will open with a rush, it is expected. Vessel owners are not inclined to take chances with their craft in heavy ice, anxious as they are to start the season early, but they will begin the season's business just as soon as there is a reasonable degree of safety.

So far as north shore navigation is concerned, the steamer America will open it on Sunday next. She will leave that day for Port Arthur and Isle Royale and, as is usual with the first trip, will carry an enormous cargo of freight and a few passengers.

Coincident with the beginning of the north shore run, the resorts at Isle Royale will begin to get ready for business. Fred Schofield will leave at once for Belle Isle and get his summer resort there ready for a busy season, which he fully expects will develop.

Word was received in Duluth today that the icecrusher St. Ignace, which has just opened up Thunder bay from Port Arthur-Fort William to the lake, left the Canadian twin ports this afternoon for Whitefish bay to buck the ice there. The St. Ignace will buck it from this side while the Algomah will tackle it from the other side.

MAY DEMAND HIGHER WAGE

Officers of Seamen's Union Believe Time Is Auspicious.

Vessel owners on the Great Lakes may face a widespread demand for a material advance in wages of sailors on May 1.

Officers of the International Seamen's union said in New York today that an attempt will be made to put an advanced wage scale into effect on every craft carrying American sailors on the Great Lakes, vessels in the Atlantic coast trade and also to transatlantic ships.

The determination to make such an attempt resulted from the action of several steamship companies in granting the demands of seamen for an advance in wages. The men believe that this is the most auspicious time to make such a demand, because ship owners, with more business on hand and higher rates than ever before, are in no position to risk a strike and are likely to grant an advance to keep their ships going.

ALGOMAH AND TUG REACH THE SAULT

Ice Breaker Will Tackle Fields in Whitefish Bay.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—After bucking ice since Friday morning last, the steamer Algomah reached the Sault at 9 a. m. today. At Detour she picked up the Great Lakes tug Sabin, which had been sent there last December.

A great tooting of whistles from local craft and shops on both sides of the river greeted the boat as she came in sight.

The heaviest ice was encountered in Mud lake and at Sailors Encampment.

The Algomah will coal up and proceed up the river to commence work at Whitefish, the last great barrier here. A 44-mile northwest gale yesterday broke up the ice in Whitefish bay and cleared it out for a distance of five miles down the bay, extending nearly the entire width. Above the point, however, the ice fields extend beyond vision and are heavily windrowed.

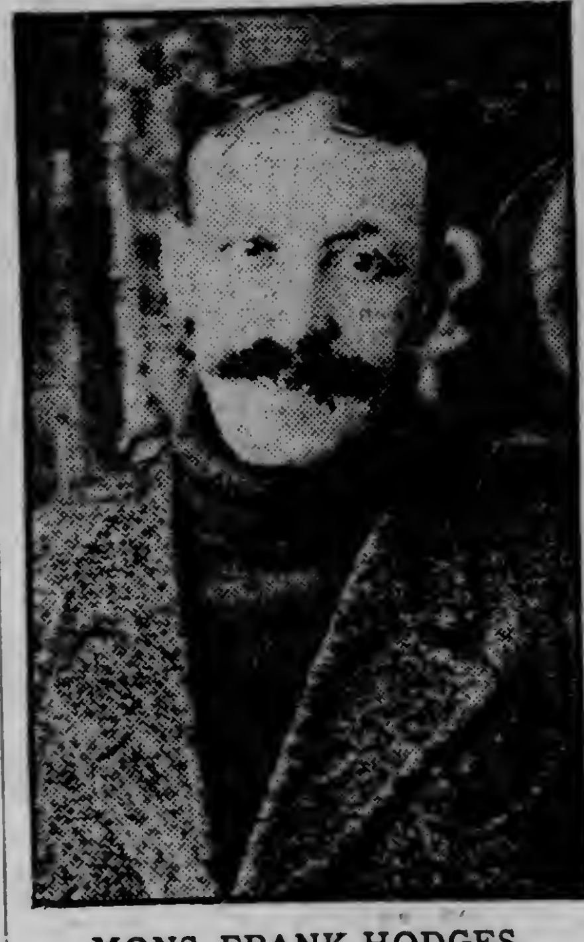
EXCELS IN MAKING SAILORS FEEL HAPPY



MONS. FRANK HODGES.

Chief of staff at the rooms of the Lake Carriers' association is Frank Hodges and he is becoming the petted darling of the whole list of lake captains and other licensed officers who are possessed of fine gastronomical tastes. Frank can put up a supper such as mother used to make, and whenever the lake men who know about his accomplishment can get the time when in this port, they hurry around to the Lake Carriers' association and hint that they are hungry.

Some Duluth people outside of the marine business, have been fortunate enough at times to be invited to partake of some of his "feeds" and they, too, have acquired the habit of hinting.

WILL VISIT HERE.

H. S. Noble of New Package Freight Line Coming Wednesday.

H. S. Noble, second vice president of the Great Lakes Transit company, in charge of traffic, will be in the city tomorrow to talk over the business prospects and arrangements for handling it during the coming season. Mr. Noble, who was formerly assistant manager of the Mutual Transit company, was chosen for his present office because of the reputation he had made for himself as traffic manager and because of his fair dealing with those with whom he did business.

Mr. Noble is well known here, and as this is the first time he has visited Duluth since the formation of the new package freight line, it is likely that he will be given a hearty reception.

MACKINAW STRAITS OPEN FOR SHIPPING

Milwaukee, Wis., April 18.—Navigation opened yesterday at the Straits of Mackinaw, according to a dispatch received at the local bureau of the lighthouse service.

The dispatch adds that great floes of broken ice are rapidly clearing the channels.

IS IMPRESSED BY WESTERN METHODS

Duluthian Urges Adopting California System of Attracting Tourists.

The consistent efforts of Californians to attract visitors to the Golden State have made a forcible impression on Frank Day, prominent Duluthian who has just returned from a four months' visit on the Pacific coast, and he declares that there is no reason why Duluth should not be the playground of the nation if her natural facilities were properly handled.

"The methods used by Los Angeles," declared Mr. Day, "are especially good examples of forethought and thrift in making the city known as a mecca for tourists, and there is no reason that I can see why Duluth also should not become famous as a city that is doing something for the amusement of summer travelers."

Mr. Day pointed out that the roads and accommodations were two things that were holding back the advancement of the city in this respect, and that these were the first things that should be remedied. Better motor roads, especially a highway between Duluth and the Twin Cities, as a better introduction to the Great Lakes, increased resort hotel facilities and a systematic plan of street improvements were the main points brought out by Mr. Day in his plan for boosting the city as a summer resort.

"Duluth has a number of excellent all-year hotels," Mr. Day said, "but what we need now is a summer hotel, built along the lines of the big resorts of the country, built on some picturesque spot on the lake shore, overlooking the lake, and where one could pleasantly remain for the entire season."

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ARE BEGUN IN CHINA

Washington, April 18.—An armistice has been declared between Chinese rebels and President Yuan Shi Kai and peace negotiations are in progress, the state department has been officially informed. Prominent leaders of both factions are endeavoring to reunite the provinces.

The American minister at Pekin advised the department that President Yuan's agent in peace negotiations is his former vice president, who resigned when Yuan Shi Kai proposed a monarchy with himself as emperor. His former war minister also has agreed to aid in peace parleys.

SUPERIOR

Gun Man Bound Over.

Fred Miller was bound over to the superior court on a charge of assault after being arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon. Miller was arrested after firing a number of shots with a revolver at John Charboneau following an argument which took place on Ogden avenue near Eighth street Sunday night. Bail was fixed at $5,000, which Miller was unable to furnish.

Y. M. C. A. Contract Let.

The contract for the heating, plumbing and electrical wiring of the Superior Y. M. C. A. building was let this morning. The contract for the plumbing and heating contract was let to Neil & Co., and electrical wiring to the Lake Superior Electrical company. The building is to be finished as rapidly as possible.

PREMIER ASQUITH POSTPONES CRISIS

Will Not Make Statement on Recruiting to House as Expected.

London, April 18.—Premier Asquith will not make his expected statement in the house of commons on the recruiting question today, according to an official announcement made at Downing street.

The postponement of Premier Asquith's statement on the recruiting question, which he had promised to make in the house of commons this afternoon was taken as an indication that the cabinet ministers were unable to reach an agreement on this subject which has brought about the most serious crisis the prime minister has had to meet in his eight years as head of the government.

Premier Asquith is expected to explain in the house of commons the reasons for the postponement of his statement, and will be asked when the government's decision will be communicated to parliament. Upon his answer will depend whether Sir Edward Carson will move his resolution demanding service for all men of military age.

The decision came as a complete surprise to those not within the inner circle.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Resumed debate on army reorganization bill with prospect of a vote before adjournment tonight.

Sisal inquiry continued.

HOUSE.

Consideration of agricultural appropriation bill resumed.

Amendment to the agricultural bill to provide $175,000 for investigating potash making to obviate present exclusive annual importation of $25,000,000 worth from Germany, proposed by committee in charge.

Military and naval committees resumed consideration of defense appropriation bills.

ASSAIL RULING OF TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Washington, April 18.—The treasury department's recent regulation holding that the income tax law applies to American securities held by nonresident aliens was assailed today by financial and railway interests of New York, Chicago, Boston and Washington at a hearing before Assistant Secretary Malburn.

Reconsideration of the order was sought on the grounds that its enforcement would lower the value of American securities held abroad and that the supreme court's recent decision upholding the validity of the law did not give the department authority to make such a regulation.

Foreign buyers have purchased American securities, it was argued, on an implied contract that income from them would be free from tax here.

To Display Boys' Work.

Bemidji, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work of the boys of the manual training department of the Bemidji schools will be displayed in the windows of some downtown building, according to A. D. Bailey, manual training instructor. Advanced architectural work which has been done by the students during the winter will also be shown.

Fire in Lisbon Arsenal.

Lisbon, Portugal, April 18, via Paris.—Fire broke out today in the naval school forming part of the Lisbon arsenal. It burned with great violence and two buildings facing the school were destroyed before it was brought under control. A number of persons were injured.

To Try Chinese Labor.

Paris, April 18.—Owing to the lack of labor in the agricultural and industrial fields, an organization has been effected in France for trying Chinese labor. It is expected that 5,000 Chinese laborers will arrive in this country within a few months. Twenty Chinese are now preparing themselves as interpreters for the later arrivals.

Allies Order 15,000 Horses.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 18.—Orders from agents of the Entente allies for 15,000 horses have been placed with a local firm, it was learned today. The horses, it was said, were to be used for the light artillery and will be sent immediately to the various battle fronts.

Attorney General Smith Files.

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Smith filed today with the secretary of state for renomination on the Republican ticket.

Loss of Sleep From Kidney Troubles—Became Very Thin

I had been suffering with Kidney and Bladder trouble for about twelve months. My condition was such that I was unable to rest at night, and was reduced in flesh to almost a skeleton. When my kidneys would act they caused me great pain and I did not have much appetite. Through the advice of my father I was induced to try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. After using Swamp-Root I was restored to health and have gained sixty pounds. I am now in good health and able to work. I feel as well as I ever did, and I cheerfully recommend Swamp-Root to others who have kidney and bladder troubles.

Very truly yours,
T. L. WALTON,
122 W. Garrett St. Paris, Texas.

Personally appeared before me this 25th day of February, 1915, T. L. Walton, who subscribed to the above statement and made oath that the same is true and correct.

Society • Women's Clubs • Music • Drama

THE don't-say-anything-about-it-because-it-is-Lent variety of social quiet seems to be giving way to real Lenten quiet for Good Friday. A club meeting was postponed to the next week and no social gatherings have been announced for that day. Saturday, likewise, is without any items on its social calendar. Services will be held Friday afternoon and night in various churches.

With the end of Lent will come the end of sub rosa parties. Easter week the black and white ball at the Kitchi Gammi club, the spring assembly at the Spalding hotel, two home weddings, a church wedding and club meetings will enliven the days and nights.

EVENTS OF TONIGHT AND TOMORROW.

The Bishop's club will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Bishop's club room.

Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Mrs. R. E. Denfeld, 18 Oxford street.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Car Rush

A young woman confiding in me stated that conducting herself in a ladylike manner, with some consideration for the rights of others, had not resulted so satisfactorily in her case as one is led to believe is the reward of courteous behavior. She said that she experienced great difficulty in even holding her own against the attacks of men and women in boarding her car for home in the evening.

It is against this young woman's nature to enter into a fistic battle to obtain a foothold in a car, and yet that is practically what a person must do unless he or she is content to allow others to push and shove them aside as they will. All decently reared men and women dislike to appear as callous and rude and beastly in pursuit of their own convenience and comfort as is necessary under these conditions.

It is enough to sicken the hearts of all decent men and women when they find themselves in the midst of this surging, struggling crowd, trying to conduct themselves with some show of human instincts, with almost every other person in the crowd paying strict attention to his or her chances of boarding the car.

It is the survival of the fittest in these struggles. If you have any nice scruples about pushing and shoving, using your elbows, hands and even your feet, to clear a path for yourself you will decline to become one of the hundreds that try to force their way into one of the small openings of a car. May be that you will decide that you had better wait for the next car than attempt an entrance under such difficulties. These conditions are to be found in all cities of any size during the rush hours of the morning and evening.

You can spend an hour trying to gain an entrance to a car in any but the "tooth and nail" method prevailing among all classes of people today and not be a step nearer home. If you are anxious to get home there is only one thing to do, and that is to allow yourself to be swept along with the crowd and be prepared to defend yourself against the selfishness and total indifference of half a hundred other men and women.

I do not know how you can really be polite under such circumstances. I know that these conditions exist and that you can meet them with personal resistance only. Perhaps the street car officials can co-operate in helping to make us more courteous. More space and more cars might have such an effect.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Henrietta D Grauel

Menu Notes

THE materials of the body are composed of the food we eat. The wastes of the body are repaired by it; our muscular power, energy and heat come from it. A certain number of calories of food must replace the calories of energy used every day. Thus you see how it is the housekeeper's business to study foods and their values.

Just now her thoughts should turn to foods with tonic values. Johnny is too tired to go to school; little Jane looks peaked, and pa says his stomach trouble bothers him worse than usual. It is only spring fever, but wise people say this troublesome lazy feeling that comes with warm early summer days is very real indeed. The cure for it will not be found in a bottle of "tonic," a cup of sassafras tea or great spoons of sticky-tasting sulphur and molasses. What the family wants is more fresh air, warm sunshine and a radical change in their diet. Stop serving pork, fresh-baked bread, oatmeal, rice, baked beans and such heavy food stuffs. Send the youngsters out to dig fresh greens, and go with them to see that they get the right kind. Use grape fruit for breakfast; it contains quinine and other acids that stir the liver and are better than medicine. Pineapple, lemons and oranges are next in goodness for this season. Sugar should be used in as small quantities as possible, for it is heating and creates an acid you want to get rid of at this time.

Plenty of fresh, pure water is essential now; drink one glassful when you rise, another when you have dressed, and try to drink at least two quarts before bedtime.

April is one of the most marvelous months of all the year, and it is foolish to drag through it as though you had sleeping sickness or hookworms. Fresh green vegetables will make you want to be up and doing. Use them cooked and uncooked in quantities, and you will notice a difference in the family's health and in your temper.

Green vegetables, like spinach, cress, lettuce, onions, radishes, asparagus and "greens," are often 90 per cent water, but they contain stimulating mineral salts that the body needs.

When cooking fresh roots and tubers, see that they are crisp and fresh; if they have been too long out of the ground, put them in very cold water for some time, and they will become crisp again. All vegetables should be put to cook in boiling salted water, and the cover of the kettle should be removed once or twice to permit the escape of volatile gases. If vegetables have a strong flavor, they should be blanched. That is, they are put to cook as usual, and when about half done, the first water is poured from off them, and fresh, boiling, salted water is put on.

Many Prominent Suffragists on Minneapolis Convention Program

Some of the most prominent suffrage speakers from all parts of the country will be on the program of the Mississippi Valley Suffrage conference that will be held in Minneapolis May 7, 8, 9 and 10. There will be a mass meeting in the Auditorium Sunday afternoon, the first day of the conference; business sessions Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; a reception and banquet Monday night; a session of political work Tuesday night; a congressional conference Wednesday morning, and a St. Paul mass meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Inquiries may be directed to the general local chairman, Mrs. Andreas Ueland, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, 403 Essex building, Minneapolis. The committee will provide lodging and breakfast. Those wishing entertainment should send their names to Mrs. George H. Partridge, chairman of the entertainment committee, 403 Essex building, Minneapolis. Everyone, whether a member of the association or not, is invited to the banquet to be given Monday night at the Radisson hotel. Evening dress may be worn or not, according to convenience. Reservations may be made by applying to Miss Aimee Fisher, 403 Essex building.

Serving with Mrs. Florence Bennett Peterson of Chicago, chairman of the conference committee, are Mrs. W. E. Barkley of Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Annette Finnigan of Houston, Tex.

Some of the Speakers.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson

The Joke Is on Tommy Tittle-Mouse

THE day after Tommy Tittlemouse had so carefully hidden a good many grains of corn under the big boards of the lily bed, he wakened with a pleasant feeling that he was going to have a very good day.

"Just as soon as we get through our breakfast and have our house tidied up," he said to himself, "I'll take Mrs. Tommy out to the lily bed and show her what a nice start I have made on our rainy-day stores."

"What are you smiling about, Tommy?" asked Mrs. Tommy, who noticed Tommy's pleased expression and wanted to share the joke—if there was one, as she quite suspected.

"Nothing at all!" replied Tommy. "Oh, nothing at all!"

But that answer didn't fool Mrs. Tommy—not one bit!

"I do hope Tommy hasn't been doing something foolish," she thought to herself; but, being a very wise and kind little lady, she said nothing. She just waited and kept her thoughts to herself—a very safe place to keep thoughts, by the way; thoughts that are carefully kept do no harm to anybody.

In a very short time the two mice had eaten a nice little breakfast and had tidied up their tiny house.

"Now!" exclaimed Tommy, "I want to show you something!"

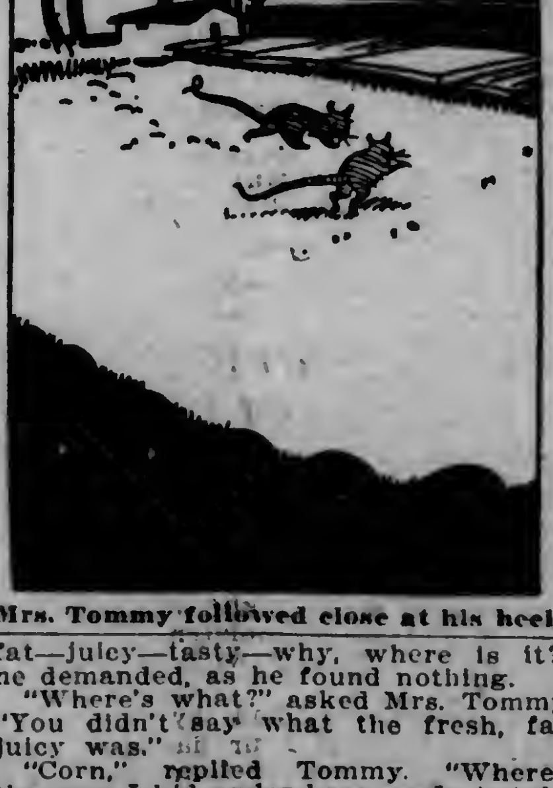
"Now!" thought Mrs. Tommy (all to herself, of course). "I'm going to find out what he's been smiling about!"

So they went out toward the yard. Tommy led the way, of course, and Mrs. Tommy followed close at his heels, though it must be admitted that she watched out for danger all the time. She had not been running around the barn all winter as freely as had Tommy, and she was disposed to be watchful.

"You're going to be very happily surprised!" warned Tommy, as they slipped out of the hole they had made near the barn door.

"That's good," said Mrs. Tommy, and she blinked her eyes and drew a long breath of fresh air.

"Right—here—under this board," began Tommy—and he nosed under the board to show Mrs. Tommy where to look—"you'll find some nice—fresh—fat—juicy—tasty—why, where is it?" he demanded, as he found nothing.



Mrs. Tommy followed close at his heels.

"Where's what?" asked Mrs. Tommy. "You didn't say what the fresh, fat, juicy was."

"Corn," replied Tommy. "Where's the corn I hid under here ready to take to the log?"

Just then Yellow Puff, in search of more goodies, cheeped a "Good morning" from the barn door sill.

"Didn't I tell you to put the corn 'way back in the log?'" demanded Mrs. Tommy. Then she turned to Yellow Puff. "There's the corn thief! And next time, Tommy, that you want to surprise me, just do what I say! I'll be surprised—and you'll have the corn!"

That's Gratitude

"He who receives a benefit should never forget it; he who bestows it should never remember it."—Charron.

WE HAD been talking the other day about an acquaintance of ours who is very unsocial and self-centered.

"But he's always very nice to the R——s," defended Molly; "always speaks well of them, and goes out of his way to be pleasant to them."

"And why shouldn't he be?" said the Authorman's Wife. "Think of all they've done for him!"

"Ah!" said the Cynic. "And since when has it been easier to be nice to people who've done things for you?"

"It should be," persisted the Authorman's Wife.

Easier to Be Nice to People You've Done Things For."

"Yes, it should be," conceded the Cynic; "but, as a matter of fact, it's the hardest thing in the world. It's much easier to be nice to people that you've done things for. You enjoy their society because they stand for your credit instead of debit account. You've bought the right to patronize them, and who wouldn't rather patronize than be patronized?"

As a rule I disapprove of the Cynic's cynicism; but I must admit he has some grounds for it here.

Too often gratitude is only "a lively sense of future favors."

Just the other day I heard a woman who has received much from another woman doing her best by insinuation and comparison and faint praise (never a word of open criticism did she speak, she is too wily for that) to depreciate the other's generosity.

Generosity Is a Heavy Burden.

The burden of generosity is a heavy one to bear. A man who would return a favor if he had the means and the opportunity, lacking them, will come to dislike his benefactor for keeping him in debt.

Sometimes he shows it, as this woman did, again he hides it under a pretense of gratitude, down in the depths of his heart where it festers and poisons his character.

Self-love is one of the strongest human instincts and to be kept under an obligation is painful to it. It puts us in the attitude of looking up, and self-love does not like to look up. It wants to put itself on a level with its benefactor and does so not by raising itself by gratitude, but by hunting flaws in the character of the benefactor.

Both Have to Walk the Chalk Line.

The only thing harder than to give gracefully is to receive gracefully.

The relationship between benefactor and recipient is difficult to keep sweet and sane. On the benefactor's side there is the danger of being patronizing or exacting, while the recipient must walk the chalk line between sycophancy and ingratitude.

Friendship is safest in an atmosphere of independence. And yet, true friendship should be capable both of receiving and giving.

Because ingratitude is common does not mean it is any more excusable. And because true gratitude is rare does not mean it is any less right and beautiful. On the contrary.

Tells Women How to Furnish Their Houses Artistically

Miss Frances Harrington, who spoke to the members of the Housewives' league yesterday afternoon on the artistic furnishing of houses, told how an overcrowded room might be converted into an artistic one without losing its homelike air; explained why warm colors should be used in north and east rooms and cold colors in south and west rooms; and illustrated her color points by showing wall papers, draperies and upholsterings that harmonize. She told her audience that the return of carpets has been predicted, but that they will not be the all-over patterns of former years.

Proper Furnishings.

Describing the various rooms and the proper furnishings, Miss Harrington said:

"The old saying, 'A first impression is a lasting one,' applies to houses as well as to persons. Some decorators demand that a hall be kept formal. A severe English or Colonial hallway of a huge house may well be treated so, but the average cozy house should possess an inviting hall. This may readily be done by keeping a few vacant hooks for the occasional visitor and placing the umbrella rack in the adjoining closet, and the rubbers in an oilcloth-lined box which may be used as a seat when putting on rubbers. Often a small table and chair can be conveniently placed here for the telephones.

"The average living room appears restful at first glance, but upon looking around you will discover an upright piano placed diagonally across one corner, perhaps several other musical instruments on top or near the piano and an open music rack with much unused or passe popular songs bulging from every shelf. The bric-a-brac consists of several photographs of college classmates and relatives or various members of the immediate family. There are bits of impossible porcelains, I mean vases with necks too small to accommodate any flower and possessing unsightly handles or bearing the instription, 'Souvenir of Niagara Falls' or 'Panama Exposition.' The large easy chairs suggest islands over the floor. The pictures must not slip our attention. There are two large 'over worked' oils, one a snow scene in vivid blues the other the woods in autumn, containing trees never in existence, which mother painted when a girl; a steel engraving of Romeo and Juliet, always grandmother's favorite; a hunting scene with men in scarlet jackets on nervous horses being led by leaping hounds, all enclosed in a frame heavy enough to make a garage door. Sometimes a younger member has had ambitions along the artist's line sufficiently to copy 'Harrison Fisher's Favorites' to fill out the remaining spaces.

Combinations of Pictures.

"In his recent publication Frank Alva Parsons, director of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts, tells us that it is as poor taste to combine pictures handled in various mediums as to try to combine tapestry, cane, burlap, plush, buckram and chiffon. A few well chosen prints of fa-

To Absorb Freckles And Other Blemishes

Every spring numerous inquiries are made by girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year very favorable reports were received from many who had used mercolized wax during the freckling season. The wax seems to possess unusual properties which completely absorb the freckles, with no harmful effect. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's, spread a thin layer of it over the entire face every night for a while, washing this off in the morning. For rough, spotty skin, sallowness, blackheads, pimples, and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any other.

Springtime also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. To a half pint witch hazel add an ounce of powdered saxolite, which quickly dissolves. Bathe the face in this: the effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable.

vorite masterpieces and simple photographs nicely printed may well be used together, or good water colors and colored etchings often agree if none are too large to balance. The darkest corner is best treated when a simple upright mirror be hung so as to reflect some particularly good object.

"Perhaps the valuable floor space might be managed better by placing the piano in the corner where the music will receive the most light. What objection is there to placing father's large easy chair, though a wee bit shabby, near the fireplace and next to it a stand just large enough to hold the evening paper and a jar of tobacco or a humidor? Grandmother's old-fashioned rocker might be placed near the window, with an inexpensive sewing table containing drawers. How much nicer it would seem to have a few large, puffy pillows with inexpensive covers, rather than silk-topped pillows richly embroidered in roses, grapes, strawberries, 'He Loves Me Not' or 'Daisies Won't Tell.' The floor does not necessarily call for one large rug. Often two or three plain domestic rugs may be combined and it has been predicted that carpets will soon reappear.

The Dining Room.

"We glance about the dining room. The plate rail first arrests our attention, sagging under its weight of exquisitely painted plates and platters, that are blossomed with roses, violets and various flowers as real as if the dew were dripping from their petals, or portraits of fish, with each scale laboriously painted and even the twinkle in their eyes. The spotless buffet has dainty doilies placed at even intervals over its top, each with some sparkling bit of cut glass or a useless wedding gift silver piece.

"It is not necessary to have the stairs carpeted if the treads are broad enough so that the toes of the shoes will not mar the enamel when going up stairs or the heels when coming down.

"By bearing in mind the exposure of your bedrooms, north, east, south and west, you should have no difficulty in selecting the proper color schemes for each. Let us think of a house as a cube, four of its sides exposed to the light, the fifth the roof and the sixth the floor. As the sun passes on in its course two of these walls, the south and west, will receive the direct sunlight nearly the entire day, while the other two walls, the north and east, receive reflected light. Direct sunlight is warm light, the rays being of an orange glow, while the indirect light has a blue cast.

Color of Walls.

"Now think of the various rooms in your own house. The south and west rooms may have walls hung in cold colors, such as dull blues, blue grays, violet grays, putty, neutral greens or foliage greens, combined with rich cream ceilings. The rooms on the other side of the house receiving indirect or cold light, may be treated in various tans, Naples yellows, subdued orange or rose.

"Think of your walls as merely backgrounds for the colors you wish to bring into your room. If you desire a blue room, the walls do not have to be blue, instead treat them in a warm color, depending on your furniture coverings and rugs for the blue. Remember that the walls must be kept light because dark colors absorb light and light colors reflect it. And by colors I do not mean merely the primary colors, red, blue and yellow, or the secondaries, green, orange and violet; I mean the white spaces, the black shadows and the gray half tones that give the feeling of color. By feeling of color, I mean the large dark shadow from the bookcase, piano or chair should not be permitted to fall across a pedestal bearing some well chosen marble, a bisque piece or a nicely upholstered seat or stool.

Basis of Colors.

"We find that three of the six standard colors are the basis for all other colors. These three, red, yellow and blue, we call primary colors, because they cannot be produced by mixing. Whatever primary color is selected the remaining two primaries mixed form its complement. For example, if we select the primary red, we find that the remaining two primaries, blue and yellow, form the complement of red, which is green; if the primary blue is selected, its complement is orange; if yellow, its complement is violet. Color may be either warm or cold in quality; the coldest color is blue, and its complement, orange, is the warmest. Every color adjusts itself in this way to its complement; if the primary is cold, its complement is warm; if the primary is warm its complement is cold."

Some More or Less Valuable Information About the Retail Markets.

Big baked potatoes, 5 cents a pound.
Peas fetch 25 cents a pound.
Large head lettuce, 15 cents apiece.
Long cucumbers, 20 cents apiece.
Red peppers, 5 cents apiece.
Strawberries, 15 cents a pint.
Wax bean, 10 cents and 25 cents.
Eggs fetch 25 cents a dozen.
Animal crackers, 5 cents a measure.
Silver prunes, 20 cents a pound.
Shrimps, 30 cents a pint.
Sweetbreads, 70 cents a pound.
Tenderloins, 40 cents a pound.
Cicoes, 15 cents a pound.
Pig tails, 10 cents apiece.

There is no excuse for going to St. Paul or Seattle on the line of the "Big Baked Potato" any more, as the big baked potato has been brought right to our very door, probably by some shortsighted member of the U. C. T. Of course if you have been traveling on the Northern Pacific for other reasons than to partake of this far-famed mealy morsel—that's another matter, now you can stay home (unfortunately) and for 5 or 10 cents get what heretofore has cost you any where from $3.10 to $60 (depending upon where you went), besides saving lots of time and quieting warranted suspicion. If you can't enjoy these thoroughly, in the peace and quiet of the home—without the swaying undulating motion of the train—why not take one in a yellow paper bag and get on a car for Superior?

Eggs are getting pretty scampish just now around Easter time and anyone who has visions of buying a flock of them to "blow out" for a large family of children and then dye them, had better think twice before blowing themselves to the fruit in question. As for duck eggs at 45 cents a dozen and goose eggs at 10 cents each—it's just as well that they aren't on the market.

Some cute shrimps with the pink flush of youth on their brows were lifting their little faces off of a large cold cake of ice in one of our favorite stores this morning. A shrimp seems such a helpless bit of humanity that we can only hope that they fall into kind hands before going any farther.

Animal crackers, a new kind, which can be fed to children and grownups as well as to animals, looked quite tempting and would prove quite irresistible to the average child (why won't parents admit that they only have an "average child?") Five cents a measure seems an indefinite means of computing what you may get of these, but you must remember that it depends upon the size of the animals. There wouldn't be as many elephants as of some smaller animal like the corylopsis for instance. In a measure—it amounts to about the same though.

Very seldom can pig tails be had for 10 cents, but at any price (speaking behind the pig's back, so to speak) they would not appeal. On the pig there is something rather smarty and independent looking in the quirk of these little appendages, but if you have ever seen them in a store window minus the quirk and pep and without the pig on the other end of them, you would see in a minute why we take this point of view.

Cucumbers seem high—but in reality are very long and narrow—about 7 A A. They go a long way though—so why not?

Notice we said peas and eggs "fetch" so much this morning. There's a word that has never been used as much as it should have been.

GRAND SHOW HAS CLASS.

Miss Tracy and "White Blackbirds" Head New Bill.

The new show for the first half of the week at the Grand theater is probably the "classiest" of any seen at that popular playhouse in several weeks. It not only has an excellent variety of vaudeville acts of unusual merit, but it has much better pictures than those of the last few weeks.

There is only one headline act among the vaudevillians, but nobody would know which act was the topliner. It's "fifty-fifty" with those clever dispensers of mirth and melody—the Seven White Blackbirds and the engaging and original singing comedienne, Miss Claudia Tracy—and the other two acts are not far behind in entertaining qualifications.

The Blackbirds, composed of six blackface male singers, headed by Clara Fiske, appear in a Southern levee scene entitled "Night Time Down in Dixie." The cleverness of the jokes and the tunefulness of the Southern melodies make good entertainment.

Miss Tracy is a "comer," if she has not already "arrived." She has an abundance of personality and originality, and these qualities added to good looks, set off to advantage by a goodly collection of fashionable gowns, make her a popular favorite. She does a number of character songs and dances, all of which are pleasing, and her bits of stage "business" add much to the comedy features.

Henry Loowey and the Lucy Sisters have a lively turn, composed of popular songs and eccentric dances, done with considerable originality and skill. It is what might be called a "well dressed" act, and the dancing is especially high class.

Inman and Levine, a young man and a pretty girl, have a dandy slack wire act with a rural setting. There are a lot of clever "rube" jokes that make everybody laugh, and then Miss Levine does some thrilling stunts on the "clothes line."

Among the photoplays, Miss Margaret Clayton heads an excellent cast in "I Will Repay," a strong dramatic story. Rose Melville is again seen in another of the Sis Hopkins series, "A Romance and a Riot." Mary Anderson, the popular Vitagraph star, is cast in a dramatic comedy film of unusual strength this week, entitled "The Hoyden."

Today and tomorrow will be shown the first installment of what is said to be one of the best pictures of the season, "The Social Pirates." This picture will be shown every Tuesday and Wednesday as an added attraction.

Theater Gossip.

GOOD FARCE IN PLAY AT THE LYCEUM.

Comedy characterization to a pronounced degree forms an important element in arriving at the farcical moments in "It Pays to Advertise," which Cohan and Harris are presenting at the Lyceum theater. Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett, the authors, say they have aimed to give the public a rip-roaring laugh provoker, and Cohan and Harris believe they have succeeded in doing so.

Mr. Cohan gave a great deal of his personal time to the rehearsals and injected into them his personality to such an extent that a performance notable for swiftness, smoothness and general completeness has resulted. The cast contains the following principals: Adele Rolland, Elza Frederic, Marion Barrie, Celene Kirk, Harold Vermilye, Frank Allworth, Elmer Grandin, Cliff Worman, Robert Watt, H. H. Forsman, Kenneth Loane and Chauncey Causeland.

BIG SHOW COMING WITH LAUDER TO ORPHEUM-STRAND.

The biggest vaudeville entertainment ever shown at the Orpheum theater here will be shown Thursday afternoon and evening when Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, will be at that playhouse. There will be nearly twenty vaudeville artists assisting Mr. Lauder and a Highland orchestra of thirty pieces will give the entertainment a real Scotch character.

William Morris, who is Lauder's manager, has sought far and near in his collecting of vaudeville turns for the Lauder show, and both Europe and America have been drawn upon in the selection of novelties. Some of the acts have never been seen in the United States before and at least half a dozen new songs will be sung by Mr. Lauder.

FAIRBANKS TEACHES PEOPLE HOW TO SMILE AT REX.

"I recommend Douglas Fairbanks' new picture play, 'The Habit of Happiness,' which is to be seen today, tomorrow and Thursday at the Rex, and have no hesitancy in declaring that everybody who goes to see the play will be more than delighted and satisfied," is the declaration of Thomas Furniss, who saw the picture while in New York week before last.

As the son of a millionaire banker, "Sunny" Wiggins (Fairbanks) applies his fitting profession of making people laugh, to the workingmen. While getting the workmen to laugh, morning, noon and night, his success draws the attention of Dr. Stone, who has about given up his efforts to get Jonathan Pepper, his richest patient, to relax into a smile. From this on, when "Sunny" takes hold of the rich man's case, the plot begins to thicken, and it is a picture of dashing action, packed with fun and the dash of a love story over the rich man's beautiful daughter. It is not slapstick and horse-play comedy but rich humor.

ONE DAY ONLY FOR STIRRING LYRIC PICTURE.

There remains today matinee and night to get a final peep at "Blue Blood and Red," that new departure in motion pictures put on by William Fox. There is not a dull moment for the audience from beginning to end, and those who have seen the picture have nothing but praise for it. It is different—it is full of dash and "pep," has no deep plot, but plot enough to make everybody want to sit to the very end of the last scene. Agy Dupont starts West, after being turned out of his rich father's home, because he was "fired" from college.

He goes in his racing car. He first kidnaps his father's butler, and takes him along. They get in with real cowboys, they encounter dire perils that they escape from with roaring laughter-making luck, win $200 at a prize fight to pay their expenses and land on a ranch where the scapegoat son falls in love. From that point the story gets very interesting.

Wednesday and Thursday Hazel Dawn and Irving Cummings appear with a good company in "The Saleslady," a picture with some charm and one that has had a fairly good following elsewhere. It will interest young people and has a lesson for the old as well.

GRAND OPERA STARS FOR ZELDA PATRONS

ELSA DE MARCHI.

The management of the Zelda theater announces that commencing with this evening's show, it will offer a rare treat in music.

Yesterday W. M. Abrahamson, owner of the Zelda, closed a contract with two grand opera singers, Enrico G. Prati and Elsa de Marchi, to appear at the Zelda three times a day for an indefinite period.

One performance will be given in the afternoon and two in the evening. These two song birds are in Duluth for a two months' rest before joining their company in New York where they will begin a tour of the principal cities of United States.

Enrico G. Prati was in Duluth about ten years ago with Henry Russell's Boston Grand Opera company, which toured the world.

He recently arrived from Holland where he sang before the queen and other celebrated persons who are said to have proclaimed him a second Caruso. Elsa de Marchi is also well known among New York grand opera goers, having sung at the Metropolitan as well as the leading theaters in Paris and London.

There will be no increase in the price of admission and the usual excellent feature plays will be given as before.

Mabel Taliaferro, who was seen in this city several times in "Polly of the Circus" and more recently in "The New Henrietta," features the program in a six-reel Metro production "Her Great Price," which will be shown for the last time tonight. In this screen play Miss Taliaferro is seen in one of her successes and in which she is allowed a splendid opportunity to display her versatility.

"SKINNAY'S" HOMER

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

BREAKS UP THE GAME

Police headquarters received their first spring "kick" yesterday afternoon from an indignant East end woman who had suffered a broken window as the result of "Skinnay's" long drive for a circuit of the bases in the vacant lot at the rear of the house.

At 5:30 Ty Cobb, Jr., came to bat, and exactly at 5:31 the police department received notice of the fact that the bases had been cleared.

Mrs. Blank raved, roared and used the innocent telephone to its full advantage. She demanded that a squad be immediately rushed to the scene and that the gang of "ruffians" be forthwith rushed to jail.

Sergeant Weber, who has dealt with a number of restless youngsters and who was once a boy himself, inquired of the haughty mistress of the house whether or not she had any boys of her own. He received a peevish answer in the negative accompanied by the slamming down of the receiver, only, after, however, the troubled one had declared that she would see the city attorney immediately with a view of swearing out a warrant for the arrest of the ruffians.

FAMILY LOSES TWO MEMBERS IN DAY

Andrew Johnson and His Daughter Die Within Twenty Hours.

Two deaths within twenty hours was the hard blow which fate decreed for one of Duluth's prominent families, when Andrew Johnson, aged 57, of 1409 Belmont road, and his daughter, Mrs. Ruby L. Nuubson, aged 29, of 1714½ East Fifth street, died at 8 o'clock this morning and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, respectively.

Mr. Johnson had been a resident of this city for twenty-five years, and his daughter had lived here ever since the age of 7. There are six members of the Johnson family, and Mrs. Nuubson leaves a husband and two small children.

The members of the Johnson family who survive are the wife, Mrs. Andrew Johnson; two sons, Arthur of Proctor and Robert of Duluth, and three daughters, Mrs. John Alvin Johnson and Miss Margaret Johnson of this city, and Mrs. O. G. Specht, formerly Miss Agnes Mae Johnson, now of Superior.

Mrs. Nuubson also leaves a husband, N. O. Nuubson of this city, and two small sons, Ward and Wesley, aged 9 and 11 years, respectively.

Arrangements have been made to hold a double funeral, the services to take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Stewart Undertaking parlors, Third avenue west. Rev. George Brewer will officiate and music will be furnished by Miss Perle Reynolds and Miss Glen Bartholomew.

LITTLE GIRLS FOUND IN VACANT BUILDING

Two Missing for Two Days Believed to Have Been Kidnaped.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two little girls who mysteriously disappeared from their homes here two days ago were found by the police early today locked in a room on the tenth floor of a vacant apartment building. A search is being made for a negro who is suspected of kidnaping the children.

The two girls, Dora Blumenthal, 5 years old, and Lena Shink, 4 years old, disappeared Sunday after stepping from a candy store in South Minneapolis and a rigid investigation by the authorities failed to develop any clew as to their whereabouts. Last midnight neighbors reported hearing screams near the vacant apartment building and after a careful search of the vicinity the children were found. The police say they have evidence indicating that the children were kept prisoner at the place by a negro.

BRITISH LINES FORCED BACK BY THE TURKS

Washington, April 18.—William M. Ingraham, former mayor of Portland, Me., is being considered by President Wilson and Secretary Baker for assistant secretary of war.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

San Francisco earthquake, 1906.

At 5:30 in the morning the people of San Francisco were awakened by the first tremors of an earthquake which assumed unprecedented violence, rocking and wrecking many buildings. Fires started at several points, and the earthquake having damaged the water mains the fire department was helpless. The fire burned three days, and half the population spent the night of the 19th in parks and streets. A third of the city, including the business section, was burned, with a loss of $200,000,000, and a quarter of a million people were rendered homeless. Lives lost numbered 452.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEXICAN POLICY.

"I think he has been doing pretty fairly otherwise," said a grudging Republican the other day, "but I can't approve the president's policy in Mexico."

All the time there has been but one alternative to the president's policy in Mexico—and that alternative was war; a shameful, distasteful, dishonourable war. This country could do as President Wilson has done, or it could enlist half a million men and spend five years and billions of dollars in "pacifying" Mexico in blood and terror. Which, sensible reader, would you choose?

But those who do not approve of the president's Mexican policy are simply descendants of those who did not approve a president's Mexican policy on a former occasion. Here is what that president said in response to criticisms:

> For a few years past the condition of Mexico has been so unsettled as to raise the question on both sides of the Atlantic whether the time has not come when some foreign power ought, in the general interests of society, to intervene, to establish a protectorate or some other form of government in that country and guarantee its continuance.
>
> You will not fail to assure the government of Mexico that the president neither has, NOR CAN EVER HAVE, any sympathy with such designs, in whatever quarter they may arise. * * *
>
> The Republican system everywhere has to make its way painfully through difficulties and embarrassments which result from the action of antagonistical elements which are a legacy of former times and very different institutions. The president is hopeful of the ultimate triumph of this system over all obstacles, as well in regard to Mexico as in regard to every other American state; but he feels that those states are nevertheless justly entitled to more generous sympathies from the government and people of the United States than they are likely to receive from any other quarter. * * *
>
> I find the archives here full of complaints against the Mexican government for violation of contracts and spoliation and cruelties practiced against American citizens. It is not the president's intention to send forward such claims at the present moment. He willingly defers the performance of a duty which at any time would seem ungracious, until the incoming administration in Mexico shall have had time, if possible, to cement its authority.

A time before this there has been, then, when American property rights in Mexico and American citizens in Mexico were badly treated.

There has been a president before Wilson who, hoping to see republican government work out its destiny there, though mindful that it must be through difficulties and embarrassments, has pursued a policy of "watchful waiting."

The de facto ruler of Mexico then was Juarez. The time was in the early sixties. Juarez had come into power, but had been unable to restore order. American property had been destroyed, and many Americans, including a member of the American legation, had been killed. The president who then watchfully waited—and wisely—was ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The principles that he laid down then are the principles that have actuated President Wilson in refusing to intervene in Mexico so long as there is any hope of producing order there in any other way.

Will Carranza also request Villa to leave Mexico?

WE CAN CHANGE THE WORLD.

Referring to a German expression of hope that the United States may become busily embroiled with Mexico, the Chicago Tribune says:

> Naturally Germany wishes this nation would get in some trouble which would fully occupy it. Germany is the most important thing in a German's conception. Anything that helps Germany is a good thing.
>
> In a world so ordered, and we cannot change it, the only defense is for Americans to think first, yes, exclusively, of the United States.

The Tribune argues day in and day out for aggressive American participation in world politics, for a militant national policy, and for a militaristic equipment to go with it.

Yet the benighted and barbaric sentiment it expresses in the paragraphs quoted above could be much more sensibly applied by the exact reverse of the policies it advocates.

If we do not think of Chinese liberties, we need never collide with Japan. If we take no part whatever in settling European questions, we are in utterly no danger of becoming embroiled with Europe. If we take no thought of Latin America, we can abandon the Monroe doctrine, fortify our borders, withdraw into a hermit cell and be safe. If we think exclusively of the United States and not at all of the world's welfare or of the well-being of the common humanity, we need never antagonize any scoundrel, and need never fear any aggression.

It is not true that we cannot change the world. The world is ordered so that patriotism in many countries is a misguided selfishness that destroys itself with the poison of war. That can be changed, will be changed.

If one man thinks peace rather than war, rejects quack leaders and sham heroes, bends his thoughts and efforts toward the realization of the ideal of peace and human brotherhood, the world is changed already by so much. If he proselytes and brings another to his way of thinking, the world is changed by so much more. It is so that all progress comes. To face an evil condition in the world and say that it cannot be changed is to admit yourself a coward or to declare that you do not want it changed.

If T. R. shouldn't be able to get anybody to indorse him as a favorite son, he'll be glad to take any old indorsement as a favorite son-of-a-gun.

A USE FOR THE MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL ASSOCIATION.

In August Duluth entertains the annual national rowing regatta. Duluth is bent upon making that event the greatest in the history of the association, and upon making the officers and members of the association realize that they have come to the right place at last. The two days of the regatta will be a gala occasion in Duluth.

And if it is made the nucleus of an annual summer festival that in time to come will bring thousands to Duluth to get the blessed benefits of Duluth's glorious summer climate and of the empire of outing and sporting possibilities of which Duluth is the capital and metropolis, that will be a tremendous gain for Duluth.

Two years ago Duluth had an organization for the purpose of creating this annual midsummer festival, and its plans were well under way when the war broke out and created a world-wide convulsion that, among other things, prevented the fulfillment of these plans.

That organization still exists, and it is not too much to say that potentially it is the most powerful and most useful organization ever formed in this city. Every organization in the community and in all parts of the community that can possibly be of help in a community enterprise is represented in it. It is too powerful and too useful an organization to lie dormant.

Why should there not be a meeting of this organization, first to see what it can do to help make the regatta an unlimited success, and second to renew the work of developing an annual midsummer festival and pageant that will advertise to the world the glories of summer in Duluth?

What happened two years ago was only a postponement; and the unprecedented curtailment of summer travel last year showed that the postponement was wise. It is too late now to organize a festival and pageant for this summer; but it is timely to renew the activities of the association and offer its services to the boat club, and when the regatta is over to renew preparations for a midsummer festival and pageant to be held in the summer of 1917.

It is timely, in short, to make the regatta the beginning of an effort to make the Duluth country the summer playground of the continent.

Old rags are getting nearer and nearer to the value of "glad" ones.

THAT'S WHY.

"No one else," says the New York Tribune in coming out for Roosevelt for the Republican nomination, "presents so effective an antithesis to Wilson as he."

Probably true. And by the same token, then, no one else than Wilson presents so effective an antithesis to Roosevelt.

And that's one more reason why a great many people are for Wilson.

Even though a man may insist that his hat isn't in the ring, that isn't going to keep him from hoping for a good strong puff of wind in the right direction at the psychological moment.

A PROFOUND CRITICISM OF HUGHES.

> Also, I don't like him because of his whiskers, and his attitude on the racetrack bill when he was governor of New York.—Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts.

That is about as profound as some of Mr. Gardner's criticisms of the United States army and navy, or as his ideas about the "external perils" that menace us and the kind of army and navy we need to cope with them.

Opposing a presidential candidate because of his whiskers is interesting only as a measure of the Gardner capacity.

Opposing him because he was bent on blotting out the racetrack gambling that was ruining thousands in New York is another interesting index to the caliber of the great Massachusetts critic of the army and navy.

What Will They Do With Him?

By Savoyard.

Washington, April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is amusing the fix the G. O. P. is got into. Its national committee had a hard job to pick a temporary chairman for its national convention. Last December it called the convention, and supposed the naming of its temporary chairman would be a mere matter of unimportant detail, but when the time came to consider the matter there was presented an embarrassing situation, and the thing was postponed and left to a committee of the committee, which met the other day in Chicago, debated the temporary chairmanship, and finally Senator Harding of Ohio was selected. Maybe the convention will confirm the action, and maybe it will not.

The selection of a chairman was an exasperating subject. And why? Roosevelt. He was the obstacle. They were afraid to name a man acceptable to him, or objectionable to him, and they hoped for the impossible, a temporary chairman whose "keynote" would serve to rally Bull Moosers and Standpatters under the same banner. It was hoped that Harding would do. He was "regular" all right, and had defeated Foraker for senator. Foraker says that the Ohio "drys" turned the trick, and intimates that they became sorry for it when the Hon. Harding announced that he would vote "wet" if the question came up in the senate, a matter that he kept a profound secret until after he got the toga, that Burton was too timid to hold on to. Roosevelt, however, did not "croak" Harding's ambition to sound the "keynote." Cummins, Borah and the other progressive Republicans—"near," but not quite Bull Moosers—protested that they would not stand for the Hon. Harding. But the committee could not agree on any one else.

* * *

At present the race for the regular nomination is between Roosevelt and Hughes. Neither is acceptable to the real leaders of the party. Justice Hughes has not yet said the word that would take him out of the race, and the consensus is that he is willing to be drafted. But would Roosevelt stand even for Hughes? There's the rub. It will be remembered that the Bull Moose convention meets the very day the regular convenes. There will be no discord in their powwow. They are thoroughly disciplined, while the Standpat concern is a mob—all captains and no privates.

A good deal of significance attaches to the meeting the other night of the New York chamber of commerce. These are the gentlemen out of whom the "party of Great Moral Ideas" was wont to "fry the fat" with which to control elections. Stephen W. Dorsey and Levi P. Morton laid them under contribution in 1880 and thus secured enough electoral votes in the Empire state and in Indiana to make James A. Garfield president. At this meeting of the chamber of commerce the other night Mr. Joseph H. Choate, the dean of the American bar, made a stump speech in criticism of President Wilson and declared:

"The German submarine campaign would not have been tolerated under such presidents as George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, Grover Cleveland, or Theodore Roosevelt."

* * *

At the mention of Roosevelt's name the seven hundred members jumped to their feet and cheered. This encouraged the venerable orator, and he exclaimed;

"No foreign nation dare under Roosevelt to insult our flag or our citizenship."

That fetched them, and the cheering was tumultuous. Mr. Choate is getting old—he is 83—and possibly that accounts for his leaving Maj.-Gen. Andy Jackson out of the list of our fighting presidents. He was the fightingest of the lot, not excepting even the terrible Teddy.

Here is where the significance comes in. The G. O. P. dare not fail to nominate a man the New York chamber of commerce favors, and since Mr. Choate's speech Mr. Penrose himself is striving to get on the Roosevelt band wagon. It looks like Teddy will be the nominee if the New York chamber of commerce so orders. Nobody knows that better than Penrose.

* * *

Suppose the Republicans should nominate Hughes, or McCall, or Burton, or one of those "two-spots" Jim Mann speaks so contemptuously of, and he should be defeated. Then Teddy would up and say, "I told you so," and some four million Bull Moosers would echo his reproach, That automatically would make Roosevelt the leader of the G. O. P. and all the others would be back numbers. In 1920 Roosevelt would be every man himself.

On the other hand, if Roosevelt is the Republican nominee this year, and is beaten, he will be done for, and in 1920 the G. O. P. will be absolutely independent of him. Of course if he should be elected, he would be autocrat of the party and of the country; but the shrewdest observers in the land are firm in the opinion that Woodrow Wilson can beat any man they have got, from Roosevelt to Fairbanks, from Hughes to Borah, from McCall to Cummins. Hughes might prove a very strong candidate, and then he might be a very weak candidate; but Wilson can beat any one of 'em.

So, if they would rid themselves of Teddy, let them send him to the slaughter next November. That is the only thing to do with him.

Are We Really Musical?

Thomas W. Surette in the Atlantic: We institute music in our public schools and display our interest in it once a year—at graduation time. We see that our children take 'music lessons' and judge the result likewise by their capacity to play us occasionally a very nice little piece. Men, in particular—all potential singers, and very much needing to sing—look upon it as a slightly effeminate, or scarcely natural and manly thing to do. Music is, in short, too much our diversion, and too little our salvation.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Advertising.

I asked eight dollars and a half for one fine black Polled Angus calf, which price was not too high; I hoofed it west, I hoofed it east, endeavoring to sell the beast, but no one wished to buy. Day after day I toiled along, and bored men with the same old song, "I have a calf for sale; I ask eight bones and fifty cents, for this unequaled critter, gents—who will dig up the kale?" Then said a friend, "Oh, rest your feet, and quit your wearing out the street, and howling by the year; spend fifty cents and advertise your sawed-off cow of pocket size, and buyers will appear." I followed up that same advice, and put my jaded feet on ice; and when the ad appeared, ten customers came to my gate; one bought the calf and paid the freight, the others bucked and reared. And thus, by printing little ads, the wise man gathers in the scads, and rests his aching corns; a little ad will make more noise than fifty-seven busy boys, all tooting on their horns.

The Nucleus of a World Union

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

The conference of representatives of the allies, to be held in Paris, will, it is announced, be attended by many distinguished delegates. It is plainly to be made another occasion for demonstrating so unmistakably the unity and co-operation of the allies as to deprive Berlin of all hope of concluding a separate peace with any one of its enemies. To our mind, however, the most significant thing about the conference is that it is not to concern itself with military affairs, but with joint action in regard to economic and commercial questions. Many cabinet officers, besides the premier of Australia, are to attend what is really to be a legislative parliament of eight nations—Russia, France, England, Italy, Belgium, Serbia, Japan and Portugal—in addition to the great oversea commonwealths of Great Britain. Never before has the world seen so many nations sitting down together to legislate as to their joint interests; and it is the more remarkable because some of the subjects to be considered bear only indirectly upon the prosecution of the war, while others relate to conditions after the close of hostilities.

There is to be, for example, an international patent office—something long desired—which will probably no more lapse when peace returns than should the proposed internationalization of the laws concerning stock companies and business failures. All of these things are plainly desirable, yet it cannot be said that a decision not to undertake them would have any bearing upon the military side of the war. The same is true of the plan to legislate upon the loss and theft of bonds payable to bearer, the establishing of uniform principles to be inscribed in the laws relative to false designation of merchandise, or the reduction of telegraph, telephone and postal rates between the various countries. The establishment of penny postage between the allies, highly desirable as it is, will not affect the troops in the trenches, nor particularly hearten them, but it would long remain as a monument to the constructive minds that are seizing this opportunity to obtain international action which could otherwise be had only by separate international congresses. Other subjects, such as the precautionary measures to be taken against the invasion of the allied countries by German products after the war, and the establishment of a joint tariff system against the Central powers, also suggest that the allies propose to be allies for a long time after peace is concluded.

Now, the hopeful thing about it all is that, consciously or unconsciously, the members of this conference are going to afford an admirable example of how easy it is for the peoples of a large section of the globe to legislate in a parliament of nations. Who shall say that this gathering may not in the years to come be recognized as the first practical step towards a world congress? It was the German tariff union of 1856 which paved the way to the German empire. This coming tariff union may likewise exert an unexpected influence in bringing the nations affected together. We are aware, of course, that the fundamental purpose of this tariff—post-bellum discrimination against Germany—does not make for world unity. But that is likely to be only a passing phrase. The proposed boycott of Germany in the decades to come is not likely to be carried very far. The normal condition of nations is to trade freely with one another, and if Germany goes on after the war producing goods the world wants at low prices, it will be pretty hard to maintain the allied nations in such a state of frenzy and hatred as to keep them, either by means of tariffs or by voluntary refusal to purchase, from buying from Germany.

The point we wish to stress today is that here is a group of powerful nations deliberately getting together to plan for the future. And what answer will their leaders have to make, when it comes to the terms of peace, to the demand that the measures agreed upon in Paris shall not only be recognized in the treaties, but extended? Whether one believes in the theory of the league of peace urged by Mr. Taft and his associates or not, here is a long step in the direction of an international union which is of a constructive character. True, the allies may fall apart in a few years. But if the present good understanding shall last, it will effectually dispose of the contention that dissimilar nations cannot act together for their mutual welfare in matters international. Surely, it is a step away from the horrible conditions of mutual distrust which have provoked the present disaster.

For us in the United States, the Paris conference should have its lesson. It is time for men like David Jayne Hill and others to stop abusing their country by the false assertion that we have lost all our international standing. Even if it were true, such authorities as he had better be devoting their thoughts to the part we shall play at the close of the war. It is time for the formulating of public opinion as to what the United States should do when peace comes. Of course, the prime responsibility for that rests upon the president. There is no sign as yet that he has seriously thought about it, and there is the discouraging fact that the five-year naval program makes directly in the opposite direction from that in which we should be heading. But all this only makes it the more desirable for all who influence public opinion to insist that when peace comes the United States shall move for international unity along the lines of the Paris conference, and even far beyond that.

The Canal As a Strategic Liability

San Francisco Bulletin: The Panama canal was built partly to be a naval asset to the United States. It was to make one battleship do the work of two, to double our sea preparedness at a stroke. It has turned out to be a grave military liability. First, it has to be fortified, a step against which John Hay vigorously protested. Then it dawned upon the experts that in time of war an enemy would have comparatively little trouble in crippling the canal, unless every foot were guarded by soldiers. A "mobile" force was therefore necessary to defend it. The latest proposal, made by Gen. Sibert, is that the United States should arrange to operate railways from the Mexican border to Panama, so that the protection of the canal—whose only possible use is a sea use—will not have to depend on sea communication.

The canal is thus degenerating from its former proud strategic position into a meaningless point to be defended, a source of huge military expenses, a hungry mouth to swallow up ranks of an army said to be too thin already, an excuse for an imperialistic drift southward over the territories of half a dozen weaker nations. Instead of lessening our military and naval expeditions it has tended to increase them; instead of a peaceful gift to the world it has tended to become a red flag to flaunt in the world's face.

All these dangerous creations would fade away if our government could make up its mind to neutralize the canal and throw it open undefended to the world's commerce. The proposal would draw derisive laughter at this cynical stage of opinion, yet it did have the approval of John Hay, who was no mollycoddle and no fool.

Found It Hard.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Mrs. Oliver Harriman enlivened with an appropriate anecdote at the Colony club in New York an argument on domestic economy.

"I hope," she said, "that there are few men like Smith.

"Smith got married, and the evening of his first pay day he gave his bride $14 of his $15 salary, and kept only a dollar for himself.

"But the second pay day Smith gave his wife one dollar and kept $14 for himself.

"'Why, John,' she said passionately, 'how on earth do you think I can manage for a whole week on a paltry dollar?'

"'Darned if I know,' he answered in calm tones. 'I had a rotten time myself last week. It's your turn now.'"

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments By and About Newspapers In the Gopher State.

PROSPERITY.

Yes, in capitals, just like that. One proof is given thus by the Ada Herald: "The Great Northern Railroad company is preparing to spend $125,000 on a new roundhouse at Breckenridge and will also expend considerable money on track betterment in this section. This company recently decided to spend more than a million on rolling stock. What's the answer? Prosperity!"

The Highway Commission.

The Minnesota highway commission isn't entirely friendless, by a long shot, in spite of the attacks of the "home rule" agitators. Among its defenders is the Cambridge Independent Press, which says: "The Minnesota highway commission is receiving some severe criticism. There is a decided movement on foot to have the next legislature abolish its highway commission. This would be a serious mistake, in our humble opinion, as we believe the question of road-building can best be supervised under one main head for the whole state. Rather than call for the repeal of the commission, changes should be made to better the service, if a way can be provided. We suggest, too, that State Engineer George W. Cooley is one of the squarest men to deal with, and he and his corps of assistants will willingly co-operate in improving the service to the state."

Noah Should Take Warning.

Noah Webster's reputation and standing are in danger. He was some pumpkins when it came to defining things, but he didn't have a great deal on the man who wrote this for the Cokato Enterprise: "A four-flusher is a big stiff gone nuts about his own importance and whose egotistical remarks and chesty manner make the common ordinary sort of a dub seem like a prince in disguise. Does any one prefer the four-flusher?"

Make It a Hurry-up Job.

The Thief River Falls Times says that "The proposition to fix a 'dead line' in Mexico, beyond which the soldiers of the United States may not go, is all right. It should be established about ten paces to the south of the spot where Villa is caught." And the sooner it is fixed on that basis, the better.

A Misapprehension Cleared Up.

We had supposed it was the bullfrogs that made the sweet spring music, but the Buhl Advertiser corrects this idea, at the risk of being a nature-faker. It says: "Mendelssohn's spring song sung by the Buhl dog chorus, morning, noon and night. Have you heard it?"

More "After-the-War" Worries.

We thought everything about what might happen after the war had been sprung already, but here's a real trouble unearthed by the Luverne Journal: "What the deuce are the newspaper readers in this country going to do after the war is over, without a 'submarine controversy' bobbing up every day or two with its attendant threat of the 'severance of diplomatic relations'?"

"Hail to the Chief!"

Not many papers in Minnesota can say what the Hokah Chief does in this paragraph: "With this issue the Chief enters upon its sixty-first year. The Chief is not only the oldest newspaper, but the oldest business institution of any kind in Houston county."

Oliver Cromwell on T. R.

An imaginary conversation in the New Republic finds fault with Mr. Roosevelt thus:

"Mr. Roosevelt had so much color, the color of genius, that he made other recent presidents, widely though they differ among themselves, look alike in their grayness and drabness. He was like a geyser among cisterns. He was a torch preceded and followed by night-lights. Such a richly energetic nature ought to have been generous. But he wasn't. Can any of you mention a single occasion in which Mr. Roosevelt proved himself a generous antagonist? His lack of generosity was as irritating as his moral righteousness.

"There was something revolting in that headlong impulsive fighter who could never see any part of any of his deeds, even years after he had done it, as anything but absolutely and unqualifiedly right. In private life he often behaves himself like a modest man. Never in public. His cocksureness is gross, monstrous, colossal, preposterous, absurd, ugly. Never an oasis of fallibility anywhere in all that Sahara of rightness. There is a bit of one of Cromwell's letters, which was written, I think, to the general assembly of the kirk of Scotland, and which is evidently an anachronism. To no one but Mr. Roosevelt can Cromwell's words really have been addressed: 'Is it therefore infallibly agreeable to the word of God, all that you say? I beseech you, in the bowels of Christ, think it possible you may be mistaken.'"

The Village Blacksmith.

Under the spreading chestnut tree
  The village smithy stands;
The smith, a mighty man is he
  With large and sinewy hands;
And the muscles of his brawny arms
  Are strong as iron bands.

His hair is crisp, and black, and long
  His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with honest sweat,
  He earns whate'er he can;
And looks the whole world in the face,
  For he owes not any man.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
  You can hear his bellows blow;
You can hear him swing his heavy sledge,
  With measured beat and slow,
Like a sexton ringing the village bell,
  When the evening sun is low.

And children coming home from school
  Look in at the open door;
They love to see the flaming forge,
  And hear the bellows roar,
And catch the burning sparks that fly
  Like chaff from a threshing floor.

He goes on Sunday to the church,
  And sits among his boys;
He hears the parson pray and preach,
  He hears his daughter's voice
Singing in the village choir,
  And it makes his heart rejoice.

It sounds to him like her mother's voice,
  Singing in Paradise!
He needs must think of her once more,
  How in the grave she lies;
And with his hard, rough hand he wipes
  A tear out of his eyes.

Toiling—rejoicing—sorrowing,
  Onward through life he goes;
Each morning sees some task begun,
  Each evening sees its close;
Something attempted, something done,
  Has earned a night's repose.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
  For the lesson thou hast taught!
Thus at the flaming forge of Life
  Our fortunes must be wrought;
Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
  Each burning deed and thought!
    —Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Unflattering.

Houston Post: "I hate her!"

"What has she done now?"

"She says she is just dying to have her sweetheart meet me!"

"Why, I should consider that a compliment!"

"Perhaps you might, but I don't consider myself so ugly as to be entirely harmless."

A Crusade Against Gossip

From the New York World.

A number of self-supporting women in New York city have banded together to fight gossip. For that purpose and for other purposes related to the general, spiritual and physical welfare of women, these foes to gossip have organized the Order of Corinthians, to which any person is eligible who subscribes to the doctrine that "The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison."

Miss Mary Hoppe, head of the Woman's Business bureau, originated the idea of the Order of Corinthians, which was incorporated in New York more than a year ago but which is just now taking definite shape. To carry on a national crusade against scandal mongering, Miss Hoppe plans the establishment of "Don't Gossip" clubs in every town and village in the United States.

These clubs will be pledged "to fight gossip, malice and all uncharitableness as the greatest of sins." Apart from this sweeping project the Order of Corinthians plans to found a mother house in New York, where impoverished women of education and refinement may be received and housed free of charge for three months while they are shown how to become self-supporting.

Miss Hoppe said that this will not be in any sense a charity, since membership cards in the order will be sold men and women of wealth at a fixed price, the card to be given to anyone the purchaser may select and the money spent to be returned in an equivalent of service by the Woman's Business bureau.

"Gossip is worst of all sins," Miss Hoppe asserted earnestly. "When women gossip it it because of idleness. The scandalous chatter of women takes place perhaps at a church sewing circle or a bridge party for a charity. Both these gatherings have worthy purposes—most human projects are good in purpose—but their beautiful object is spoiled by the scandal that is circulated there.

"I don't care whether gossip is true or not. The person who repeats it commits a far greater sin than the person who is gossiped about. All my life I have loved my fellow women. I was almost grown before I knew how much women can be injured by scandal. Ever since I have known I have taken any woman I knew of whom had been deserted by a man into my own home, have advised, sympathized with her and have fought her detractors, telling them the sin of gossip was worse than anything she did.

"And that is what all women ought to do for each other. Only those who are without sin are entitled to criticize others. 'He that is without sin, let him cast the first stone,' refers to all kinds of sin. It is the greatest argument against gossip. Lives have been wrecked by gossip, families separated forever by it. Women must band together and put an end to it."

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man.

What is the secret of serenity? We all want to know it. Indeed, we do know it already. There is no secret about it. St. Paul speaks it out plainly enough. Everybody can see what it is. All things work together for good to them that love God. We must love God; that is the heart of it. Happiness, content and right satisfaction, all doubts answered, all dark places lighted up, heaven begun here—this is the reward of loving God. In this world, tribulation; yes, but good cheer in spite of that, for the Son of God, whom we love, has overcome the world.—George Hodges.

These things I have spoken unto you, that in Me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world.—John xvi, 33.

Thee will I love, my Crown of gladness,
  Thee will I love, my God and Lord,
Amid the darkest depths of sadness;
  Not for the hope of high reward—
For Thine own sake, O Light Divine,
  So long as life is mine.
    —Johann Scheffler.

Man's happiness consists in present peace, even in the midst of the greatest trials, and in more than hope of a glorious future.—Charles G. Gordon in Daily Strength,

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

Edward Pardridge, the famous Chicago wheat plunger, died yesterday. His gains in one year were estimated at $1,500,000, but his losses reached $600,000 or $800,000 in certain memorable squeezes. Much of his surplus in fortunate periods was safely invested in choice real estate.

James E. Alsop, alias Albert Ellenson, alias A. A. Austin, was arrested at Seattle, Wash., yesterday by Detective Courtney of Minneapolis on the charge of murdering Lena Olsen in Duluth, and he will be brought here for trial. The chain of evidence against him is said to be complete. Detective Benson will leave tonight for the West to get Alsop.

Dudley W. Freeman of Biwabik has been appointed by State Auditor Dunn as special agent of the state to look after its mining interests on the Mesaba range.

George Carlin of West Duluth has returned from Missouri, where he spent some time in the employ of the McDonough Manufacturing company.

Mrs. F. C. Dennett left yesterday for California, where she will visit for some time.

The Commercial club last night appointed Henry Haskins, R. C. Sloan and C. W. Wilson a committee to wait on the street car company and urge the question of 3-cent fares on the street cars for children attending school.

W. P. McElroy, one of the pioneers of the Northwest and at one time a resident of Duluth, died at Pierre, S. D., on April 15.

When Alexander C. Steele, who resides at 1920 Dingwall street, went out into his yard yesterday morning, he was astonished to find a moose, about 2 years old, frisking around the lot. It was almost as tame as a cow, but when a crowd of small boys appeared it took to the woods.

John A. McDonell, dockmaster for the Northern Steamship company, has resigned to accept a similar position with the Western Transit company.

Miss Carrie Eldredge, formerly head of the cloak department at Howard & Haynie's, left today for Chicago, and after a visit with friends there will go to Asheville, N. C., to spend the summer.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 34; maximum yesterday, 42; minimum yesterday, 34.

Henrick Gunderson, a graduate of the Musical Conservatory of Christiania, Norway, and a former pupil of Gerard Tonning, is in the city and may remain here.

S. B. Haupt, vice president of the Ironton Structural Steel company, has returned from the East.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences is barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

HORSE SENSE AND NON-SENSE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Herald has always been fair and it has always recognized that every question has at least two sides. It is to present the side which seems to have been but poorly championed that these views are submitted.

A recent cartoon, speaking out its meaning in trumpet tones, discloses a gathering of distinguished citizens of both sexes. Those who enjoy their beer and wine without restraint and without hindrances in their own respective clubs, are engaged in a "talkfest," to devise, if possible, some means whereby to deprive the working man of his glass of beer. Is it not nobly generous of Mr. Solid Citizen—his own club cellar stocked securely with liquid refreshments, so safely protected by statute and public opinion that neither can reach them or him—I say, is it not most touching of him to interest himself in the welfare of the wage-earner, even to the extent of depriving him of his beer and of a spot where he can drink it?

The saloon is the poor man's club, but, listen to "the anointed" say it, It is wicked! It is low! It should be abolished! Why, bless your heart, it is not half so wicked as the soft-carpeted clubrooms with the clinking cognacs and the high-stake plays,—even into the wee hours of early morn,—and the soothing click of the red, white and blue chips!

Wicked, low. Suffering Moses! It is indeed time to sit up and take notice. The writer has seen a little of both, and you can take it from him. The main difference is, that what is done in the saloon is newspaper talk next day, whereas what goes on between club members! Well, that a question of confidences between gentlemen.

The second picture of the cartoon mentioned shows certain young girls,—and young men,—the offspring of "the eminently respectable" papas and mammas of the first picture, going through the capers, twists and contortions of bunny-hugs, teddy-bear canters, tango trots, and other lasciviously indecent but much beloved antics of the socially elect, whereby the "unsuspecting young thing" of the present day is speedily brought down to the level of her highness, the street walker. The whole moral of the satire is thus driven home, with brilliant point and purpose.

Here we have indeed a class which has developed a genius for managing everybody's business—but its own—these of the socially self-righteous. One wonders if these same mothers know that the harm done their young girls through disgustingly suggestive dances, coupled with the late and irregular hours, the frenzied and limitless consumption of sweetmeats, and the free reading of present-day salacious sex literature, produces more anemic, prematurely-old young women than ever before in the world's history. When one thinks that this flock of hysterically vain and erotic young womanhood is to be the motherhood of the race of tomorrow, it is enough to—almost enough to compel some of these same eminently respectable mothers to occupy themselves with their daughters' upbringing.

But no, they hear duty's call far afield, and they must away. What matters it if their own home be burning down, if they can devise some pretext to meddle with their neighbors? And forth they go, filled with the fire of their own holy enthusiasm—and ignorance. What is it to them that the rising tide of sensualities, private scandals, multiplying divorces, hysterical elopements, and snap-judgment marriages admonish them first to get the beam out of their own eye?

"Oh, what harm can there be in a tango step?" declares the half-baked intelligence of the mamma of the period. Her obtuse faculties prevent her seeing the subtle and deadlier vice which eats the heart out of young womanhood and manhood. Her but-half-awakened senses enable her only to see the obvious—the crudeness of that imperfect but not-altogether-bad institution, called the saloon. And so her own house burns because she is too busily occupied saving the nation.

The saloon question will ultimately be solved—not by destructive demagogues, but by constructive minds. Beer in itself is good—not bad. Abroad nothing is oftener prescribed for the broken-down American stomach than beer. Tens of thousands of "successful Americans," broken in body and strength by unwise courses of diet at home, with systems saturated with caffeine poisons, have found lengthened years through the use of German beer, prescribed by the world-famed specialists of Karlsbad, Weisbaden, and the hundred-odd cure-places which cover the landscape from Innsbruck to Kissengen.

Our own Outlook, and other reviews of wide vision and wise leadership, admonish against the folly of so-called nation-wide prohibition. The tide is already setting the other way. New England states, which have tried prohibition for a generation, have returned to local option, and Minneapolis' crushing defeat of prohibition last fall will be remembered in Minnesota for a while yet.

The extremist—like the poor—we have always with us, monopolizing the center of the stage. Are we never to occupy any tolerant middle ground, ever dangling at either extremity of the political pendulum's swing? "Man never is, but always to be blessed." There is no happy mean. Our reformers let us run loose for years—so kind of them!—without so much as a spiritual bath,—but once their zeal is worked up to fever-pitch, we are corraled and scrubbed until the skin comes off!

TIMBER STEALING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please me allow me space in the Open Court to contradict some of the statements ascribed to Mr. Arneson in the Sunday News Tribune, relative to irregularities made by myself, in turning in reports of timber cutting on state land.

Mr. Arneson states that in no case will he report anything on hearsay. Then he goes on to explain that on Dec. 14, 1915, the writer sent in a report of cutting on section 3, 69-24, which amounted to $64.25, and that this report aroused his suspicion. He did not stop to consider, nor did he examine his books to see, whether or not there had been any previous cutting on this section. There had been, and this small report was only a clean up for the following season.

Then he also finds fault because later I happened to be on the land and discovered where I had missed some timber, or at least thought I had; and at that, I am not positive but what the lumber company has paid twice for some of that timber.

It is like this: There had been timber cut late in the spring of 1915, and could not be hauled. This was scaled up, reported by the surveyor general, and paid for. Then the lumber company began cleaning up the balance of timber left to cut. These two cuttings were so close together that it was very difficult to distinguish them apart. Mr. Arneson does not know any of these particulars; neither does he ask for any explanation; and his report, the writer considers, is considerably worse than hearsay, and deems it purely imagination.

Why doesn't Mr. Arneson ask me to go before the timber board and explain, and give me some chance to defend myself, instead of trying to ridicule me and place me before the public as a timber thief?

He doesn't seem to be satisfied with my losing my position, but wants to make it appear that I am dishonest, so that no one else will employ me.

In the case, where Mr. Arneson refers to permit No. 2,817, purchased by T. J. Lofgren on section 26, 61-28, and claims I reported no cutting done during the winter of 1914-15, I will say that I do not know a man by the name of Lofgren, neither did I make a report on the section referred to. Yours for equal rights,

J. H. BEAGLE.

WANTS MORE SEVERE LAWS ON CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

To the Editor of The Herald:

Cruelty to animals is a subject that is very little discussed although it is a topic of great consequence and worthy to be profoundly investigated.

In this twentieth century, the era of boasted civilization, you would not think that we would yet have with us a biped monster that would be guilty of an atrocity similar to the act committed near Munger terrace on the night of April 11, when two cats were tied together and flung over the limb of a tree and left to die or claw each other to death. Cruelty to animals is the most ghastly passion that ever trod on men's ruined nature, and has degraded some to such an extent that they seem to have forgotten that they ever were human beings, and have become the most heinous beasts in the whole creation. It is painful to think of any one so debased that he will tie two dumb and innocent animals together and leave them to die the most painful death, with no other aim than the gratification of his diabolical passions.

Inability is the only thing that prevents such incarnated demons from practicing the very same abominable cruelty on human beings, and enormous wickedness is the only thing that will afford them pleasure. If we did not know it for sure we would refuse to believe that anything with an external human form would sink so far below a true purpose. Human beings have, or are supposed to have, a conception of right and wrong; but perpetrators guilty of such deeds have been deprived of all human feelings, if they ever had any. In the location of their miserable carcass where there ought to be a heart, there is a venomous ulcer which actuates the wretch in all kinds of crimes and iniquities.

Although the laws we have at present are not severe enough to handle adequately such cases, there is no reason why we should not have such laws for the future. It is about time for the human race to do something to rid itself of these disgusting, conspicuous stains. To punish such crimes for the sake of punishment only is worthless. On conviction of such a horrible crime, the degenerate should be placed in a position where he would be prevented from repeating such an act. As cruel disposition to a great extent is hereditary, a degenerate, when he reaches such a degree of cruelty, should be physically altered and prevented from propagating.

Cruelty to animals should not be tolerated in this progressive age, but till we earnestly endeavor to do away with it we might just as well relinquish all pretensions to enlightenment and civilization.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

E. P. La Flohic, Duluth: What is the largest shark ever known to have been taken? Was a shark ever known to weigh 1,000 pounds?

Ans.: There is a record of the capture of one of the "Rhinodon typicus" species that was more than 45 feet long, but its weight was not even estimated. The porbeagle sharks reach 40 feet in length and some others average 30 to 40 feet. Whales, the weight of which is ascertained through weighing the blubber, have been found, when 90 feet long, to weigh 140 tons, and when 50 feet long to weigh from 40 to 60 tons. It would seem reasonable to suppose that a shark 40 feet long would weigh several tons, though no statistics on that point are available.

Charles E. Christopher, Cloquet, Minn.: Why does the D., M. & N. Railroad company instruct its foremen not to hire men of one certain nationality?

Ans.: Officials of that company say that no such orders have been issued.

"A Reader," Duluth: (1) Is there an assay office in Duluth? (2) Can any one get assaying done there? (3) Are members of the state militia compelled to fight, in case of war?

Ans.: (1) and (2) Yes. (3) Under present laws, no, unless they enlist. Under a bill passed by the senate last week and now before the house, they would be made subject to Federal call and orders

FINISHING A BIRCH BARK APARTMENT HOUSE.

For Rent—Seventy-four modern homes, with your choice of cottages, flats or duplex houses; for rent until next winter. Rates reasonable.

The above "wantad" is for birds which have wintered in the South, and which are just coming back to Duluth and Northern Minnesota for the summer months.

Boys at the Salter, Endion and Jefferson schools, in the East end, have made no less than seventy-four model homes for their feathered friends, in their manual training department work.

Several weeks ago J. A. Sund, principal of the Salter school, began a study of birds and bird life, with the view of interesting the boys in the various grades. The result has been the bird houses, some of which have been made at home, and some in the school. Boys from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades have made most of the houses, although some youngsters enrolled in the fourth and fifth grades have tried their hands at it.

"Before making the houses," said Principal Sund, "the boys have studied the habits of the various birds, and have gone into the matter quite thoroughly, so as to be sure that the house, when finished, would be suited to the needs of the kind of bird for which it was intended.

"It is surprising to notice the degree of interest taken in birds and bird life by the students. One boy in our school has kept a diary, telling of the movements of various kinds of birds he has noticed, for the past three years."

The houses made at the three schools probably will be exhibited before they are placed in the trees near the homes of the various boys.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following: "Gerry's Rock," from Maud McCann of McKinley, Minn. "Kate Shelley," from Mrs. L. C. Gerard-Harris of International Falls, Minn.

Two Little Girls in Blue.

An old man gazed on a photograph
In the locket he'd worn for years.
His nephew asked him the reason why
That locket had caused him tears.
"Come listen," he said, "and I'll tell you, lad,
A story that's strange but true:
Your father and I at the school one day
Met two little girls in blue.
Chorus.
"Two little girls in blue, lad;
Two little girls in blue;
They were sisters, we were brothers
And learned to love the two.
And one little girl in blue, lad,
Who won your father's heart,
Became your mother. I married the other,
But we have drifted apart.

"That picture is one of those girls," he said;
"And to me she was once a wife.
I thought her unfaithful. We quarreled, lad,
And parted that night for life.
My fancy of jealousy wronged a heart,
A heart that was good and true;
For two better girls never lived than they—
Those two little girls in blue."

Gerry's Rock.

Come all of you brave shanty boys and listen while I relate Concerning a brave river man and of his untimely fate;
Concerning a bold shanty boy, so manly, true and brave.
It was on the jam at Gerry's Rock he met a watery grave.

It was on one Sunday morning, as you will quickly hear;
The logs were piled up mountain high; we could not keep them clear.
"Turn out! Turn out!" our foreman cried; "Turn out devoid of fear,
And we'll break the jam at Gerry's Rock and for Eggan Town we'll steer."

Now some of them were willing, and others they were not,
For breaking jams on Sunday they didn't think they'd ought.
But six of our Canadian boys did volunteer to go
And break the jam at Gerry's Rock with their foreman, Jack Munroe.

They had not rolled off many logs when they heard his clear voice say,
"I'd bid you, boys, be on your guard, The jam will soon give way."
The words were scarcely spoken, when the jam did break and go,
And carried down the six brave lads and their foreman, Jack Munroe.

When the rest of the brave shanty boys the sad news came to hear
Straightway to the river with their comrades they did steer.
Some of the mangled bodies floating down did go,
While bruised and bleeding near the bank was that of Young Munroe.

They dragged him from his watery grave, brushed back his raven hair.
There was a form among them whose sad cries rent the air.
There was a form among them—a girl from Saginaw town,
Whose screams and cries reached to the skies for her true love who'd gone down.

Fair Clara was a noble girl, the river man's true friend.
She, with her aged mother, lived at the river's bend.
The wages of her own true love the boss to her did pay,
And the shanty boys made up for her a handsome purse that day.

We buried him in sorrow. It was on tenth of May.
Come all of you brave shanty boys, and for your comrade pray.
We dug his grave both deep and wide, and on a tree we carved below
The name and date of the sad sad fate of our foreman, Jack Munroe.

Fair Clara did not long survive. Her heart broke with its grief.
And scarcely three months afterwards death came to her relief.
And as the time had passed away and she was called to go,
Her last request was granted, to be placed by Young Munroe.

Come all of you young shanty boys, I'd have you come and see
The two graves by the river side where grows the hemlock tree.
The river man cleared away the woods from the lovers there laid low.
'Twas handsome Clara Vernon and her true love, Jack Munroe.

Just Plain Folks.

To a mansion in the city came a couple old and gray
To meet their son who'd left them long ago.
He had prospered and grown wealthy since in youth he ran away,
And now his life was one of fun and show.
But coldly did he greet them, for his friends were by his side,
Who'd often heard him boast of home so grand.
But the old man sadly looked at him and said in modest pride,
As he gently took his dear wife by the hand:
Chorus.
"We are just plain folks—your mother and me;
Just plain folks—like your own folks used to be.
As our presence seems to grieve you
We will go away and leave you,
For we're sadly out of place here, 'cause we're just plain folks.

"'Taint so long ago since you was but a simple country lad,
And did the work a country lad should do.
In those days you never looked with shame on mother and old dad;
In fact, my boy, we both were proud of you.
But something must have changed you, or your wealth has brought vain pride.
Still, riches sometimes take with wings, they say.
But you'll always find a hearty welcome at your parents' side.
They will greet you in the same, old, loving way."

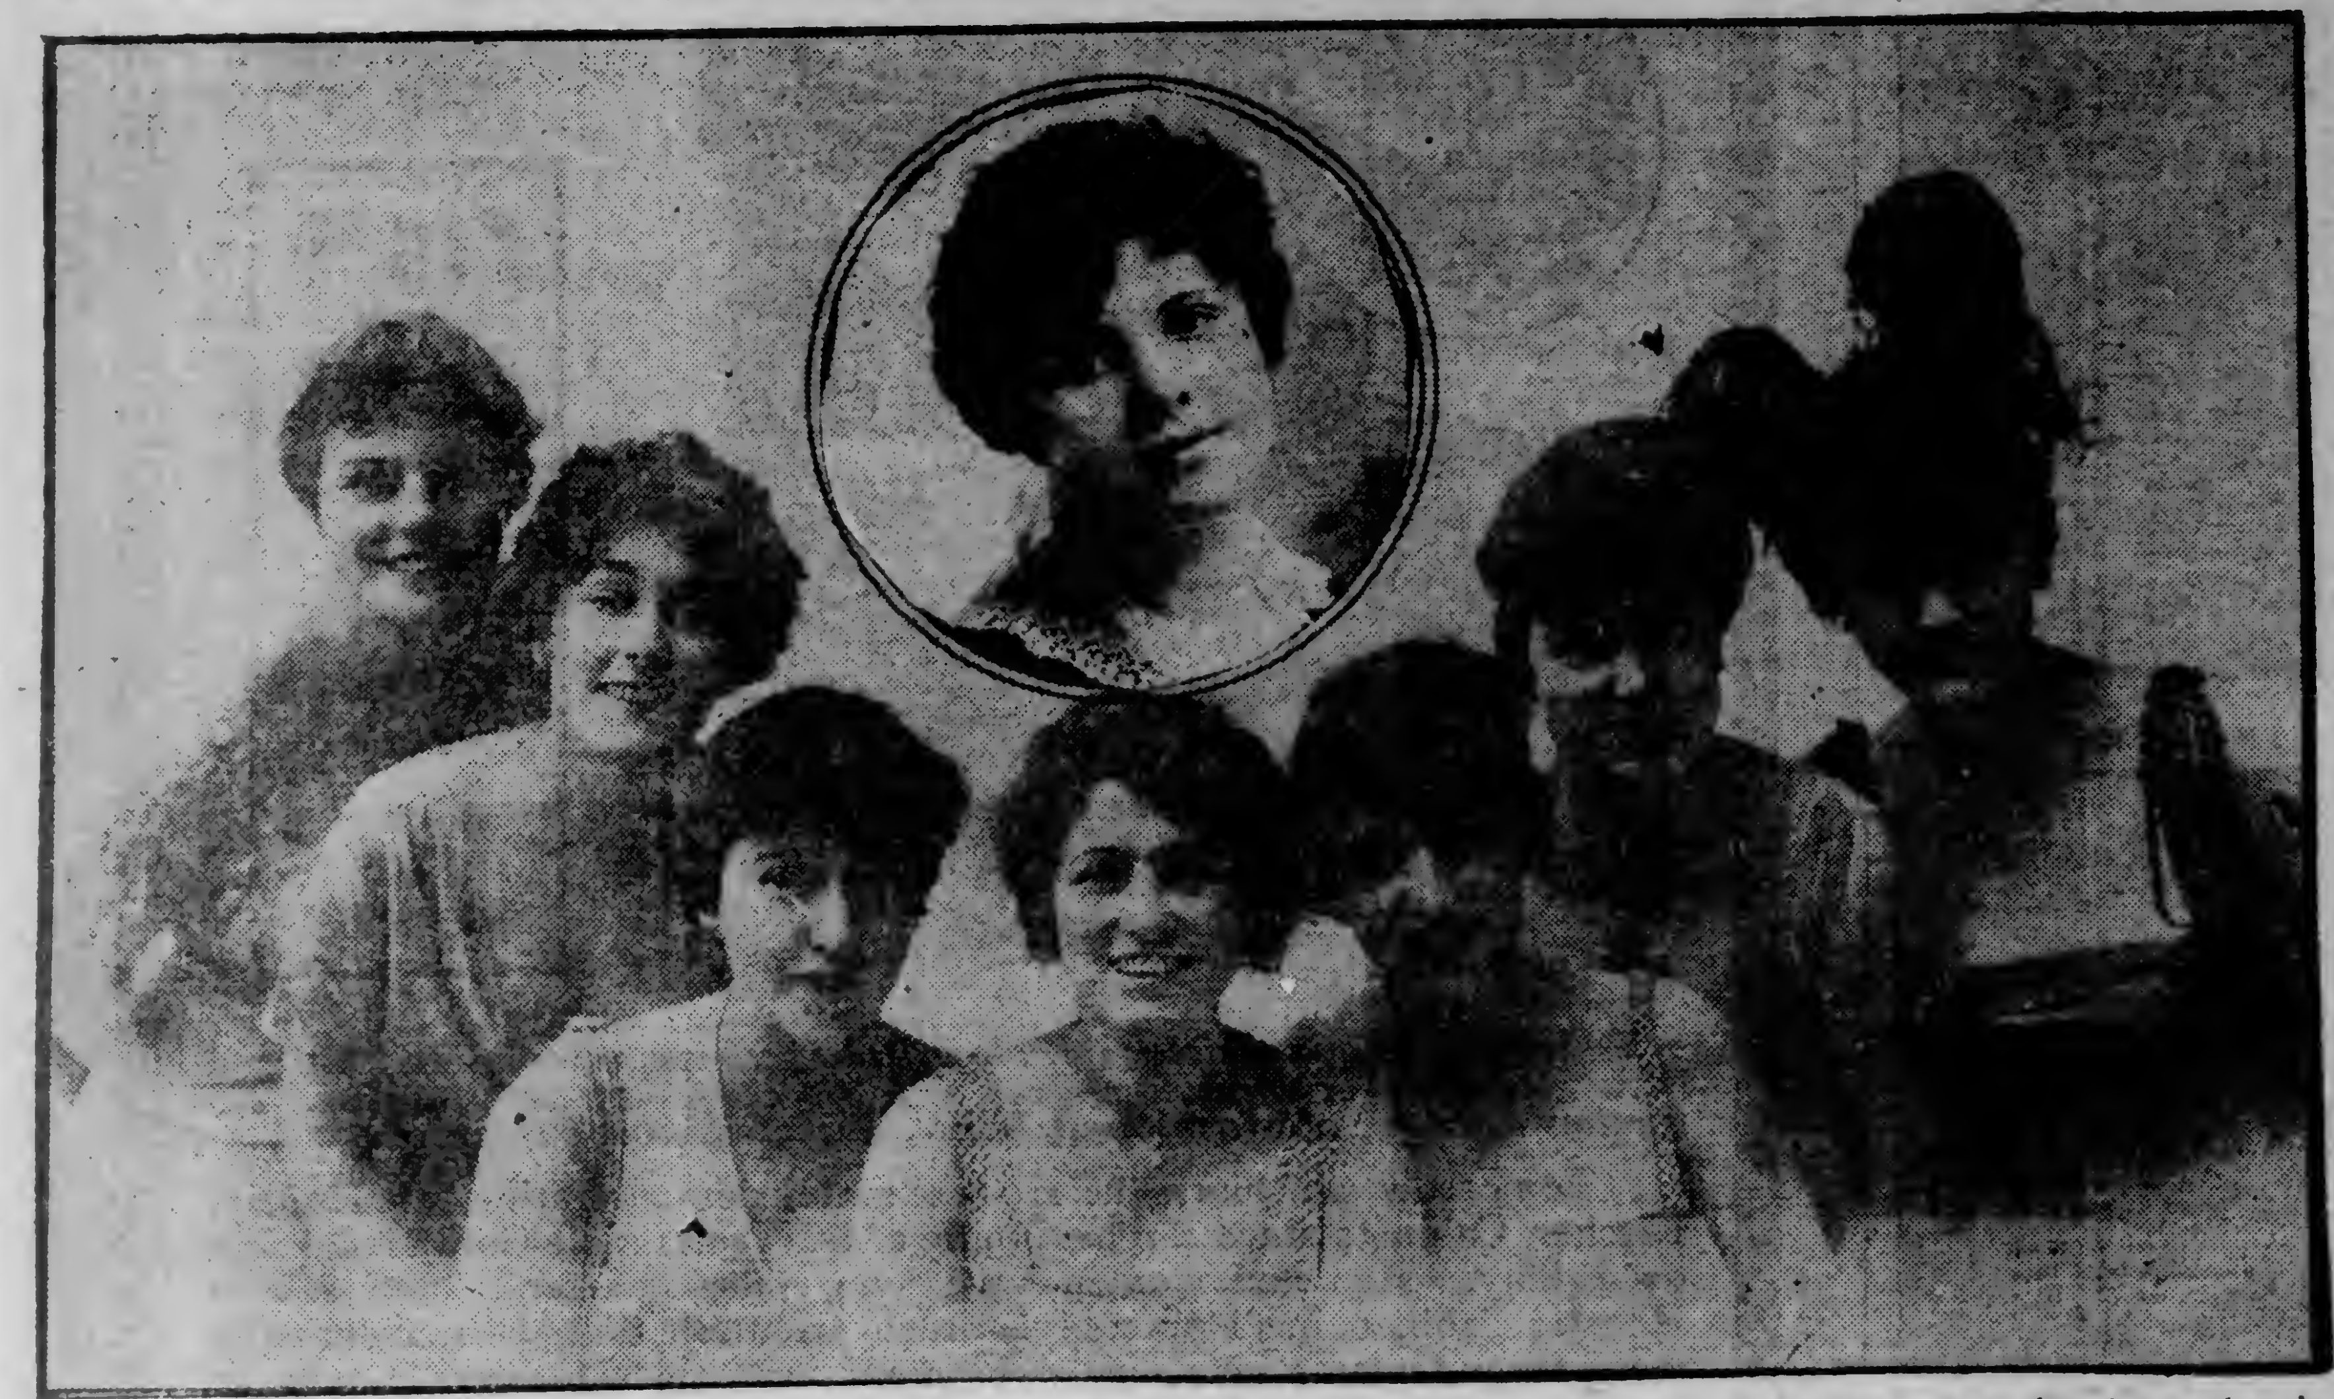
WITH "THE ONLY GIRL" IN DULUTH

EDNA MUNSEY AND SOME OF "THE ONLY GIRL" BEAUTIES



Joe Weber will present "The Only Girl," the greatly talked about musical play which has been looked forward to with marked interest, at the Lyceum theater for three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and a matinee on Saturday.

"The Only Girl" ran practically all of last season in New York City and was one of the two greatest musical comedy successes of a rather spare year in theatricals.

It was produced by Joe Weber first at the Twenty-ninth Street theater, after a short run there, being transferred to the larger Lyric theater, where it finished its season in a blaze of glory well along to the summer months. "The Only Girl" was written by Henry Blossom, who provided the book and lyrics with a musical setting so brilliant that it could only have emanated from America's greatest composer, Victor Herbert, while it was staged under the supervision of Fred G. Latham, all three of these gentlemen having been associated together in other and no less brilliant productions.

They worked together in the same relation as author, composer and stage director in the production of "Mlle. Modiste," "The Red Mill" and Princess Pat," all of them "big hits." "The Only Girl" is described as a play with music, and critics have admitted the originality of its story and the wittiness of the lines and the evident effort of the author to produce an entertainment quite out of the ordinary. Manager Weber promises a first-class production of his new play en tour and claims with pride that it will be one of the most gorgeously dressed affairs of the kind, a veritable "musical comedy of fashion." Of the cast may be mentioned Edna Munsey, Cecelia Novasia, Elsie Baird, Nellie De Grasse, Regina Richards, Ann Walker, Franklyn Farnum, Tom Burton, Frank Coombs, Russell Lennon and Alfred Fisher. There'll be a chorus of pretty girls and an augmented orchestra.

DECLARES U. S. NAVY IN GOOD CONDITION

Is Much Better Prepared Than Country Realizes, Says N. F. Hugo.

N. F. Hugo, lieutenant commander of the Minnesota Naval Militia, arrived in Duluth yesterday following two months' experience in "peace fighting" with the American Atlantic fleet in Cuba. This experience, he declares, will be utilized in whipping into shape the green tars on the Topeka, Duluth's new training ship that will displace the old Gopher.

The Atlantic fleet, under the command of Admiral Frank Fechteler, comprises four divisions, the first two of which embrace the first-line ships on which are mounted the 12 and 14-inch guns. Mr. Hugo was stationed on the flagship Florida of the second division, the same boat on which Admiral Fechteler was commanding the work. On this boat there were 48 officers and 1,002 men.

The maneuvers took place in Guantanamo bay, Cuba, which Commmander Hugo declared, was an ideal place for the work. It is the United States naval base in the Carribean sea, and the two months' maneuvers comprised practically everything that could possibly be experienced in actual fighting. There were day and night target practice, endurance runs, battle formations and scout work, and some exceptionally good records were made in all of the work.

Lieut. Hugo declared that the United States fleet was far better prepared for war than most persons realized after the flaming attacks that have been made on it. Navy officials will not give out the exact results, but it is known that they were better than was expected.

SOFT DRINK FIXTURES AT BRAINERD SOLD

Brainerd, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fixtures and supplies seized in the soft drinks place conducted by Joseph Segett were ordered sold and the proceeds will go into the general fund of the city, by order of Judge Gustav Halvorson of the municipal court. This is the first sale of the kind in Brainerd. Segett first failed to appear in court but a bench warrant eventually located him and he pleaded guilty to keeping an unlicensed drinking place.

"During all my travels from coast to coast I have not found a single dry-cleaning establishment that gave me such splendid satisfaction as the work of the Orpheum Cleaners in good old Duluth."

MISS MUNSEY, Duluth's own musical comedy star, will be glad to get back to Duluth and pleased to return her gowns to the Orpheum Cleaners, where they will be dry cleaned for the opening performance on Thursday evening.

BIG FARGO PAVING JOB.

ty Invites Bids to Improve Nineteen Blocks.

Fargo, N. D., April 18.—(Special to e Herald.)—Bids will be received by the city for approximately nineteen blocks of new paving to be laid this year in the Seventh ward which will give a complete paved way from the business part of the city to the North Dakota Agricultural college, and has been the desire of the school authorities and the residents of the Seventh ward for a long time.

The new paving will be constructed on Sixth avenue north from the end of the present paving to midway between Ninth and Tenth streets, on Tenth street from Sixth avenue to Eleventh avenue north, on Tenth avenue from Broadway to Tenth street north, on Eleventh avenue from Broadway to Thirteenth street north and on Thirteenth street from Eleventh to Twelfth avenue, the agricultural college corner.

Bids will be called for on asphalt, creosote block, vitrified brick, Portland cement concrete, bituminous concrete and bitulithic.

MINISTERS OPPOSE SUNDAY MOVIE SHOWS

Brainerd, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Appearing before the city council, a delegation from the local ministerial conference, Rev. M. L. Hostager, Rev. R. E. Cody and Rev. G. P. Sheridan asked that moving picture shows be closed on Sunday. The council took the matter under consideration.

My Goodness, But I Was Surprised

WHEN I happened by Salie's classy tailoring establishment at Room 111, Oak Hall building Do you know, ladies, they are already displaying the new Spring materials, including the season's fashionable grays, so popular in eastern style-centers. I couldn't resist the temptation to drop in and select my new Spring Suit, and when they told me how reasonable they would make it I did not think it possible. No wonder they are becoming so popular with the women of Duluth who appreciate the best in workmanship and material at reasonable prices.

DULUTH GIRL COMES AS STAR

Edna Munsey in "The Only Girl" Will Be Honored By Elks.

Duluth will this week have the first opportunity of seeing Miss Edna Munsey in a traveling production.

The career of Miss Munsey has been watched with closer interest by Duluthians than that of any other young woman from this city, who has ever chosen the stage for her profession.

Her first visit here was in vaudeville, at the Orpheum, and she set a record for attendance at that theater that was never equalled, even by Annette Kellerman.

Later she appeared with the Baldwin stock company, and she set an attendance record for the stock company which was never equalled. Now she is coming in the production in which she has been appearing all season, "The Only Girl," which will be seen at the Lyceum Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with a Saturday matinee. Saturday night will be Elks' night, and the members of the Duluth lodge will turn out in a body to welcome the daughter of their former exalted ruler, George S. Munsey.

Miss Munsey's popularity in her home city is based first on her ability which is proven by her rapid rise in the theatrical profession, without any influences to even secure for her a favorable hearing; and secondly on the fact that her success has in no way affected her attitude toward her former friends and acquaintances in Duluth.

Community Picnic.

Brainerd, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers and their wives, officers and directors of the County Federation of Farmers' clubs met at the Chamber of Commerce with business men of Brainerd to plan for the community picnic to be held here next summer in Brainerd. A $50 prize is to be awarded the farmers club making the exhibit of home grown products.

VON PAPEN IS INDICTED

Recalled German Attache Chief Plotter in Welland Canal Conspiracy.

Several Others Charged By Grand Jury With Aiding in Plot.

New York, April 18.—Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled military attache to the German embassy at Washington, was indicted by the Federal grand jury here yesterday as the organizer and financier of an alleged conspiracy to blow up the Welland canal in Canada. With him also were indicted Capt. Hans Tauscher, alleged agent of the Krupps in the United States and husband of Mme. Johanna Gadski, the prima donna; Constantine Govani, Alfred J. Fritzen and another man whose namo has ot been revealed. It was learned from a reliable source, that the last named is a prominent German, whose name has been mentioned frequently in connection with German propaganda.

Federal officials do not expect to bring von Papen to trial. While he is no longer immune from prosecution by the United States civil authorities, since he ceased to be a member of the German embassy staff, the ofense with which he is charged, is not extraditable under any treaty with a foreign government.

Establishes Precedent.

The indictment, it is understood, was returned with the sanction of the department of justice, and is believed to establish a precedent. No effort will be made to have von Papen brought here, but the indictment will be held in abeyance in case he should ever return to the United States.

The indictment charges, in addition to the Welland canal plot, that it was the purpose and intent of the defendants to blow up and destroy other plants in Canada.

Von Papen was designated by the Federal officials as the "brains" of the alleged conspiracy.

It is alleged in the indictment that he, with the others began, set on foot, provided and prepared the means for a certain military enterprise to be carred on from within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States against the territory and dominions of the king of Great Britain, with whom the United States at all times mentioned, was and is at peace.

The names made public were, according to the indictment, merely agents and employes of von Papen, who planned the conspiracy and furnished the money and high explosives.

Five Carried Dynamite.

The five men alleged to have carried dynamite and other explosives in suitcases to Niagara Falls, where the plot was abandoned, were Horst von der Goltz, also known as Franz Hobart Wachendorf, known also as Bridgman Taylor, Fritzen, Govani, Carl Tuschendler and Joachim Busse. Von der Goltz, who was later arrested in England, returned to the United States, accompanied by a detective from Scotland Yard and gave important testimony to the government here.

John T. Ryan, an attorney and prominent in politics in Buffalo, was named in the indictment as the man who acted as intermediary in the payment of money by von Papen to von der Goltz. On two occasions, in September, 1914, it is alleged, von Papen paid $200 to von der Goltz through a Buffalo bank and Ryan. A previous payment of $200 also is said to have been made to von der Goltz! Checks and checkbook stubs of these transactions are in the possession of the United States district attorney.

Supplied Explosives.

Capt. Tauscher, head of the Tauscher Arms company here, supplied the explosives to von der Goltz, the indictment charges, while von Papen furnished "electric generator fuses and wires."

In August, 1914, according to the indictment, five sailors from the interned German liner Bavaria, at Baltimore, were brought to New York by the alleged conspirators to aid in the plot, but they were subsequently returned to their ship. Arrangements then were made, it is charged for the five men named in the indictment to undertake the expedition.

BIG SUMS FOR IMPROVEMENTS

City's Summer Work in Streets and Parks Now Well Under Way.

Many Paving Contracts Let; Cleaning Boulevards, Beautifying Reservoirs.

Spring cleaning has begun in Duluth parks and along the boulevards.

After awarding several paving contracts which involved an aggregate of $75,000, commissioners yesterday provided for the beautification of various parks and approved plans for cleaning and sprinkling several additional streets.

In addition to the East Superior street paving job, from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, which will cost $47,595.15, they awarded a contract to E. A. Dahl & Co. for $12,601.85, for paving Eighth street from Twenty-second to Twenty-fifth avenue west. They also awarded a $13,222 contract to D. H. Clough & Co. for paving Nineteenth avenue east from Fourth to Eighth street, and one for $4,259.50 to E. A. Dahl & Co. for paving Fifth avenue west from Superior street to the county courthouse.

Trees and shrubbery will be planted at four city pumping stations, and the grounds will be sodded and beautified, in accordance with a contract for $780.40, which was let to the J. J. Le Borious company.

The grounds to be improved are at the Woodland pumping station, the Orphanage pumping station, the main reservoir at Thirty-fourth avenue east and Lakewood station.

A resolution calling for $306 for underground cable for the fire department was approved, as were resolutions calling for minor sums to be used in the purchase of water and light department equipment.

Commissioner Merritt asked the council to appropriate an additional $6,000 for the bridge and inverted siphon to be built at Tischer's creek, Thirty-second avenue east and First street. The first appropriation was for $9,000.

Water and gas mains will be extended from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth avenue east in Second street, and in Greenwood street to Waverly park.

Sanitary sewers were ordered in Coates street from Jenswold street to Magellan street and in Glen Avon Second division at Columbus avenue.

Petitioners have asked for the paving and improving of Twentieth avenue east from Fifth to Eighth street and West end citizens, represented by O. A. Wicklund as secretary of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, want a sanitary sewer connecting with the main in Forty-ninth avenue west and Oneota street in order to care for the Oneota school.

Citizens also petitioned for improvement work on St. Andrews street from Woodland avenue to Vermilion road, asking that it be graded and surfaced with gravel.

A large quantity of crushed rock from the Point of Rocks will be hauled for the city by the street railway company, judging from the contracts awarded by the council upon motion of Commissioner Farrell.

Nine contracts, calling for the delivery of quantities of crushed rock to as many different sections of the city, were awarded, the prices ranging from 30 to 48 cents per cubic yard, according to the distance the material is to be hauled.

TO MAKE BELTRAMI DRY.

Petitions to That End Now Being Circulated and Signed.

Bemidji, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the first day of the campaign for signers for a petition for the county option election to be held in Beltrami county in August, more than 200 names were obtained in this city. The petition is being circulated here by Rev. J. E. Cadwell of Nymore, a suburb, and P. L. Brown of this city. Petitions have been sent to all parts of the county and reports from other sections of the county indicate that the result of the election in August will be a victory for the drys.

—that to equal this Studebaker SIX in power and size, you must pay nearly a third more;

—that no other SIX within hundreds of dollars of its price gives such POWER and flexibility;

—that no other 7-passenger SIX at its price gives the 122-inch wheelbase that insures the comfort and riding-ease this Studebaker SIX is famous for;

—that no other car on the market, irrespective of price, gives more basic quality of materials, more excellence of design, more perfection of finish.

Why pay more for a Six that gives no more? We invite every man who is going to buy a car to come in and see this new Studebaker — and we'll put it through any test for performance, comfort or quality that you can think of.

FIRST FATALITY ON ACCOUNT OF FLOOD

Double Drowning Near Fisher, Minn., Very Tragic Event.

Crookston, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tragic death of August J. Wentzel and his 13-year-old son, Paul, on their farm near Fisher yesterday, as related in The Herald, was the first fatality this year due to the high water. They were trying to save some cordwood, and were using a grain tank as a boat into which they were loading the wood. There was considerable current and suddenly the big tank turned over. Mr. Wentzel seized his son, but the icy water overcame him and the two went down.

Bodies Catch in Fence.

The bodies were found a half hour later as a wire fence prevented them from being carried down-stream. Mr. Wentzel was one of a family of nine children, all grown, who live in the vicinity of Crookston and Fisher, all being born here, and he leaves a widow and seven children. The son who drowned with him was the oldest of the family, and was confirmed in the German Lutheran church near Fisher the day before the tragedy.

DANCE HALL TO CONTINUE

Council Refuses to Revoke License of Modern Woodmen.

Samaritans to Dance After Eleven Years; Other Permits Granted.

City commissioners refused to revoke the dance hall license of the Modern Woodman lodge at Twenty-first avenue west and First street, when the question was put to them yesterday.

Safety Commissioner Silberstein, after his resolution calling for a revocation was read, argued against the measure himself, and made a motion that it be tabled.

Police officials wanted the license revoked, claiming that Saturday night dances at the place were a source of much disorder. A patrolman, N. R. Magnuson, who attempted to quell a disturbance on the night of April 8, was severely beaten, his arm being broken.

"The management of the hall and many West end citizens have declared that the place is conducted in an orderly way," said Commissioner Silberstein, "and I am satisfied that it would not be right to revoke the license."

When other licenses were brought up for consideration, the safety commissioner said:

"The Modern Samaritans, at 19 North Twentieth avenue west, haven't danced for eleven years, and I think they deserve a license." It was granted.

The various other licenses to be approved were:

Employment offices—J. A. Scanlan, at 411½ West Michigan street; N. O. Sundby, at 401 West Michigan street; J. P. Buckley, at 517 West Michigan street.

Pool and billiards—Peder Paulson, five tables, at 522½ West Superior street; John Maki, at 226 South First avenue east, five pool tables.

Plumbers—D. Martino, at 5514 Raleigh street; John P. Nystrom, at 1313 South Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Cigarettes—J. R. Paquette, at 1402 Commonwealth avenue; Wirth Drug company, at 13 West Superior street; Alex Kyyhkyner, at 10 North Sixth avenue west being a transfer from 18½ North Sixth avenue west; David Davis, agent, at 501 West Superior street.

Auctioneers—E. Witz, at 216½ West Superior street.

Dance halls—Modern Samaritans, at 19 North Twentieth avenue west.

WILL ENTERTAIN VASA DELEGATES

District Meeting Will Attract Members From Four States.

Plans for entertaining the annual district meeting of the Order of Vasa will be taken up at the meeting of Sons of Sweden lodge No. 170, this evening at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue and First street. The district convention will be held in Duluth on May 22 and 23.

A committee to work with other committees, representing Gustaf Adolph, Gosta and Sophia lodges will be appointed. The entertainment to be planned for the delegates will include a banquet and dance.

It is expected that about 500 members of the society will be attracted to Duluth during the convention. The district includes lodges in Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and part of the Dakotas.

MAY IMPROVE PAVING THIS YEAR

Resurfacing or Repairs Planned for Twenty-Seventh Avenue.

Twenty-seventh avenue property owners are looking forward to some improvement being made to the paving this year. They say that the public works department last year promised that the street would be resurfaced with asphalt, and that this improvement would be carried out this spring.

"We have been waiting for some mention of this improvement by the commissioners, but so far it has not come up," said John Moir, 320 North Twenty-seventh avenue. "We were promised that something would be done this spring to place the street in good shape."

Twenty-seventh avenue was paved two years ago with concrete. Shortly after the paving was put into use it began to show defects. This, say the owners of property along the street, was as much the fault of the city for not properly inspecting the work, as it was the fault of the contractor. Some of the money due the contractor on the job has been held back, and this was to be used in repairing or resurfacing the street.

MAY HOLD GARDEN CONTEST AGAIN

Commercial Club Will Discuss Plans at Thursday Meeting.

Whether the West End Commercial club will have active charge of a garden contest this year will be discussed at the meeting of the club to be held Thursday evening at Simonson's hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. Many of the members favor taking up the proposition again.

Two years ago the club had charge of a similar contest, which proved successful and created a large amount of interest among the children of this end of the city. Last year a committee of the business men took charge of the affair and carried the contest through the season.

The club will also discuss the question of getting better warning devices for railroad crossings in this end of the city. Several railroad crossings are said to be dangerous and in need of bells or gates which will warn drivers or people walking on the streets crossing the railroad.

St. Paul's Church Notes.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet tomorrow afternoon in the church parlors. The hosts will be Mrs. M. Olson and Mrs. Thomas Olafson.

Holy communion will be celebrated at the church Thursday evening.

Special services will be held Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. K. B. Vaaler will speak.

Easter morning services will be held Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. Special Easter music will be sung by the choir. The choir will hold its final rehearsal tomorrow evening in the church.

Dahl Gets Contract.

The paving of West Eighth street between Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth avenue west will begin at once. The contract was awarded yesterday afternoon to A. E. Dahl & Co., at the firm's bid of $12,601.85. This bid also includes the paving of Twenty-second avenue from Eighth street to Piedmont avenue, a distance of about one block.

Would Vacate Easement.

Application for the vacation of the building line easement on Third street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west, was made yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the city commission. The vacation was wanted, it was explained, in order to allow the construction of a photograph gallery on the street. The commissioners deferred action in order to give other property owners an opportunity to protest. The application will be taken up at the meeting next Monday afternoon.

Passion Week Sermons.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will speak on "Christ's Prayer" at the Passion services this evening. A series of special services will be held throughout the week. Tomorrow evening he will speak on "Gethsemane," Thursday evening "The Cross," and Friday evening, "It Is Finished." Last evening the pastor's subject was "The Lord's Supper."

West End Briefs.

Raymond Anderson, who is attending the Minnesota university, has returned home to pass the Easter holidays with his mother, Mrs. A. O. Anderson, 2612 West Fifth street.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Central Baptist church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Churchill, 3815 West Third street.

Misses Edna Morrison and Katherine Gross, teachers at the Lincoln school, and Miss Ella Finney of the Jefferson school are guests of Mrs. A. F. Swanstrom, 425 North Twenty-first avenue west, at the Swanstrom cottage at Pike lake.

The funeral services for Walter Berg, aged 40, who died suddenly Friday afternoon, was held this afternoon from Olson & Hoppenyan's undertaking rooms. Burial was in Park Hill cemetery.

ARMORY CASE UP WEDNESDAY

Supreme Court Will Hear Plea to Dismiss Appeal.

The case of the old armory will come up before the state supreme court tomorrow on a motion to dismiss the appeal which has been made in behalf of the city.

Frank Crassweller, whom the city has retained as special counsel in this case, will ask the supreme court to dismiss the appeal so that the city may attempt in supplementary proceedings before the district court to have the case reopened.

John Jenswold, Jr., potentate of the Shrine here, and attorney for it in the suit, was served with the papers in the matter yesterday afternoon and will go to St. Paul tonight to appear before the supreme court in opposition to the motion tomorrow morning, when, it is expected, the case will come up.

In the papers filed in the motion it is recited that the motion is made because "it is desired to dismiss the appeal to endeavor to take further action in the district court in the way of a vacation of judgment and obtain permission to serve an amended answer in the proceedings to have the merits of said action more thoroughly presented upon an appeal to be taken thereafter if necessary."

As will be remembered, the case is the result of the sale of the old armory at Second avenue east and First street to Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, for $50,000 by the city. Agitation was begun at that time to prevent the city commissioners from consummating the deal. Labor leaders in the city, headed by Postmaster W. E. McEwen, urging that the building be preserved by the city and used as a public forum, where labor and other classes might hold their public meetings; and the basement to be used as a public market. Petitions were circulated to submit the matter to a vote of the people, but it was found that the petitions filed with the city clerk were insufficient, and the men interested sought then to obtain enough more signers to make up the deficiency. They were blocked when Mr. Jenswold, in behalf of the Shrine, demanded through the court a closing of the deal, representing that supplying extra signers after the petition was filed, was not legal; and he was sustained by the court. The city attorney, J. E. Samuelson, determined not to appeal the case but later members of the charter commission asked the city commissioners to take the matter up to the supreme court, and Mr. Crassweller was retained as special counsel.

MOVE GOODS WITH LIGHTER

Wholesale House Occupies Its New Quarters on Lake Avenue.

Moving the contents of a big wholesale warehouse by means of lighters is the novel plan successfully used by the Gowan-Lenning-Brown company in conveying its stocks from the old warehouse on Seventh avenue west to the new building on Lake avenue, near the United States ship canal.

The transfer of goods has been in progress for some time, and last night the "office" was moved. It will take three or four weeks to get everything in order at the new building, but when this has been done, the company will hold open house and invite Duluthians to inspect the newly completed warehouse. In the meantime the company is handling its business from the new quarters.

The moving operations have been on an extensive scale. About 100 extra men have been employed, and the work has been in progress night and day. This wholesale firm now has one of the finest and most modern warehouses in the Northwest.

SEEKING AUTO TOUR.

North Dakota Auto Association Desires Run to Yellowstone Park.

Fargo, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. W. Smith of this city, president of the North Dakota Automobile association, has wired the American Automobile association asking that body to sanction the "four-six-eight" tour from the Twin Cities to the Yellowstone National park, July 22 to Aug. 5.

This bid for the sanction of the national association is in competition with the Minnesota Automobile association and is in the nature of friendly rivalry for the official recognition of the tour.

The North Dakota association puts in a strong bid for the proposition as the run will be at Medora on July 24 and 25, the dates set for the dedication of the Red Trail bridge, which has been completed through funds secured from North Dakota and Montana towns with the assistance of Billings county.

This dedication is going to be the big automobile feature of the season and will attract a large number of autoists from all parts of the Northwest if there are any weather conditions at all at that time.

SAYS KNIGHT FORGED NAME

Medora, N. D., Stockman Makes New Charge Against Fargo Embezzler.

Alleges Man Now in Penitentiary Forged His Name to Notes.

Fargo, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—John H. McCormick, Fred G. Thomas as he was known in Louisville, Tenn., and A. M. Knight, as he was for years known here in Fargo and who is now serving a five-year term in the state penitentiary at Bismarck, will probably have to face other charges in the near future.

Will C. Collis, a prominent ranchman of Medora, N. D., has communicated with State Attorney A. W. Fowler of this city and will shortly be here to interview that official relative to a prosecution which he intends to bring against Knight.

Alleges Note Forgery.

Some time after Knight left here in 1912 leaving shortages in the Red Men's lodge of this city, the First National bank of this city sought from Collis, the Medora ranchman, the collection of notes, but which Collis claims were not signed by him and which he charges were forgeries. Just before he left Fargo Knight sold these notes to the Fargo bank.

Collis alleges that Knight forged these notes and states that he intends to prosecute the convicted man and thinks that he has the evidence that will increase his term in the North Dakota penitentiary. Collis also claims that forty-eight other people, most persons of small means who were also the victims of the self-confessed embezzler, will join with him in the prosecution.

TALK OF BURDICK AS CONGRESSMAN

Reported North Dakotan May Pull Out of Governorship Race.

Bismarck, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the efforts of Republicans to lessen their number of candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in the hope of defeating the non-partisan candidate it is reported that Usher L. Burdick of Williston may retire from the race and seek the congressional nomination in the Third district in opposition to Congressman Norton. Other reports are that his entry into the congressional race depends considerably upon the attitude of Leslie Simpson of Dickinson. The latter twice made the race for the congressional nomination and was defeated each time by Norton, although in the first race it was the second choice law that nominated Norton, Simpson having more first choice votes.

The assertion is made that Burdick, who resides in the northwestern corner of the state, can easily carry that entire section and with such a big lead that he could overcome Norton's majorities in the southern part of the district. It is stated that he would divide the former insurgent vote with Norton and would receive the bulk of the former stalwarts if Simpson is not in the race. A great deal of interest attaches to the rumors from the western part of the state and politicians have an ear to the ground.

Say Burdick Is Indifferent.

Most of them are inclined to credit the reports as it has been generally understood that Mr. Burdick did not care particularly to run for governor at this time unless he had the united Republican organization behind him. He was defeated two years ago in a factional fight and prefers to wait until the situation is improved. One of his often repeated assertions is that he is yet a young man and has a lot of time to become governor.

The efforts to eliminate either Fraine or Burdick have not been successful so far as Col. Fraine is concerned. He held that his candidacy had progressed to such a stage that to quit now would be to abandon a lot of his friends who had tendered their support and that he should continue in the race.

His friends admit that with Burdick out it would be a great deal easier to nominate and elect Fraine, but contend that if both remain in the contest Fraine will win at the primaries.

WILLISTON WILL SEE BUSY YEAR

Over $250,000 to Be Expended in Construction This Season.

Williston, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over a quarter million dollars will be spent in building improvements here this season. An annex to the Great Northern hotel will cost $40,000.

The La Due flats will cost $30,000. A business block will be erected by the First National bank costing $30,000.

The city is spending $30,000 on a white way. An addition to the high school building will cost $28,000. The proposed pontoon bridge across the Missouri will cost $10,000. It is estimated $100,000 will be spent in new residences.

WOMAN RECOMPENSED FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Iron Mountain, Mich., April 18.—Mrs. Edith Johnson of this place received $2,250 for the death of her husband who was killed by being struck by a bartender in the employ of Emil Carlson, local saloonkeeper. A damage suit against Carlson and his sureties had been started in circuit court when a settlement was agreed upon. The bartender who delivered the fatal blow was sent to Marquette prison where he died.

CONVICTED WHITE SLAVER APPEALS

Fargo, N. D., April 18.—Arthur Gillette, tried on a white slavery charge at the May term of the United States district court last year and was found guilty and sentenced to eighteen months at Leavenworth, has furnished $5,000 bail bonds on an appeal to the circuit court of appeals. His case will be argued some time next month in St. Paul. Gillette, it was alleged by the Federal officials, transported a young girl from Galesburg, N. D., for immoral purposes.

ITASCA COUNTY SLAYER IS FREED

Pardon Board Releases "Lifer" Coddington Who Served Thirteen Years.

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—William E. Coddington, who thirteen years ago began serving a life sentence in the Minnesota penitentiary after being convicted of the murder of William Kehring, was granted unconditional pardon by the state pardon board Monday.

Coddington was convicted on circumstantial evidence, but always maintained that he killed Kehring in self defense, in the Itasca county woods, north of Grand Rapids.

The case was taken up with 110 others a week ago, but the final decision of the pardon board was delayed until Monday. A petition signed by nearly the entire population of Grand Rapids was presented to the board.

TWO WISCONSIN GIRLS DROWNED

Sisters Lose Lives in Mississippi River Near Winona, Minn.

Winona, Minn., April 18.—Josephine Wiczorek, 21 years old, and Theodosia Wiczorek, 19 years old, sisters, were drowned in the Mississippi river Monday, within a stone's throw of the spot where the entire family of P. B. Crogan met the same fate a week ago.

The younger girl drove from her home at Bluff Siding, Wis., to Winona to meet her sister. When the girls reached the high bridge, a short distance from town, the horse became frightened. The older girl sprang from the buggy and ran behind it. The frightened horse backed the buggy onto her, and she fell into the river. In another moment her sister, still in the buggy was plunged into the water.

The bodies were recovered a short time later. The horse was also drowned.

FARMERS AROUND ISLE TO ESTABLISH CREAMERY

Isle, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers tributary to Isle have organized a farmers' co-operative creamery, and a concrete building will be erected as soon as weather conditions permit. The farmers are taking a great interest in dairying. Arrangements have been made for the distribution of several cars of milch cows on May 13. There are in the nieghborhood of 700 cows pledged to the creamery at the present time.

NEARLY GAS VICTIMS.

Marquette Woman and Daughter Have Very Close Call.

Marquette, Mich., April 18.—Mrs. J. W. Hager and daughter, Miss Isabelle Hager, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation when a defective flue in a coal stove allowed a quantity of coal gas to escape in the room in which they were sleeping. They were discovered in an unconscious condition about 7 o'clock in the morning by Miss May Smith, who rooms at the Hager residence. Dr. Harold Markham worked for some time before he was able to revive them. He stated that if they had not been discovered for another hour, it would probably have proved fatal.

What is Home Without an Heir!

This is a subject that has a place in all minds in all times. And it naturally directs thought as to the comfort of the mother during that wonderful period of expectancy. Mothers who know recommend "Mother's Friend." It is an external remedy for the stretching muscles, enables them to expand without undue strain, assists the organs to crowd against nerves, to pull at ligaments to thus avoid pain.

Thus restful days are assured, peaceful nights are experienced, morning sickness, headache, apprehension and other distresses are among the various things which women everywhere relate they entirely escaped by using "Mother's Friend. And by its effect upon the muscles the form is retained and they return to their natural, smooth contour after baby is born.

FIRST WHITE WOMAN IN ESCANABA PASSES

Escanaba, Mich., April 18.—Mrs. Bridget Murphy, the first white woman to live here, has just been buried. A native of Limerick, Ireland, aged 89, Mrs. Murphy came here from Marinette, Wis., with her husband fifty-three years ago, when the Northwestern railroad was building from Escanaba to Negaunee.

Mr. Murphy constructed a house near what is now the site of the No. 1 Northwestern dock. Only a few Indians then lived on Sand point, later to become the site for a city. Mrs. Murphy became the first white woman resident of the original town of Escanaba. She continuously made Escanaba her home from that date and enjoyed the esteem and love of all who knew her. She retained a vigorous personality and an active interest in the affairs of the city that she saw develop from a few Indian shacks to the largest municipality in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. She was kindly and charitable and for years was an active worker in church affairs of the city.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Murphy is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Carroll of this city and Mrs. Julia Corbett of Antigo, Wis.

TO MAKE ISHPEMING DISTRIBUTING POINT

Ishpeming, Mich., April 18.—As a result of the visit here last week of Fred E. Harwood of Chicago, secretary, and James Wiggins of Calumet, general manager of the Upper Peninsula of the Gately-Wiggins company, that concern has decided to make Ishpeming the distributing point for its four Upper Peninsula stores in Calumet, Houghton, Iron Mountain and this city. An agreement was reached whereby the company obtains possession of the old Pabst Brewing company's warehouse building on the hill near the South Shore Railway company's roundhouse, adjacent to the company's main south side tracks.

The building secured by the Gately-Wiggins company will be completely remodeled to suit the needs of the firm. There will be but one story, with a floor space of 26 by 70 feet. The old ice box used by the brewing company and all partitions will be removed and a new floor put in.

PLANT IS ENLARGED.

Grand Marais Cooperage Factory Is Facing Busy Season.

Grand Marais, Minn., April 18.—A number of improvements have been made at the cooperage plant. The space between the dryhouses and the main building has been inclosed for a hoop nailing room and for storing material which is ready for making up. This will also facilitate the moving of stock from the dryhouses to the planers and other machines. The plant will put out an average of over 500 kegs per day during the present season and the prospects are for a good season for the plant and for the fishing industry, as there is a good demand for fish at fair prices.

ISHPEMING PIONEER RESIDENT IS BURIED

Ishpeming, Mich., April 18.—The funeral of another Ishpeming pioneer was held this afternoon when the last rites were said at Grace Episcopal church for James Lucks, who died at his home here Sunday following a stroke of paralysis sustained Saturday. A native of England, aged 66, Mr. Lucks came here in 1871, embarking in the mercantile business and continuing in business till death. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. John McCarthy and Mrs. Frank Moody, both living at the National. He was a member of the local Odd Fellows and Masonic societies and of the Sons of St. George and Woodmen lodges of the National.

IS NAVIGABLE.

Government So Declares in Case of Red River of North.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 18.—The Red river has not been declared non-navigable. The government's refusal to act on petitions was communicated to local officials by Congressman H. T. Helgesen.

City officials and clubs here have endeavored to have the river declared non-navigable, that they might build a dam, and beautify the river front by creating a higher level of water.

There are no vessels on the stream.

Convicted Pigger Vanished.

Sykeston, N. D., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—August Huff, arrested and bound over to the district court for boot-legging, could not be found when it was time to take the train for the county seat. He had been given his liberty on his own cognizance.

Plan Electric Line Extension.

Little Falls, Minn., April 18.—An electric current line which eventually will supply Long Prairie, Wadena, Verndale, Staples and intermediary towns will be started by the Little Falls Water Power company this spring. The line will be in the form of a loop. Franchises have been obtained at Long Prairie and Verndale.

Montanan Buys Island.

Billings, Mont., April 18.—Lewis Penwell of Helena, Montana sheep king, has purchased San Clemente island, sixty miles southwest of Los Angeles, together with 25,000 sheep thereon, the consideration being $300,000.

ASHLAND MAN SAVES BOY FROM DROWNING

Ashland, Wis., April 18.—John Konopa, aged 13, is thanking his lucky stars today that John Mattis, a local young man, heard his cries for help as he was struggling in the icy waters of Chequamegon bay and rescued him. Young Konopa and two companions were walking on the ice near the Reiss dock when the ice gave away. His two companions got ashore, but Konopa sank into the water and his cries attracted Mattis, who seized a plank and threw it to Konopa. While the lad held to the plank, Mattis went after his rowboat, which had been lying on shore all winter. The boat leaked, but Mattis plowed it through the ice and Konopa was taken safely to shore. A large crowd that had gathered applauded Mattis' bravery.

Addresses Ashland K. C's.

Ashland, Wis., April 18.—Father Moulinier S. J., of the Marquette university of Milwaukee, spoke last night before the members of the Knights of Columbus lodge and male members of the St. Agnes church on the subject, "Catholic Education." The prelate came to Ashland to further the interests of the Knights of Columbus of Wisconsin in their efforts to raise $50,000 as an endowment fund for the Marquette university.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Beloit—The United States Refining company has begun a suit for $50,000 against the White Construction company of Milwaukee, charging the White company with misrepresenting the merits of certain materials. The suit is an outgrowth of a controversy over paving contracts.

Saxon—J. J. De Fer has commenced the erection of a new store building here. The new building will be erected on the site occupied by the one that was destroyed by fire and will be constructed of brick, two stories and will be made fireproof.

Hurley—Rev. W. P. Shriver, D. D., of New York City is the guest of Rev. Chester L. Harries and will survey the work of the Gogebic parish of which Mr. Harries is the director of immigration.

Beloit—Caught between a pile of castings and a moving crane in the yards of th Fairbanks-Morse company here, Isaac Markley, aged 21, was crushed to death.

La Crosse—La Crosse in two years will be receiving its electric power and light from the gigantic Paint Creek power plant in the northern part of the state. That was the definite announcement made here Monday by Joseph H. Brewer, president of the American Public Utilities company of Grand Rapids, Mich., while in La Crosse with a party of representatives of the Paine-Webber company of Boston, bankers and brokers.

Madison—Two new office buildings are to be erected here by Piper brothers, who have purchased the old Madison hotel, erected before the Civil war, and will erect a modern office building.

Lyndon—Fire which was commenced by a bolt of lightning in an electrical storm of Saturday night caused a fire which totally destroyed the Laab general store, the village garage, icehouse and several barns in the vicinity.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Members of English Oak Lodge No. 230, Sons of St. George, are now rehearsing "The Sparkling Cup" that will be given at their annual entertainment, Good Friday evening at McDonald's opera house.

Ishpeming—Richard Brown, who was an early resident of Ishpeming, is here from Iron Mountain visiting his daughter, Mrs. Will Ninis. Mr. Brown worked at the Cleveland Hard Ore mine when it was operated as an open pit.

Marquette—Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Lewis, of Duluth visited friends in the city during the week-end.

Houghton—W. J. Le Page, who says that he formerly lived in Houghton and worked at the People's and Ruelle's meat markets, has written some of his friends and acquaintances here from the camp of the Canadian expeditionary force at Toronto. He is a member of Company B of the Ninety-seventh battalion.

Marquette—News of the death of Mrs. Charles Stack, formerly of this city, was contained in a telegram received by Frank Beland of this city from a sister residing in Minneapolis.

Sault Ste. Marie—The mystery surrounding the finding of an Indian's body in a creek near the station at Trout Lake may never be unraveled as the body was buried without knowing the dead man's identity or the particulars concerning his death. Coroner A. E. Lemon believes that the man met with an accidental death by falling into the creek when in an intoxicated condition.

Ishpeming—"Alice in Wonderland" will be the next local talent show to be given here. The ladies of the Presbyterian church have closed a contract with Col. J. E. Bragg, the manager, and intend to produce the play during the latter part of May or the first of June.

Marquette—Articles of association for the Holyoke Lumber company have been filed with County Clerk Jenks. The capital stock is $25,000 and the following stockholders are named: Margaret Schweitzer, Frederick J. Schweitzer, Allan McD. Schweitzer and Ripley C. Schweitzer, all of Marquette.

Houghton—Harry Sharpe, secretary to President McNair of the M. C. M. and treasurer of the institution, has resigned, to go into the accounting business with his brother in Canada. Cr. Sharpe is succeeded by Donald J. Frampton, who has been at the school since boyhood.

Bessemer—Mrs. Julia Morrison was awarded a verdict of $4,750 against the city of Ironwood here in circuit court for Gogebic county, as damages for injuries sustained at a street crossing in Ironwood some time ago.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Moorhead — After preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Gus H. Johnson, John and Albert Roadenkirch, Charles Westlund and Ludvig Peterson were bound to the district court. The state's special agents testified that they had bought liquor from all four of the defendants.

Brainerd—Mac Kennedy, sheriff of Cass county, came to Brainerd and took back Oscar Heno, near Gull lake, age 40, charged with assaulting his mother-in-law.

Big Falls—Mr. Van Nort of Big Falls, proprietor of the Hotel Robinson, which he recently leased to C. B. Granger of International Falls, is opening up a big farm near here and will devote his time largely to improving it.

Badger—Jalmar Wellen has been selected as manager of the Badger Co-Operative company at the suggestion of Mr. Poertner who has had charge of the business for the past few weeks.

International Falls—The funeral of Gerald, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Therrio, who died following an operation for appendicitis, was held from St. Thomas church and was largely attended. The remains were interred in the local cemetery.

Mankato—In the divorce case of Lillian Shallow against Paul Shallow, Judge W. L. Comstock of the district court made an intermediate order, refusing any relief to either the husband or the wife. The court assumes the jurisdiction of the children for the present. The children are in the custody of nurses of the Immanuel hospital.

Mahnomen—R. F. Porteous, who sold out his blacksmith shop here last fall and moved to Hazen, N. D., is not satisfied with his new location and expects to return to this place soon.

St. Cloud—On the afternoon and evening of May 5, the Seniors of the St. Cloud high school will present at the Davidson opera house "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," by Anthony Hope.

Crookston—C. E. Kiewel, president of the Polk County State bank, let the contract for the plumbing in the farmers' rest room occupying the entire lower floor of the bank building, and the work is to be rushed to early completion.

Plummer—Levi La Voy will start men at work soon making extensive improvements at Hotel La Voy. The roof of the building will be raised making the hotel three stories high and adding eleven room, making a total of twenty-two rooms. Each room will be fitted with a fire escape according to state regulations.

Little Falls—The Grand Forks Construction company of Grand Forks, N. D., was awarded the contracts for the Broadway and First street sewers by the board of public works for an aggregate of $837. The Grand Forks company was the only bidder.

Spooner—Plans are on foot for a big picnic and old settlers' reunion to be held at the Clementson place at the mouth of Rapid river on May 15.

Bemidji—Ethan A. Cleasby of Eau Claire, Wis., migratory bird law inspector for the Federal government has been in this district and announced that he found that the law was being well enforced in this district.

Rochester — Construction work on Rochester's new $40,000 theater to be built on Main street has been started. The contract calls for completion in eleven weeks. The theater will be known as the "B. B." and will be managed by J. A. Wye of Minneapolis. It will have a seating capacity of 1,000, and will be fireproof.

St. Paul—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkins, 82 and 79 years old, respectively, residents of St. Paul for more than half a century, will celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding Thursday, at their home here. Mr. Hinkins is the oldest employe of the Great Northern railway.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—James Leonard Belcher, alias James Onid, the fugitive from Canada, arrested at Williston about the first of April, waived extradition hearing before United States Commissioner Green here and was taken to Canada by William Kay of the Royal Northwest mounted police of Saskatchewan.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Double Its Beauty in Just a Few Moments.

25-Cent "Danderine" Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

New York Youth Is Marvel at Golf—Horsemen Look to Peter Mac to Lower Great Record—Kauff Outclassed By Cobb.

Philip Van Gilder Carter is the golfing sensation of America. He is only 19 years old, yet his home is cluttered up with trophies that have come to him through his link prowess.

"If Carter keeps his head during the next few years he has a chance to become the greatest golfer of all time."

That's what the experts say of him now, and in the same breath they tell you that his equal as a junior golfer never has flashed across the horizon.

Carter's most recent achievement at Pinehurst, N. C., where he won the St. Valentine and other matches from a field of stars, simply add to his glory as a link wizard. Those affairs at the North Carolina resort served as the real tests for the youthful wonder. He met some of the best men in America. And he beat them. In so doing he convinced the skeptics of his amazing skill at the Scottish game.

Carter comes from a famous golfing family. His inherited skill made itself apparent when he still was a knickerbocker youth. The summer home of his parents was near a links and Carter spent his vacation days driving and putting and perfecting himself in every department of the game.

In his own neighborhood he became known as a fine player, but it wasn't until five years ago that the world at large heard about him. And then it learned so much at one time that it is still gasping.

At the age of 14 he entered the Shinnecock Hill's club tournament. When he made his apeparance at the first tee for his first game it provoked wouderment—and merriment. The spectacle of a small boy competing against grownups was laughable. Everybody laughed—but it was a short ha-ha.

Peter Mac Some Horse.

The harness horse enthusiasts are speculating as to the ultimate speed of Peter Mac, the 6-year-old trotting stallion owned by Capt. David Shaw of Cleveland.

The racer owns a mark of 2:03½ now. There are many who predict that he will sweep a mile course in two minutes during the coming season. It's a big jump from 2:03½ to 2, but the wonderful son of Peter the Great may accomplish it. He never has been extended to his full power.

Peter Mac probably could have hung up a mark of 2 or 2:01 in that mile where he made his record last summer, but his owner, who was driving him, held him in check during the last quarter.

The record mile was run at Lexington, Ky. Shaw drove him and his aim merely was to have Peter Mac beat the 2:04½ record of his dam, Lillian R. The flier got away from the starting line like a whirlwind, made the first quarter in 30 seconds, the half in 59 seconds (a 1:58 clip) and the three-quarters in 1:29¾ (a 1:59½ clip). Rounding into the stretch Peter Mac wanted his head—he wanted to unloose further bursts of speed from his fleet, young legs, but Shaw checked him down. He knew that his horse surely could accomplish the purpose of its mile dash—the beating of the 2:04½ mark—and he did little more than jog him home, giving Peter Mac a new record of 2:03½.

It's a question as to just what Peter Mac could have done in that last quarter had he been permitted to run his own race. He is a grand finisher and has phenomenal endurance. He probably would have zipped over that last quarter in 30 seconds—or better—and in that way would have hung up a mark of 1:59¾ or lower.

"What's the use of hurrying him?" asks Shaw. "He's still a youngster. There is a lot of time left in which to let him go to his absolute limit. Maybe I'll let him loose this summer."

John L. For Women.

The great John L. Sullivan does not like the idea of women going to prize fights.

"Now, look here," John L. says, "would you want your wife to go to a prize fight? Would you even want her to want to go? No, of course you wouldn't if you admire those things in women that are so much better than what we men have in us.

"I wouldn't want my wife to see a fight. Why? Well, I don't exactly know why, but I'm mighty well sure I wouldn't want her there. And it goes against my grain to see other women there. But I want you to understand that I don't think that any woman is bad just because she does attend a fight. And it isn't my place to criticise these women."

Cobb Is the Master.

"Benny Kauff?" Hughey Jennings, master of the greatest baseball player the game can boast, Ty Cobb, repeated the last two words of a query and a hundred freckles lighted up as he smiled. "O, he's a good ball player—a fair ball player. But it isn't fair to mention him in the same breath with Ty Cobb. Selling platers don't stack up with stake horses."

Jennings saw the two pitted against each other as center fielders in a game between the Tigers and the New York Giants at Houston, Tex. Ty Cobb, playing his first game of the year without a workout, made Kauff look awkward, says the boss of the Bengal ranch.

"Comebacker" Is Watched.

The batting mainstay of the Pirates this year probably will be Bill Hinchman, the "comebacker" of 1915. The husky outfielder, who upset the dope last season by batting .307 after his return from the minors, has clouted at a terrific clip during the spring, and probably will go beyond .300 again.

Hinchman has had a varied career. His present advent in the majors is his fourth. Back in 1905 he got a tryout with Cincinnati—and failed. In 1906 the Reds recalled him—and again found him wanting. In 1907 he was purchased by the Cleveland club and pulled a "boner" in 1908 which lost the club the pennant. He was sent to the minors in 1910 and rescued by the Pirates last spring because his batting in the American association was impressive.

Kilbane May Go Hungry.

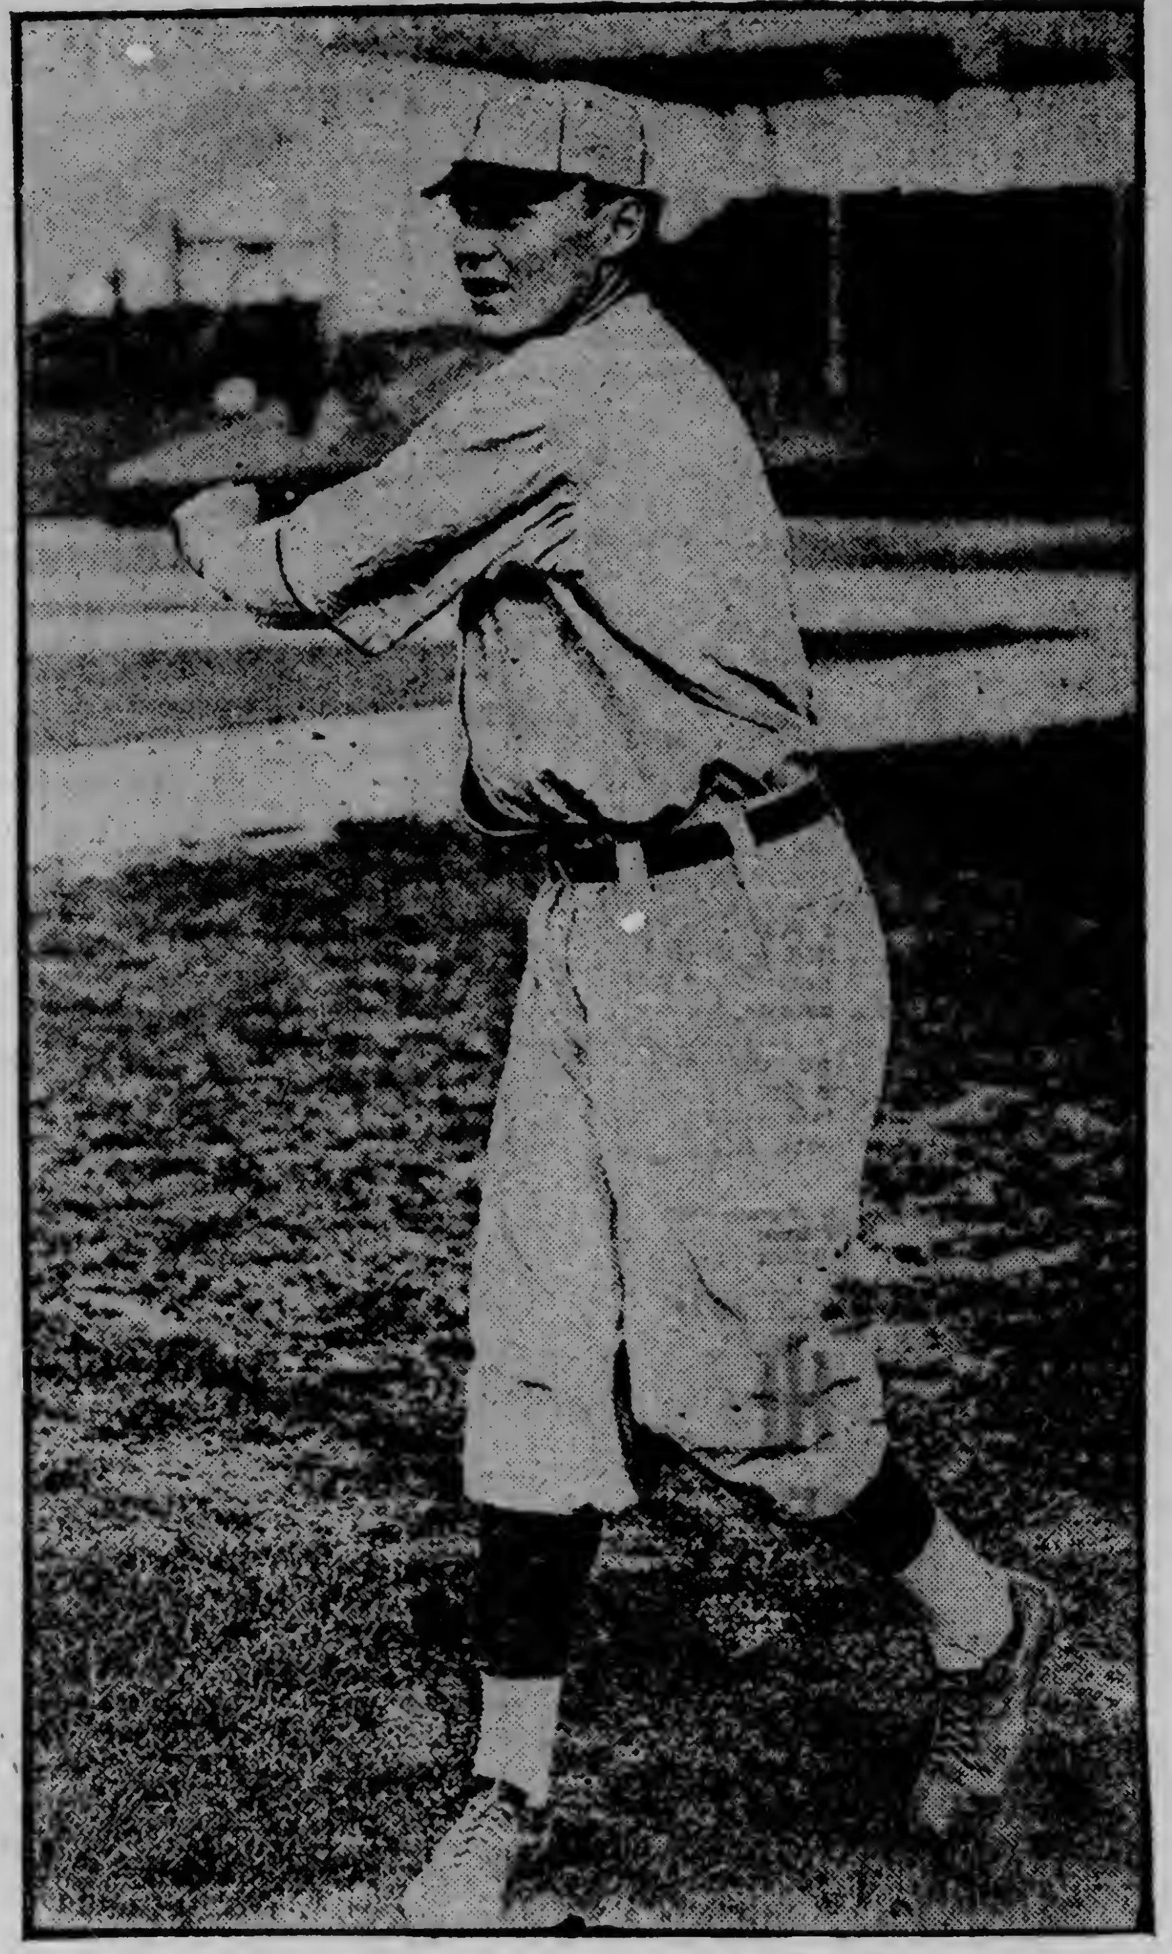
Jimmy Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, asserted that "Kilbane is worth $1,000,000 to me."

"How so?"

"Well, last year—1915—he made exactly $40,000," answered Dunn. "That represents 4 per cent interest on a million, doesn't it? And lemme tell you——"

"Always thought fight fans were boobs," cut in a bystander. "Now I know it. Forty thousand dollars to see Kilbane dance. Whew!"

A. A. RECRUIT LOOKS GOOD TO CARDINALS



REESE WILLIAMS.

This is Reese Williams, better known as "Steamboat" Williams, who has come from the St. Paul A. A. club to be a member of the Cardinal pitching staff this year. He ranked high last year and he is expected to be one of the strongest twirlers of the Cardinals this season.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pirates Run Wild.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 18.—In a one-sided contest, Pittsburgh won the second game of the series from Cincinnati here yesterday, 10 to 1. The visitors started the run-making in the first inning with two bases on balls, two singles, and two doubles which netted five runs and retirement of Dale. Moseley was put in then and three hits and a passed ball netted three more runs in the second inning. They did not score again until the seventh when Barney was given a pass, Wagner tripled, scoring Barney, and the latter scored himself when Schmidt singled. Pittsburgh ran wild on the bases. Kantlehner, while a little wild, pitched a good game. Score: R. H. E.

Cincinnati ....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0— 1 5 0

Batteries—Kantlehner and Schmidt; Dale, Moseley and Clarke.

Cubs Win Easily.

St. Louis, Mo., April 18.—Doak was hit hard and Chicago won easily from St. Louis here yesterday, 5 to 1. With the score tied in the sixth, Saier hit a home run into the right field pavilion, scoring Williams ahead of him. A double, single, sacrifice hit and Snyder's error produced two more in the seventh and proved the undoing of Doak. Score: R. H. E.

Chicago ....1 0 0 0 0 2 2 0 0—5 10 1
St. Louis ......0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 8 4

Batteries — Vaughn and Fischer; Doak, Steele, Ames and Snyder, Gonzales.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Johnson Driven to Bench.

Boston, Mass., April 18.—The Boston Americans yesterday performed the rare feat of driving Walter Johnson from the box in defeating Washington, 5 to 1. In the sixth inning Boston hammered the delivery of the Washington star for a double and four singles in a row, netting four runs. Ruth kept the visitors' eight hits well scattered, but in the eighth he passed the first two men up. After two were out, Milan sent McBride across the plate, with a single for Washington's only run. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of rain. Score: R. H. E.

Boston ....1 0 0 0 0 4 0 0—5 12 0

Batteries—Johnson, Dumont, Ayers and Williams; Ruth and Thomas.

Pinch Hitters Win Game.

Chicago, April 18.—Pinch hitters won yesterday for the White Sox a game their regulars tried to throw away. A single by Ness, batting for Williams in the ninth, drove in the tying run, and Lynn, batting for Cicotte in the eleventh, sent in the run that gave Chicago the game over St. Louis, 6 to 5. The visitors took a lead of five runs in the first three innings, mainly the result of errors. Twice in the first, Schalk threw wild on attempted sacrifice hits, and twice when Danforth caught a runner off first, Fournier's errors allowed him to advance a base. Score: R. H. E.

St. Louis ...3 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—5 9 1

Batteries—Davenport, Weilman and Hartley; Danforth, Williams, Cicotte and Schalk.

George Cunningham Victorious.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 18.—Detroit bunched five hits off Covaleskie in the twelfth inning and defeated Cleveland, 3 to 1 yesterday. Covaleskie had pitched great ball up to that time and had been spectacularly supported. Cunningham was very effective against Cleveland. Speaker was the only one he could not puzzle, the ex-Boston man getting four hits and scoring Cleveland's only run. Score: R. H. E.

Batteries — Covaleskie and Neill; Cunningham and Stanage.

College Teams Tie.

Charlottesville, Va., April 18.—Garrett of Harvard and Calloway of Virginia engaged in a pitching battle yesterday that was ended by darkness after twelve innings with the score 2 to 2. Both teams fielded brilliantly, despite a gale which blew over the field.

Notre Dame Wins.

South Bend, Ind., April 18.—Notre Dame's baseball team won its first game of the season when Michigan was swamped 14 to 6.

ASSOCIATION PLAY BEGINS

Senior Minor League Opens Its Season in Southeast Towns.

Chicago, April 18.—Fair weather marked the opening today of the American association season for 1916, with all the teams in action in the southeastern end of the association's territory.

Milwaukee opened at Toledo, Kansas City at Columbus, St. Paul at Indianapolis and Minneapolis at Louisville.

With all of the teams strengthened by the addition of players of major league class, the season looks like a good one for the Class A A teams.

Special interest is attached to the opening day at Toledo, where the Cleveland team has been placed this year, after a two years' stay in the latter city. With Roger Bresnahan, formerly leader of the Chicago Nationals, at the head of the team, Toledo fans look for a successful season and are starting it with an appropriate celebration.

SOX PLAYERS SHOW CLASS

Recruits for Duluth Team Are Given Their First Workout.

Infield Candidates Handle Themselves Like Vets—O'Brien Pleased.

In their scamper over the slightly sodden field at Athletic baseball park yesterday afternoon a majority of the twenty odd recruits from which Manager Darby O'Brien will select his crew for the Northern league handicap event, which opens next May 4, showed some flashes of real class. From indications noted in yesterday's gambol, the Duluth Dook perhaps spoke a lot of truth when he assured the fans several days ago that he would furnish them a first-class team this season.

Yesterday's workout was just a frolic, only light practice being indulged in, with fungo hitting the chief feature. All of the candidates for the infield positions were in uniform and worked fast for half an hour on ground-hit balls. Lauche, the Cleveland boy, who is a candidate for governor of the third bag; Wolfe, who will preside at short, and Webb of Chicago, who will most likely draw the second station position, all showed up to advantage. The latter youngster had a tryout this spring with Indianapolis but was turned back for the reason that the dissolution of the Federal league teams threw so many seasoned players on to the market that first-year recruits were given little chance to land regular berths.

All of the infielders are fast and get to a ball in good shape, picking the pellet clean and getting it away from them in a graceful, easy manner that comes only from long experience. There was no batting practice yesterday and none of the many pitchers warmed up. Until some line can be obtained on the batting strength of the O'Brien cohorts no idea can be had of the run-getting ability of the men who will represent Duluth when the league bell rings.

Paul Morse of St. Paul, who pitched for the White Sox last year, has notified O'Brien that he will report this week. Herbert Posten, the Palisade, Minn., flinger, who also worked here last year, is expected any day now. George Watkins, the Carlton boxman, who worked in a few games during the closing days of last season, is reported to be in good shape, despite reports stating that he was injured and would be laid up for several weeks. Harvey Penfold of Port Arthur, last year with the Fort William team, is expected to hit Duluth before Saturday.

Beginning this morning the Duluth recruits will practice twice daily, morning work being scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock and afternoon sessions at 2 o'clock. All of the pitchers who are here will begin warming up today, taking easy but steady work in preparation for the first exhibition game of the local season, which will be staged here Saturday with the Superior Northern league team. Manager O'Brien stated this morning that he expects to work several pitchers in the Saturday contest.

DULUTH MAY LEAVE FOLD

Wrangling in A. B. A. of A. Causes Local Promoters to Worry.

Commercial League Circuit May Succeed Amateur Organization.

Whether the Duluth Amateur Baseball league, member of the Amateur Baseball Association of America will continue as such or disband and reorganize as the Commercial Baseball league of Duluth, will be decided this evening when the members of the circuit hold their annual meeting at the Fenton-Duby store, in Fourth avenue west.

During a recent meeting of the Amateur Baseball association officials of the United States, held in Louisville, there was a split among the directors. This difference of opinion still obtains. For this reason local promoters believe it best to draw away and form a Commercial league. The membership of the local league last year was made up of the Edisons, Patricks, Board of Trade, Wolvins, Duluth Street Railway and the Moose lodge. The latter team will not be represented this year and, it is planned to take in teams that will represent Rust-Parker and the Northern Drug company.

Last evening the Intermediate Amateur league of Duluth was organized at a meeting held in the Fenton-Duby store, where more than sixty youthful ball tossers assembled and took an enthusiastic interest in the proceedings. No officers were elected and the various crew heads will receive their directions from Lawrence Duby, who was chosen chief advisor.

CREWS WILL ROW ON BAY

Duluth Oarsmen Wll Take to Water for First Time.

Whiteside to Join Local Oarsmen—Hoover Recovers From Illness.

A squad of senior oarsmen, members of the rowing crews of the Duluth Boat club, will take to real water this evening for the first time this season. In the crew will be Kent, Emmons, Hall, Aarons, Harney, Grant, Horak, the Moore boys and Rheinberger. It is probable that Walter Hoover, who was threatened with appendcitis, but is said to be now in good physical condition, will report this evening. The change for the better in Hoover's condition will be welcomed by every rowing fan in the city and particularly by Coach Ten Eyck, who thought for several days he might lose the services of the crack sculler.

There was joy in the training camp last evening when it was announced that Charley Whiteside of this city, who is a member of the crew at Syracuse university, will join the Duluth oarsmen when he returns home for the summer vacation.

Besides the seniors, many of the candidates for positions in the shells of the other crews will be out in the bay and enjoy their first workout of the year. Among the juniors who will turn out will be Rowland, Vincent, Bailey, Art Olson, Hammerback, Flink and Arneson. In the bantam boat will be seen Sheppardson, Kline, Shields and Emerson. The other candidates will continue their work at the Y. M. C. A. until Wednesday evening.

Jimmy Ten Eyck, last year's coach of the Duluth crews, and Julius Barnes, patron extraordinary of rowing in this city, will arrive in Duluth from the East next Monday morning, when they will look over the various crews.

Throws Opponent Across Room.

Ogden, Utah, April 18.—After an hour and nineteen minutes without a fall, Jack Harbertson, local middleweight wrestler, threw Sam Clapham, English champion, across the room, rendering him unconscious for a short period. Clapham's physician refused to allow him to continue, although uninjured.

OUIMET BARRED FROM AMATEUR GOLF

Because He Runs Sporting Goods Store He Is Ineligible.

Boston, Mass., April 18.—Francis Ouimet, former national open and amateur golf champion, was officially notified by officials of the United States Golf association that he will be ineligible to play in amateur competition this year, it was learned last night. Ouimet recently opened a sporting gods store in this city in partnership with John H. Sullivan, Jr., another golfer.

Ouimet, who received the information through M. L. Crosby, a member of the executive committee of the association, said he did not purpose to play professional golf, but would continue in private play.

Chicago, April 18.—The Central A. A. U., at a meeting here last night, awarded dates as follows:

Junior and senior cross-country runs, to St. Paul Athletic club, St. Paul, Minn., Thanksgiing day.

Women's swimming championship, junior men's swimming and part of senior men's swimming, to Interlake Yachting association, Put-In-Bay, Ohio, July 18, 19 and 20.

Remaining portion senior swimming meet, Saturday, during summer, to Chicago Yacht club.

Junior track and field meet, Steel Mills club, Joliet, Ill., July 4.

Ten-mile swimming championship, Illinois Athletic club. Date later.

MUNICIPAL BALL PLAYERS FORM LEAGUE

Policemen, pen wielders in the city hall, office men in the water and light department and local fire laddies are now planning an all-municipal baseball league which will play two games a week throughout the coming season. The league, which is being fathered by Oscar Olson, for several years captain of the policemen's team, expects to begin play in about six weeks.

SPORTING GOODS MAN TAKES NEW POSITION

C. F. Ziegler, for nine years manager of the sporting goods department of the Kelley Hardware company's store in this city, and one of the best known anglers and trap shooters in this section of the country, is now connected with the Kruschke sporting goods house on West Superior street. Since leaving the Kelley store Mr. Ziegler has traveled through the West, where he spent two years. His return to this city with the intention of remaining here permanently will be welcome news to his many friends.

Yale's Final Rowing Practice.

New Haven, Conn., April 18.—Yale's first and second eight-oared crews had their final practice on the harbor yesterday for the races with University of Philadelphia at Philadelphia next Saturday. The grill consisted of a two-mile row and a 200-yard sprint at high stroke. The oarsmen leave for Philadelphia this afternoon and will practice three days on the Schuylkill course.

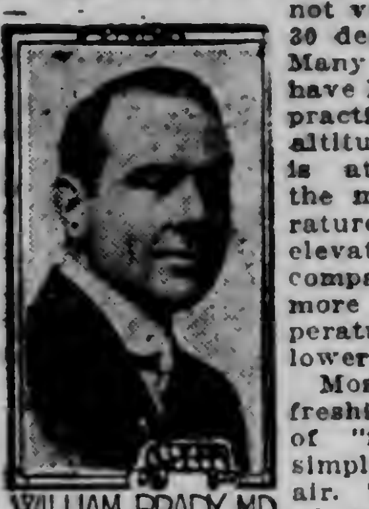
HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

God Bless Our Changeable Weather

Variations in temperature represent one of nature's best tonics. So worldwide an authority as Sir Lauder Brunton believes tuberculous patients will not get better in a climate that does not vary from 20 to 30 degs. every day. Many observers have hinted that the practical value of altitude treatment is attributable to the marked temperature variations of elevated regions as compared with the more equable temperature average of lower regions.



WILLIAM BRADY MD

Most of the refreshing influence of "fresh air" is simply that of cool air. This is the day of efficiency. We do not strive to keep good and warm, for the good die young; we endeavor to keep cool and well.

When white men have to live and work in a tropical climate, they degenerate physically, mentally and morally, not so much from the effect of the high temperature as from the monotony of the unvarying climate—the lack of the stimulation of a change of weather. See the movies.

Oyster Bay, Athens, Constantinople, Naples, Rome, Florence, Paris, Vienna, Berlin, London, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Tokio, Pekin, Jerusalem, Carthage, Sidon, Tyre, Memphis and Babylon, not to mention Binghamton and St. Paul—in short, all the great centers of efficiency fall within ten degrees or so of the fortieth parallel of north longitude, which has been called the line of man's highest achievements. The weather here around the fortieth is delightfully changeable. Changeable is the only word for it. It is more changeable than any other known brand of weather throughout the solar system, for which heaven be praised!

People who "winter" in mild or soft climates miss the tonic effect of our good old winter here at home. Especially is this true of neurasthenics and semi-invalids. The bracing northern winter, in a dry climate, will do the average valetudinarian more good than the, perhaps, more comfortable southern resort. Of course there are certain ailments which are better managed in a warmer climate.

But, taking it good, bad and indifferent—and that is the sensible way to look upon the weather—our fine, quick-changing, never entirely dependable kind here in the neighborhood of the fortieth parallel is, after all, the healthiest.

All of which is not a mere reiteration of the perverse views so often expressed in this column. No, indeed. We "lifted" this article, almost word for word, from an editorial in that very conservative periodical, the Journal of the American Medical Association.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ideal Treatment for Heart Disease.

Do you advise a person with organic heart trouble, who has had broken compensation, to take walks, salt or brine baths and passive movements to strengthen the heart?

Answer—That is perhaps the most efficacious treatment such a patient could have. It is practically the famous Schott treatment, the Nauheim method.

Safe and Advisable.

Is it safe for children, 4 and 6 years of age, to have their teeth filled, and do they have permanent teeth at that age?

Answer—Safe and advisable always, when the teeth are decayed. More important than dentistry for adults. The first secondary teeth are the "6-year molars."

CHAMPION OF THE "DRYS"

Merritt Will Vote Against License Renewals in Future.

"Drys" have at least one champion of their cause in the city council. It is Utilities Commissioner Leonidas Merritt.

"I may as well start voting against these licenses right now," said Mr. Merritt when two liquor license renewals were put to a vote at yesterday's council meeting.

"For a long time I have voted 'aye' on licenses, with great reluctance, but from now on I am going to vote 'no.'"

Accordingly, the vote was 4 to 1 for the granting of the renewals to R. W. Armstrong at 205 West Michigan street and Forrest Maloney, 6418 Ramsey street.

Although City Clerk Walter H. Borgen had prepared a form with which to certify to the sufficiency of the "dry" petition, clerks had not checked the required number of voters when the council meeting was called, and so the certification was not made.

About 150 names were lacking at 3 o'clock, when commissioners convened, but the check was completed later in the afternoon. Mr. Borgen said he would certify to the petition at a special meeting of commissioners this afternoon or tomorrow.

OBSERVANCE OF PASSOVER BEGUN

Services Are Held at Temple Emanuel and at Synagogue.

Jews of Duluth and vicinity last night at sundown celebrated with merriment the first night of Passover, in commemoration of the departure from Egypt of the children of Israel.

A short service was held at the Temple Emanuel, followed by a public sedar in the vestry room, and services were read by the cantor at the Adas Israel synagogue. Following these services in the places of worship the event was observed in the homes, where the reading of the Hagadah and the first appearance of matza, or the bread of oppression, were featured. Services were held at the Adas Israel temple this morning and will be repeated this evening. The festival will come to a close at the end of seven days.

SAFETY CHAINS FOR U. S. CANAL PIERS

Will Be Stretched a Few Inches Above Water to Aid Accident Victims.

The board of engineers of the United States army has promised that safety chains, to be installed along the piers at the ship canal of the local harbor, will be ready this coming summer, according to word received yesterday from Congressman Miller by Safety Commissioner Silberstein.

Harbor Master Hoy, in his annual report, pointed out the fact that anyone falling into the canal would have nothing to which to hang while help was being summoned. He urged that chains, stretched along the piers a few inches above the water, would fill the requirement. These have been granted by the board of engineers and will be installed this year.

D. A. R. HEAR PRESIDENT

Executive Welcomes Daughters Who Gather in Annual Convention.

Says Country-Born to Serve Rest of World as Much as Itself.

Washington, April 18.—In an address welcoming the Daughters of the American Revolution, gathered here for their annual congress, President Wilson declared that the only excuse America ever can have for the assertion of her physical force is that she asserts herself in behalf of humanity. He was speaking of the purpose of the republic—born to serve the rest of the world just as much as itself—and had just said that the nation will have forgotten her traditions, whenever she fights merely for herself under such circumstances as will show that she has forgotten to fight for all mankind.

The president was enthusiastically applauded. When he was introduced by Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the organization, the audience stood and cheered, and many of the women waved American flags. He said:

"I have told you upon more than one occasion of the sentiments which are chiefly stirred in me by looking upon a company like this. I am thinking today that if this organization had been formed in the very early years of our republic it would have been looked upon with a good deal of disfavor, because you would then have been suspected of setting up some sort of an aristocratic class. It would have been thought that you were acting in a spirit contrary to the Democratic spirit professed by the founders of the republic itself.

Criticism Stirred.

"You will remember that that sort of criticism was stirred by the foundation of the Society of the Cincinnati. It was supposed that they were setting up an organization which, because its membership was handed on by primogeniture, was an organization entirely contrary to the spirit of American institutions. But a very interesting thing has happened. The proportion of those who can derive their lineage from officers who took part in the American revolution is a constantly decreasing proportion. You cannot be suspected of trying to build up an organization which will control the country. On the contrary, the spirit in which you have formed this organization was from the first manifest. It was not a spirit of caste or privilege, but a spirit of reverence for a great tradition, and for my part, I believe that the chief service of a great organization like this is to keep a certain beautiful sentiment warm in the consciousness of the American people.

"Tradition is a handsome thing in proportion as we live up to it. If we fall away from the tradition of the fathers, we have dishonored them. If we forget the tradition of the fathers, we have changed our character; we have lost an old impulse; we have become unconscious of the principles in which the life of the nation itself is rooted and grounded. Therefore this organization undertook to keep those who fell under its influence constantly reminded of the circumstances of the birth of this nation and of the significance of the birth of this nation. This significance was a very singular significance. No other nation was ever born into the world with the purpose of serving the rest of the world just as much as it served itself.

To Afford an Asylum.

"The purpose of this nation was to afford an asylum to men of all classes and kinds, who desired to be free and to take part in the administration of a self-governed commonwealth. It was founded in order that men of every sort should have proof given that a commonwealth of that sort was practicable, not only, but could win its standing of distinction and power among the nations of the world, and America will have forgotten her traditions whenever upon any occasion she fights merely for herself under such circumstances as will show that she has forgotten to fight for all mankind. And the only excuse that America can ever have for the assertion of her physical force is that she asserts it in behalf of the interest of humanity.

"What a splendid thing it is to have so singular a tradition—'a tradition of unselfishness.' When America ceases to be unselfish, she will cease to be America. When she forgets the traditions of devotion of human rights in general, which gave spirit and impulse to her founders, she will have lost her title deeds to her own nationality.

"So it is to my mind a very happy circumstance that here in the capital of the nation, in this home of your own building, you should meet every year, in order to keep bright the fires that have always burned upon this altar of devotion to human rights. That is the title of this society to distinction and to immortality, and therefore I feel that I am greeting you as if come to a renewal of all the pledges of our national life when I greet and welcome you, as I so warmly do, to this our common capital."

BILL DOUBLES NUMBER OF WEST POINT CADETS

Washington April 18.—A bill doubling the number of cadets at the West Point military academy, the second of the preparedness measures to go through both branches of congress, was passed by the house yesterday after it had been amended to eliminate a section which authorized the president to fill vacancies at the beginning of the year, from the alternates whose principals had entered. A similar bill doubling the personnel at the naval academy was signed by the president several weeks ago.

The section stricken out of the military academy bill was opposed on the ground that it too greatly increased the power of the president. The bill will go at once to conference.

ADVOCATES BOND ISSUES TO RAISE ROAD FUNDS

That the issue of highway bonds is now recognized as the best method of raising funds for road construction is the opinion voiced by George W. Cooley, secretary and state engineer of the Minnesota highway commission. In referring to the $500,000 issue of road bonds in Winona county and the proposal of Hennepin county commissioners to raise $2,000,000 in the same way, Mr. Cooley says:

"Experience has proved that a steady supply of money, which is necessary to good road work, cannot be obtained by annual tax levies. Bond issues form the method which has been adopted by nearly half the counties in the United States. The total amount of bonds issued by counties for highways is about $300,000,000, and the sums raised by states in this way bring this figure up to nearly $500,000,000.

"Most of the counties provide sinking funds with which to retire the bonds. A safer and more profitable method, it seems to me, is the annuity plan, by which both the principal and interest are discharged by annual or semi-annual payments. At first the amount of principal repaid is small, but it increases, of course, as the interest rate decreases."

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

If constipation is not a serious, morbid condition that dulls the mental processes and shortens life.

If the mechanical lubrication of the walls of the intestine is not the rational treatment for restoring normal bowel activity.

Modern medical science answers yes to both these questions. Eminent specialists both in this country and abroad have found the mineral oil treatment for constipation remarkably effective as a substitute for habit-forming laxatives and cathartics.

Nujol, a pure white mineral oil, colorless, odorless, tasteless, lubricates the entire intestinal canal, softens its contents and thus makes it easy for the weakened out-of-condition bowel to perform.

Performance means a gain of strength—a return to normal—and less need of any artificial aid. In other words Nujol brings permanent relief from constipation.

If you are unable to get Nujol from your druggist, we will send a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States for 75c—money order or stamps.

MAYOR TOWL RESIGNS JOB

Head Official of Two Harbors Lays Down Cares of Offices.

Says He Cannot Devote Time to Office—No Successor Is Chosen.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A surprise was given the members of the city council and citizens generally last night when Mayor William Towl resigned to take effect May 1. The mayor kept his intentions very secret as only one or two of his friends were aware of his intentions. He was elected to the office three consecutive times on the Socialist ticket and has given general satisfaction, putting much of his time and energy into the government of the city for which services he received practically no compensation. Although Mr. Towl attributes his reason for resigning to other circumstances, it is claimed that since the town went dry, all has not been joy for the mayor. Anti-saloon elements have been very active in their endeavor to keep blind pigs out of the city and many anonymous letters charging that the mayor was not doing his duty in this respect, have been received from time to time by Mr. Towl. The city council immediately accepted the resignation but no one was appointed to succeed Mr. Towl. It is expected that a mayor will be appointed by the council next Monday evening.

Letter of Resignation.

The mayor's letter of resignation follows:

"To the honorable city council, city of Two Harbors, Minn. Gentlemen: In view of the fact that the regular occupation in which I am engaged requires twelve hours per day of my time and covers all of the time from early morning until evening without cessation, and in view of the fact that the activities in the D. & I. R. R. railway shops, in which I am employed, will be even greater during the present season than heretofore, thus leaving me without time to attend to other matters.

"I hereby tender to your honorable body my resignation as mayor of the city of Two Harbors, to become effective on the first day of May, 1916.

"Trusting that you will promptly accept this, my resignation, to take effect at the time above mentioned, and that my successor be promptly appointed, and with best wishes for the future success and good government of our city and thanking all of my associate officials for the uniform courteous treatment accorded me and thanking the public for the confidence reposed in me, I remain very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM TOWL.

Want Second Avenue Improved.

Property owners residing on that part of Second avenue between Willow and Hazel streets appeared before the council in regard to the improving of that part of Second avenue this summer. It has been definitely decided to do the work as soon as possible. The street will be twenty-four feet wide and constructed of concrete macadam with concrete curbs and gutters. Cement walks six feet wide will also be installed. No bids were received so the work will be done by the city by day labor. City Engineer Clapper reported that according to the present specification the work will come to approximately $200 per fifty foot lot. The work will commence at once and it is expected will be completed by July 15, as there are only two blocks to be paved. This is a very important piece of pavement and has been badly needed for a long time. It is one of the two main streets to the city park and during wet weather is almost impassable.

The council discussed the possibility of improving Hazel street from Second to Third avenue, but no definite action was taken.

The property owners on Pine street between Second and Fifth avenues, petitioned the council to complete this street this spring. This street was subgraded last year by the city but for some reason or other the job was not completed. The petition was signed by eleven property owners all but one of which wanted a twenty-four foot wide crushed rock macadam street with concrete curbs and gutters and six foot wide concrete walks. No definite action was taken as there is a possibility of grading Pine street clean through to connect with the concrete street on Seventh avenue. There is said to be no question, but that the city will complete that part of Pine which was started last year as soon as possible. This assurance was given the property owners last night.

Another important piece of road improving which will be done this year is the road leading out past the cemetery and then east along the city limits. This road is in very bad shape and will be improved this spring by the city in conjunction with the county.

THIN MEN AND WOMEN

Here's a Safe and Easy Way By Which You May Gain 10 Pounds or More of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A splendid way of working to overcome this sinful waste of flesh-building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh-building agent that has been so widely sold in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh form over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Boyce Drug store and other good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh-builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.—Advertisement.

PATRONAGE FIGHT MAY BE DEVELOPED

Differences Between Virginia's Mayor and Council May Crop Out.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether the patronage fight will be injected into this evening's meetings of the city council is uncertain. Mayor Boylan has not yet vetoed the appointment of S. S. Dahl, as city attorney, although he publicly announced he would. The mayor has ten days in which to veto the appointment and the time expires Friday night.

In the meantime, although the council failed to confirm the resolutions covering their appointments, Health Officer Crowe, Assistant Health Officer Engel and Street Commissioner Christopherson are still on duty. The mayor may decide not to sign the resolutions which failed to confirm them. In this event six votes will be required to unseat each and there is said to be a question as to whether they will be forthcoming.

The patronage fight probably will come up in some phase tonight, but it is not expected the city attorneyship will be involved. S. S. Dahl is making a hard fight to retain the appointment and has vigorously denied stories that he would institute a recall for Mayor Boylan in the event his appointment was not confirmed.

NO PASSENGERS ON "HIGHBALL" TRAIN

Ely People Not Pleased With Decision of Iron Range Railroad.

Ely, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The announcement that Iron Range train No. 61, commonly known as the "Highball," would not carry passengers north of Two Harbors after Monday was not well received here. Heretofore business men could go to Duluth on the morning train, transact business in the Zenith City, and return to their business the following morning, but now those who take advantage of the accommodation train will have to stay over until the following day. The change will be felt very much by a large number of salesmen who could formerly get up on this range early in the morning and leave on the afternoon train. It is hoped by sportsmen and the traveling public in general that the service will soon be put on again.

BEAR RIVER WILL HAVE INSTITUTE

Farmers of That Locality to Hear Experts Monday and Tuesday.

Bear River, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmers' institute will be held here Monday and Tuesday next with H. G. Larsen and A. B. Hostetter of Duluth assisted by Prof. Stangel of the Virginia high school in charge. Prof. Rutledge of Chisholm and Prof. Tulaa, the latter of the state experimental farm from St. Paul, will make short addresses. R. L. Giffin of the St. Louis County Agricultural society, also will talk. Local farmers are counting on one of the best seasons in years and due to the strenuous advertising campaign carried on many settlers have come to make their homes in the Bear River territory.

INNOCENT PACKAGE DOES NOT STAND TEST

Proves to Be Whisky and Mike Roskovitch Is Under Arrest.

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Roskovitch carried an innocent-looking package yesterday as he alighted from a Mesaba trolley car, but it looked differently to Indian Agent Ellis, who scrutinized it carefully and then unwrapped four quarts of whisky.

Roskovitch was placed under arrest and lamented his troubles. "I only took it home for my sick wife," he stated. "I did not know that would do any harm."

Mike was taken to Virginia today for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Poirier.

ELY MINE VICTIM'S FUNERAL IS HELD

Ely, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of John Kangas, who was killed by a cavein at the South Chandler mine early Saturday morning, was held from the Finnish church Monday afternoon. The funeral was in charge of the Finnish Accident and Benefit association, which attended in a body, Rev. Mr. Hervi officiating. Mr. Kangas was a pioneer citizen of this city and had worked at the South Chandler mine since it was opened nearly thirty years ago.

CHISHOLM JEWISH CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Chisholm, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of the Jewish young people of the village met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Lewis Sunday evening and organized the Ezrah Literary and Social club. Harry Goldenberg was elected president. The club will meet every Sunday evening and it was decided to choose a chairman at each meeting to arrange a program and take charge of it on the next Sunday. The meeting on next Sunday evening will be held at the J. Lewis home. Miss Dorothy Lewis will be chairman. The members are the Misses Jeannette, Winnifred, Esther and Dorothy Lewis, S. B. Dubow, B. H. Craine, and Harry Goldenberg of Chisholm, Matt Medalie of Buhl and William Medalie of Hibbing.

MANY RANGE MOOSE ARE GOING TO BUHL

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two special Mesaba electric railway cars will take Virginia Moose and a band to Buhl tonight, where a joint installation of the recently elected officers of the various range lodges will be held. More than 200 Moose are planning to go from Virginia.

FEW CHANGES IN HIBBING OFFICES

Generally Expected That Most Present Officials Will Be Retained.

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village appointments will be the same as last year, with but a few exceptions, according to D. D. Haley, village recorder, who stated he was qualified to make this statement in the absence of Mayor Victor L. Power.

This means that Chief of Police Dwyer, Health Officer Dr. Morseman, Fire Chief McIlhargey, Street Commissioner Dennis Haley and the other department heads continue in office.

The village council will meet this evening in a regular weekly meeting, but it is expected little of importance will be transacted. Mayor Power, it is thought, will be out of the village for several days and during his absence no important business will be taken up.

BEAR RIVER MAIL CARRYING PROBLEM

Government Asked to Come to Relief of Flood-Stricken People.

Cook, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Postmaster O. J. Leding of this place has wired the department to know how mail is to be sent to residents of the Bear River country, who are now cut off because of the destruction of bridges by flood waters, the overflowing of the Littlefork and the destroying of several bridges having prevented carrying the mail. Six bridges have gone out, and for two days Bear River has been cut off.

Hibbing will become the point from which all mail to Bear River will be shipped until communication is re-established.

TO DISCUSS PRESERVE.

Carlos Avery Expected to Meet With Hibbing Gun Club.

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Gun club members will meet at the Oliver club this evening to elect officers. This will precede a banquet, at which Carlos Avery of the game and fish commission will be present, and the question of the proposed game preserve will be discussed. There is sentiment for one, although some members of the club object to it on the grounds that it will prevent shooting of game on their own lands, which happen to be in the boundaries of the proposed game preserve.

MEETING AT EVELETH.

Sixth District Good Roads Club to Have Sesion.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Automobile and the Commercial clubs will send delegations to Eveleth tomorrow to attend the meeting of the Sixth District Good Roads club. Both organizations are taking an active interest in highway construction and maintenance on the range and are losing no opportunity to get information on both subjects.

BOYS TAKING SUCKERS.

Disprove Theory Virginia and Silver Lakes Are Fishless.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opinion generally held that Virginia and Silver lakes were without fish has been dispelled during the past few days. Small boys have been taking suckers by the bushel in a small creek entering Virginia lake near the Bailey mill. The fish are running out of the lakes and in some places are so thick they crowd each other out of the water. Virginia and Silver lakes are usually filled with logs the year around and it has been popularly supposed there were no fish in either lake.

LATER TROUT SEASON.

Cannot Fish Till May 1 in Northern Wisconsin Counties.

Ashland, Wis., April 18.—While the season for trout fishing is open at this time in other counties it will not open in Ashland, Douglas, Bayfield and Iron counties until May 1.

Conservation Warden Arthur Childs declares that the change in the date for the opening of trout season in this vicinity fifteen days later, will not be mourned by fishermen here, because there is still much snow in the woods and the streams are high and roiley. "Fish wouldn't bite now anyway," he says.

"DRY" HIBBING HARDLY PARCHED AS CLAIMED

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although this place is ostensibly dry because of the enforcement of the Indian treaty provision against the sale of liquor, many wonder why eleven cases of drunkenness are reported in local municipal court in one week. It is said that during the past week there was an unusual number of intoxicated men on the streets despite the watchfulness of the Indian agents who are alert to arrest anyone carrying contraband. It is claimed that many get intoxicated at Buhl, where the saloons are running, then return here on the trolley line.

"There will always be booze in Hibbing just as long as Virginia, Buhl and Duluth, our neighboring cities, have liquor for sale," declares a village official. "Two or three Indian agents cannot keep it out. It would be a herculean feat for ten of them to attempt to do so, so how can you expect two of them to cover both Chisholm and Hibbing and keep liquor out? I have every respect for these men who are trying hard to fulfill their mission, but unless the government furnishes more men, liquor will be as easy to obtain in Hibbing in the future as it was before the Indian lid was clamped down."

INDOOR LIFE MAKES FAT

TRY OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT.

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any persons who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to Boyce Drug store, 331 West Superior street, or any good druggist and get a box of oil of korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and a return of the old energy; footsteps become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

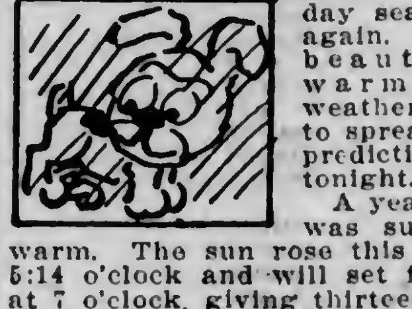
RAIN



The springlike weather continues. It was interrupted Sunday but immediately resumed as soon as the week day season started again. Today is beautiful and warm, but the weather man seeks to spread gloom by predicting rain for tonight.

A year ago today was summery and warm. The sun rose this morning at 5:14 o'clock and will set this evening at 7 o'clock, giving thirteen hours and forty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen throughout the Northwest, Middle West and Southwest, and has fallen over the Plateau region and the St. Lawrence and Ohio valleys. Chilly weather prevails over most of Canada, the northern border states and Plateau districts. During the last twenty-four hours rain fell over North Atlantic and North Pacific states, and rain or snow over the Missouri Valley and Eastern Canada. Heavy rain fell at Omaha, Neb."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 18.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota—Showers tonight and Wednesday, not much change in temperature.

Wisconsin — Unsettled tonight and Wednesday with probably showers; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday, with occasional showers; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, probably rain west of the divide; warmer in southwest portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Overcast and somewhat warmer tonight; Wednesday probably showers.

Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness tonight; Wednesday unsettled, probably followed by showers; somewhat warmer tonight.

LOCAL FORECAST

Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Cloudy weather with rain tonight and Wednesday. No decided change in temperature. Moderate to fresh northeasterly winds.

NAME NEW CHARTER COMMISSION FOR ELY

District court judges yesterday appointed a new charter commission for the city of Ely to take the place of the one appointed in July, 1914, the members of which recently resigned. The men who will comprise the new commission are: Olof Berglund, John M. Brown, George L. Brozich, Harry A. Chinu, John A. Dinsmore, A. S. James, Steve Kovall, Joseph Mantell, John E. Porthan, Peter Schaefer, Adolph Schroeder, R. K. Tomo, Andrew Wittilo, Mike Weinzierl, L. J. White.

ALICE HAS DAMAGE FROM HEAVY WIND

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The windstorm, which, reaching forty miles an hour in velocity Sunday evening, did considerable damage.

At Alice a lumber yard shed was blown over and the four walls crumbled into a heap. A large storm window over the Island farm creamery was broken; a plate glass window in the Norman motorcycle shop was broken, while dozens of white way light globes were destroyed.

Two chimneys were blown over. The wind was followed by a heavy rain.

FORTY NEAR HAROLD MAY BE STRIPPED

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that the Arthur Iron Mining company of the Great Northern Iron Ore properties will sink a six-department shaft on the forty acres south of the Harold mine, although officials today stated that they knew nothing of it. The forty is known to contain rich iron deposits.

All mines are being put in shape to ship and all available help is hired.

LITTLEFORK BRIDGE CANNOT BE SAVED

Littlefork, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although men worked all Sunday blasting ice and logs endeavoring to save the bridge across the Littlefork river between town and the depot, the flood took out a portion of the bridge Sunday. The water raised so that the ice and logs forced the bridge down stream Monday afternoon. The water is still rising and it is feared that the M. & I. railroad bridge will soon be washed out. The water is the highest in fifteen years. The loss to the village is considerable.

VIRGINIA PAYS OUT LARGE SUM

Cost of Maintaining Fire and Police Departments $51,215.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia, the model city of Minnesota, as it is called in the splendid "writeup" in Monday's Duluth Herald, pays a pretty figure for maintaining its fire and police departments, according to the report of the fire and police commission for the year ending March 31, just available. This indicates it cost $51,215.54 to keep those departments going during the period indicated, while there is a balance of $9,231.36 in the two funds. The largest item of expense in the fire department is salaries, $18,372.26; the next largest cost was building a shop in the rear of the fire hall for repairs, $1,101.66. Other departments using the shop are charged 50 cents an hour. The gym opened for the firemen cost $187.40.

What Police Cost.

The police department spent during the period indicated, $28,258.40, of which $25,175.92 was for salaries and $261.74 for special police. The next largest single item was for telephones, which cost the police department $620.56, as telephones are furnished all members of the force in case of necessary calls. The recapitulation for the both funds for the year follows:

Balance April 1, 1915, $7,571.91; receipts for year, $52,874.99; total receipts, $60,446.90; orders issued during year, $51,215.54; clerk's balance, April 1, 1916, $9,231.36.

VIRGINIA PRINCIPAL TO SIBLEY COUNTY

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. V. Cassel, for the past year principal of the Roosevelt grade school, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the public schools at Gibbon, Sibley county, Minn. Mr. Cassel has been one of the most popular instructors in the local schools.

EVELETH JUNIORS TO HONOR SHAKESPEARE

Eveleth, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The junior class of the high school will honor the anniversary of the death of William Shakespeare in the near future by presenting "As You Like It." The first rehearsal will be held the first part of next week, the cast of characters already having been chosen. Miss Grace Greaves, instructor of junior English, will direct the play.

SILENT READING TEST IN EVELETH SCHOOLS

Eveleth, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kansas silent reading test, devised by F. J. Kelly of the state normal school of Kansas, was given to the local high school students Monday afternoon. Tests of this kind have been given to the pupils of the grades before, but this was the first time that it had ever been given to the high school students.

The same test was given to all of the above classes. The test was catchy, quick and accurate thinking, only five minutes being allowed.

PAN PROF. PFEIFFER.

Virginian Who Criticized Sanitary Conditions Is Criticized.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—The article written by Prof. C. W. Pfeiffer of the local high school in the Survey magazine, in which he criticized the sanitary conditions in the section of town in which employes of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company live, was scored at the school board meeting last night, S. J. Cussons, general manager of the lumber plant, and former Alderman A. D. Heritage taking vigorous exceptions to the author's statements, alleging the article did an injustice. R. R. Bailey of the Bailey Lumber company, whose plant is not in that locality, declared he considered the article unjust. W. J. Archer, however, defended the writer, saying that while the article might have been ill-advised, Professor Pfeiffer was entitled to his opinion and his right to express it. He failed to see wherein the article could do much harm. As it was a special meeting the board took no action in reference to the author of the article, who so far has not been re-elected for next year, although all of the teachers have been engaged again. There was a discussion of the proposed $400,000 high school, but no decision was reached as sentiment is much divided on the matter of repairing or pulling down the Roosevelt school and putting up a new building. The board will wait till the people express themselves at the special election to be held next Saturday before taking any action.

If the people vote for a new building Saturday, the school board will be instructed to have plans and specifications prepared for a schoolhouse to cost $406,000, unfurnished, to include an auditorium and rooms for industrial subjects. The board tonight voted to issue a pamphlet fully advising the voters of the situation.

ASHLAND POLICE WANT MORE PAY

Ashland, Wis., April 18.—The policemen of the city have made application to the city council for an increase in salary. They have requested for no designated amount but merely making a plea for a fair increase over their present salary. A police officer after three years of service here is paid $75 per month, two years' service, $70 per month, and for one year of service a salary of $65 is paid.

WOMAN ENDS HER TROUBLE IN RIVER

Embarrass, Minn., April 18.—The body of Mrs. Samuel Hill, wife of a farmer living eight miles west of here, who jumped into the Pike river near the Hill home Friday night, was found Monday.

It is said Mrs. Hill had been acting queerly for several months. Mr. and Mrs. Hill came to this section seventeen years ago, being among the oldest settlers in this vicinity. Mrs. Hill is survived by her husband and three children, the oldest of whom is 20 years of age. She was about 40 years old.

Dr. Edward Darrow of Aurora, deputy coroner, has taken charge of the body. Deputy Sheriff Mollan of Virginia was here Monday to investigate the case.

CHISHOLM WILL GREET ENGINEERS

Chisholm, Minn., April 18.—The April meeting of the Engineers' Club of Northern Minnesota will be held at the public library here Saturday at 8 o'clock p. m. It is planned to make this meeting one of the largest and best of the year. Heretofore the subject of the speaker at this meeting has been along engineering or technical lines, but Saturday there will be a slight departure from the plan.

Lieut. Bernard Lentz, commandant at the University of Minnesota, will speak on "The Military Policy of the United States."

Commercial Club Talks.

Virginia, Minn., April 18.—At the Commercial club meeting Thursday night, Rev. Father W. J. Powers of the church of Our Lady of Lourdes will speak on "A Man's Neighbor," and Charles Grabowsky, assistant superintendent of the Oliver Iron Mining company in the Virginia district, will talk on "Iron Ore." E. D. Philbrick, park superintendent, has prepared a paper on "Co-operative Delivery," but will be unable to read the paper, as he is to attend a park board meeting, and it is expected the paper will be read by Edward C. A. Johnson of the committee.

To Live in Saskatchewan.

Hibbing, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Percy Barker left yesterday for Moosejaw, Sask., to locate on a farm. R. A. Barker will leave shortly for Iowa on a visit and may later locate in that state.

Eveleth Boys Training.

Eveleth, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school boys' gymnasium class, under the direction of Earl C. Ford, has started training for track work, and from now on it will be no uncommon thing to see the boys running down the road in gym suits during pleasant evenings. It is not known yet whether Eveleth will be represented in the range track meet which is to be held at Virginia June 31.

BATHS FOR WOODSMEN

I. W. W. Worker Wants More Sanitary Conditions in Camps.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, prominent I. W. W. worker and orator, who spoke last evening before a large assemblage of working men in Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, believes that lumberjacks should take baths.

In fact, she avers, her organization, which is heading a movement for the bringing about of better and more sanitary conditions in logging camps, will insist upon the installation of shower baths where the wielder of the ax can lave his giant physique each evening when he returns from his work in the forest.

"Sanitary conditions in some of the logging camps are most deplorable," said Mrs. Flynn. "The men wear heavy woolen socks and underwear and during the day their bodies perspire freely, the moisture being absorbed by their garments. When a number of these men assemble for the night in a poorly ventilated sleeping camp the air becomes nauseating. Men who work as hard as the woodsmen have to, are entitled to better housing conditions.

"Members of our organization intend doing much work, in an educational way, among the woodsmen of Northern Minnesota this year and expect to reap great results."

Mrs. Flynn left this morning for Two Harbors where she will speak this evening. Before returning to the Head of the Lakes Saturday, she will speak in various Vermilion range towns.

FAVORS SHALLOW WELLS

State Health Board Makes Recommendation for Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of health has reported on Brainerd's proposed water supply at Spring bay, recommending that shallow wells will obviate water tinged with iron, as was located in Wells Numbers 3, 4 and 5. At present a flow of 700 gallons a minute has been uncovered. A sufficient flow from Spring bay would enable the city to discard river water, which chemically treated, is used in Brainerd.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this, get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Advertisement.

A WEEDING OUT PROCESS USUAL

What Type of Men is Usually Picked for the "Lay Offs"?

When business is poor, the market crowded or the season dull, in no matter what industry, the "weeding out process" is common and the great army of employed never know how soon the "axe" will fall. Have you ever stopped to think what kind of a man or woman is first picked for the "lay off?" Is it the strong, robust fellow with plenty of energy and vigor in his make up or is it the nervous, weak, run-down individual, who considers work drudgery and continually complains of feeling sick and tired? Of course you will agree that it is the latter class that succumbs to the "weeding out" process. The employer realizes that the physically fit man or woman is the most efficient worker. As efficiency is the watchword of modern industry, there is no place in the present day business world for the nervous, run down man or woman. All depends on the condition of the nervous system as the nerves govern absolutely every process that goes on within our body. Nearly all functional weaknesses and disorders can be directly traced to weak nerves and depleted vitality. Every great man of history—every successful man of the day—is possessed of more than an average amount of energy. Some have been especially endowed with this wonderful quality, as were Lincoln, Napoleon, Morgan, Rockefeller and others; and some developed it as did Gladstone and Roosevelt. Were it possible to chronicle all of the failures, not due to lack of brains, but to lack of physical vitality, there would be a list so long as to startle the world. Cactus Juice, the new reconstructive tonic, stimulates the nerves. It does more — it builds up the tissues, invigorates the system, vitalizes the blood, assimilates the food, creates appetite, drives away headaches, sleeplessness, nausea, sour stomach, dizziness and indigestion. Cactus Juice has proven invaluable for ailments that originate from stomach, kidneys and liver disorders and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes. Cactus Juice is being especially introduced in Duluth at the Lyceum Pharmacy, where the Cactus Juice man daily explains its merits and what may be expected from its use. Ask any druggist.—Advertisement.

BLAMES RED HAIRED GIRL

West Duluth Woman Tells of Husband's First Digression.

Gets Divorce After Court Hears Story of Man's Fickleness.

'Twas a "red headed" camp cook who first kindled the spark of jealousy within the breast of Mary Jane Miller, 52, defendant in a divorce case which was tried today before Judge Cant. Then other women fanned the blaze. But when she suspected her husband of making love to a neighbor woman who shared the same house, it proved to be the last straw.

She told her story to Judge Cant this morning and he gave her a decree of divorce from her husband, Emil G. Miller, 48, on a cross bill. He brought the suit charging her with cruelty, but she denied his claims and charged him with cruel treatment. The Millers have been residing at 217 South Sixtieth avenue west.

"Of course, I'm jealous," Mrs. Miller declared in response to a question from R. J. Fisher, Miller's attorney. "He has given me every reason to be jealous. He has often told me about making love to other women. He told me that he was in love with our neighbor, and he used to go upstairs to see her when her man was not at home."

Mrs. Miller admitted that she had once before sued her husband for divorce. This was a number of years ago at Owatonna, Minn.

The Red Headed Girl.

"It was because he fell in love with a red headed girl, who was a camp cook near our farm," she explained. "This person came from somewhere in Indiana. She was talked about terrible and she wanted to come to our place to board. I didn't want to take her in, but I thought I'd try her out. It lasted just one week, before my husband got in his work. I left and went to Owatonna and started suit for divorce. He came and induced me to drop it and come back and live with him. I wanted to keep my home and for the sake of the boy, Ralph, I gave him another trial."

The neighbor woman mentioned never got along well with Mrs. Miller, the testimony tended to show.

Mrs. Miller declared that the neighbor's five children "sassed" her, and that she used to throw greasy water and refuse on Mrs. Miller's back steps. The witness denied that she had called the neighbor any names.

Both Miller and his wife accused each other of being "naggers." "He'd hardly wait until he got off his hat and coat before he would start in," she said.

His "Day of Rest."

Miller testified that his wife had rattled dish pans early on Sunday mornings just to arouse him from his slumber. Mrs. Miller testified that he used to come home late Saturday nights —sometimes not until after 1 o'clock the next morning.

Miller is a butcher in the employ of A. H. Donald, Sixty-third avenue west, grocer and meat dealer. The court granted Mrs. Miller the divorce and the custody of the child.

Miller was ordered to pay his wife $600 permanent alimony, and to contribute $8 a month towards the support of the child.

GOVERNOR TO PASS DAY IN DULUTH

Will Be Guest of West Duluth Club on April 27.

School children of West Duluth will probably have an opportunity of hearing a governor of Minnesota speak to them next week. Word was received yesterday afternoon by Emil J. Zauft, president of the West Duluth Commercial club that Governor J. A. A. Burnquist would spend the entire day, April 27, in West Duluth, as guest of the club.

At a special meeting tomorrow evening of the general committee in charge of the club banquet, which will be held the evening of April 27 at Dormedy hall, plans for the day's entertainment of the governor will be outlined. The meeting of the committee will be held at W. B. Getchell's office, 319 North Central avenue.

It is probable that arrangements will be made to have the governor visit the various schools during the early part of the day. A visit to Morgan Park, and if possible the steel plant during the afternoon, will be planned. A committee from the club will seek permission to allow the governor and his party entry to the steel plant.

The committee expects to have the program ready before the first of next week. Tickets for the banquet are being rapidly disposed of, and it is expected that the entire allotment of 350 tickets will be sold before Monday. This number has been placed as a limit on the attendance.

LICENSE IS DENIED WEST DULUTH HOTEL

Silberstein Determined and Ramsey Street Structure Stays Dry.

Satisfied that West Duluth residents, or many of them, do not want another saloon in that locality, Safety Commissioner Silberstein has determined that the Grand hotel, 5217 Ramsey street, will remain "dry."

Repeated efforts to secure a bar for the hotel, which is one of the largest hotel buildings in that section of the city, culminated when F. H. Peters, holder of a liquor license at 2117 West Superior street, asked to be allowed to transfer his business to the Grand hotel.

J. J. Frey, owner of the hotel, had made tentative arrangements with Peters for leasing the place to him, it was understood, provided a license was obtained.

"When Peters learned that people in that section were strongly against having a saloon in the building," said Commissioner Silberstein, "he refused to press the matter further.

"Now, Mr. Frey has taken up the project, in behalf of his prospective tenant."

"There is 'nothing doing,' however," the commissioner said, "I have told them that I would not even bring the matter before the council, because I do not think it is necessary. As long as the people out there are against it, we will not issue a license."

West Duluth business men, headed by Rev. Gustav Oberg, pastor of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran church, have been circulating a petition, asking that the license transfer be denied.

WOULD REPLACE KEENE'S BRIDGE

Property Owners Call on Commission and Ask for Improvements.

Declaring that their property had been damaged, a committee of property owners on South Fifty-seventh avenue waited on the city commissioners at their meeting yesterday afternoon and requested that a bridge be built to replace the one razed last summer. The delegation included W. E. Kern, owner of the Duluth Steam laundry, and James E. Foubister, a Raleigh street grocer.

Since the razing of the bridge, traffic across the ravine and Keene's creek, by the way of Fifty-seventh avenue, has had to be abandoned. This traffic has been diverted to Central avenue or Fifty-ninth avenue.

Commissioner J. A. Farrell explained that the bridge had to be torn down owning to it being dangerous. He also stated that the department of public works proposed to fill in parts of the gully and span Keene's creek with a culvert. This work he promised would be done this coming summer.

LOVE ROUTE LEADS TO WORK FARM

Richard Henrickson Found Loitering Too Often Near Sweetheart's Home.

Richard Henrickson, aged 21, was given a sentence of sixty days at the work farm for violation of a parole. He was brought before Judge H. W. Lanners this morning on a charge of trespassing. Henrickson is alleged to have climbed on to the roof of a shed of a Sixty-third avenue residence, and when found there, said he had intended to elope with a young woman from the house. He told the police he was desperately in love with the young woman.

When first found at the place about a week ago, he was given his freedom on parole on the promise that he would not annoy the young woman or her folks. Last evening he was again found loitering in the vicinity and about to climb on the shed. He was then placed under arrest.

WORK AT CEMENT PLANT HANDICAPPED

Delivery of Machinery for Two Kilns Is Delayed.

Delay in the delivery of machinery and material for the completion of Kilns No. 3 and 4 at the Universal Portland Cement company's plant is holding up the placing of the plant on full capacity basis. It had been planned to have these two kilns completed before May 1, but now it is believed that it may take a month or two more before this unit of the plant is completed.

The cement plant is now manufacturing about 2,000 barrels of cement daily or about half of the full capacity. This finished product is being shipped out as rapidly as it is being made to the markets of the Northwest.

A crew of 350 men in all, including those employed in the manufacture of the product and on construction work, is now at work at the plant. When running full capacity the plant will give employment to about 400 men.

The new office building is about completed. Some of the offices have been finished and officials have moved in. A telephone exchange connecting all departments of the plant has been installed.

NELSON TO GET CONTRACT.

A. N. Nelson will be awarded the contract for the paving of Central avenue from Cody street to Columbus street, according to a resolution introduced at the meeting of the commissioners yesterday afternoon. The bid for the work was $28,554.69. The contract will be officially let at the meeting of the council next Monday afternoon.

A petition requesting the removal of all telephone and electric light poles from Central avenue, signed by thirty property owners, was presented at the meeting. The petition stated that the removal of the poles and wires would greatly improve the appearance of West Duluth's most important thoroughfare and prevent damage to shade trees.

S. S. OFFICIALS HONORED

Swedish Baptists Give Party for Messrs. Berglund and Eklund.

Oscar A. Berglund, superintendent of the Sunday school of the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street, for the last ten years, and Charles Eklund, who for a number of years has been chairman of the board of trustees, were guests of honor at a surprise party given by the congregation last evening. The two church officials were presented with handsome tokens of esteem by the congregation.

The program included musical numbers and short speeches following which refreshments were served.

Canary Loses Life in Fire.

Small boys playing with matches set fire to curtains at the home at 4102 West Fifth street at 9 o'clock this morning. A lace curtain and a shade were destroyed and a canary bird killed. The fire was out when the department from No. 8 fire hall arrived.

Jitney Driver Fined.

Louis Bukovich of New Duluth was brought into police court this morning on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance. Bukovich is alleged to have driven his "jitney" car on the wrong side of the street and, when cautioned not to do so, to have paid no attention to the officer. He pleaded guilty and Judge Lanners fined him $5 and costs.

Hazlewood Church Notes.

Installation ceremonies for trustees elected last week at the annual meeting of the congregation will feature special services at the Hazelwood Presbyterian church, Thirty-ninth avenue and Fourth street, tomorrow evening. Rev. O. D. Slater will preside. Daniel St. Amour, new elder of the church, will be installed.

The ladies' aid society of the church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. D. Kerbs, 3805 West Sixth street.

The Christian Endeavor society will hold a business meeting in the church Friday evening.

Communion, reception of new members and baptismal exercises will feature the services at the church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Special music has been planned for Sunday evening.

Dies of White Plague.

George H. Mewman, aged 43, unmarried, died yesterday at the Nopeming sanatorium following an illness of several months of tuberculosis. The body was taken to Bell Bros.' undertaking rooms, where funeral arrangements will probably be made this afternoon. Mr. Mewman resided at Tower, Minn. His relatives are expected to arrive in the city today to take charge of the funeral arrangements.

Infant Son Dies.

Bude, the 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gavre Milkovich, 1221 Ninety-sixth avenue west, died last night, following an illness of a month. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from the family residence with interment in Oneota cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Eldon Frank, who is attending the state university, is expected home tomorrow to pass the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frank, 319 North Sixth avenue west.

Initiation will feature the meeting of West Duluth lodge, No. 145, A. O. U. W., at Gilley's hall tomorrow evening.

Rehearsals will be held by the choir of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue and Ramsey street, Thursday evening. The choir will present a cantata, "Easter Angels" at the church Sunday forenoon.

Watch repairing. Hurst. West Duluth.

Miss Eileen Greene is expected home from the Minnesota university to spend Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Proctor.

Euclid chapter, No. 66, O. E. S., will entertain this evening at the Masonic temple for members of Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M., and Duluth chapter, No. 59, R. A. M. Cards and music will feature the entertainment.

M. H. Haan, 6311 Grand avenue, returned yesterday from a month's visit with relatives in Michigan.

Victrolas and records at Spencer's. Easy payments if desired.

TOBACCO HABIT

A very interesting book has been published on tobacco habit—how to conquer it quickly and easily. It tells the dangers of excessive smoking, chewing, snuff using, etc., and explains how nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, weak eyes, stomach troubles and numerous other disorders may be eliminated through stopping self-poisoning by tobacco. The man who has written this book wants to genuinely help all who have become addicted to tobacco habit and says there's no need to suffer that awful craving or restlessness which comes when one tries to quit voluntarily. This is no mind-cure or temperance sermon tract but plain common sense, clearly set forth. The author will send it free, postpaid, in plain wrapper. Write, giving name and full address—a postcard will do. Address: Edward J. Woods, 899 Y, Station E, New York City. Keep this advertisement, it is likely to prove the best news you ever read in this journal.

THE BABY MEASLES

Health department officials make a specialty of answering questions.

Director E. W. Fahey, has an unwritten rule that every citizen who applies to the health department shall be given all possible information which may be of help in warding off disease.

For example, one citizen asks:

"When is the best time to expose a child to measles so that he may have it and be through with it?"

Here is the answer, concise, courteous and to the point:

"The day after you permit him to play with a razor or build bonfires on the parlor floor, and not before."

BUSES OFF BOULEVARD.

City Authorities Will Forbid Any But Sight-Seeing Cars on Famous Drive.

Motor buses which have been using the boulevard will have to find other routes unless they are being used as sightseeing cars.

East end residents, who complained to Mayor W. I. Prince and Commissioner Silberstein that buses are being used on the boulevard, were told that the city would put a stop to it.

"During the winter, when the ground is frozen, the boulevard is not used much," said the mayor, "and it doesn't matter so much, but in the summer they will have to take a different route."

Buses used to transport Exeter Farms residents from the car line to their home were said to be the cause of the complaints.

SERVICES AT WOODLAND.

Rev. C. N. Thorp Preaches First Sermon in Series at M. E. Church.

"The Folly of Making Excuses" was the theme of Rev. C. N. Thorp of Pilgrim Congregational church in a sermon last night at Woodland M. E. church. Mr. Thorp was the speaker at the first of a series of special services being held in the church this week. He recited various excuses sometimes made by people "not yet ready" to accept the teachings of Christ, and urged immediate acceptance as the best means of attaining a proper adjustment of one's life.

Tonight's services will begin at 7:30 and will close shortly after 8 o'clock on account of the meeting to be held at the E. R. Cobb school. Rev. R. E. Miller of Woodland M. E. church will be the speaker tonight. Tomorrow night Rev. J. E. Porter of Grace M. E. church will speak.

MANY FEDERAL POSITIONS OPEN

Next month will be especially active for the Federal civil service commission, and a large number of examinations are announced for Duluth and other cities. The tests on the list here follow:

May 17—Market station assistant, $1,000 to $1,400; head nurse (operating) female, $80 a year and living expenses; oil gauger, $1,200; clerk qualified in modern languages, $900 to $1,000; clerk to commercial attache, $1,500 and expenses (foreign service); instructor in pattern making and foundry work, (male), $900; shop apprentice, $480 to $640; etomological inspector, $1,000 to $1,740.

May 17-18—Assistant alloy chemist, $1,620; heating and ventilating engineer and draftsmen, $1,200.

May 16—Cartographer, $1,500.

Earnings Increase.

There there is a marked gain in the volume of traffic on the city streets this spring is being reflected in the current earnings reports of the street railway. For the first week of April, gross receipts of the Duluth-Superior traction were reported at $25,727 an increase of $4,264 or 19.09 per cent over the same week last year. For the year to date gross earnings of the company aggregated $347,541. This was an increase of $39,740 or 12.9 per cent over the corresponding period of 1915.

QUAKER OATS TRIAL IS AGAIN DELAYED

Chicago, April 18.—The trial of the Quaker Oats company for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws which was to have begun today before Judges Christian C. Kohlsaat, Francis E. Baker and Samuel Alschuler of the United States circuit court of appeals was delayed because of routine court business.

The case was begun in 1913 and now comes to trial for the first time. As a matter of expediency it goes to trial before these judges, not as an appellate court, but as a special court.

The trial of the case will be entirely from depositions and briefs. The actual testimony has been taken in all parts of the country before commissioners and specially appointed persons.

SCHILLER ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF PIRACY

Wilmington, Del., April 18.—Ernest Schiller, alias Hudson, the lone German who recently held up the British steamer Matoppo on the high seas and terrorized the crew, was arraigned in the United States district court here today on a charge of piracy and in reply to the usual question whether he pleaded guilty or not guilty, said with a smile: "Yes, sir."

Judge Bradford accepted this answer as a plea of guilty and ordered Schiller remanded for sentence. No date was set for imposing sentence. Schiller had no counsel when he stood before the court and listened patiently to the reading of the indictment.

QUASHES INDICTMENT AGAINST LEAGUE

Madison, Wis., April 18.—Municipal Judge John Fehlandt today quashed the indictment against the Home Rule and Taxpayers' league, charging Charles E. Pierce of Janesville, one of its officials, with violating the corrupt practices act in failing to file reports of campaign expenses.

District Attorney Sautoff said he would file his motion of appeal tomorrow in order to have the case settled before the supreme court adjourns.

ARNESON BREAKS ARM; PREUS ILL AT HOME

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Preus was still confined to his home at Minneapolis, suffering from a touch of appendicitis. It was said, however, that he expected to be able to attend the meeting of the state timber board tomorrow. At this meeting charges of fraud in the cutting of timber from state lands will be considered.

Oscar Arneson, chief of the timber department in the auditor's office, who made the report regarding the alleged frauds, broke his arm last night in cranking his automobile. He is in St. Joseph's hospital, but expects to attend the meeting of the timber board.

Large Inheritance Tax.

La Crosse, Wis., April 18.—The largest inheritance tax paid here this year was that of the estate of the late Laura A. Colman, widow of a pioneer lumberman of this city. An estate of over $231,000 was divided among three sons and three grandchildren. The sons each received $53,505. A tax of $2,500.35 was paid.

Explosion at German Works.

London, April 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen says: "A dispatch to the Kieler Zeitung from Wilhelmshaven says there was a great explosion last Friday in the new torpedo works there, a number of persons being killed and others wounded. The works were recently finished, and were inspected by Emperor William on Feb. 25."

Russian Bark Sunk.

London, April 18.—According to a dispatch to Lloyds the Russian bark Schwanden, which left Greenock, Scotland, March 23 for Mobile, Ala., has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The crew was saved.

WOULD SEARCH ATTICS FOR HISTORICAL FACTS

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attic mining would be a popular occupation if Solon J. Puck, superintendent of the Minnesota Historical society, had his way.

Mr. Puck today put it up to the house cleaners. He said there was no doubt that the attics of hundreds of Minnesota homes contained riches in the way of historical materials, much of which probably would be thrown away in the cleaning out process.

"Our society," Mr. Puck said, "would be glad if house-cleaners would examine carefully the material stored in attics before condemning it as useless. Unquestionaly the attics contain many original documents, manuscripts, letters and diaries that have historical values."

Car of Arms Seized.

Eagle Pass, Tex., April 18.—A car of arms and ammunition arriving here and consigned to Mexico was seized by United States military authorities today and placed under guard pending an investigation as to its ultimate destination.

BRIDGES ARE SWEPT AWAY

Six County Structures Are Destroyed By Ice and High Water.

Three Others May Have Gone—More Are Threatened.

Several bridges spanning streams in St. Louis county have been swept away by ice floes and high water, according to reports which have reached the office of County Auditor Halden and County Engineer of Roads E. K. Coe.

At least six and perhaps nine bridges are gone and several others are threatened. Roads are in poor condition in most sections of the county and in several places washouts have been reported. The big bridge spanning the St. Louis river at Brookston was saved from destruction by citizens who dynamited the immense ice jam a short distance up stream, according to word sent to Commissioner Kauppi of the Fifth district.

Within the next week or so, bids will be asked for the construction of a new bridge over the St. Louis river on the Payne and Whiteface road to replace the steel structure which was swept away by an ice floe Saturday. The lack of a bridge cuts off communication from a thickly settled country in the Meadowlands district and it is considered quite imperative that the bridge be built as soon as the contract can be let. The commissioners may hold a special meeting to arrange for the matter.

Commissioner Kauppi this morning received a telegram from W. M. Jamieson stating that there were three big washouts on county roads near Kelsey. He has also been advised of washouts on the Duluth-St. Vincent road between Floodwood and St. Vincent and on the Swan Lake road near the Upper Floodwood river.

Commissioner O'Neil of Chisholm has been advised that the steel bridge on the Peterson road over the Sturgeon river has been carried away by the high water and ice and that wooden bridges on the following roads are also gone: Halverson road, Edin road, Harger road and Greaney road. It has also been reported that three small bridges on the Chisholm road have been destroyed.

The water in the St. Louis river and its tributary streams is higher this year than for many seasons past, according to Commissioner Kauppi.

MARBLE ENTERTAINMENT.

Home Talent Will Present "The Dutch Detective" as Church Benefit.

Marble, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local talent will present "The Dutch Detective," a three-act farce, interspersed with several musical numbers, in the auditorium of the Olcott school Friday evening, April 28, for the benefit of the Porterfield M. E. church.

The cast of "The Dutch Detective" follows: Otto Schmultz, a correspondence school detective, L. D. Sweet; Plunk Jarleck, escaped from the asylum, L. H. Kutz; Jabo Grabb, the police force of Marble, C. R. Liese; Maj. Hannibal Howler, on the war path, W. E. Ellis; Augusto Coo, a newly-wed, A. H. Juergens; Gladys Howler-Coo, his bride, the major's daughter, N. J. Ball; Ambrosia McCarty, the queen of the lunchroom, B. A. Blanchard; Miss Arlminta Sourdrops, who loses her Jabo, M. E. Tresider; Hortensey Smatters, escaped from the asylum, C. G. Wannamaker; Katrina Kraut, in love with Otto, V. I. Young. Ella Elizabeth Glenn will be at the piano.

LESS OLEOMARGARINE, MORE BUTTER USED

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Less oleomargarine, more butter—that goes far to explain the present high price of butter as compared with the price at this time a year ago, according to J. J. Farrell, state dairy and food commissioner. Butter is selling today at 34 cents a pound retail as against 29 cents a year ago.

"The explanation is quite simple," said Mr. Farrell. "A year ago Minnesota had in storage 20,000,000 packages of butter, each a 60-pound tub. Today we have no table butter in storage at all. Increased demand is the answer. We are exporting some butter but not enough to explain the situation. The fact is that the factory districts of the country have been so busy, with workmen so steadily employed and at good wages, that they have been able to buy butter in many cases where they have used oleomargarine. The result is that oleomargarine has been driven out. The sales of butter substitutes have fallen off in recent months as compared with a year ago."

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin: Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method, and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

PREPARATIONS FOR REGATTA BEGUN

Boat Club Will Call for Bids on New Shell House.

With the arrival of Albert Ames, work of preparing for the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen of America, has already begun.

Plans and specifications for a new shell building which will cost between $4,000 and $5,000 have been drawn by Architect Anthony Puck. They call for a one-story frame structure with dimensions 150 by 92. This new building will be erected on the site of the lawn tennis court which now occupies space immediately adjacent to the main house and which skirts the bay. Bids will be asked for immediately and the successful contractor will be asked to rush the structure to early completion.

Besides serving as a shell room this building will contain modern lockers and shower baths. On the harbor side of the building will be constructed twenty-three rows of grandstand seats which will be 100 feet in length and which will extend up over the roof of the shell house. An excellent view of the racing course of the club can be had from this stand. Another new feature will be the construction of private boxes along the space at the edge of the dock which will be emblazoned with the names of the owners.

Work has already been begun on the alterations in the present shell house which will be converted into a dormitory, with locker rooms, lounging rooms and showers. Private beds with real mattresses, first class springs, sheets and blankets will be installed. These beds will be single and of the one-story variety. The oarsmen's refectory and kitchen will be in the same building.

Plans are also under way for the making of a number of other changes of minor importance. Mr. Ames, formerly an active member of the local club, and who was brought back to Duluth from Medford, Or., to manage the regatta, together with Coach Ten Eyck, have charge of the work and also of the crews. Mr. Ames is looking after the general secretary's work while Mr. Ten Eyck will devote his entire time to the oarsmen.

DEPUTY FALLS DEAD DISPERSING RIOTERS

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 18. A mob of men which included strikers from the plant of the National Conduit & Cable company, stoned employes on their way to work today, later made a similar attack on the company's office and this afternoon became so violent that Sheriff Wesendanger of Westchester county gave serious consideration to calling out the state militia.

One deputy sheriff fell dead while the sheriff's men were attempting to disperse the rioters. The company was advised to close its plant until adequate protection could be given the skilled mechanics who have refused to walk out.

The strikers demand an increase in wages and an eight-hour day.

Strike at Marinette.

Marinette, Wis., April 18.—Between 600 and 700 men employed at the two mills of the Sawyer-Goodman company went on strike today after being offered a 10 per cent increase in wages. They are asking 10 cents over the wages before the cut was made in 1914.

SEES NEED OF POLICE WOMAN

Women in Trouble Won't Talk to Men, Says Mrs. Wells.

Original "Lady Cop" of Los Angeles Guest of City Officials.

Duluth needs a police woman, according to Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells of Los Angeles, who is the original "lady cop."

Six years ago Los Angeles appointed Mrs. Wells as the city's first police woman, and aroused the interest of police officers throughout the country. Now a police woman is a nationwide institution. Chicago has forty, and most large cities have at least one.

"When women are in trouble they won't talk to a man—at least not very much," said Mrs. Wells at the city hall today. "That is one reason for police women. There are many others.

"I am surprised that Duluth has no one in that position. Grand Forks has had one for four years, and Fargo has one. Their work is considered very valuable. It would be the same here, I am sure."

Mrs. Wells is a quiet little personage, motherly in appearance, and the last person in the world one would picture as a police woman. There is nothing about her that ever would remind one of brass buttons and a blue uniform.

She has given a number of lectures in North Dakota, and came to Duluth from Minneapolis, where she gave a talk. This afternoon she was the guest of the police department. From Duluth she will go to Hibbing, where she is to give a lecture.

Mayor W. I. Prince and Safety Commissioner Silberstein admitted, in their conversation with her this morning, that the council was considering a full-time police woman for Duluth, and that action might be taken in the not distant future.

"I am in favor of retaining the present police matron on a full-time basis," said Mayor Prince, "and of having her do general police work which can be handled to advantage by a woman officer. The additional cost would be more than justified, I believe."

Chief R. D. McKercher also favors placing the police matron on a full-time basis, which he believes would be much more satisfactory than the part-time plan now being used.

ZENT TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNING

STEEL CORPORATION ADVANCES WAGES

Another Increase of 10 Per Cent Announced for May 1.

New York, April 18.—The United States Steel corporation today announced another advance in the wages of its employes amounting to 10 per cent effective May 1. This follows a 10 per cent advance made in February. Both together represent a total increase in wage payment of between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000.

"In view of the continuance of prosperous conditions," read a statement issued by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, after a meeting of the finance committee today, "it has been decided to make advances in wage rates of our iron and steel companies about 10 per cent, to take effect May 1."

ONE CLOQUET MILL IS ABLE TO START

Cloquet, Minn., April 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The flood situation here that was troublesome Sunday and yesterday when the St. Louis ran unusually high, is much improved today, and all danger of additional damage is passed. The steam mill of the Cloquet Lumber company, which intended to start yesterday, but could not on account of high water, got under way today and it is reported the Wentworth-Johnson mill will start tomorrow. Late this afternoon it was said that the river was steadily falling.

MARKETS UP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Turns Strong on Good Bidding and Short Covering.

Crushers Support Flaxseed and Price Advances; Winnipeg Strength Helps.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 18.—The market was strong at the close on a fresh wave of buying, attributed partially to short covering.

May wheat closed ⅝c up, and July ⅝c up.

May durum closed ⅝c up, and July ⅝c up.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 42¼c for on the track; rye unchanged at 93c, and barley unchanged at from 63 to 71c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed 1⅛@1¼c up at 45¼@45⅝c bid.

At St. Louis May wheat closed at $1.10½, and July at $1.19⅞.

At Kansas City May wheat closed at $1.05¾, and July at $1.06⅝ bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.16⅛ bid, and calls at $1.19⅝.

After a weak opening and the recording of a fair recession, the wheat market turned strong later on the appearance of good buying by some prominent operators. At the same time nearly all the news was on the bearish order. Cables were substantially lower, with reports of increasing supplies in England and heavy offerings of Canadian grain. Advices from Kansas and other points in the Southwest were generally more encouraging, and with the present bright weather, growers over the Northwest are expected to be able to get into the fields over wide areas of the territory before the end of the present week. While the season is backward, it is contended by many operators that the incoming of a period of fine warm weather for a period now would go far to make amends for the poor conditions that had prevailed up till the last few days.

The recent relative strength of the Winnipeg market has encouraged holders of grain, it being regarded as showing that there must be a good export inquiry up there. A few days ago the spread between the Winnipeg and Duluth May futures stood at nearly 5c, while today it was down to under 2½c. Duluth operators are not, however, losing sight of the fact that the whole Canadian surplus of still around 100,000,000 bu, must be moved out before any foreign buying of American wheat can be hoped for. On that account some authorities predict that a substantial lowering in prices will materialize shortly after navigation has opened and there has been time to move a good proportion of the grain supplies in Lake Superior elevators down to the lower lakes.

May wheat opened ½c off at $1.15, declined ½c more, and stood at $1.16¼ at the noon hour. July opened ⅜c off at $1.16½, broke ⅝c more, and then recovered 1¼c.

May durum opened ¼c off at $1.11, broke 1c more and later recovered to the same extent. July opened ¾c off at $1.12¼, weakened ⅝c more and later worked up ⅜c.

Flax Turns Strong.

Operations in flaxseed were comparatively quiet, but crushers were steadily in the market and they picked up any seed offering, mostly at advances from yesterday's figures. Winnipeg led in point of strength. There is said to be a fair short interest in that market, according to advices, farmers in the Canadian West will require nearly the whole of their remaining supplies for seeding. The close here was strong and at the top prices of the day.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.09 and closed 1c up at $2.10 bid. July opened ½c up at $2.10⅝, and closed 1½c up at $2.11¾ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1⅜c up at $1.88 asked, and July at $1.89½.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1½c up at $1.38⅝, and London 6¾c up at $2.50⅝.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Hector G. Barnes of Fargo, N. D., was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade today. He said that no apprehensions are being entertained regarding spring seeding operations in the Fargo district. While seed is not going into the ground as early as last year, the season is about an average one, and with fine weather from now on, it is expected that the acreage sown to wheat will be equal to that of other years. The farmers made a good showing in their plowing around Fargo last fall, so that they are now well up with that work. Seeding began on the Dalrymple farm yesterday and other farms will be able to get upon the land in the course of the next few days, Mr. Barnes thought.

* * *

A Winnipeg wire said: "Seeding will be general in Saskatchewan this week. Land is in good condition, and we do not consider it a late spring."

* * *

* * *

A Fargo, N. D., wire said: "Before the state railroad commission which is investigating grain grading as carried on under Minnesota grading regulations, Dr. Ladd, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college maintains that the present spread of 21c between No. 1 wheat and rejected wheat to be wholly unjustifiable. Dr. Ladd said that milling tests conducted at the college under state supervision in a state owned mill, showed that the actual difference in value of the two kinds of wheat was but 6c per bu. The railroad commission will seek to abolish the present wide spread in prices between the two grades of wheat."

* * *

Russell's News, New York, said: "There was some business in wheat reported late yesterday, and it is said that export takings Saturday and yesterday were in excess of two million bu, including about 1,750,000 bu for the Hudson Bay company. There were claims of several export bids for corn here."

* * *

Foreign crop summary:

Russian semi-official report to April 6, says—"In the entire south crops are quite satisfactory."

France—Weather continues unfavorable for sowing and field work. The premium of a franc per hundred kilos as voted by parliament is expected to cause some increase in acreage. Reserves are light, therefore many flour mills have closed.

Argentina—Heavy general rains have fallen. Wheat closed steady with better export demand.

* * *

United Kingdom visible—Wheat, 89,888,000 bu; an increase of 3,248,000 bu.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Wheat was dull and easy with pressure of arrivals, liberal increase in the visible supply and free Manitoba offers. Spot was unchanged to 3d lower with demand quiet and offers liberal. Cargo market was dull—winters unchanged; Manitobas 4½d lower with increasing shippers offers and poor millers' inquiry.

"The general market was dull with demand quiet. Arrivals continue large. Stocks are increasing and prospects point to continued adequate arrivals as the world's supply is abundant. Manitoba is offering freely and purchases are being made at satisfactory prices for opening of navigation. Canadian holdings, according to all advices received here, are large."

* * *

At Minneapolis, the tone of the cash market was slower. Millers' are selling very little flour. Only one outside buyer paid 5c over May for blue stem. Local mills there paid but 4@4½c over. Velvet chaff was slow at 2c over May.

* * *

Bradstreet's world's visible totals: Wheat, 238,146,000 bu; last year, 142,681,000 bu; decrease, 1,137,000 bu. Corn, 28,621,000 bu; last year, 28,721,000 bu; decrease, 1,129,000 bu. Oats, 35,0006,000 bu; last year, 34,782,000 bu; decrease, 1,976,000 bu.

* * *

Weather probabilities:

Illinois and Missouri—Unsettled and thunder showers, warmer.

Wisconsin — Unsettled, probably showers, not much change in temperature.

Minnesota, Indiana and Dakotas—Probably showers.

* * *

* * *

Chicago public and private elevator stocks: Wheat, 4,531,000 bu; increase, 25,000 bu; last year, 1,149,000 bu. Corn, 10,534,000 bu; decrease, 350,000 bu; last year, 10,678,000 bu. Oats, 5,072,000 bu; decrease, 1,082,000 bu; last year, 11,605,000 bu.

* * *

* * *

An estimate, based on reports received and a survey of the province, just issued, estimates the grain acreage of Saskatchewan for 1916 at 9,500,000 acres, as against 10,500,000 last year. This estimate is contingent on weather conditions and will depend upon how soon farmers start work on their land.

The estimate for 1916 for land seeded in wheat is 6,000,000 acres, compared with 6,884,000 in 1915. The smaller acreage in wheat will mean an increased acreage in other grain crops, including oats, flax and barley. The estimate for oats is placed at 3,500,000 acres, as against 2,846,000 in 1915.

In 1915 the acreage of flax was 500,000 and that of barley 250,000. This year the estimates are 2,750,000 acres in all, an increase of 2,000,000 acres.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "May-July spread narrowed rapidly as scattered liquidation was on in May. Elevators bought May and sold July on break. Northwest reports of rain over wide area, with strength in Winnipeg, started shorts covering with some change in sentiment as to course of values by several strong commission houses. Early general selling by locals made a break. Foreign news was bearish. Crop reports from soft wheat states were generally unfavorable, but Kansas and Nebraska sent good reports. Rains are delaying seeding in parts of the Northwest, with claims, however, of 80 per cent done in South Dakota. Market seemss to have gotten into a position where old crop situation is having more influence that the new crop outlook."
